HEED EVERY 'STOP' SIGN, WARNS STATE HIGHWAY PATROL

Violations Have Become Common, Says Minnesota Traffic Chief

"Stop" signs mean stop!

This was pointed out emphatically by W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer of the state highway department, this week when the state highway patrol was ordered to pay particular attention to such violations.

The safety chief emphasized that on remote highway intersections in rural districts there is a growing tendency to ignore the sign commands. "When a sign read "stop" it does not mean that a driver has the choice of stopping or going on through, it means stop!

"Violations of this sort have become more and more numerous in the fall months," Mr. Rosenwald said, "and must be checked immediately before they build into a general disrespect for traffic and safety laws. The laws are written to save life, limb and property. And if kept by the driver and enforced by officials our accident toll will lessen."

The safety head said that it might not appear to be necessary to stop before some "stop" signs in sparsely populated districts when traffic is light, but the records show that countless collisions and deaths have been the result of going through signs on the assumption that no obstacle will be encountered. During the months of ice and snow, to fail to stop at even the most remote "stop" signs may bring another automobile skidding into you, he said.

"Highway patrolmen in Minnesota have been instructed to keep a sharp eye on arterial highway crossings and to go into action if they see a "stop" sign being ignored," Mr. Rosenwald warned. Local officials have been asked to do likewise.

SEES FIRST PICTURE OF FATHER WHEN 46

Chaska—An experience which sounds more like an excerpt from a story book than an actual happening was the lot recently of a local man, Ernest H. Thomas, who at the age of 46 years, learned for the first time how his father had looked. Having been brought up by foster parents, Thomas did not learn to know his father, and it was only last week that he saw the first picture he had ever seen of him. Mr. Thomas' father taught school in Chaska 48 years ago. He and his wife then moved to Stillwater, where Ernest Thomas was born. When he was 14 months old his mother died and a family in this community took the child into its home. The elder Thomas remarried and moved to another section of the country. Thirty-four years ago a step-brother, Harry C. Thomas, appeared in Chaska. He left, however, and no one heard from him until a few weeks ago when he wrote to inquire about his brother. Learning that he lives here the out-of-town wrote a long letter about the family and enclosed a photograph of the father, who died in 1925.

CONCRETE PAVEMENTS SAVE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS IN TAXES

CONCRETE roads are reducing the cost of highway upkeep by millions of dollars every year. Here are two typical examples, taken from official highway department reports, showing costs per mile per year for surface maintenance of various types of pavement:

ILLINOIS—1921-1935
CONCRETE	$ 90.64
Material A	121.99
Material B	185.92
Material C	209.53
Material D	326.30
Material E	337.67

NEW YORK—1923-1935
CONCRETE	$151.74
Material F	352.75
Material G	381.02
Material C	551.88
Material H	658.52
Material E	720.57
Material B	757.00

(Materials F, G, H, not used in Illinois. Materials A and D not used in New York.)

Official reports from all states which publish comparable data show that surface maintenance averages $88 to $465 less per mile per year for concrete than for other pavements.

Concrete saves other millions annually for motorists and business men in the cost of operating cars and trucks.

And safe, comfortable concrete actually costs less in the first place than other pavements of equal load carrying capacity.

Replacing Telephone wires to prevent trouble

NEW WIRES.. BEFORE YOU KNOW IT

Recently one of our customers asked us why we were putting in new wires to his telephone. He said his service was all right and he did not know why the wires should be replaced. The facts are that a telephone employee, when making a regular inspection to locate anything that might interfere with service, found the insulation on the wires worn so that at any time service might be interrupted.

It is part of our everyday job to search for things that might interrupt telephone service and to correct the condition before service is affected. We are constantly testing lines and equipment...making repairs to prevent future trouble...keeping your telephone service as free as possible from errors, imperfections and delays.

PLAN MEETINGS TO EXPLAIN 1938 FARM PROGRAM

Chairman Anton Announces Series of Sessions Next Week

PROGRAM AIMED AT SOIL CONSERVATION

Maximum Payments Will be Calculated at Start of Season

Election of county committeemen and a discussion of current farm problems and the objectives of the 1938 agricultural conservation program will take place at community meetings to be held in Pennington county during November according to Hans Anton, chairman of the county agricultural conservation committee.

Following is a schedule of the meetings to be held. Every farmer that wishes to take part in the election of committeemen must attend the meeting for his own township, it was announced. The same material will be presented at all meetings relative to the program.

Monday, Nov. 22, 1 p. m. court room at Thief River Falls, Rocksbury and North; 8 p. m. school house at St. Hilaire, Black River and River Falls.

Tuesday, Nov. 23, 1 p. m. Smiley hall, Smiley and Kratka; Mavie school at Mavie, Cloverleaf and Goodridge. 8 p. m. Luttmer school, Bray and Polk Centre; Vaughan school, Highlanding.

Wednesday, Nov 24, 1 p. m. court room at T. R. Falls, Silverton; 8 p. m. Bruggeman school, Mayfield and Wyandotte.

Friday, Nov 26, 1 p. m. Seversaun school, Sanders; Diminen school, Norden and Numedal; Hoffman school, Star and Reiner; Lundeen school, Deer Park and Hickory.

The "Why of the 1938 Program" will be the chief subject of consideration at these meetings where the 1938 agricultural conservation program will be launched.

Designed to assist farmers in maintaining fair prices and fair income and in making wise use of their soil, it was pointed out by Mr. Anton that the 1938 program can effectively promote soil conservation by increasing the use of soil-conserving crops and soil-building practices, and to the extent that it checks production of some surplus crops which are soil-depleting, it contributes to the stabilization of production and income.

According to the regulations of the 1938 program, national, state, county, and individual farm goals will be established for soil-depleting crops and for soil-conserving crops and practices. Payments for individual farms will be made for keeping within soil-depleting goals and for attaining soil-conserving goals including the carrying out of soil-building practices. If the soil depleting goal is exceeded or there is failure to reach the soil-conserving goal, payments will be decreased in proportion to the failure to attain these goals.

Under the previous program,

PROPOSE HOLDING SANTA CLAUS DAY AGAIN THIS YEAR

Civic Group Discusses Matter; Will Take Final Action Later

At the weekly lucheon of the Civic and Commerce association, W. L. Carlisle proposed that a Santa Claus day be arranged in the city in advance of Christmas Day, similar to the event successfully staged here last December with the cooperation of the Soo Line. Other speakers endorsed the project, and it was indicated that definite action will be taken at an early meeting.

Postmaster Andrew Anderson solicited the cooperation of local businessmen in making a success of the unemployment census being conducted thruout the nation November 16-20 thru the agency of the postoffices.

Frank Rinkel, chairman of the association road committee, stated that he had been informed bids would be called for in December by the state highway department for the rebuilding of a portion of Highway 59 between this city and Plummer.

SIX-DAY SEASON FOR DEER HUNTING OPENS SATURDAY

East Kittson and Marshall Counties Included in Open Territory

Hundreds of Minnesota nimrods are cleaning their trusty rifles, dusting off their duffle bags, digging their red coats and caps out of moth balls, and in general getting all set for their trek into the north woods for the six short days of deer hunting starting Saturday.

The season opens November 20 and continues to and including November 25, from sunrise to sunset each day, in twelve northern Minnesota counties, and parts of four others.

Open counties are Cook, Lake, St. Louis, Carlton, Pine, Aitkin, Koochiching, Hubbard, Clearwater, Beltrami, Lake of the Woods, and Roseau.

These parts of Kittson and Marshall counties lying east of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie railroad, as well as that portion of Cass County north of the north border of Crow Wing County and the northern two tiers of townships in Kanabec are open territory.

Itasca county, in the heart of the deer country, is closed, as are all state game refuges except the Superior Game refuge, which is open within five miles of all regularly maintained highways, county and township roads.

Harry E. Speakes, Director of Game and Fish, stresses the fact that hunters are themselves responsible for the location of boundary lines. Additional game wardens have been placed in the deer country to enforce hunting regulations.

A new requirement in the regulations this year is that all deer taken must be removed from the point where taken and brought to their final destination within two days after the close of the season.

Neither is there a confusing fawn regulation this year. The experience last year proved that this regulation resulted in many fawns being killed and left in the woods and mature deer taken in place of them.

Hunters going to the Superior Game refuge open territory to hunt, are warned that all game refuge regulations apply there at all times except during the six days of the season within the area specified. Hence guns must be kept in cases until opening day, and must be encased immediately upon the closing of the season.

Stock Buyer Killed in Car Mishap Near Gully

Gaspard Lalamb, 56 farmer and stock buyer between Brooks and Oklee, was killed late Monday afternoon when his car skidded on a rough, icy road north of Gully.

He was found, in his car, which had rolled over into the ditch, about five p. m. Monday by Ole Bjornaraa, who operates a truck for the Gully creamery.

I. Gjerstad, acting county coroner, called to the scene of the accident, said death was due to suffocation. The mishap occurred seven miles north of Gully in Johnson township.

His death is the eleventh automobile fatality in Polk county this year.

Times Asks That Copy be Supplied Early Next Week

In view of the fact that next Thursday is Thanksgiving Day, the Times is scheduled to go to press late Wednesday afternoon instead of Thursday noon as usual. The cooperation of advertisers and correspondents is solicited in getting their material in earlier next week than the regular time.

A voluminous and severe analysis of Minnesota's taxes, finances and government structure has been in the hands of Governor Benson for three weeks, it was established late last week in St. Paul.

It finds the state at the peak of possible tax revenue with a cumbersome, duplicating setup of government and recommends reorganization to improve efficiency and make for economy.

To the existence of this analysis some political observers, by implication, today attributed Benson's recently launched "economy purge" campaign.

Retorting to these implications, Governor Benson declared:

"Efforts of the press to make it appear as if our plan for coordination and reorganization of state departments is forced on us is ridiculous.

"The survey was ordered by the state and paid for by state funds. Facts developed will be used by the state.

"However, long before the survey was available, I laid my plans for such economies and efficiencies as executive action can accomplish."

The analysis was prepared under direction of Harry Fiterman, Minneapolis tax consultant, was paid for by federal funds, and was submitted jointly to the state and federal government.

The report asserts Minnesota is deriving all possible income from present tax sources and has only two other sources untapped — sales tax and an additional iron ore tax—both of which are regarded with disfavor.

"It must be recognized," the report says, "that our rates of taxation are fast approaching a practical maximum. The program of government for years ahead must be based on the proposition that practically no new sources of revenue will be available."

The report recommends centralization of tax collection machinery under one head, "most logically the state treasurer." It urges the state resort to a state bank, if necessary, to get better handling of state money.

It emphasizes that there should be a more exacting system of auditing, finding that as much as one million dollars at a time is being handled by state agencies with no data available as to its existence.

COUNTY UNIT OF FARM BUREAU TO START CAMPAIGN

Dinner Friday Evening Will Open Annual Membership Drive

The annual membership drive of the Pennington County farm bureau will get under way on Friday evening, November 19 when the men who will do the soliciting will meet in the Civic and Commerce association rooms in Thief River Falls.

The meeting will start at 7 o'clock with a supper after which A. G. Mereness, organization director of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, will discuss the campaign.

This drive will be for the purpose of getting new members that are not active at the present time. All members that joined last June will not be asked to again, as their membership holds over until November of 1938.

E. H. Pomerenke, Lloyd Johnson and Emil Larson are the three men selected at a special meeting two weeks ago to be in charge of the campaign. There will be two or three men working in each township thruout the county during the next week.

The campaign will be completed in time for all new members to take an active part in the annual meeting which will be held on December 15.

Two Local Men Will Go to Highway 59 Meeting

Frank Rinkel, chairman of the Civic and Commerce association road committee, and W. E. Dahlquist will be in Appleton Friday to attend the winter meeting of the Minnesota division of the U. S. Highway 59 association. Mr. Rinkel is a member of a committee which will submit a report at the meeting on sections of the highway recommended for improvement during the coming year.

9TH DISTRICT FARM MEETING SEEKS ACTION

Crookston Conference Plans Drive for New Laws in Congress

WILL SOLICIT FUNDS FOR A FARM LOBBY

Seek Fixing of Guaranteed Price for Farm Commodities

Farm leaders from throughout the ninth congressional district, numbering about 125, were in Crookston Saturday for the second of a series of seven farm conferences in Minnesota on the agricultural program adopted by Minnesota farmers last month.

They adopted a resolution endorsing the program adopted at that farm conference, and began a campaign to raise funds for a farm lobby at the special session of congress.

The anticipated attendance at the meeting was reduced by unfavorable weather, but the delegations there represented 11 of the 15 counties in the district.

J. O. Bjorklund, of Henning, member of the sub-committee of the Minnesota farm conference board presided at the session.

Charles Ommodt, Minnesota commissioner of agriculture, and M. W. Thatcher, regional director of the National Grain corporation, were principal speakers at the meeting.

They outlined the Minnesota farm conference program which calls for:

Establishment of a basic price for farm commodities, the price to be guaranteed by the federal government.

Establishment of a surplus pool into which food and fibre, not purchased on the regular market, would be placed for distribution to the needy of the nation.

An ever-normal granary and crop insurance plan to take care of production variations due to factors of weather and the like.

Continuation of a soil conservation program on an increased scale.

Elimination of profits for processors.

A far reaching program to eliminate farm tenancy.

Refinancing of debts, with a scaling down of mortgages and at a very low interest rate.

It is this program which Minnesota farmers will seek to have enacted by the special session of congress and which the ninth district group commended and endorsed.

Unemployed Are Asked to Return Census Blanks to Postoffice by Saturday

Blanks to be filled out in connection with the unemployment census now under way thruout the nation were distributed Tuesday to patrons of the Thief River Falls postoffice. Postmaster Andrew Anderson today stressed the importance of all persons included in the ranks of the unemployed filling out the blanks and returning them to the postoffice immediately, as the information thus obtained will be used by the national administration in its efforts to solve the unemployment problem. Census regulations call for the return of the blanks to the postoffice not later than Saturday, November 20.

F. R. MESSAGE OPENS SPECIAL TERM MONDAY

Congress Gets Four-Point Program to Consider at Session

CROP CONTROL PLAN FIRST ITEM ON LIST

President Also Proposes Regulation of Wages and Hours

President Roosevelt recommended removal of tax injustices "to encourage productive enterprise" Monday in submitting a four-point legislative program to congress.

In a message opening the special session which was read to the Senate and House by clerks, the President asked "early action" on legislation on farm crop control, labor wages and hours, reorganization of the executive branch and planning of natural resources.

But of at least equal importance to members were these remarks on taxes:

"Unjust provisions should be removed, provided such removal does not create new injustices. Nor can we at this time accept a revision of our tax laws which involves a reduction in the aggregate revenues or an increase in the aggregate burdens of those least able to bear them."

On the four points of his immediate program he listed:

"An all weather" surplus crop control plan aimed at "abundance without waste" and backed by new taxes should the cost exceed the regular budget. In that connection, he said: "I hope and believe that the Supreme Court will not again deny to farmers the protection which it now accords to others."

"Flexible" machinery to provide minimum wages, maximum hour and banishment of child labor.

Reorganization of government in the interest of "efficiency," but with a warning against trying to make "major savings" in this way.

Regional planning boards to "avoid waste and to give the nation its money's worth" from government expenditures.

"What these four subjects promise in continued and increased purchasing power — what they promise in greater efficiency in the use of government funds," Mr. Roosevelt said, "are intelligent foundations for the other plans for the encouragement of industrial expansion with government help.

"If private enterprise does not respond, government must take up the slack."

Medals for 4-H Food Work to Local Girls

Pennington county honors and a gold medal in the third national 4-H food preparation contest have been awarded to Bernice I. Halvorson of the Steiner club by the national committee on 4-H club work in Chicago on approval of her county agent and state club leader. The medal is one-half by three-quarter inches with clasp and has embossed on its face a feminine figure of victory bearing a tray loaded with foods. A small 4-H clover completes the design. Marian Larson, living north of Thief River Falls was the Marshall county winner.

Lincoln Students Make Merry at Masquerade

The group of young people above, garbed in Scandinavian, cowboy, sailor, clown and a variety of other costumes, represents a portion of those in attendance at the junior-senior masquerade held recently in the Sons of Norway hall under the sponsorship of the senior class of Lincoln high school. Needless to say, "a good time was had by all."

Annual Poultry Show Opens in City Nov. 29

With the setting of the dates of the annual four-day Pennington County Poultry show in the Auditorium at Monday, November 29, to Thursday, December 2, plans for the exhibit are fast approaching completion, Vernon Copp, secretary, announced today. He added that Professor M. C. Herner of Manitoba Agricultural college, Winnipeg, again will serve as judge of the show.

Liberal prizes are awarded on the various divisions, and entries will be placed Monday, November 29, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning. Premium lists will be available early next week, and entry blanks may be obtained at the county agent's office.

Miss Cora Cooke, extension poultry specialist from University Farm, St. Paul, will give talks on two days of the show. She will discuss housing and management of flocks and feeding for egg production during the winter months.

THANKSGIVING TO BE DULY OBSERVED IN THIS LOCALITY

Business Will Come to a Halt Nov. 25; Special Services in Churches

The time-honored observance of Thanksgiving Day will be celebrated next Thursday, November 25, in this community and thruout the nation. Business will be suspended for the day in Thief River Falls, with stores, banks and public offices closing for the occasion, and there will be no mail deliveries by the postoffice in the city or on the rural routes.

Many of the churches of the community are announcing in this issue special services to carry out the true spirit of the Thanksgiving holiday.

For those with festive inclinations there will be a dance in the Auditorium Thanksgiving night under the auspices of the American Legion post, with the proceeds devoted to a hockey benefit fund.

To insure that the Thanksgiving dinner table will be properly loaded with viands, local stores today are advertising special values in staple items as well as delicacies appropriate to the holiday.

LOCAL CHAIRMEN NAMED FOR SEAL SALE CAMPAIGN

Annual Sale Is Scheduled to Commence Thanksgiving Day

Local chairmen to direct the Christmas seal campaign have been appointed throughout the county, according to an announcement received from the Minnesota Public Health association. Selling of the double-barred cross seals, which finance the fight against tuberculosis, will open Thanksgiving Day.

The Christmas seal this year has as its design a town crier, cheerfully calling attention to the time of giving for the tuberculosis campaign. He carries a lantern which is symbolic of the fight thrown on "tuberculosis" through the Seal. In the background is a little house bringing out the idea the Christmas seal protects homes.

The list of local managers for the county in the Christmas seal campaign follows: St. Hilaire, Supt. M. R. Graham; Oakland Park Sanatorium, Dr. Baldwin Borreson; Thief River Falls, Mrs. Edward Bratrud; and Goodridge, Mrs. V. C. McLeod.

Salvation Army to Stage Program and Sale Monday

The Salvation Army next Monday, November 22, will hold its Thanksgiving program and sale of articles made by the Home league of the local corps at the Army hall under the direction of Mrs. E. W. Bailey. Contributions of canned goods, preserves and other items are solicited in connection with the sale. It was announced that the proceeds will be used to provide gifts for needy children at Christmas time.

P. H. WRIGHT REPORTED IMPROVING IN HOSPITAL

The condition of P. H. Wright, prominent Kratka farmer, who has been confined in a local hospital since November 3, this week was reported as having registered considerable improvement.

Former Local Residents Mark 60th Wedding Day

Enjoying as good health as persons of their advanced years could expect, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lubinski of Badger, former residents of Thief River Falls, last Thursday observed their sixtieth wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Lubinski left this city for Badger about twelve years ago. They are the parents of two sons and seven daughters, of whom Mrs. John Havel of this city was present at the observance.

LARGE ASSEMBLY HEARS BEMIDJI GROUPS TUESDAY

College A Capella Choir Is Outstanding Feature of Program

The largest gathering at a Parent-Teacher association program in recent years Tuesday evening in the Auditorium heard a thoroly enjoyable program of musical numbers and talks by members of the student body and faculty of Bemidji State Teachers college. C. D. Gustafson, president of the association, was in charge of the meeting.

At the close of the evening music lovers in the audience were free with their praise of the splendid performance of the Bemidji college a capella choir of nearly fifty voices recently organized under the direction of Carl Thompson, head of the music department. Members of the group sang like veterans, and their voices blended exceptionally well.

Another appreciated feature of the program was a group of selections by the college trio, including Milton Dieterich, cello; Mrs. Dieterich, violin; and Robert Olson, piano. They played two classical favorites and a lively number composed by Mr. Olson.

Two short addresses were given by Dr. Harold Haag and A. C. Clark of the faculty of the Bemidji institution, dealing with the prominent part played by Horace Mann in the development of the American public school system. Mr. Clark outlined the work being done at the Bemidji college to fit young people for their future careers and to develop an appreciation of music and other cultural activities.

Miss Lyda Batten, chairman of the membership committee that staged a campaign during the past week thru the local schools, announced that a total of 287 members had been secured for the association, the Washington school leading with a total of 92.

At the close of the program refreshments were served by a committee of Northrop school teachers and parents.

Lund & Tunberg Staff Is at Fargo Today to View New Ford Models

P. E. Tunberg of Lund & Tunberg, local Ford dealers, together with a group of salesmen including T. Sorenson, E. Loven, W. Gunderson, Tom Lonson and A. Ryman, are in Fargo today attending the annual dealers' meeting of the Fargo branch of the Ford Motor company. The 500 dealers and salesmen in attendance will assemble in the Fargo Auditorium, where the entire line of 1938 Ford V-8 passenger cars, commercial cars and trucks will be displayed, as well as the 1938 line of Lincoln-Zephyrs. The new Fords, which are expected to go on display in this city over the coming week-end, feature two lines, the De Luxe V-8 and the Standard V-8, which latter model offers a choice of two engine sizes.

Red Cross Roll Call Is Making Good Progress

The annual Red Cross roll call which got under way in this community last Friday and which will continue until Thanksgiving Day, is meeting with a hearty response, according to Mrs. H. A. Brumund, roll call chairman. She stated that for the convenience of those who may have been overlooked by the solicitors, memberships will be issued Friday and Saturday at a table in the lobby of the postoffice.

HOCKEY PLANS TAKE FORM FOR COMING SEASON

City to Have Strong Entry in States-Dominion League

BUD CRAIG, WINNIPEG, WILL SERVE AS COACH

Work of Flooding Rink for Skaters Got Under Way Wednesday

With the work of flooding the rink in the winter sports arena getting under way Wednesday, local hockey fans are turning their attention to the coming season, when Thief River Falls will again have an entry in the States-Dominion league. Material for another outstanding team has been lined up by Manager Alex Campbell and his committee, and prospects are for fully as successful a season as a year ago. If weather conditions continue to be favorable, the ice sheet may be completed by Thanksgiving Day.

A meeting of the States-Dominion league will be held at an early date to draw up the schedule of games. It has been definitely announced that Hallock, Emerson and Roseau will have entries, and on the basis of information received will be considerably stronger this winter than last. In view of this fact, and with the friendly rivalry existing among the four towns, all league games promise to be entertaining and hotly contested. In addition to the league games, the management of the local club is negotiating for games with the University of Minnesota, Fort Francis, Hibbing and Eveleth-Virginia. Assuming that some of these exhibition games will materialize, the local sextet will offer a well-rounded program for the coming months.

The personnel of the Thieves is now well established, following extensive negotiations, and the outlook is for a fast and rugged team. Bud Craig of Winnipeg, who has been engaged as player and coach, played on defense with Emerson last season, proving very effective in that department as well as on offense. Mike Foy, veteran defense man, will be back again this year, and Art Derrick of Winnipeg, another defense man, will report to the team after Christmas.

On the forward lines will be Rube Julien, Harold Stanbridge and Clayton Taylor of Hibbing, all veterans of last season's battles. In addition there will be Ray "Snooks" Julien from last season, Frank "Pinkie" Clifton of Kenora, and George Hassop of Winnipeg, who played at center with Hallock last year.

Angelo "Clementine" Tremontine, goalie from last season, will be in the nets again this year, making some more of his last ditch stands and deftly turning aside the hot shots at the net. Other material that will contribute to the making of an outstanding local squad includes Arnold Rustad, Hilding Peterson and Ray Parbst as forwards, and Lloyd Lund and Vernon Williams as defense men.

ANNUAL MEETING OF COUNTY FAIR ASSN. ON TUESDAY

Members Will Elect Three Directors and Hear Reports

The annual meeting of stockholders of the Pennington County Agricultural society, sponsors of the annual county fair in this city, will be held next Tuesday evening, November 23, in the Civic and Commerce association rooms, Secretary Robert J. Lund announced today.

Mr. Lund urged a full attendance of all businessman stockholders at the meeting, in order that they might be informed as to the excellent progress being made by the organization and cooperate in plans for the 1938 event.

In addition to the hearing of the annual financial reports, the members will elect three directors for a term of three years, the terms of H. C. Woolson, C. G. Hillard and Mike McAndrews of St. Hilaire expiring at this time. Lunch will be served at the close of the business session.

Officers of the society, in addition to Secretary Lund, include S. E. Hunt, president; Hans Anton, vice president; and L. J. Kaliher, treasurer.

A mock wedding was an important part of the evening's entertainment. Participating in the mock rite were Mrs. John Skog as minister, Mrs. A. B. Almstadt as bridegroom, Miss Klingberg as bride, and Mrs. James Mullen as ring bearer. Various games and a contest, for which Miss Ann Loven received a prize, rounded out the program of the evening which closed with the presentation of the lovely shower gifts in a huge basket decorated in gold and white, which overflowed with the gifts. A dainty tray luncheon was served by the hostesses. Gorgeous chrysanthemums were the only party decorations, the flowers' gold hue also being used as the color theme of the luncheon menu. A miniature bridal couple distinguished the bride-to-be's luncheon tray.

The guest list included: Miss Ethel Richards, guest of honor, the Mesdames E. J. Richards, A. E. Mattson, J. Skog, R. H. Kelly, E. D. Traver, J. O. Yotter, Thyra Snyder, C. E. Snyder, H. M. Olson, Roy Oen, K. Lindberg, J. Mullen, Ann Adey, A. B. Almstadt, G. Williams and Palmer Tommerdahl; and the Misses Klingberg, Johnsrud, Ann Loven, Eileen Rhodegaard, Helen Wassgren, M. Strandvall and Mary Warner.

Mercury Drops to Near Zero Mark This Week

Mild weather that has prevailed locally during the fall came to an end Saturday, and the past three mornings the mercury has dropped to a point only a little above the zero mark. This locality Saturday again escaped a heavy snowfall, only a light layer falling here, while west of Crookston and Warren snowplows were called into action to clear highways of heavy drifts. A number of cars were stalled in the snow Saturday night between Grand Forks and Crookston. Fair and continued cold is the prediction for Friday.

An electric hasn't the romance of a puffing Iron Horse, but there's plenty of horsepower in those shown in this picture. They're used by the Great Northern to cross the Cascade Mountains. These are pulling 5,000 tons of weight—107 loaded cars.

You Get More Than Transportation
Diversification today is accepted as sound farm practice. One of the first to advocate conserving the fertility of the soil, rotation of crops, and raising of more and better livestock was James J. Hill, founder of the Great Northern Railway.
But in those days these ideas weren't so popular. In fact, there was a resolution introduced in the Minnesota Legislature condemning Mr. Hill for preaching a doctrine that would be ruinous to the Northwest.
The Great Northern Railway has never regarded railroading as merely a matter of building railroads and running trains.
From the very beginning one of its most important departments has been the Agricultural Development Department.
This Department, during recent years, has been concerned with such matters as—
● Soil conservation—strip farming in certain parts of the railroad's territory—crop rotation—weed eradication.
● The fight on grasshoppers.
● Rehabilitation of the drought-stricken area—drought relief rates—preserving basic livestock resources—restoring herds of cattle and flocks of sheep.
● Irrigation—fullest utilization of the water resources.
● Finding markets for products grown in the railroad's territory—development of new uses for such products.
● Assisting in experiments with new crops which will increase the Farmers' profits.
● Market roads—bridges.
● Seeking new industries—pay rolls.
● Seeking and locating good settlers on low-priced lands that offer real opportunities.
Furnishing your transportation is only one of the many ways the Great Northern Railway works for you.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hegrenes (Evelyn Peterson) are giving a wedding dance on Thursday evening, Nov. 18, at the Smiley hall. Miss Peterson was given a surprise bridal shower at her home at St. Hilaire Wednesday of last week.

We are very glad to report the improved condition of Waldie Christensen who was so seriously burned when his gasoline [illegible] exploded last Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Christensen will be a patient at the hospital for some time yet but Halvor Sevland who also was burned badly has been released from the hospital and is recuperating at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Chapman and family are now comfortably settled in their new home on the former "W. J. Jacobson" farm and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Rose and family of Grantsburg, Wisc., came Saturday of last week to make their home on the Knute Solheim farm in Smiley which they have purchased. A hearty welcome to our new neighbors in this community and may they prosper in their new homes.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

A USEFUL ORGANIZATION

Farmers of eastern Marshall county have acted wisely in forming a protective association through which they will be able to act effectively in the protection of their interests in the complications that are already developing as a result of the government's reflooding operations in that area. There are several hundred farmers in that area whose properties have already deteriorated in value because of the government's program. Certainly no one would argue that land values in that area have been raised by the flooding operations. Damage has already been done and more damage will be done. Acting through an association, the farmers of that area will receive consideration, and that, of course, is the purpose of the association. As such it is justified.

There is no good reason why any individual farmer in the affected area should suffer a loss without adequate compensation. The Mud Lake project is a part of the federal program to assure a permanent supply of ducks. This is a national program in which the interests of the country as a whole are being considered. As such we have no fault to find with the idea. We should preserve our waterfowl and wherever possible restore natural nesting places. And if the restoration of the Mud Lake area is essential to the success of such a program, that too is satisfactory as far as we are concerned. There is no good reason why this community should oppose a project that is of national interest.

But there is every good reason why this community should insist that, if the Mud Lake area is to be flooded, then those individuals who suffer a loss because of that project should be adequately compensated.

To what extent individuals in that area have been or will be damaged cannot be determined without extensive investigation. There will be both reasonable and unreasonable claims. But claims there surely will be, and many of them reasonable. In attempting to represent the individual interests of all the farmers in that area, the association will face many difficulties and individual members should be considerate of that fact. Through such an association, individual members will be assured of a hearing. If it accomplishes nothing more than this for its members, the association will have served a useful purpose.

Governor Benson has launched an economy drive and promises to reduce the costs of state government by cutting expenses. This is the first time for many years that such a declaration has been made by a Governor of Minnesota. It is particularly interesting now because it is an admission on the part of the head of the dominating party that, under the leadership of that party, state government has become inefficient and wasteful. It will be more interesting to observe what the Governor will accomplish along this line. If he makes a serious attempt to save money he will immediately become unpopular among those members of his party who will be adversely effected by economy. And members of that type wield a tremendous power in any political party. If, on the other hand, the matter is dropped or the declaration repeated only on such occasions as he sees fit to remove someone from office, then it will be fair to assume that his excellency is speaking entirely for political purposes. We believe however, that a thorough housecleaning in the interests of economy and efficiency would prove popular right now and the Governor might well consider it as a means of building up his personal strength in the state. If he doesn't, someone else will. Necessity will soon force such action.

To those who are looking forward to skating, the cold weather of the last few days has been very welcome. The ice making procedure has started at the rink and if the cold continues there probably will be skating for Thanksgiving.

Next Thursday is the day, by official proclamation, that we will show our appreciation for past favors by eating too much good food. Doing justice to a big meal is really a day's work. In order to do a good job on that assignment we're going to close shop here at the Times next Thursday, getting the paper out Wednesday night instead. And the Times family, which numbers some over forty people when you count wives and children, will be very thankful next Thursday if correspondents and advertisers will get their copy in a day earlier than usual. Thanx.

SMILEY

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Halvorson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Halvorson, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Shern and family, and Mrs. Clara Shern of Viking were Sunday visitors at the John Hanson home Sunday.

Mrs. Jim McCrum was pleasantly surprised by a group of neighbor women at the home of her mother, Mrs. O. N. Olson Tuesday, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. The afternoon was spent in needlework, after which a lovely luncheon was served on a candle lit table on which stood the birthday cake. The honor guest was presented with super beautiful gifts from her friends.

William Skundberg, Marcellus Hanson and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Olson spent Saturday in Grand Forks.

Congratulations are happily extended to Mr. and Mrs. Norton Nelson on the birth of a bouncing baby boy, Dennis Roger, October 29.

O. N. Olson and son Olfon motored to the cities last week and where the former attended to medical services.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Gorgaard and daughter Mildred motored up from St. Paul and spent the week end at the John Hanson home and with other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ege have moved into the Jacob Olson residence in Thief River Falls during the Olsons absence to the cities where their son Burnell is securing medical aid.

Elsie Larson returned to Great Falls after spending several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Larson and with her sisters Mrs. Fred Bjornson, Mrs. Percy Berge and Mrs. Elsa Berg.

A number of wedding dances are scheduled to be held at the Smiley Hall this week. On Thursday evening will be the wedding dance of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Regnmo (Evelyn Peterson) and on Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Johnson will give their wedding dance. Best wishes are extended to both wedded couples.

Mrs. Jim McCrum entertained the Do-A-Way club at her home last Wednesday. The next meeting will be at the O. N. Olson home. Knotting bags will be made.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Johnson were honor guests at a party at their home Sunday, marking the occasion being their fortieth wedding anniversary. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Wesley McCrum and daughter Lorraine, Mr. and Mrs. Casper Wiener and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Eli Peterson of Thief River Falls.

Thursday evening visitors at the Jim McCrum home were Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCrum of Washington, D. C. and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Halstad.

NORDEN

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Espe and daughter Marylin of Crookston and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Gustafson of Thief River Falls were callers at the Gerhard Hanson home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olson from Duluth and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Olson and Henry Berere were guests at the Mr. and Mrs. Albin Voldness home Monday.

A birthday party was given for Wanda Hanson at the Albin Voldness home Friday evening. The evening was spent in playing games and a delicious lunch was served at the close of the evening.

Sen. Tungseth Confers on Flood Aid in St. Paul

Senator E. L. Tungseth spent Monday and Tuesday in St. Paul in conference with state and federal officials concerning the flood relief situation in this section of the state. The funds for work relief have been exhausted and arrangements are now being made with the Farm Security administration to obtain grants for such families as will be in actual need during the winter on account of inadequate income from the farms. Upon his return Sen. Tungseth has contacted local officials and it is expected that this supplementary relief will be organized at an early date.

Supreme Court Upholds $2,750 Verdict Against Garden Valley Phone Co.

A verdict for $2,750 in damages in favor of the plaintiff in a suit brought by John G. Nelson of Clearwater county against the Garden Valley Telephone Co. tried before Judge Graham M. Torrance of the fifteenth judicial district at Bagley a year ago, has been sustained by the supreme court, says the Bemidji Pioneer. The case was appealed to the state court by the telephone company, with Attorney D. E. Lewis of Bagley representing Mr. Nelson, and the state court upheld the judgment of the district court.

Mr. Nelson, 72 years old, suffered serious injuries when he was swept off a load of hay being driven by his son when the load passed under telephone wires crossing a driveway leading into the Nelson farm. The telephone company contended it maintained its lines according to statute provisions so as not to interfere with ordinary traffic, but the plaintiff maintained that the company was negligent and the accident was caused by the wires being too close to the ground.

Mr. Nelson was badly injured in falling to the ground when the wires swept him off the load of hay and he required hospital attention for a considerable period.

Selling of All School Buildings in the Mud Lake Refuge Completed

Sale of all school buildings and equipment located in the Mud Lake Wild Life refuge was completed Saturday, when the buildings in districts 152 and 145 were sold at public auction under the direction of Nels M. Engen, Marshall county superintendent of school districts of the county.

The building located in District 152 was sold to the Thief Lake Lutheran Ladies Aid and will be moved to the Thief Lake church property where it will be used as a meeting place and dining hall. Other church activities will also be conducted in the building.

The building located in district 145 was sold to Sletten C. Olson of Warren and Oliver Howard of Thief River Falls. The building will be moved to Thief River Falls. Much of the material used in the schools was bought by school districts in the neighborhood with the Holt school buying the bulk of the books.

The five buildings sold located in the Wild Life refuge, include districts 152, 148, 151, 145 and 146. The building in district 150 is being moved to the unorganized school district in district 122 and will be used for school purposes there, said Mr. Engen.

Howard Y. Williams Gets Soldiers Welfare Post

Howard Y. Williams of St. Paul, long prominent in farmer-labor circles, Monday was appointed director of the division of soldier welfare and relief under the state board of control. Williams, who was confirmed unanimously by the board, replaces David Lundeen, disbarred attorney and brother of U. S. senator Ernest Lundeen, who resigned effective October 15. The new director will assume office immediately at a salary of $3,500 a year.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Notice Is Hereby Given, That default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage, dated the 12th day of July, 1932, executed by Fred W. Vage and Ida L. Vage, husband and wife as mortgagors to The Citizens National Bank of Faribault, Minnesota, a corporation as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington, and State of Minnesota, on the 13th day of July, 1932, at 1 o'clock P. M., and recorded in Book 41 of Mortgage Records, page 461. That the undersigned, Frank W. Shandorf, is the duly appointed, qualified and acting Receiver of said The Citizens National Bank of Faribault, Minnesota, a corporation, and as such has taken into his custody, possession and control all of the assets of said bank of which the foregoing mortgage is a part.

That no action or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof. That said default consists of the mortgagors' failure to pay the principal and interest when due, and that there is due and claimed to be due upon said mortgage, including interest to date hereof, the sum of Nine Thousand Five Hundred sixty-three and 06/100 ($9,563.06) Dollars, and that pursuant to the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the tract of land lying and being in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

The Southeast Quarter (SE¼) of Section Nineteen (19) and the Southwest Quarter (SW¼) of Section Thirty (30), all in Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154) and Range Forty-one (41), except to railroad, containing three hundred and nine acres, more or less according to government survey thereof, will be sold by the sheriff of said county at public auction on the 10th day of December, 1937, at ten o'clock A. M., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Thief River Falls in said county and state, to pay the debt then secured by said mortgage and taxes, if any, on said premises and the costs and disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption within twelve months from said date of sale.

Dated October 16, 1937.

FRANK W. SHANDORF,
As Receiver of The Citizens National Bank of Faribault, Minnesota, a corporation, Mortgagee.

John H. Coughlin,

LIGHTNING STRIKES HOUSE IN NOVEMBER

Cloquet—Lightning has struck Cloquet homes before, but it's a safe bet that it never happened before on November 1. Just 14 minutes after noon that day a bolt of lightning struck the chimney of the Thomas Price home, damaged the chimney and followed electrical wires into the home where fuses were blown out. Occupants of the house were not injured. The belated electrical storm also struck cities on the iron range and caused a fire in Ely.

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our daughter and sister, Harriet, and our son and brother Wilhelm Anderson, who passed away one and year ago.

A precious sister and brother from us have gone,
Voices we loved are stilled;
Places are vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
God in His wisdom has recalled,
The boon his love has given,
And though the bodies slumber
here,
The souls are safe in heaven.

STOP and consider what your best fur market is BEFORE SHIPPING. We have been buying fur throughout the northwestern part of Minnesota, for thirty years, paying highest prices, either at our office or by mail.

LOOK! Read all fur reports and estimate the value of your furs. A word of warning, some Eastern firms are quoting prices above the market and do not pay. But what is important to you, is the actual dollar that you can receive for your fur by selling to us. We will meet all fair competition.

BRING your furs in to us, along with your favorite price list from your state, and you will receive good prices from us, as we are in the market for an unlimited quantity of fur from this section this year.

WE are also in the market for cattle and horse hides at full value. Leave the tail and mane on horse hides.

The county convention of the Cooperative Union Activities will be held at the court house in this city next Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 23, beginning at 1 o'clock. Robert Miller, the state president, and Oscar Christianson, secretary, will be here to address the meeting.

All members of the organization in this county are requested to attend. The two officials will report on some important matters pertaining to the state organization.

The county officials of the Cooperative Union Activities are: Otto Rehm, chairman; Fred Luhe, vice chairman; E. Jenson, secretary-treasurer, and Gordon Olson, Carl Anderson, Ed Roy and Albert Weberg, members of the board of directors.

CAR IS "CREMATED" IN HORSE'S PLACE

Belle Plaine. — The automobile belonging to Pat Griffin, went up in smoke last Sunday evening, being "cremated" in place of the horse which it carried. The car was used in hauling a deceased horse to a straw pile, the intent being to cremate the nag. However, in maneuvering the automobile around, it sank axle-deep into the soft rotted straw. Efforts made to extricate the car were of no avail. Instead, the exhaust pipe was overheated to such a degree that the straw pile was ignited and the car completely burned.

WRESTLING CARD SCHEDULED TO BE OFFERED TUESDAY

Two Outstanding Matches Featured in Bill at Auditorium

Wrestling fans of the northwest will be presented with an all star wrestling program at the Thief River Falls auditorium next Tuesday evening, November 23, beginning at 8:15. Harry Kent, 228 lbs, West coast sensation, will be pitted against Ed Cook, 215, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, grappler, in one half of the double windup, while Big Jim Clinstock, 275 lb., Ardmore, Okla. ruffian will meet Stanley Myslajek, 212 lb. Minneapolis mat artist in the other half.

Most of Kent's wrestling has been confined to the West Coast and Canadian rings, but he is not a newcomer to 'Big Time' wrestling circles, as he is also well known in the East, where he made a fine record for himself in the big International wrestling tournament held in Philadelphia two years ago.

Ed Cook, former Coe College football player, since turning wrestler has just recently established himself as a topnotcher. He has had considerable experience and has mixed with such stars as Cliff "Swede" Olson, Abe Kashey, Jack Hader, Lou Plummer and others. Jim Clinstock, giant Cherokee Indian, will be making his first invasion of this section of the country, but already he is an established headliner in Twin City rings.

Myslajek, who made a hit with Thief River Falls fans on a program here last spring will be a favorite with the crowd in this match. Although he will be outweighed in this bout, with only three years of professional background behind him, Myslajek has already met such stars as John Freberg, Karl Davis, Mike Nazarian, Earl Wampler, Abe Kashey, Bobby Stewart, Ivan Vakturoff and others.

Of local interest, will be the appearance here of Nels Gravgaard, Kennedy, Minn., wrestler, and a big favorite with local fans. Gravgaard has spent the past summer testing his prowess against the strong men of the carnival who ply the middle-west, and has completed a successful season. Gravgaard will meet "Bearcat" Thompson 212 lb., Oakland, California villain in a special event. Bun Dietz, popular Grand Forks referee, and incidentally one of the best referees in the Northwest, will be on hand to handle the bouts.

Joan Crawford at the Falls Theatre Sunday

Franchot Tone and Robert Young are leading men with Joan Crawford in "The Bride Wore Red", which will be the screen offering at the Falls theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with a midnight prevue Saturday evening at 11:15. The picture tells the story of a woman's struggles to find happiness in the lowly surroundings of her birth.

A unit of Major Bowes' amateur performers, who recently made their debut on the famous radio program, will be a special offering Saturday only.

"King Solomon's Mines", an adventure story based on the Rider Haggard book, will be shown at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday, the featured performers being Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Anna Lee, John Loder and Paul Robeson.

Junior C. C. Will Hear Reports This Evening

The Junior Chamber of Commerce at a meeting this evening at 6:30 in the Palm Garden cafe will hear the report of a committee which has been investigating the matter of staging an ice show in the arena again this winter. The committee named last week to make plans for a social event also is expected to make a report.

Victim of Car Accident Near Goodridge Succumbs

Karl Olaf Victor Sandstrom of New York City, who was injured November 3 when his automobile collided with a truck north of Goodridge, succumbed to injuries sustained in the accident Saturday at a local hospital. Mr. Sandstrom was born in Sweden November 23, 1899, and has resided in the United States for about the past twelve years. He was employed as salesman with a New York firm manufacturing Swedish steel products. He is survived by his wife and two children, all of New York City. His body was taken to New York City for rites and burial by his wife, who arrived here following the accident.

Rites at Grygla Friday For Jacob H. Becker, 74

Rites will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the German Lutheran church of Grygla, Rev. E. W. Baumann of Mavie officiating, for Jacob Henning Becker, who died early Tuesday morning at the home of his nephew Henry Becker of Moylan township. Interment will be made in the Lutheran cemetery of Moylan township.

Mr. Becker, who was at the time of his death 74 years of age, was born February 10, 1863, in Holstein, Germany, coming from Germany to Minneapolis in 1887. In 1889 he moved to Alexandria where he resided until 1912, at which time he moved to Moylan township, where he lived for the remaining twenty-five years of his life.

Surviving relatives are two nieces, Mrs. Albert Wilkens of Moylan and Miss Catherine Becker of Watertown, Wisc., four nephews, Christ Becker of Bemidji, August Becker of Ashland, Wisc., Alfred Becker of Milwaukee, Wisc., and Henry Becker of Moylan. His parents, one sister, and three brothers preceded him in death.

Joseph Greatfield Dies Monday in Local Hospital

Joseph Greatfield died in a local hospital Monday at the age of 78 years. Mr. Greatfield, who was born in Canada and has lived in this city for a number of years, had never married and has no known surviving relatives residing in this vicinity. Funeral rites were conducted by Rev. A. I. Merth Wednesday morning from St. Bernard's Catholic church and interment was made in St. Bernard's cemetery.

Three Men Are Fined for Violating Traffic Laws

Three men taken into custody late Sunday night by the highway patrol on Highway 32 south of this city appeared in municipal court Monday morning. Morris Ralston, charged with drunken driving, was fined $35 and $3 costs, and his drivers license was revoked, while Darby Anderson, charged with being intoxicated, was fined $10 and $3 costs. Bennie Tommerdahl, also charged with drunken driving, was fined $50 and costs and his drivers license was revoked.

EVANGELIST DISCUSSES CHRIST'S SECOND COMING

The distinct signs predicted by Christ to indicate the approach of the culminating event in human history His second advent have all been fulfilled in chronological order and the next number on the heavenly program is the glorious appearance of the Son of man", Thus declared Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture last Sunday night in the former Methodist church. Next week's program is announced on the church page of this issue.

'U' DADS WILL BE FETED SATURDAY AT GRIDIRON TILT

Gopher - Wisconsin Football Contest to be Feature Attraction

Father, that hardworking fellow who pays the bills, will have his day at the University of Minnesota, Saturday, November 20, when sons and daughters will devote the day to showing him about the campus and seeing that he has a good time.

He will visit the classrooms with his children, be shown some of the new laboratories and other educational projects on the campus. He will be the guest at various luncheons and in the afternoon he will watch Minnesota and Wisconsin engage in another chapter of the oldest football rivalry in the Western Conference.

Fathers whose sons are members of the football squad will sit together on the sidelines in Memorial Stadium on benches adjoining the players section. All fathers will be honored at between half ceremonies.

At 5:16 p. m. the annual Dads' Day banquet will be held in the Minnesota Union. All fathers are urged to attend by Edward F. Flynn, St. Paul, president of the Minnesota Dad's Association.

"The people of the state own the University," said Mr. Flynn in urging fathers to attend, "and therefore should take a keen interest in its affairs. One way to do this is to attend the annual Dad's Day events. There is no more fitting occasion than this day at which to learn what is going on at the University, because special arrangements will be made to show you about the campus and take you to such classes as you wish to attend."

Speakers at the dinner will include Dr. Guy Stanton Ford, acting president of the University, Dean E. E. Nicholson, Anne D. Blitz, dean of women, and President Flynn.

The Minnesota Dads' Association has a membership of more than 12,000 and is in its thirteenth year of activity. In addition of Mr. Flynn, other officers are George H. Taylor of Forest Lake, Vice-president, and George L. Eylar of Minneapolis, secretary-treasurer.

Concordia Music Hour Opens Sunday on WDAY

To be known as "The Concordia Music Hour," a series of half-hour programs will be broadcast weekly over WDAY, Fargo, beginning Nov. 21, to better acquaint the Northwest with the musical organizations at Concordia college, Moorhead, Minn. The programs will be heard every Sunday evening from 10:30 to 11. The Concordia concert band, under the direction of Prof. J. A. Holvik, will be featured in the first broadcast Nov. 21. Small campus ensemble groups will present the programs Nov. 28 and Dec. 5; the Concordia a capella choir, directed by Prof. Paul J. Christiansen, will appear Dec 12, and a program of hymns has been arranged for Dec. 19.

Judge Brattland Imposes Fines for Liquor Selling

Pleading guilty before Judge M. A. Brattland in district court this week to three charges of illegal sale of liquor, H. N. Ekeren was fined $100 on each charge. In addition he was given a ninety-day jail sentence which was suspended with the provision that a $1,500 bond be supplied to insure obedience to the terms of the probation order.

1938 SOIL PROGRAM WILL BE EXPLAINED IN COUNTY NEXT WEEK

separate rates were established for the diversion of soil-conserving crops, and for the carrying out of each soil-building practice. Under this plan, a producer calculated his payment at the end of the crop year by applying these separate rates to each acre diverted and to each practice performed. In 1938, however, the maximum payment for each producer will be calculated at the beginning of the crop year, and the attainment of the soil-depleting and soil-building goals will be set as conditions for full payment. Each producer will know what he must do for complete cooperation when he goes into the program.

With better land use one of the chief aims of the AAA plan, Mr. Anton says that it is generally agreed that unstable prices affect farm lands about as follows:

If farm commodity prices are ruinously low, farmers tend to over-crop the land in an effort to make up in quantity and production what they lack in unit price; and if prices are abnormally high, farmers tend to mine the fertility out of the soil to get as much cash as possible.

Under the pressure of low prices and reduced income, farmers virtually are forced to over-crop their soil year after year, to keep every possible acre in cash crops even though this depletes their soil and subjects it to erosion. They are forced to do this because their fixed charges do not go down when prices of things they sell go down. In an effort to get enough money to pay their taxes, interest, and the necessary production costs, farmers often are forced to try all the harder to produce as much as they can.

The practice in some farming areas of continually growing cash crops with rarely a compensating soil-building crop in rotation or as a cover crop has so reduced the fertility that it is impossible to farm this land and maintain a fair standard of living. Fluctuating farm prices and instability of farm income have prevented many farmers from making necessary improvements in carrying out soil-building practices that their land needed.

Many Are Charged With Violating Game Laws

Charged with having ducks in their possession five days after the close of the recent hunting season, nine local men brought into municipal court by game wardens this week, paid costs of $4 each, the minimum fine of $10 being suspended in all cases. Included in the group were J. E. Lanstein, E. J. Prestlik, H. M. Olson, John Barzen, W. J. Mulry, Jr., George Williamson, John Dokken, John Hurley and George Erickson. Julien Provencher paid a fine of $2.50 and costs for having more than ten ducks in his possession.

Toys Admit Children to Avalon Show Nov. 26th

A discarded toy will be the sole means for boys and girls of the Thief River Falls community to gain admission to a special movie program to be presented at the Avalon theatre Friday morning, November 26, beginning at 9 o'clock. The toys collected in this manner will be repaired and distributed at Christmas time thru the agency of the Salvation Army in cooperation with Mrs. Agnes Israelson and workers in the local NYA recreational project.

UCT Grand Counsellor Guest in City Saturday

Emil Graser of Fargo, grand counsellor of the United Commercial Travelers, will be the honor guest of the Thief River Falls council at a dinner meeting in the Evelyn hotel Saturday evening at 6:30, E. M. Bennes, secretary, announced today. Following the dinner initiation ceremonies will be held in the Masonic hall, with guests present from Fargo, Crookston and Grand Forks.

Recreational Program Sponsored by NYA to Begin Next Saturday

It was announced today by Mrs. Agnes Israelson, local recreational leader, and C. H. Thomas NYA area supervisor, that the recreational program of Thief River Falls will get under way Saturday evening Nov. 20 at 7 o'clock.

Supt. Morris Bye has arranged for the use of the high school gymnasium Saturday evening of each week for basketball and volley ball. The girls will begin at 7 o'clock and use the gym until 9 o'clock. The boys schedule will be arranged at a later date.

Monday and Wednesday evening of each week from 7 to 10 p. m. will be devoted to ping pong in the Civic and Commerce room of the auditorium under the direction of Mrs. Israelson. All interested young people are invited to participate in these activities.

Services Saturday for Knut J. Bratteli, 60

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. from the Carmel Lutheran church for Knut J. Bratteli, who died Monday at the home of his sister, Mrs. T. J. Lillevold of Lee township. Rev. S. T. Anderson of Grygla will officiate and burial will be in Carmel cemetery.

Mr. Bratteli was born February 18, 1877, in Bykle, Saterdalen, Norway, being at the time of his death 60 years of age. He had never married. He came from Norway to Grand Forks in 1904 and two years later moved to Beltrami where he has since made his home.

Three sisters, Mrs. T. J. Lillevold and Mrs. Thora Trydal and Mrs. Gunhild Byklum, both of Norway, and four brothers Ole of Benville township, Halvor of Big Falls, and Knut and Aanund, both of Norway, are the surviving relatives. Deceased relatives include his parents, one sister, and two brothers.

700 PARENTS GO TO N. W. SCHOOL EVENT SATURDAY, NOV. 6

Home Project Show Presents Summer Work of 268 Students

More than 700 parents viewed the work of Northwest School students at Crookston on Parents' Day, November 6. Superintendent T. M. McCall reports that Parent's Day this year broke all previous attendance records. The student program and home project show featured the summer project work of two hundred and sixty-eight students. One hundred and twenty girls from all parts of the Red River Valley staged a style revue in which they modeled cotton, wool and silk dresses made in project work under the direction of the Department of Home Economics. The display of sewing, canning, baking, small grains, corn, potatoes, plant, insect and mineral collections was the largest in the history of home project shows.

Ribbon awards were made in all classes of project work on display. The final awards, the loving cups and plaques for project work, will be awarded in December at which time the Record of Achievement will be the criterion on which awards are made.

Winners in the home project show included: Girls' work: Sewing awards: wash dress ensemble; 2nd, Luella Hanson, Trail; 3rd, Dorothy Hanson, Trail. Silk Dress 1st, Helen Hemmestvedt, Goodridge; 2nd, Wool dress: 3rd, Faith Thieling, Grygla. Thrift: 1st Faith Thieling, Grygla; 2nd, Dorothy Evans, Middle River. Needlecraft: 2nd, Dorothy Evans Middle River. Cookies: 2nd, Luella Hanson, Trail. Cakes: 1st, Gloria Boyd, Warren; 3rd Orda Sletvedt, Oklee. Preserving: 1st, Grace Johnson, Thief River Falls.

Bliss Triumph potatoes: 1st, Ray Sorvig, St. Hilaire. Insect collection: 3rd, Edwin Mortenson, Wannaska.

NRS Placements for State Totaled 4,800 During Past Month

All 27 offices of the National Reemployment Service in Minnesota during October made 4,800 placements, reports R. S. Eldevik, manager of the Thief River Falls office, serving Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, and Roseau counties. Of this total, 2,528, or 53%, were in private employment; 531 were "clearance" placements, representing workers shifted from area to area to meet the demand where workers were not available locally; and 289 ex-service men.

Placements in the territory of the local office totaled 180, of which 57 were in private employment.

Placements of all NRS offices in the state were 5,436 during September, and 6,110 during October last year. At the end of October the active files of all NRS offices contained the applications of 41,814 persons in a wide variety of occupations, including 34,457 men (of which 2,218 are ex-service men), and 7,357 women. Of these, the local office has 1,093, 902 men and 191 women.

DRIVES 20 MILES WITH CASTING PLUG IN EYE

Mahnomen. Ted Wold is congratulating himself upon retaining his eyesight following an unusual experience which made it necessary for him to go twenty miles to a physician to have a casting plug removed from his eye. Fishing recently at White Earth Lake one member of the fishing party in making a cast swung his line so that the wooden plug, containing a gang of three hooks came in contact with Mr. Wold's eye while he was leaning over his tackle box. The hook passed through the eyelid and became imbedded in the bone directly above the eye. The men set off for shore immediately and drove twenty miles to Mahnomen, where a physician removed the hook.

JUNIOR LIVESTOCK SHOW SALE BRINGS RECORD HIGH SUM

Grand Champion Beef Sold to St. Paul Bank for $1 a Pound

Headlined by top prices of $1,075 for the grand champion baby beef, $385.25 for the blue ribbon pig and $261.25 for the prize winning lamb, Minnesota business men Thursday paid 4-H girls and boys more than $70,000, for the cattle, lambs, pigs and poultry entered in the Junior Livestock show of 1937 at South St. Paul.

A record number of bidders, representing business establishments of Minneapolis, St. Paul, South St. Paul and other Minnesota towns, made up part of the crowd of nearly 3,000 that thronged the livestock pavilion—the biggest crowd that ever watched a junior show auction.

After 10 minutes of rapid fire bidding, the grand champion baby beef, a beautiful Shorthorn yearling, was sold to the First National bank of St. Paul, for $1 a pound. Weighing 1,075 pounds, this fine steer brought $1,075 gross to Arden Kraft of Correll in Bigstone County, the 4-H boy who raised and exhibited the prize winning animal.

Harry's Cafe of Minneapolis was high bidder for the grand champion pig, a Poland-China entered by LeRoy Peterson of Rice county, near Northfield. The final bid was $1.15.

Another Minneapolis business institution, Witt's Market house, carried off the grand champion lamb, paying its young owner, Robert Gifford of Balaton, Lyon county $4.25 a pound or a total of $361.25 for the fine Shropshire. This lamb weighed 85 pounds.

Sales figures for the Junior show totaled $74,043, well over the $66,750 paid the 4-H youngsters a year ago for their livestock and poultry.

GETS 75 DAYS IN JAIL AFTER ASSAULT CHARGE

Omer Belland, charged with committing assault and battery on the person of Joe King in St. Hilaire Monday in municipal court was sentenced to serve 75 days in jail or held if a fine, which was not paid.

Elizabeth Werner of Little Falls judged her capacity for turkey at the Minnesota Junior Livestock Show held last week in South St. Paul. The turkey was entered in the show by Robert Stegmaier of Farmington.

HICKORY

Funeral services were conducted at the Nazareth church Friday for one of the pioneer settlers of this community, John K. Arntson, who passed away at his home on Saturday, November 6th. Rev. Sigurd Fladmark officiated at the services. Comforting words were also spoken by Bj. Bjornaraa. The pall bearers were E. H. Offerle, Olaf Nelson, Knut Strande, H. T. Hanson, Bj. Bjornaraa and E. H. [illegible].

He was laid to rest in the West [illegible] cemetery, Douglas county near Alexandria.

Mr. Arntson was school treasurer in Dist. 9 in which capacity he had served for a great number of years. He was a hard worker and has built up one of the best farms in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hanson and son Walter returned home from Granite Falls last week where they had attended the funeral services for Mrs. Hanson's brother, Mrs. H. O. Homme.

Misses Beatrice and Irene Sabourin and Margaret [illegible] of McIntosh visited with Miss Christine Nelson on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Bj. Bjornaraa and Rev. Sigurd Fladmark attended the lutefisk dinner and sale at the Clearwater church near Roland on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tribble (Lela Alby) have this week moved to Thief River Falls where they will make their home.

A group of women gathered at the Chris Krannen home on Sunday and gave Mrs. Hubert McMurray a linen shower. The afternoon was spent socially and a delicious lunch was served. Mrs. McMurray received many lovely gifts.

Mrs. Andrew Hanson and daughter Bertha visited at the Nels Engebretson home on Friday.

The sale which for the past week has been had, at the Chas. Gunheim store was closed Saturday. People from many different towns were here to attend it.

Ralph Ness had the misfortune of damaging his car slightly when being run into on the road while cleaning off his windshield.

BRIDAL SHOWER

A bridal shower was given at the Clarence Larson home in Newfolden for Miss Gladys Ellestad (who is going to marry Charles Sedarski of Warren soon) on Saturday afternoon.

Program consisted of a solo, "I Love You Truly" by Mrs. O. H. Nohre; readings by Mrs. Haugen and Lenore Olson, many games and contests were also had. A two course luncheon was served by Mrs. Clarence Larson, Mrs. Oscar Oswald and Mrs. Louis Rosland. Last of all two girls dressed as farmerettes entered carrying all the lovely gifts in milk pails.

A very large crowd attended the wedding dance of Mr. and Mrs. Casper Hagstrom at the community Hall on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Hagstrom were presented with a cash purse of money in honor of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Larson and family motored to Crookston on Sunday where they visited relatives.

Circle 6 met Wednesday evening at the Jessie Sorum home.

Mrs. Elmer Peterson spent Monday at Thief River Falls visiting at the Albin Knauf home.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wegge was baptized Sunday at the Nazareth Lutheran church. The baby was named Carole Yvonne. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. John Bentz, Sylvia Wegg and Mrs. Ber. Hanson.

THE DOCTOR'S HOURS

Rare indeed is the Doctor who can say his working time is confined within certain hours. Office hours may be thus and so, but what with free clinics, Hospital staff service, Hospital calls, operation hours and emergency calls, the Doctor's working day is long and arduous. Even the Doctor with a highly specialized practice is not immune to broken hours of sleep and rest.

GOODRIDGE

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Pennington County Co-operative Power Association was held Wednesday in the new Gym. The directors elected were: Leonard Erickson of Hazel and Stephen Singer of Goodridge. Officers elected on the board of directors were: President, Stephen Singer; vice president, Palmer Weld; secretary treasurer R. H. McDonald and the other members of the board are: Mons Engelstad of Thief River Falls, Leonard Erickson of Hazel, Frank Hardesty of Thief River Falls, and Carl Swanson of Red Lake Falls.

CARNIVAL

A large and very lively crowd attended the school carnival held in the new gymnasium on Friday evening and the receipts were $110.10. After the bills are all paid there will still be a nice sum left to buy the play ground equipment for the school children. The box of groceries was won by Mrs. Nicholi Urdahl and the guessing contest on the bottle of candy was won by Orville Urdahl. Miss Ruth Malkewick was the winner of the Popularity contest. Carl Johnson brought a bus load of our neighbors from Grygla to enjoy the evening with us.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

A Women's Missionary Society was organized at the ladies aid society meeting held Thursday at the First Lutheran church. The ladies also decided to have a birthday table each month and any one having a birthday in that month may sit at the table and they are to give as many pennies as they are years old.

SURPRISE PARTY

A group of neighbors and friends surprised Mrs. A. H. Josephson on Saturday evening in honor of her birthday. Cards were played at six tables and the high score was won by Gene Swanson and the low by Dr. Diehl. Lunch was served by the self invited guests after which a social time with music was enjoyed. Mrs. Josephson was presented with a gift of money from her friends. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Halverson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. V. C. McLeod, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Christianson, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Olson, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Noer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Iverson, Mrs. Leo Ellingson and children, Mrs. John Hoppe, Mrs. Gust Ristau, Mrs. H. I. Rod and Gene Swanson.

FACULTY ENTERTAINED

Supt. and Mrs. R. N. Olson entertained the members of the faculty Wednesday evening at their home at a luncheon. Contests and games were enjoyed during the evening. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. George Schade, Misses Ruth Malkewick, Mildred Rasmusson, Helen Bowers, Leone Peterson and William Schelleng.

CHURCH BAZAAR

The ladies aid of the First Lutheran Church will hold a Bazaar on Friday evening December [illegible]. Watch the paper next week for further announcements.

DONATION SALE

The Ladies aid of the Goodridge church will hold their annual donation sale and supper Friday evening Nov. 19, at the church. Supper will be served at five thirty o'clock. All welcome.

Word has been received here of the birth Monday of a boy to Mr. and Mrs. (nee Mary Alexander) Richard Prestbo of Hatton, N. D. Announcement of the child's birth was received by Mrs. Prestbo's mother, Mrs. Charles Alexander.

Al Stokke, Bud Sieloth and Robert Ulrich left Saturday for Rhinelander, Wisconsin, to resume their work with the resettlement administration after being transferred back to this city to be employed here ten days.

Miss Evelyn Tornell of Viking arrived in this city Sunday morning from Minneapolis, where she had visited for several days. She continued on to her home at Viking with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson and children, who spent the day visiting with various relatives.

Mrs. R. D. Munt and her daughter Genevieve left last Thursday for Minneapolis to consult medical specialists. While there they were guests at the home of Mrs. M. T. McFarland of St. Paul, formerly of this city. They also visited with Margaret Rae Munt, who is studying at the Northwest Institute of Medical Technology, Minneapolis. Mrs. Munt and Genevieve returned Monday morning.

Guests last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Peterson were Mr. Peterson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Peterson and family of Minot, N. D., and Mrs. Peterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Forsiof of Crary, N. D. They were here for the baptism Friday of the E. O. Petersons' infant daughter, who was christened Ara LaVonne at ceremonies at 7 p. m. at the Peterson home.

Miss Lulu Cook of Billings, Mont., formerly of this city, left Monday morning to visit at Duluth, Austin, and Barnum before returning to Billings after a week's visit in this city. Miss Cook will visit with Mrs. A. E. Simons, sister of Mrs. Harold Eide, at Austin, and with Mrs. Robert L. Gossell (formerly Mrs. Sadie Nason of this city) at Barnum. While in this city she was a guest at the Harold Eide home.

Week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Ward were the former's mother, Mrs. Alfred Ward of Rochester, and Mrs. Vivian Waterbury of Akron, Iowa, who arrived Friday, remaining until Tuesday, visiting with Mrs. Alfred Ward's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weeks, as well as with the Gaston Wards. On their return to Rochester Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Waterbury were accompanied by Mrs. Weeks and daughter Dawne, who will spend a few days at Rochester.

Tut's Gold Coffin Valuable

The value of the solid gold innermost coffin in which the mummy of King Tut was discovered, as gold alone, is worth some $30,000.

MIDDLE RIVER — HOLT,
MINNESOTA

Dear friends:

There is a wide variety of tastes and opinions regarding funeral arrangements.

The important thing, as we see it, is to provide the service exactly as the family wishes. If suggestions are wanted, we are glad to offer them. But we want them to be merely suggestions, and not dictatorial in any sense.

Whatever your wishes, it is always our desire to carry them out to the very best of our ability.

Respectfully,

Carl B. Larson

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM IS HELD THURS. MORNING

Dr. Jacobson Addresses Students in Memorial Program

Last Thursday the schools all celebrated the 19th anniversary of the signing of the Armistice on November 11, 1918.

Lincoln High convened in their regular assembly hall the latter part of the morning. The high school chorus opened the program by singing two numbers, Robert Smith being the soloist. The chorus is under the able direction of Miss Nelson.

Dr. A. E. Jacobson was the guest speaker of the day. In his speech he reminded us that although the World War was fought to end all wars, there is a great deal of fighting going on in the world today. It is hoped that the United States will not become involved in another war such as the World War but in a war-mad world it is hard to say what will happen.

After this address the clarinet quartet played two numbers, "Rondo" by Mozart and "Deep River" a negro spiritual. Those who are members of the clarinet quartet are Ileen Hoffseth, Margaret Jacobson, Palma Jahr, and Charles Gustafson. The program was concluded by having the entire student body sing the first and last verses of "America" and three girls sang "Taps" as a fitting tribute to the soldiers of the World War.

ROUND THE SCHOOL

Mr. Mayor Oakes' chemistry classes are beginning "Ionization, acids, bases, and salts," also "four ways of preparing a salt", "reactions that go to completion," and "Hydrolysis."

Miss Diebel's world history classes are starting on the "Unit of Heat" and the "Controversy between the empire and the Pope".

Mr. Claffy's physics classes are starting on the "Unit on Mechanics." The students are working individual or group experiments in mechanics.

Miss Wise and Miss Larson's typing I classes are working on numbers. The shorthand I class is drilling on the principle of shorthand and transcription work; the Shorthand II classes are doing filing and transcription work.

The bookkeeping classes are studying 'special journals'.

Miss Helquist's and Miss Thorson's general science classes are studying the controlling of water supply and methods for the use of water, having just finished the study of the weather.

SENIOR WHO'S WHO

Do you know who it is that's always late for school? Do you know who it is that just dotes on crackers and cheese and ginger ale in spite of being only seventeen? Do you know who it is that prefers the Novel "K" by Mary Roberts Rinehart, the actors Bill Powell and Fred Astaire, and the cinema "Thin Ice"? Do you know who it is that enjoys swimming and skating, "Blondie," Lem Hawkins orchestra and the song, "Have You Got Any Castles, Baby?" Do You know who it is that just simply abhors getting up early? Do you know who it is that hasn't any pet saying, aspiration, or inspiration? Well, we do. Want us to pass on our knowledge? O. K., it's Mary Elizabeth Chommie.

Myloy Nelson ("My" or "Nels" to youse guys) never reads books, but likes to attend movies like "Heidi" instead. Most of them cost him 70c and Phyllis Rush seems to be the reason at present. He also likes Alice Faye and Rudy Vallee, and especially favors the piece "Harbor Lights" if played by the Lucky Stuks Orchestra. Basketball and Popeye sit way upon his ladder of judgment or something. My doesn't particularly enjoy being without a dime but he should risk—he's got a girl to his credit. No pet saying, electrical engineer for an aspiration, and no inspiration. That's all there is to My's biography—he's kind of small anyway.

Basketball Rules for 1937 Season Interpreted

Basketball season is drawing nearer and nearer. A positive sign that local cage fans will not have much longer to wait occurred last Monday in the form of a meeting for the reading and interpretation of new rules and changes to be put in force this season. The meeting was held under the direction of Mr. Arthur Von of Duluth, one of the more prominent directors in Minnesota athletics and also a director in th Minnesota Athletic Officials Association.

Probably the most important rule that will go into effect this season is the one that eliminates the center jump after a team has made a field goal. The center jump will only be used at the start of the game, the beginning of the second half, and the start of an overtime period. Also after a double or technical foul and in other minor instances. This change will undoubtedly make basketball a much faster game than it has been in past years. For this reason each team will be allowed five time out periods during a game this year in comparison with only four in preceding years.

Various other technicalities and play situations were discussed to give the coaches, officials, and players in this district who were in attendance at the meeting a clearer understanding of new changes and rules.

BAND NOTES

At the annual Armistice day program held in the high school assembly last Thursday morning, the clarinet quartette entertained the students by playing several selections. The quartette included Eileen Hoffseth, Charles Gustafson, Palma Jahr, and Margaret Jacobson.

A brass sextette has been organized, which includes the following: Lorraine Amundson and Donald Pederson—Cornets; Martha Havel, French horn; Gloria Quist, trombone; Elinor Erickson, baritone; Wesley Burrell, bass.

Those in the Clarinet Octette are Thomas Carlisle, Elaine Bessler, Charles Gustafson, Maurene Rhodegard, Harriet Nelson, Robert Lund, Barbara Jacobson, and Virgil Lubitz. This octette is made up entirely of eighth and ninth graders.

These small newly organized groups will play for community gatherings, and school programs, and will also take part in the Music Contest next spring.

Two new members have been admitted into the band: Margaret McKechnie on the C. Melody Saxophone, and Mary Alice Beiderman on the Alto saxophone.

Miss Dahlen's and Miss Thorson's home economics I classes are learning about luncheons.

Year after year there is in our high school a serious problem that should be remedied. That problem is one concerning the extra-curricular activities of the students of our high school. We have found that there is a menacing lack of balance among the number of students taking part in these activities. There are a great number of students who participate in numerous extra -curricular activities and an even greater number who fail to take any interest in them, whatsoever. Although this problem does not appear to need a solution to the average casual observer, the present status of the activities is detrimental to many in the long run. It is quite evident that a complete solution will never be found but with more encouragement of the faculty and parents and a keener enthusiasm by some of the more indolent students a partial remedy may result.

Even those who participate in too great a number of extra-curricular are doing both themselves and others a great injustice. No student participating in many activities can expect to excel in all of them and is thus depriving his director of his full ability and is not giving hmself the full opportunity of gaining real achievement in the field of activity which he enters.

More serious of the two groups, is of course, those who fail to take advantage of the extensive extra-curricular program offered by Lincoln high. It appears odd, to say the least, that many students are unable to find one extra activity from varsity, intramural and interclass athletics; band; chorus; glee club; debate; pep squad; progress; prowler; declamation and other activities. All students should participate in at least one of these extra activities. If you fail to do so, you are not making the best out of your high school education.

PROWLERETTES' CORNER

Well-first of all the volleyball josies were tested for knowledge Friday preparatory to starting the biggest—most spirited tournament yet played. No one is predicting the outcome—upper classmen's experience being balanced by zest and plenty of zoom in the less experienced frosh.

We're off on another hit-pin tourney in regulation gym. Take a look at the first weeks scores:

First Period Monday and Thursday: Mathilda Paulson's Mattles, 71. Marilyn Nopers, Cardinals, 84.

Second period Monday and Thursday: Alverda Lund's Tubbas 88. Ardith Thompson's Tomcats 67.

Third Period Monday and Thursday: Joan Dahlquist's, Peppits 31. Marjorie Helquist's Lincolnettes 96.

First Period Tuesday and Friday: Helen Arras's—Hot Dogs 75. Palma Jahr's Polly's Parrots 30.

Second Period Tuesday and Friday: Dagny Tungseth's Tung-Twisters, 60. Mary Rolland's Gophers 94.

Third Period Tuesday and Friday, Nona Nelson's Big Apples 54. Gloria Quist's Hiterettes 58.

There! with a conglameration like that, imagine the turmoil should "Polly's Parrots" "Tung-twister" around the "Big Apples" and the "Tom-cats" "Go-pher" "Hot-dogs"—ah me that would be something!

Remember the poster committee selected? They are already enharnessed, and working on the bulletin for this week. No time lost here, bless 'em!

You josies with unbreakible necks and supple torsos—or if your aspiration lean that away, keep in mind tumbling to be started Mondays after school soon as the Thanksgiving pains are alleviated.

Needn't mention that popular sport, basketball, I suppose. Tish, you girls! Well—it will become the sportfirst of December too. Must be hopping—so—

Yours, Big Josie.

CHORUS

The mixed chorus has been practicing on a new Christmas song which is entitled "Today There is Ringing" by Doctor Christianson of St. Olaf College. They are making fine progress with it for the Christmas program.

"Cherubin Song" by Bortmeansky has been memorized. Their work on blending and phrasing has improved considerably.

The girls are now trying out for girls sextet. Anyone wishing to try out for this, please see Miss Nelson.

Selections Chosen for Declamation

The interest taken in declamation is widely shown by the large number who partake in it. When the contest will be held will be announced later.

Those who have gone out for humorous declamation and their pieces are: Bobby at the Circus—Marion Parbst, Bridegroom Who Tarried—Frances Stenberg, Just Looking—Helen Grinde, Football as Dora Sees It—Dorothy Robarge, The Mourning Veil—Elaine Douglas, The Mission Box, Mildred Jensen, At the Declam Contest—Marguerite Simonson, Romance Comes to Betty Ann—Mary Chommie, at the Art Museum—Palma Jahr, School Program—Leona Brattland, Transaction in Mumps—Mary Alyce Biederman, Ma's Monday Morning—Josephine Zachar, Movie Hero—Evelyn Tungseth, Her First Trip—Bernice Halvorson, Sisters in Society—Doris Hostvet, Lady of the House—Elsie Skaar, At the Matinee—Joan Dahlquist, Air Revoir Good-bye—Doris Musleth, The Cat Came Back—Lorraine Amundson, and The Morning After—Frances Stuart.

Those who have gone out for dramatic declamation and their pieces are: Child and the Rising Day—Mary Rolland, I Was Hungry and Ye Fed Me—Jean Vielgoth, The Miracle Song—Ann Hillyer, Forgotten Whitness—Florence Svoleadny, Eyes—Harriette Simonson, Joan of Arc—Wanda Hanson, Brother Who Failed—Effie Hanson, David Stands Pat—Hazel Hegrenes, The Leo—Ardith Schultz, Patsy—Marilyn Noper, Nellie's Mission Box—Frances Eide, His Word of Honor—Marion Douville, Littlest Rebel—Dorothy Nelson, and The Talent—Camille Aasland.

SPORT SHORTS

Warren ended the football season by scoring a landslide triumph over an overmatched Northwood, N. D. eleven. Bemidji completed its schedule by falling before the Staples eleven 32 to 13. East Grand Forks trimmed Warren 32 to 7. The final district football standings are 1st, Thief River Falls; 2nd, East Grand Forks; 3rd Warren; 4th, Crookston. Although it is a bit early for basketball predictions with sparse information, your columnist predicts the tentative final placing the same as the football standing for the past season. Roger Panzer, one of last year's Crookston cage aces attended school at the Crookston A. C. during the football season and may continue on the Aggies basketball troupe. Without Panzer, we opine a rather disappointing season for the Pirates although anything can happen and often does. The Warren Ponies are going in for flashy long stockings, the latest fad in basketball regalia.

PROWLING AROUND

One of the most dangerous foes of the champion Prowlers in this season district 31 basketball race is expected to be the Warren Ponies. Although Herschel Lysaker's boys finished in the cellar last year, they gave all the conference teams a fierce battle and came very close to knocking the Prowler's ears off, figuratively speaking, on one occasion.

Although last year's sparkplug Art Bossman was lost by graduation together with Harry Huls, a regular and Ralph Hjelle, every position will be studded by dependable regulars and reserves. Six of the ten lettermen return this year. Reuben Carlson one of the districts fastest and most accurate shooters last year returns for a regular forward berth. Another returning starter is Bob Wilson a guard. Bob Dahlof, lanky sharpshooting forward; Ken "Stub" Howe, guard; Bob Frazer, center, Harry Howard, center, all lettermen, together with Bob "Tex" Schaeffer, forward; Bruce Fulks, center; Engelstad, forward; and Sandberg, center or forward from last years "A" and "B" quints are back to fight for the remaining posts.

Freeman Haugo, a forward or center, who matriculated to Warren last spring from Northwood, N. D., is conceded an excellent chance to break into the starting lineup although his real merits under varsity fire is yet to be proved. Coach Lysaker was the mentor at Northwood before coming to Warren.

Warrenites are wondering whether the cage squad should be called Ponies or Phonies but the Ponies appear to have the edge.

The Washington grade school youngsters like their illustrious high school idols, the Prowlers, recently completed their football season with a record marred only by a tie game. The Washington team found the competition in their own class too soft and added to their vigorous schedule by trouncing two different central seventh grade squads and escaping with another tie with one of them. On one afternoon the lower grade champs humiliated two different teams with lop-sided consecutive victories. The seasons results are as follows: Washington 24, Knox x18; Washington 36, seventh grade 6; Washington 48, Northrop 18; Washington 18, seventh grade 12; Washington 30, seventh grade 30. Those who saw the most service during the season are Captain Lloyd Johnson, Morris Efteland, Billy Bye, James Gullingsrud, John Harris, Luverne Carlson, Oglen Helle, Earl Helle, Raymond Hagen, Robert Mattson, Lester Vigs, Raymond Bugge, and Raymond Offerdahl.

Miss Stenerson's English II classes are beginning the study of "Silas Marner."

JR. CLASS PLAY CAST COMMENCES REGULAR PRACTICE

"Adam and Eva" to be Title of Play Presented on December 3

The annual Junior class play will be presented December 3. The title is "Adam and Eva" a comedy in three acts. "Adam and Eva" is a bright amusing play on the American business man who has a genius for making money but no talent for managing his own family. The story of a wealthy man, his extravagant, selfish family clinging dependant upon him and apparently regarding him as bothersome except when he poises his pen above a check book. These relatives even arrange with his physician to have him go away on a long trip, so that they may run up bills more freely. In comes the father's young business manager who tells his employer that he would love a home. The exasperated father suggests that they change places and puts him in command of the household, himself lighting out for the upper regions of the Amazon. The young man soon finds himself confronted by the same hurricane of flippancy and terrific bills for lingerie. As a desperate remedy he deludes the family into thinking that father's big rubber business is ruined. In a clever and humorous manner they meet the emergency. Of course it does them all good and brings out the best in them. "Adam and Eva" is genuine fun.

The cast of characters are as follows:

James King, a rich man—Clifford Lunke.
Carinthia, his parlor maid—Palma Jahr.
Julie DeWitt, his eldest daughter—June Yatesund
Clinton DeWitt, his son-in-law—Lester Erickson
Eva King, his younger daughter—Joyce Hennes
Aunt Abey Rocker, his sister-in-law—Leona Brattland
Dr. Jack Delamater, his neighbor—John Fabrick
Horace Pilgrim, his uncle—John Lillvold
Adam Smith, his business manager—Ralph Gustafson
Lord Andrew Gordon, his would-be son-in-law—Earl Burrell.

Mr. Peterson's English IV classes are having debates and are writing orations, which they will memorize and deliver in class. His English I classes are drilling on grammar and will soon start on the "Lady of the Lake."

Why doesn't the Soph class make use of all their excess funds — for instance, they might buy Don. P. a comb. Not that he needs it, of course—merely a suggestion.

SCHOOL NOTES

The monthly meeting of the Plummer P. T. A. was held Wednesday evening at the school house. A project for the P. T. A. to sponsor was discussed and it was decided to use the money taken in for a movie projector for the school. The program which followed the business meeting consisted of:

Community singing directed by Mr. Jaspers and accompanied by Miss Gjesdal.

Talk, "Tuberculosis, Everybody's Problem", by Jeanne Pahlen.

Song "The Rosary" by the High School Girl's Glee Club directed by Miss Gjesdal.

Talk, "Aviation" by Mr. Olsberg.

Talk, "Tuberculosis, Everybody's Problem" by Marguerite Hill.

After the program lunch was served by the following ladies, Mrs. Mae Sorenson, Mrs. Harvey Page, Mrs. George Thibert, Mrs. Karl Rosberg, and Mrs. Jack Bruggeman.

Friday evening the Plummer Alumni basketball team defeated the high school team 20-13 in a fast and exciting game. The High School team shows promise of better things to come and we're all rooting for them.

The school board held its monthly meeting Friday evening. At this meeting it was decided to install showers for the school.

The state wide essay contest, with "Tuberculosis, Everybody's Problem", as its chosen subject, has been entered by the pupils of our high school. Jeanne Pahlen and Marguerite Hill have been chosen from the Junior and Senior High schools respectively as the authors of the best speeches. They gave their talks at the P. T. A. and the compositions were then sent to the state where they will compete with the other entries. The winner of this contest will get a free trip to Minneapolis and will be allowed to give his or her talk over the radio station WCCO.

Remember the Junior class play November 19 at the Auditorium. The Juniors with Miss Gjesdal coaching have been working hard on it and it should be very good.

The 5th and 6th graders entertained the 3rd and 4th graders with an Armistice day program composed and given by the pupils themselves Wednesday.

CONSTRUCTION JOBS LOCALLY TOTAL $300,000

Building in City Exceeds High Total of 1936 by $50,000

31 NEW RESIDENCES ERECTED THIS YEAR

Biggest Projects Are Falls Theatre and L. B. Hartz Warehouse

Continuing the building construction record established in Thief River Falls in 1936 when improvement projects aggregating nearly $250,000 in value were instituted, local citizens this year have completed or have under way projects representing an investment of nearly $300,000, it is revealed in a survey of building permits for the year in the office of City Clerk P. G. Pederson. A total of 87 permits have been approved by the city council to date this year, compared to 75 in 1936.

Structures covered by the permits include nineteen large and small business buildings, 31 new residences and 36 remodeling and repair projects. Not covered in the compilation are several residences erected north of the city limits.

The largest projects undertaken this year are the new Falls theatre on LaBree av. and the huge warehouse being erected by L. B. Hartz Stores on the Great Northern right-of-way. Other sizeable structures include the A. M. Magnuson store building, Skarstad-Daniels Lumber company, Minnesota Electric Welding company shop, L. L. Hall warehouse, J. D. Beals honey extraction plant, Jungs Bakery addition, and store buildings erected by Martin Bothun and Mrs. H. A. Loken.

Included in the list of those constructing new residences are Theodore Harnseth, Carl Johnson, L. L. Hall, R. E. Looker, Clarence Sande, W. W. Prichard, Central Lumber company, F. E. Tunberg, Reuben G. Johnson, O. J. Pederson, Miss Hilda Erickson, Gerhard Kast, Mrs. M. T. McFarland (two), Pete Breznay, L. A. Ihle, Douglas Johnson, E. W. Hedin, Robert Peterson, W. J. Mulry, Jr., William Gruslie, Trinity church parsonage, Alvin Christofferson, Christ Engelstad, Mrs. A. Lein, Elmer Adolphson, George Ege, L. B. Hartz, Palmer Hanson, G. L. Biddick and E. M. Hamnung.

The 36 repair and remodeling projects represent investments ranging from $30 to $2,500, including a dozen or more private garages.

County Highway Crews Ready to Battle Snow

[illegible]mit Children to Ava[illegible]w Friday at 9

A discar[illegible] will be the sole means fo[illegible]nd girls of the Thief Rive[illegible] community to gain admission to a special movie program to be presented at the Avalon theatre Friday evening, November 26, beginning at 9 o'clock. The toys collected in this manner will be repaired and distributed at Christmas time thru the agency of the Salvation Army in cooperation with Mrs. Agnes Israelson and workers in the local NYA recreational project.

Better prepared than ever before to clear the roads of snow as a result of the recent purchase by the county board of four new snowplow units, County Highway Engineer J. A. Erickson and his staff of workers are looking forward toward the coming winter with less concern than in past years.

In a further effort to prevent the accumulation of drifts on county highways, work is now being completed on the installation at vulnerable spots of more than six miles of snow fence, including an additional 6,000 feet purchased this year.

The approximately 360 miles of county highways which will be patrolled by the plows during the winter months have been divided into four districts, each averaging 89 miles. The three new Marmon-Harrington Ford V-8 plows will be stationed in River Valley, Goodridge and St. Hilaire, while the Four-Wheel-Drive plow will work out of Thief River Falls, Mr. Erickson stated, adding that the heavy Diesel unit will be stationed in this city to be available for work wherever needed.

Operators of the River Valley unit will be Jack Radniecki and David Wilde, while the Four-Wheel-Drive unit will be operated by Francis Marsten and Philip Lundberg. Final action on crews for the other units remains to be taken, Mr. Erickson said.

H. ANTON EXPLAINS GOALS OF '38 SOIL CONSERVING PLAN

Series of Community Meetings Held in County This Week

What the agricultural conservation program can do and what it cannot do has been and will be among the topics to be discussed at the community meetings on the new program which are being held throughout the county this week, Hans Anton, in charge of the program in this county, says. Community committeemen to administer the 1938 program are also to be elected at these meetings.

Mr. Anton says that limitations of the conservation programs are recognized. This was pointed out by Secretary Wallace when the outlines of the 1938 program were announced. At that time Secretary Wallace said, "The agricultural conservation program . . . is not a production-control program. In the absence of other legislation that is now provided, normal weather conditions will again result in the accumulation of burdensome surpluses. But this fact does not preclude the use of the present program to further conservation and help maintain economic gains which agriculture has made since 1932."

The following are the generally conceded limitations and advantages of the 1938 program, Anton says:

It is generally recognized that the program cannot do some of the things which it is believed a complete farm program should do. The things the present program cannot do are: (1) It alone cannot prevent burdensome surpluses, (2) It cannot provide means for storing reserves so that they will not depress prices, (3) It cannot fully insure the farmer against losses from natural calamities, such as drought.

However, the present program can help raise and keep up farm income (1) by indirectly influencing the volume and therefore the prices of farm products, (2) by encouraging more extensive use of efficient farm operation, (3) by providing conservation payments to farmers, and (4) by making the land able to produce more, when and if needed. The program encourages soil conservation by providing part of the cash cost of putting certain approved practices into effect.

TWO ARE KILLED IN CAR MISHAP IN MARSHALL COUNTY

Strandquist Young Women Accident Victims Monday Afternoon

Mrs. Steve Chwialkowski, bride of a day who was injured when a car carrying the wedding party crashed into a ditch near Strandquist, died in a Warren hospital early Tuesday.

Thus the death toll in the wedding tragedy that involved six persons, was increased to two. Monday night Ersla Budaswoski, the bridesmaid, died. The five others, including the bride, were brought to Warren.

Three of the others sustained serious injuries but doctors were confident Tuesday that all would recover.

Steve Chwialkowski, the groom, suffered a brain concussion. Mrs. Walter Grochowski suffered one broken collarbone, a fracture of the other, several broken ribs and back injuries. Her husband sustained torn neck ligaments. Frank Chwialkowski, best man at the wedding, suffered only slight injuries.

The party was picked up and brought to Warren by A. Bordenkircher and his son Frank of Argyle and Adolph Johnson and Hans Hanson, deer hunters, who were traveling in the district in two cars.

The accident occurred four miles southwest of Strandquist, Marshall county, when the group was nearing the home of the bride's parents. The wedding was solemnized only a short time before at the Catholic church at Florian.

GOOD REPORTS PRESENTED TO FAIR MEMBERS

Annual Meeting of Society Conducted Tuesday Evening

RECEIPTS FOR FAIR AGGREGATE $12,361

Hillard, Woolson and McKercher Elected to Board of Directors

The largest attendance in many years was registered Tuesday evening at the annual meeting of the Pennington County Agricultural society, sponsor of the county fair, nearly forty stockholders being present. S. E. Hunt, president, was in charge of the meeting, at which three directors were elected and an encouraging annual report submitted by Secretary Robert J. Lund.

Reelected to the board of directors were C. G. Hillard and H. C. Woolson, while R. J. McKercher, prominent county farmer, was named to the board succeeding Mike McAndrews, who asked that his name be not considered.

Secretary Lund's report showed total receipts at the fair this year of $12,361.85, the major items being gate admissions, $3,748.80; grandstand, $2,594.69; concessions and privileges, $984.50; carnival, $1,061.60; state reimbursements, $1,550; merchants prize tickets, $1,112.50; and appropriations from the city of $500 and from the county of $400.

Disbursements during the year aggregated $12,146.04, including as principal items attractions and music, $2,850.24; labor, $1,147.86; premiums, $1,451.20; loans paid, $1,100; free prizes, $928; race purses, $625; repairs and replacements, $386.55; buildings, $207.32; printing and stationery, $470.18; and secretary's salary, $400.

The first mortgage on the fair property, now $3,500, will be reduced to $3,000 shortly after the first of the year when the state reimbursement is received, Mr. Lund stated. He reported that there was a total of 4150 entries in the various departments of the 1937 fair.

County Agent Howard Grow gave a report on the status of the 4-H building which it is planned to erect on the fair grounds. He said the project had been approved by WPA headquarters in Washington, and that early action is anticipated. He added that the 4-H clubs have accumulated a fund of approximately $250 to apply on the sponsors' share of the project, and plan to reimburse the fair association for any advances that are made. The building when completed will fill a long-felt want on the fair grounds.

Secretary Lund pointed out that the fair association has many absentee shareholders, and that many have passed away. Following a discussion of the subject, President Hunt was instructed to appoint a committee to look into the stock ownership records and submit a report to the board of directors.

A rising vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Mary V. Shaw and Mrs. Herbert Fuller in recognition of their long period of unselfish service to the county fair, dating back almost to its inception. Appreciation was expressed also of the efficient service rendered by Secretary Lund and the board of directors and superintendents.

Mayor W. W. Prichard Urges Public Support for Christmas Seals

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!

In keeping with the Town Crier design on the 1937 Tuberculosis Christmas Seal, his time-honored cry is used to call your attention to the fact that Thanksgiving Day marks the opening of the annual Christmas Seal sale in our community, in the state, and in the nation.

The old-fashioned Town Crier with his lantern in one hand and bell in the other, symbolizes protection of homes. In other days, his cry through the dark hours brought comfort and peace to citizens through the night. Christmas Seals provide protection for you and your family by a continuous campaign to control tuberculosis.

The Christmas Seal, costing but a penny, gives every citizen the opportunity to take part in the work of saving human lives. The continuation of the fight against tuberculosis is a trust upon every member of a community for his own welfare as well as that of others.

I ask that every man, woman and child in our community buy Christmas Seals and use them during the holiday season.

Mayor W. W. Prichard.

COUNTY ASKED TO SEND DELEGATES TO GOP MEETING

Republican State Convention to be Held in St. Paul December 16

The official call for the Republican state organization convention to be held December 16 at the St. Paul hotel was received this week by Theodore Quale, Pennington county chairman, who has called a meeting of the county central committee for Saturday afternoon to act on the matter of arranging for local delegates to the St. Paul meeting.

The purpose of the state convention as stated in the call is to consider "the reorganization of the Republican party and the adoption, amendment or rejection of a proposed constitution for the Republican party of Minnesota and for the further purpose of giving consideration, in the discretion of the convention assembled, to other matters deemed of interest to the welfare of the Republican party and the State of Minnesota." Under a general agreement there will be no endorsement of candidates at the convention.

The proposed change in the party's constitution would lodge control of the organization in its county organizations instead of being as at present in a state central committee named by nominees to office.

Selection of delegates to the St. Paul convention will be made at county conventions to be held between December 1 and 10, details of which are being left to the county organizations. County representation to the state convention will be on the basis of two delegates-at-large for each county plus one delegate for each 750 votes or fraction thereof cast for the Republican candidate for president in 1932.

20th Annual Poultry Show Opens Monday in City Auditorium

800,000 POUNDS TURKEYS GO FROM CITY IN 3 WEEKS

36 Carloads Shipped From Thief River Falls for Thanksgiving

Testifying to the continued importance of Thief River Falls as a turkey marketing center, a total of more than 800,000 pounds of the birds have left the city during the first three weeks of November, destined for the eastern Thanksgiving market. Included in shipments are 36 carloads, each averaging approximately 23,000 pounds.

The movement this year is of about the same magnitude as a year ago, and is nearly double the small total of 20 carloads shipped in 1935, altho far below the all-time record of 82 carloads established in November, 1933.

While the number of turkeys in this section of the state is not as large as in some recent years, local marketing agencies anticipated a satisfactory volume of the birds during the Christmas marketing season, which opens December 1 to continue for nearly two weeks. The market quotations this year are more favorable to producers than a year ago.

FIFTEEN PLUMMER STUDENTS UNHURT IN BUS COLLISION

Escape Injury When the Bus Collides With Farmer's Automobile

Fifteen Plummer school students narrowly escaped injury about 8 o'clock Wednesday morning of last week when the Plummer school bus and a car being driven by Fredolph Swanson of River township collided, the school bus turned over on its side, breaking all of the windows, says the Red Lake Falls Gazette. Fortunately not a single one of the students were injured but the driver of the bus, S. J. Rice received a bad cut on the right side of his head. Mr. Swanson suffered only minor bruises.

The crash happened three miles north and two miles west of Plummer. Mr. Rice was driving west of the county road picking up the school students when Mr. Swanson was coming out of his farm driveway going south. He did not see the bus until it was too late to avoid the collision.

The fronts of both cars were quite badly damaged in the crash and all of the windows on the left side of the bus were broken when it turned over on its side.

Mr. Rice was brought to Red Lake Falls where the cuts on his head were dressed by a physician. The damaged school bus and the smashed car were hauled to a Plummer garage for repairs.

530 Cards Returned to Postoffice in Census of Local Unemployed

Approximately 530 cards were returned to the Thief River Falls postoffice in the unemployment census which was conducted thru the postoffices of the nation during the period from November 16 to 20, it was announced. The cards Wednesday were sent to Minneapolis for classification, and it is anticipated that a considerable number will be weeded out as not coming properly within the scope of the census. Results of the final compilation will not be announced in Washington until in January 1938.

OLE LEE, GREAT NORTHERN AGENT, DIED ON MONDAY

Had Served Company in This City Past Two Years; 48 Years Old

Ole Lee, who for the past two years served as depot agent for the local branch of the Great Northern railway, passed away after a lengthy illness Monday afternoon in a local hospital at the age of 48 years.

Mr. Lee was born March 23, 1889, in Cass county, North Dakota. On June 14, 1916, he was married to Maud Hall at Grand Forks, where he was employed as relief depot agent for the Great Northern railway for seven years. In addition, he served as agent at Inkster, N. D. for sixteen years and at Rugby, N. D., for five years before coming to this city two years ago.

Surviving relatives include his wife and daughter Jean, both of this city, his mother, Mrs. Lena Lee of Grandin, N. D., and a brother Gilbert of Glascow, Mont. His father preceded him in death ten years ago.

Funeral rites and burial were held at Inkster Wednesday afternoon, services being held from the Community church of which Mr. Lee was a charter member and which he served as a member of the board of directors for seven years.

Birds to Compete for Prizes in Annual Four-Day Exhibition

SHOW ENTRIES WILL BE RECEIVED MONDAY

Professor M. C. Herner of Winnipeg to Officiate as Judge

Barnyard fowl that are the pride of county farms will strut before their admirers at the twentieth annual Pennington county poultry show which opens at the Auditorium next Monday, November 29, to continue thru Thursday, December 2. Monday has been designated as entry day, and birds will be received for exhibition between the hours of 10 o'clock in the morning and 10 at night.

Professor M. C. Herner of Manitoba Agricultural college, Winnipeg, a recognized authority on poultry, again this year will serve as judge of the show, Vernon Copp, secretary, announced. Cash premiums are offered on cocks, hens, cockerels and pullets of a variety of breeds, including S. C. White Leghorns, Buff Orpingtons, White Orpingtons, Barred Rocks, White Rocks, R. C. White Wyandottes and S. C. Rhode Island Reds.

Substantial awards also are offered on turkeys in show as well as market classes. As usual, a boys and girls division will be a feature of the show, those participating in 4-H poultry work being eligible to show without payment of an entry fee.

This year as an added feature of the show, Miss Cora Cooke, extension specialist in poultry, will talk on two important topics at meetings to be held in the Civic and Commerce association room at 1:30 P. M. on Tuesday and Wednesday. The topics that Miss Cooke will discuss are "Housing and Management" and "Feeding for Egg Production during the Winter Months."

Miss Cooke has many personal friends in this county as she gave the lesson material for the poultry project that was carried out by the women a few years ago. No doubt many of the leaders will appreciate having an opportunity to see Miss Cooke again to talk over their poultry problems with her.

These topics appear to be very appropriate at this time as eggs are selling at a favorable price now and indications are that they will be considerably higher before spring.

Officers of the Pennington County Poultry association, sponsor of the show, include, in addition to Secretary Copp, C. H. Toomey, president; H. C. Woolson, vice president; Henry Oen, treasurer; and William Yonke, St. Hilaire; Benhard Ranum, Rosewood; Walter H. Quist, C. C. Brahe, B. O. Norby and Howard Grow, directors.

CITY PARK BOARD IS NOW IMPROVING THE TOURIST PARK

Brush Is Removed to Permit Clear View of Red Lake River

Abandoning its practice of former years of discontinuing work in the city parks October 1, the park board during the past two weeks has instituted a much-needed improvement program in the tourist park, which had been neglected while the work of establishing the downtown park has been in progress the past few years.

Persons visiting the tourist park now are able to see the Red Lake river which winds around its border, as a result of the removal of the tall brush which had grown up to a point where it concealed the river. At the same time debris has been cleaned away from along the bank.

Other work projected for completion includes the filling in and leveling off of low places in the park, which will be seeded to grass next spring. A large number of dead trees also will be removed from the park.

Timber Cutting Work Sought by Local Men

During the past two weeks quite a number of men have applied at the National Reemployment service for wood cutting jobs, R. S. Eldevik, manager, said today. Employers who are in need of qualified wood cutters are invited to place their orders for men with the office, located in the municipal auditorium. This office will also be glad to assist employers who are looking for skilled or unskilled workers, both men and women.

Civic and Commerce Committee Studying Holiday Decorations

At the Civic and Commerce association luncheon meeting last Thursday noon, the matter of arranging for holiday decorations during the coming Christmas season came up for discussion, after which the proposal was referred to a special committee including A. M. Magnuson, H. M. Olson, H. E. Nelson, M. G. Peterson and J. L. Olard. The merchants committee also was instructed to confer with the city council in an effort to secure a more favorable rate on electric current used for lighting display windows.

Successful Red Cross Roll Call Ends Today

The annual Red Cross roll call, which ends Thanksgiving Day, has met with a splendid response from local citizens, Mrs. H. A. Brumund, chairman in charge of the drive, announced today, adding that figures on the number of memberships secured will be made public next week.

Junior Chamber Names Groups to Study Hard Water, Yule Lighting

To continue the investigation instituted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce into the "hard water" situation in this city, a committee consisting of Otis Wold, Lawrence Bjorkman and Arthur Myrom was appointed by President Clarence Sande at a meeting of the organization last Thursday evening in the Palm Garden cafe. Another committee including Reuben Johnson, Ole Engelstad and Kenneth Lindberg was named to look into the matter of sponsoring a city-wide program of home lighting for the Christmas season.

Must Renew Chauffeur Licenses in November

Mike Holm, secretary of state, today reminds licensed chauffeurs of the state that if they would avoid the penalty provided by law for delayed application, they must send in their applications for renewal during November. After November, a dollar penalty is added by law which, in effect, doubles the fee. If the delay is extended sufficiently, the renewal cannot be made without examination.

Cast Announced for "Adam and Eva" to be Given at Auditorium

The annual junior class play will be presented in the Auditorium Friday evening, December 3, the class having selected for its production, "Adam and Eva", a fast moving three-act comedy dealing with the American businessman who is a genius at making money, but who has no talent for managing his own family. Members of the cast, who have been rehearsing regularly during the past week or more under the direction of Miss Helen Margaret Olson, include Clifford Lunke, Palma Jahr, June Yatesund, Lester Erickson, Joyce Hennes, Leona Brattland, John Fabrick, John Lillevold, Ralph Gustafson and Earl Burrell.

Change Time of Trains on Duluth-Superior Run

Helmer Carlson, local Soo Line agent, announced today that effective November 22, a change has been made in the Thief River Falls-Superior passenger train schedule which makes available at Superior a connection with a Great Northern train leaving that city at 4:45 for Minneapolis, arriving there at 7:30. The Soo Line train No. 64 now leaves Thief River Falls at 7:55 in the morning. Train No. 64 returning leaves Superior at 7:30 in the morning, and arrives here at 3:50 in the afternoon.

Resettlement Chief Is Rotary Speaker Tuesday

John W. Taylor, in charge of the Thief River Falls resettlement project sponsored by the federal farm security administration, discussed the purposes of the huge undertaking at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club Tuesday noon in the Evelyn hotel. Several piano selections by Mrs. Warren Hanson comprised the musical portion of the program.

"Lost Horizon" Is Film Offering at the Falls Theatre Sunday-Tuesday

The outstanding film "Lost Horizon", based on the best selling novel of that name, will be the feature offering at the Falls theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with a midnight prevue Saturday evening at 11:15. The picture stars Ronald Colman and features Edward Everett Horton, H. B. Warner, Jane Wyatt, Margo and Sono Jaffe in the much discussed High Lama role. The film tells a story of romance and adventure in Forbidden Tibet.

"Danger—Love at Work" will be the feature at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday, and is said to reach a new high in hilarity. The cast includes Ann Sothern, Jack Haley, Mary Boland and Edward Everett Horton.

MILD FALL WEATHER PREVAILS THIS WEEK

Mild fall weather prevailed locally after the mercury dropped to the zero mark late last week. No snowfall of any consequence occurred during the week.

Nearly 500 Deer Hunt Licenses Issued Here; Many Return With Game

With 488 deer hunting licenses issued in Pennington county up to the first of the week, compared to a total of 580 for the full season last year, a large number of local hunters yesterday were still looking for their elusive quarry. Best results were secured by a party of five, including Walter Jung, O. L. Ihle, Casper Wiener, Joe Wiener and Robert Lane, each of whom returned Monday with a nice specimen. Others who brought back deer were John Lind, Wilbert Mayes, Morris Howick, Carlie Johnson and Donald Lorentson.

Large Attendance at Highway 59 Meeting

A large gathering of delegates from towns along Highway 59, including Thief River Falls, last Friday attended the winter meeting of the Minnesota division of the U. S. Highway 59 association at Appleton. The association voted to recommend to Highway Commissioner N. W. Elsberg as its No. 1 project the improvement of that section of the highway between Thief River Falls and Plummer. In attendance at the meeting from this city were Frank Rinkel and W. E. Dahlquist.

State Farm Bureau Chief Hits Deer, Damages Auto

J. S. Jones, executive secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, got his deer Tuesday night of last week without firing a shot. Enroute to Wadena and Park Rapids from his home in Minneapolis, the Farm Bureau leader ran into a deer near Motley. The deer was killed and Jones' car was badly damaged.

N. W. RADIO CLUB IS ORGANIZED AT MEETING IN CITY

Several Towns Join in Move to Eliminate Radio Interference

The Northwest Radio club, composed of radio amateurs and technicians, was organized Monday evening at a meeting in the Fred Frutz home, Gordon Hoel, secretary-treasurer, announced today. The organization includes members from Fosston, Clearbrook, St. Hilaire, Middle River, Crookston and Thief River Falls.

The purpose of the club, it was announced, is to promote a better cooperative understanding between radio amateurs, technicians and the general public, and with technical knowledge thus gained to eliminate radio interference in towns in this section of the state. Support of village and city councils and the general public will be solicited.

The next meeting will be held Monday evening, November 29, at the T. C. Orme home, Mr. Hoel stated.

FARM ACCIDENT FATAL TO MAN

Detroit Lakes.—Andrew Zurn, prominent farmer south of Callaway, died in the local community hospital last week from complications developing from a fatal injury he suffered when the horn of a cow penetrated his skull. At the time of the accidental and serious mishap, Mr. Zurn was carrying corn stalks to his herd of cows. Near the barn he came in violent contact with a cow, one of her horns entering his head through the left eye. It was thought Mr. Zurn was bending over when the cow bumped into him. He was 57 years old.

Clara Thompson and Kenneth Swan are Wed At Pontiac, Michigan

An event occurring recently at Pontiac, Mich., which will be of interest to local residents is the marriage of Miss Clara Thompson, daughter of Mrs. C. P. Thompson of this city, to Kenneth Swan, of Pontiac, son of Mrs. A. M. Nyhus of Holt. They were united in marriage Monday evening, Nov. 15, at the home of Rev. Berger, who read the service. Attending the bride and bridegroom were the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Hilliker.

After the ceremony a luncheon was served to immediate relatives and friends at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams. Prenuptial entertaining for the couple included a miscellaneous shower given on the Saturday evening prior to the marriage, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliker.

The bride is a graduate of the local high school and teacher training department and has taught in the rural schools in this vicinity for the past several years. The groom is employed with the General Motors Co., at Pontiac, Mich., where the couple will make their home.

The meeting will be held immediately after the poultry meeting which a good many of the women will attend. Many of the women will remember Miss Cora Cooke as the leader of the poultry project which was given in this county a few years ago.

Minnesota Man Awarded National Husking Title

A big, shy Minnesota farmer, 38-year-old Ray Hanson of Bingham Lake, wore the nation's corn-husking crown Friday because he refused to be ruffled by 19 impatient rivals as rain slashed across his face and mud sucked at his shoes.

The handsome six-footer carried away $1000 for 80 minutes of work on a soaked Missouri cornfield.

Hanson, sloshing through the rain which scattered thousands of spectators and reduced the field to a quagmire, didn't shuck as much corn as many others but he shucked it cleaner and came out with 21.39 bushels. That was far under the world mark of more than 41 bushels set by Elmer Carlson of Iowa, but was easily better than the 17.84 bushels credited to ruddy faced Cecil Vining of Kansas.

Third went to Missouri's Layton Roberts who managed 17.70.

FATHER'S SCHOOL BUS KILLS CHILD

Sandstone.— The two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson was killed almost instantly when accidentally hit by her father's school bus. Mr. Anderson, who drives a school bus, left his home in the bus one morning to drive into the country and while backing struck the small child, who had unnoticed followed her father from the house. Just as he turned the bus, Anderson saw his wife running for she had seen the bus hit her daughter. The father picked up the tot and started to town, but had gone only a short distance when he saw that she was beyond help.

Third of North Dakota U Students Are Lutherans

Nearly a third of the 1,800 students at the University of North Dakota list their religious preference as Lutheran, according to R. O. Wilson, registrar. There are 25 denominations represented on the University campus with the Lutherans leading with 545, followed by the Catholic church with 312, the Presbyterian with 275, Methodist with 257 and Congregational with 101. Others include Baptist 25, Jewish 24, and Christian Science 17. Only 43 students had no church preference while 21 listed themselves as Protestants, and 78 failed to give their affiliation.

CHICAGO SHOW DRAWS NATION'S BEST STOCK

On hundreds of farms in the United States and Canada thousands of the continent's finest farm animals are now in the final week of grooming for the competitions of the 38th International Live Stock Exposition, which opens in Chicago November 27 and will be in progress until December 4. Despite high feed costs during the past year, entries will equal if not surpass last year's record breaking show at which over 14,000 animals were exhibited, the management reports.

Mrs. P. W. Mabey was hostess to her bridge club at a regular meeting of the club Saturday evening.

They Pellettiere Vows Spoken at New Orleans In Ancient Cathedral

The marriage of Miss Myrtle They, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. They of New Orleans, La., and Dr. Edmund V. Pellettiere of the Bratrud Clinic Staff was solemnized in New Orleans November 11 at 11 A. M. at high mass in St. Louis Cathedral, America's oldest church. Father Serales of New Orleans read the service. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lillian They of New Orleans, and groomsman was Paul Kay, also of New Orleans.

Dr. and Mrs. Pellettiere's journey from New Orleans to this city constituted their wedding trip, which took them through Arkansas and to Chicago, where they paused for a brief visit with Dr. Pellettiere's mother, Mrs. John Pellettiere. They arrived in this city last Thursday afternoon, and for the present are residing at the Hotel Evelyn.

Since their arrival, Dr. Pellettiere and his bride have been entertained informally at the homes of the doctor's associates at the Clinic. Mrs. Pellettiere is a graduate of a New Orleans normal school and prior to her marriage was engaged in teaching.

Local Residents Attend N. W. Lutheran Colleges Reunion at Crookston

Fifteen residents of this city were in attendance at the annual reunion banquet of the Northwest association of alumni and former students of Concordia, St. Olaf, and Luther colleges, held at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening at Crookston in the Crookston Hotel. Morris Bye, president of the organization, presided as toastmaster.

The program included welcoming of the visitors by Mr. Wikre, superintendent of public schools at Crookston, an address by Morris Fredricks, president of the Alumni association of Concordia college, vocal selections by Miss Ruth Nelson, music supervisor of the local public schools, who also directed the assembly singing, and songs by a quartette composed of Robert J. Lund, Dr. A. E. Jacobson, H. Hitterdahl and Walter Ekeren, all of this city.

Officers elected to serve for the coming year include Martin Heglund of Roseau, president; Mrs. O. H. Ekeren of this city, vice-president; and Orvis Hanson of Fertile, secretary-treasurer. Local residents present at the banquet were Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Mellby, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Jacobson, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bye, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lund, H. Hitterdahl, Mrs. O. H. Ekeren and son Walter, Miss Ragna Stenerson, Miss Ruth Nelson, Miss Tora Larson, and Miss Agnes Tandberg.

The Clifford Storholms are Hosts at Dinner and Bridge

Among the pre-holiday entertaining done in the city during the past week was the pre-Thanksgiving turkey dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Storholm in the Log Cabin of the Palm Garden Cafe Sunday evening. Dinner was served at five-thirty o'clock, covers being laid for the Messrs. and Mmes. Wesley Wheeler, Harold Rasmussen, Clarence Sande, Clair O'Hara, Al Ulleberg, and Alv Vistaunet, and the hosts. After dinner, the guests and their hosts adjourned to the Storholm home for an evening of bridge, three tables of which were in play. High score prizes were awarded to Mrs. Ulleberg and Mr. Sande, and consolation prizes to Mrs. Sande and Mr. Wheeler. At the close of the evening Mrs. Storholm served light refreshments at the card tables.

FARM ACCIDENT FATAL TO MAN

Detroit Lakes.—Andrew Zurn, prominent farmer south of Callaway, died in the local community hospital last week from complications developing from a fatal injury he suffered when the horn of a cow penetrated his skull. At the time of the accidental and serious mishap, Mr. Zurn was carrying corn stalks to his herd of cows. Near the barn he came in violent contact with a cow, one of her horns entering his head through the left eye. It was thought Mr. Zurn was bending over when the cow bumped into him. He was 57 years old.

Clara Thompson and Kenneth Swan are Wed At Pontiac, Michigan

An event occurring recently at Pontiac, Mich., which will be of interest to local residents is the marriage of Miss Clara Thompson, daughter of Mrs. C. P. Thompson of this city, to Kenneth Swan, of Pontiac, son of Mrs. A. M. Nyhus of Holt. They were united in marriage Monday evening, Nov. 15, at the home of Rev. Berger, who read the service. Attending the bride and bridegroom were the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Hilliker.

After the ceremony a luncheon was served to immediate relatives and friends at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams. Prenuptial entertaining for the couple included a miscellaneous shower given on the Saturday evening prior to the marriage, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliker.

The bride is a graduate of the local high school and teacher training department and has taught in the rural schools in this vicinity for the past several years. The groom is employed with the General Motors Co., at Pontiac, Mich., where the couple will make their home.

The meeting will be held immediately after the poultry meeting which a good many of the women will attend. Many of the women will remember Miss Cora Cooke as the leader of the poultry project which was given in this county a few years ago.

Minnesota Man Awarded National Husking Title

A big, shy Minnesota farmer, 28-year-old Ray Hanson of Bingham Lake, wore the nation's corn-husking crown Friday because he refused to be ruffled by 19 impatient rivals as rain slashed across his face and mud sucked at his shoes.

The handsome six-footer carried away $1000 for 80 minutes of work on a soaked Missouri cornfield.

Hanson, sloshing through the rain which scattered thousands of spectators and reduced the field to a quagmire, didn't shuck as much corn as many others but he shucked it cleaner and came out with 21.20 bushels. That was far under the world mark of more than 41 bushels set by Elmer Carlson of Iowa, but was easily better than the 17.84 bushels credited to ruddy faced Cecil Vining of Kansas.

Third went to Missouri's Layton Roberts who managed 17.70.

FATHER'S SCHOOL BUS KILLS CHILD

Sandstone.— The two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson was killed almost instantly when accidentally hit by her father's school bus. Mr. Anderson, who drives a school bus, left his home in the bus one morning to drive into the country and while backing struck the small child, who had unnoticed followed her father from the house. Just as he turned the bus, Anderson saw his wife running for she had seen the bus hit her daughter. The father picked up the tot and started to town, but had gone only a short distance when he saw that she was beyond help.

Third of North Dakota U Students Are Lutherans

Nearly a third of the 1,800 students at the University of North Dakota list their religious preference as Lutheran, according to R. O. Wilson, registrar. There are 25 denominations represented on the University campus with the Lutherans leading with 545, followed by the Catholic church with 313, the Presbyterian with 275, Methodist with 257 and Congregational with 101. Others include Baptist 25, Jewish 24, and Christian Science 17. Only 43 students had no church preference while 21 listed themselves as Protestants, and 78 failed to give their affiliation.

CHICAGO SHOW DRAWS NATION'S BEST STOCK

On hundreds of farms in the United States and Canada thousands of the continent's finest farm animals are now in the final week of grooming for the competitions of the 38th International Live Stock Exposition, which opens in Chicago November 27 and will be in progress until December 4. Despite high feed costs during the past year, entries will equal if not surpass last year's record breaking show at which over 11,000 animals were exhibited, the management reports.

Writings of Larry Ho Included in New Book

A collection of the writings of L. C. Hodgson, better known as "Larry-Ho", containing some of his finest prose editorials, verse and speeches, will be available in a book being published to be ready for distribution on or about November 25th. Included in the volume are most of the best-remembered writings and speeches associated with "Larry-Ho" through his many years as a newspaper columnist and public official. The family are publishing the volume, and any inquiries may be addressed to 1082 Van Slyke Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

THANKSGIVING

This is our second attempt to grind out an idea for Thanksgiving. Our first attempt went into the waste paper basket. In that first attempt we became a little sarcastic. And there is plenty of material for sarcasm in the idea of a spirit of thankfulness by official proclamation. If the spirit of thankfulness is not already present then a special holiday for the thinking of thankful thoughts probably won't produce much of a crop. Those who will be thankful on Thanksgiving Day don't need a special day for being thankful. The spirit of Thanksgiving either is in them or it isn't in them and if it isn't in them then proclamations a mile long and a half a dozen holidays won't change the situation. Our first idea developed along that line and finally landed in the basket with other discarded material.

There are a few things wrong with the idea of a special holiday for being thankful but there are some things right with the idea too. For one thing there's a big crop of youngsters coming along and they have to be considered. Thanksgiving Day is another one of those days that youngsters look forward to, and for good and sufficient reason. It is a day of family reunions and in many instances one of the few occasions during the year when pa and ma and all the kids see each other across the table again. Such things make for happiness. And happiness and thankfulness go hand in hand. The world is a happier world on Thanksgiving Day. And there never will be an overproduction of happiness.

So we're glad we have a special holiday set aside by official proclamation for the one and only purpose of promoting the spirit of Thanksgiving. Let's forget for a couple of hours that the note at the bank is past due and that we're going to have to get new tires for the old bus pretty soon, and just concentrate on a few of the pleasant things in life. We can all be thankful that we have within ourselves the power to be happy. We have within ourselves the power to be neighborly and kindly and considerate. As individuals there is little we can do about the arrangement of the universe. Even the affairs of this big earth of ours get beyond our control at times. But each one of us has a little world of our own over which we have a great deal of influence. Let us be thankful that we have within us the power to make that little world a happy world.

THERE IS PLENTY OF WORK FOR ALL

In Thief River Falls, during the past two years, in the neighborhood of a hundred homes have been built. There have also been substantial improvements in the business section during this period but the bulk of the building has been in the form of dwellings. Most of the new homes that have been built have been built by people of ordinary means. We haven't any rich people in Thief River Falls. With very few exceptions the homes that have been built here have been built by people who have been forced to sacrifice along other lines in order to raise enough money to build a home of their own. Many of them have been built by wage earners.

This volume of building has been made possible only because building costs have been maintained at a fairly reasonable level. We venture to say that if our carpenters and painters and plasterers had insisted on union scale pay there would have been very little new construction in the city during this period, not because those who built homes were not in favor of a high scale of wages in the building trades but because they simply would not have been able to pay that high scale. They would have given up hope of building a home for themselves and the carpenters and plasterers and painters would have been on relief. Because these tradesmen worked for what people could afford to pay they kept busy and remained self-supporting.

If men would be willing to work for what farmers of this community could afford to pay them, several hundred men could be put to work on the farms of Pennington County tomorrow. For family men that would be impossible in most cases. But there are hundreds of single men in the county who would not suffer in the least if they worked under those conditions.

As we see it, this is the root of the unemployment problem in the country today. There is plenty of work to be done and there are plenty of people who would provide work if they could hire men for what they could afford to pay. And that is what is fundamentally wrong with the idea of a scale of wages that labor insists it must have or it will remain idle.

If the carpenters and bricklayers and plasterers and painters thruout the country would do as their brothers have done in Thief River Falls, not one of them would be unemployed. New homes would be built and old homes would be remodelled. The demand for labor would soon raise wage scales to a natural level. Mills would operate and trains would haul pay loads. The depression would soon end.

That is the basis on which the farmer sells his products. He takes what the market will pay. There are times when he gets too little. There are other times when he gets too much. If, a few years ago, the farmers had said they wouldn't sell their oats for ten cents a bushel, they would still have their oats. But the oats they had at that time went into consumption. Those oats were consumed and the bins were empty when a new crop arrived. Perhaps that was wrong. The farmer might have said to the consumer, "Pay me thirty cents a bushel for my oats or I will keep my oats and you will have to pay for my keep on relief." There would have been just as much justification for such an attitude as there was for the carpenter in Chicago to say that he would have to have a dollar and a quarter an hour or he would go on relief.

That is why we say those who have worked on the construction of the homes that have been built in Thief River Falls during the past two years have pointed the way out of the depression. They have worked for what people have been able to pay them. We speak of employers and employees as if they were two different classes. We are all employees and we are all employers. We all work for those who pay us and all of those from whom we buy work for us. We exchange services. This exchange is not always equitable but it is less inequitable when the laws of supply and demand are permitted to function naturally. The more we tinker with these laws of supply and demand, setting up artificial barriers to keep those laws from operating, the greater will be our difficulties in the complicated problems of modern society.

WE WILL PAY A HEAVY TRIBUTE

Governors of nine Southeastern states are making a concerted effort to induce industry to locate in their territory. Up in the Northeastern section of the country "The New England Council" is doing a nice piece of work advertising the possibilities of industrial expansion in those states. Down in the Southwest the state of Texas is very active in promoting new business, and out on the west coast, California, Oregon and Washington are spending large sums of money setting forth the advantages they offer to manufacturers and distributors who might be interested in changing locations. Pick up any industrial or business journal and you will find several pages of advertising in which these various sections of the country present reasons why business of all kinds should establish themselves there. Not once, however, have we seen such an invitation to new industry extended by the state of Minnesota. One of these days we are going to make the discovery that while our leaders have devoted all of their efforts to devising ways and means of adding to the difficulties of doing business within the state, other sections of the country have secured for themselves substantial payrolls by encouraging business and industry. Which means that in the future, citizens of Minnesota will pay tribute to the people of those states in the purchase of products that could just as well be manufactured or distributed in our state. In the future we will pay a heavy penalty for our present dumbness.

SIZING UP OUR DEBTS
(Morris Tribune)

The report made by Harry Fiterman, Minneapolis tax consultant, on the state's financial situation deserves serious consideration by all Minnesotans without the injection of party bitterness. It will not profit the conservatives to say "I told you so" nor for the liberals to ignore the facts of the situation with the blind belief that the future will take care of itself and that "the rich will pay."

The survey was made under joint federal-state auspices and the purpose behind it was to find the ability of the state in connection with questions having to do with federal aid.

Briefly, Mr. Fiterman finds that the state debt has been rapidly increasing and in 1936 stood at $121,319,090, and that to keep Minnesota "out of the red from now on will become more difficult." The state debt will reach a crisis in about six years when $25,000,000 of bonds (mostly rural credit) mature.

For revenue, Mr. Fiterman finds that taxes are as high as they can be without diminishing revenue, except for a sales tax which has been repudiated by all political parties, and an ore severance tax which might lead to dangerous looting of iron ore resources. He recommends economies in highways, state relief, board of control, rural credits, university and teachers colleges, which account for 70 per cent of all state expenditures. He finds that duplication and waste prevails in the more than 60 independent boards and commissions. He urges that the 60,000 persons employed by the state be put under a realmerit system.

In addition to the state debt, the counties, townships, cities and school districts owe $210,166,000.

The only way the situation will ever be met is by a general system of economy and the setting up of sinking funds to retire this enormous debt. There is nothing to be gained by looking to the federal government to help us out, because the federal government has suddenly discovered that it is in straightened circumstances itself and in no position to withstand another depression.

SCHOOL WORK SUPERFICIAL
(Long Prairie Leader)

President R. M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago thinks that the people are not getting their money's worth for what they are spending on schools. In a recent address before an educational association he sharply criticized present day school methods as superficial. Using training in language for an illustration, he said:

"We must be appalled at the illiteracy of our pupils. They have read nothing. They do not know how to read. They cannot write or speak. They cannot think. Since some of them come to us with good native equipment, we concede it is their education that is at fault."

This is a harsh criticism but coming as it does from a famous educator, it cannot be lightly dismissed. While the Hutchins charge cannot be fairly laid against all schools, it probably can against the present day educational system in general. There is a woeful lack of understanding of the fundamentals by many of the "graduates."

Except for a few who should be locked up, we have concluded that other people are just as moral as we are, and that neighbors can do whatever is nothing unnecessary, efficiently and economically.—William Feather.

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO
From the Times, Nov. 24, 1927

Stuart McLeod of Goodridge was reelected president of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association at a meeting in Warren.—Twenty carloads of dressed turkeys were shipped from this city last week.—George M. Gunderson was named president of the Pennington county welfare board.—The city's new hydroelectric power plant was put in use today for the first time, and is operating satisfactorily, according to Supt. Ole Legvold. Robert J. Lund was named to succeed J. J. McCann as secretary of the fair board.—Mrs. L. H. Larson was called to McLaughlin, S. D., by the illness of her mother.—Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Pratt are spending the Thanksgiving holiday in the Twin Cities.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
From News-Press, Nov. 22, 1917

The Lincoln high school football team completed its second undefeated season.—The machinery of the Thief River Lumber company mill has been sold and will be installed in a new mill in Baudette.—Mrs. Daniel Shaw and Miss Sarah Vaughan were called to St. Paul by the serious illness of their brother.—The new Hauge's Synod church structure in this city is rapidly nearing completion.—Herman Wilson, express man working on the Soo Line out of Duluth, was a visitor in the city.—Mrs. Otto Gullingsrud arrived from Scobey, Montana, to spend the winter.

Capitol News Review
By A. I. Harris

Last Saturday was the birthday of Floyd Olson—the skipper, as his friends knew him. Had he lived he would have been 46—just the age when a man in public life is most fit.

How we need men on the national stage today with the raw courage to say what is wrong—to say it straight from the shoulder! Fearless statesmanship is needed now as never before, and Floyd Olson filled the bill.

Olson made the people in Minnesota wake up and think about conditions. That is why reactionaries found it impossible to destroy the liberal political movement here after Olson was taken away so prematurely.

Assurance that Governor Benson's drive to improve the state administration and institute measures of economy through various branches of the state government would have the cooperation of department heads was given at a meeting held last week at the capitol attended by the various state department heads.

Reiterating his objectives in asking for a survey of state offices, the Governor told the departmental conference, "The people of the state who have placed their confidence in our administration have the right to expect from us an honest, expeditious and efficient handling of our work in all the departments of the state government." It should be the aim of progressives, he said, to furnish such a government.

It is becoming more and more apparent that Congress will be faced with a better organized demand for adequate farm legislation this session than it has at any time in recent years. Inspired by the militant example provided by the Minnesota Farm Conference called last month by Governor Benson, in which a well rounded farm aid program was drafted by the farmers themselves, a twelve-state meeting of corn farmers meeting in Indianapolis, Indiana, last week demanded of Congress that the farm program include parity prices, cooperative production control, an ever-normal granary—all items of the Minnesota program.

It is this organized support for an aid program which will be the most effective means of securing Congressional action this winter. The Indiana conference encourages the calling of further and even better represented meetings throughout the farm belt, in order to show Washington that farmers are now prepared to stand together for a program capable of easing their problems.

The Indiana meeting heard Secretary Wallace outline his corn proposals, which includes continuance of the soil conservation program; commodity loans on corn to create stabilizing ever-normal granary; and the use of marketing and storage quotas to keep excess corn under seal if and when the granary overflows. Attempts will be made, he told the farmers, to level off a year's corn crop at two billion, four hundred million bushels.

Ellery A. Foster, who became state forester November 15 succeeding Grover Conzet, is the youngest administrator of a department or major division in the state government. He is only 32 years old and gave up a $4,600 job as director of the National Forest Planning division in the United States forest service to take a $4,000 job with the state because he felt there is an enlarged opportunity for service here.

Foster, who was born and reared near St. Charles, Minn., comes here with some ideas of his own on forestry. He was brought up on a farm, his folks are still farmers, and he looks on conservation as a much bigger thing than just woods. He hopes to integrate the farm and wood industry in northern Minnesota in such a way as to give farmers part-time employment to supplement their agricultural income. For the farmer of southern Minnesota he wants to start something to meet their needs in the form of a marketing service for farm woodlots.

Wearing Spectacles

The English assert Roger Bacon started the custom of wearing spectacles in the Thirteenth century, just seventeen years before Salvino d'Amati did in Italy. Benjamin Franklin invented the bifocal. He was a smart fellow and thought of everything. It annoyed him to have to keep changing from far-sighted to near-sighted glasses, so he contrived the two-piece style.

BIGGEST FAMILY HAD 26 CHILDREN

New Ulm.—Recent press dispatches carrying a story on the "largest rural family in America" recognized to be the Illinois family with 16 children, all living, are being defended by a local man who is one of 26 children of the Anton Rosener family of Goodhue. Of that number 17 are living. The mother of the New Ulm resident, Harold Rosener, still lives at Goodhue, but the father is dead. His twelve older brothers and sisters and the four who are younger live in widely scattered sections of the United States, from New York City to Omaha, Neb. The Rosener family, incidentally, included six pairs of twins, of which the local man is one. While the Roseners have never lived on a farm, the children were born and reared in a village of only 407 inhabitants, which should qualify as "rural."

Farm and Implement News

NOW or THEN

Some people do plan ahead and have their truck and tractors, and other farm equipment reconditioned during the winter months. Others neglect this important check-up and they are the boys who usually make life miserable for all during the rush season.

We invite you to see our shop foreman, Fred Hanson, now. He and his seven helpers in our service shop can check-up on your tractor, truck, car and other equipment and can tell you what should be done to give you satisfactory performance for the year ahead.

A tractor or truck, carefully overhauled in December, January or February is a source of more satisfaction to its owner than one which is tinkered over hurriedly in July or August.

There never was and never will be a tractor or truck on which you can get the efficient service that you can on the International McCormick Deering. Our shop is one of the service shops and we have a full line of tools and equipment to do the job with. There are "Alley" and "Shade tree" mechanics, all ready to service your machine. But a job worth while is what you want. We want to give that service to you. Now is the time to see our shop foreman, Mr. Hanson and you will get 100% satisfaction.

If we made the sale to you of your Tractor, Truck, Car or other equipment, we are vitally interested in giving you service that will place your equipment 100% satisfactory all the days you use it. Our shop and our men are at your service.

NASH

It is surprising how many people are under the impression that the Nash is high priced. The Nash LaFayette is no higher in price than any one of the other three low priced cars. Yet it is the only low priced car with cruising gear available. Cruising gear cuts down engine wear, gives you greater gas mileage and so many other advantages you would not want a car without it when you know the difference.

Nash & LaFayette are the only automobiles in the world with AIR CONDITIONED HEATER. This is an outstanding value greater than you can realize until you drive the car. Just think, NO FROST ON ANY WINDOW, NO DRAFT FROM ANY DOOR OR WINDOW, NO DUST, regardless of road condition. Clean fresh air at all times and just as warm as you want the car in the coldest weather. New sound proofing as no other car, is in the Nash. 1938 NASH IS ENTIRELY NEW. In 1936 Nash said, "Out to win America on value alone"; in 1937 Nash said "Winning America on value"; in 1938 "YOU CAN'T BEAT NASH CARS".

We are happy with our choice NASH cars and so are all of our Nash customers, and they cost no more.

PRE-INVENTORY SALE ON USED CARS and TRUCKS

TWENTY CARS and THIRTEEN TRUCKS now on hand and more coming and right now is the time of year when we start our price cutting on used cars and trucks before inventory. It means much to us to reduce this stock and we need the room for winter storage. So we can afford to give you some outstanding bargains NOW.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Notice Is Hereby Given, That default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage, dated the 12th day of July, 1932, executed by Fred W. Voge and Ida L. Voge, husband and wife as mortgagors to The Citizens National Bank of Faribault, Minnesota, a corporation, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington, and State of Minnesota, on the 15th day of July, 1932, at 1 o'clock P. M., and recorded in Book 51 of Mortgage Records, page [illegible]. That the undersigned, Frank W. Shandorf, is the duly appointed, qualified and acting Receiver of said The Citizens National Bank of Faribault, Minnesota, a corporation, and as such has taken into his custody, possession and control all of the assets of said bank of which the foregoing mortgage is a part.

That no action or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof. That said default consists of the mortgagors' failure to pay the principal and interest when due, and that there is due and claimed to be due upon said mortgage, including interest to date hereof, the sum of Nine Thousand Five Hundred Sixty-three and [illegible] Dollars, and that pursuant to the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the tract of land lying and being in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

The Southeast Quarter (SE¼) of Section Nineteen (19) and the Northwest Quarter (NW¼) of Section Thirty (30), all in Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154) and Range Forty-one (41), except to railroad, containing three hundred and nine acres, more or less according to government survey thereof, will be sold by the sheriff of said county at public auction on the [illegible] day of December, 1937, at ten o'clock A. M., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Thief River Falls in said county and state, to pay the debt then secured by said mortgage, and taxes, if any, on said premises and the costs and disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption within twelve months from said date of sale.

Dated October 16, 1937.

FRANK W. SHANDORF,
As Receiver of The Citizens National Bank of Faribault, Minnesota, a corporation

"U" Director Advises Students to Seek for Goal They Can Achieve

Defying an old adage, Dr. E. G. Williamson of the University of Minnesota advises the prospective student not to "hitch his wagon to a star."

As director of the university testing bureau which annually tests 18,000 Minnesota high school students for college ability, Dr. Williamson says:

"Failure, and not success, results from undertaking difficult professional training without the required abilities, interest and aptitudes. The making of an achievable vocational choice is the best way of making certain that any vocational training will prove a worthwhile investment in time and money. We do not want to destroy the student's ambition [illegible]

Memorial Drive Under Way to Honor Memory of Late Magnus Johnson

Seeking to provide the family security that his busy life sacrificed in the public interest, the memorial fund drive for the late Magnus Johnson now getting under way all over Minnesota has as its leading purpose the saving of the Magnus Johnson homestead.

Besides erecting a suitable monument on the grave of the immigrant boy who rose from a pioneer dirt farmer to the U. S. senate, those in charge of the drive hope to raise enough money to pay off, or at least reduce the mortgage on the home place to enable Mrs. Johnson and her sons to keep it. As Magnus and Mrs. John on toiled hard and long clearing the land to create a home, their closest friends and neighbors feel that now helping his widow keep the home, farm will be a real living monument to Magnus in the truest sense.

Membership of 41 each are being solicited in the Magnus Johnson Memorial Association, Inc., which has been given a legal corporate status under the laws of Minnesota to perpetuate the memory of Magnus. His friends in Meeker county have formed the association with scores of prominent public officials lending their support. A. E. [illegible] of [illegible] held is Treasurer.

SMALL CROWD AT WRESTLING CARD TUESDAY EVENING

Oregon Grappler Administers Rough Treatment to Opponent

A small crowd at the Auditorium Tuesday evening witnessed a demonstration of the current style of wrestling in a series of bouts arranged under the sponsorship of a Crookston promoter.

Harry Kent of Corvallis, Ore., in the main match, threw Ed. Cook of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in 18 minutes after punishing him very brutally, much to the dissatisfaction of the audience.

Jim Clinstock, the big Indian from Ardmore, Oklahoma, threw his much lighter opponent, Stanley Myslajek of Minneapolis, with an arm scissor from which Myslajek suffered a strained shoulder, more from the weight of his opponent than from the hold used.

Nels Gravegaard of Kennedy, Minnesota, made quick work of "Bearcat" Thompson, his much heavier opponent, when he took the decision with the head lock and an arm lock combination in less than 4 minutes in the curtain raiser. Harold Strible of Angus put his less capable opponent away in 14 minutes with a body slam.

He was such a poor clerk he couldn't sell a can opener to a June bride.

Anthology to Have Poems by Two Local Writers

Specimens of the work of Two Thief River Falls poets will be included in the Crown Anthology of Verse to be published early in 1938, it was announced this week in New York City. The two who are honored are Mrs. Della Zeh, whose contribution bears the title "Shadows", and Katherine Bryan Chase, who supplied "Baggage". Work of both women has appeared in the past in numerous publications, and specimens of their writing also will be included in the anthology "America Speaking", which will be published December 12.

Alexander Arneson Brother of Mrs. L. H. Larson, Passed Away

Alexander Arneson of Manvel, N. D., brother of Mrs. L. H. Larson of this city, passed away Monday at his farm home near Manvel at the age of 52 years. Funeral rites will be conducted near Gatzke Friday, Rev. S. T. Anderson of Grygla officiating, and interment will be made there.

Mr. Arneson was born May 28, 1885 at Barrett, living there until 1906. In that year he filed on a homestead in McClusky county, N. D., and later moved to Sask., Can., where he operated a meat market for a number of years. In 1922 he returned to the United States and was engaged in farming near Gatzke, then moved to East Grand Forks, where he resided for three years. In 1929 he moved to Manvel where he was engaged in farming until the time of his death.

Surviving relatives are his wife, four sons, Marvin, Stanley, Arnold and Lawrence, all of Manvel, N. D., two brothers, J. S. Arneson of St. Paul, and Fritz Arneson of New York City; and two sisters, Mrs. Larson of this city, and Mrs. G. F. Hendrickson of Seattle, Wash.

"IT'S HORSEMEAT", IS WARNING TO THIEVES

Hackensack.—"Don't say 'whoa' when eating it," is the advice P. E. Smith, farmer living at Leader, gives thieves who stole the ground meat from his garage one night last week. If they do, it's liable to lodge in their throats, for it wasn't hamburger. It was horsemeat which Mr. Smith had ground up to feed his minks. The farmer recently lost a horse and had prepared the horseflesh for mink feed which he stored in his garage. When prowlers broke into the building they stole a quantity of the ground horse meat and some oil from the Smith car.

Services Saturday for T. C. Hovelsos, Pioneer Marshall County Resident

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday, November 27, at 1:30 P. M. from the Zion Lutheran church of Germantown, for Tollef C. Hovelsos, pioneer Marshall county resident, who died Monday afternoon at his home in Grand Plaine township. Rev. E. O. Sabo will officiate and interment will be made in the Zion Lutheran church cemetery.

Mr. Hovelsos, who was in his seventieth year at the time of his death, was born December 1, 1867, in Solor, Norway. He emigrated from Norway to the United States in 1883 and settled at Reynolds, N. D. In 1897 he moved to Grand Plaine township, where he has since made his home. Mr. Hovelsos was a charter member of the Zion Lutheran church at Germantown.

He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. H. K. Strand of this city, Theresa Hovelsos of Crookston, and Mrs. Robert Stevenson of Minot, N. D.; one brother Oscar Hovelsos of Grand Plaine township, and several nieces and nephews. His parents, three sisters and four brothers preceded him in death.

Towns May Establish Car Testing Stations

Municipalities may establish and operate motor vehicle testing stations under the new Minnesota uniform highway traffic regulation act. This was decided in an opinion handed down by Attorney General William S. Ervin on the request of R. S. Wiggin, Minneapolis city attorney, and will lead a number of cities, towns and villages in the state to erect such stations to promote safety by keeping dangerous cars off their streets. A fee not to exceed one dollar for a test may be charged and compulsory inspection periods may be called after due notice by the municipality, in the opinion of the attorney general. He pointed out, however, that only residents within the corporate limits of the municipality in which the test is being made may be forced to take the examination.

Traffic Accidents to be Topic in St. Paul Friday

With safety leaders of national reputation in attendance, the third annual Northwest Traffic Accident conference will be held Friday and Saturday in the Hotel Lowry, St. Paul. Delegations will attend from Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Montana and Manitoba and Ontario.

As in former years, the conference will be a forum for the discussion of methods of reducing the traffic mishaps that each year take a heavy toll of human life. Speakers will include West A. Burdick, director of highway safety for the state of Wisconsin; C. H. Kealand, field representative for the National Safety Council and former director of the Minnesota Public Safety Council and former director of the Minnesota Public Safety committee, and Lieutenant John Englert, head of the Duluth police traffic bureau.

Animal Tears

Whether animals have some inward expression of weeping is not known. Crocodile tears, however, are famous. Ancient travelers said that the saurians wept over those they devoured. The nearest approach to human crocodile tears, says Literary Digest, are the simulated sobs of professional mourners still found in some parts of Europe and the Orient. They attend funerals, follow the cortege to the cemetery, wailing or crying softly, according to their pay.

Christmas Tree Survey by Division of Forestry Shows Abundant Supply

Koochiching county alone, under proper forest practice, could supply for an indefinite period, more than the entire present harvest of two and a half million Christmas trees annually, according to a survey recently completed by the Division of Forestry.

The survey covered the entire county, with a count of trees on quarter acre plots taken at regular intervals, and shows over 400 million black spruce and balsam fir—the two kinds commonly used as Christmas trees.

Good forestry practice permits the cutting of about one tree in ten each eight years. This practice permits practically a perpetual supply of trees, and does not interfere with water conservation nor game cover in the area cut.

All trees sold in Minnesota must carry the Conservation Department two cent tag. This tag is the protection offered under the state Christmas tree law first passed in 1935 and amended in 1937.

The law provides that all cutting must be reported to the Division of Forestry. Reports must show the legal description of the land on which trees are cut and indicate that the owners permission to cut them was obtained.

Muskie Hatchery Will Stock Minnesota Lakes

Muskie fishing, the glory and ambition of all Minnesota fishermen, will become a greater attraction in the state, according to plans now ready in the Division of Game and Fish.

A hatchery for this big Minnesota game fish will be established on land leased at Nevis, on Belle Taine lake in Hubbard County, and operations will get under way with spring spawning.

Plans are ready for the necessary buildings, which will be erected with CCC or WPA labor, and when these are ready hatching equipment will be installed.

"We fully realize", says J. O. Nelson, Superintendent of fish hatcheries, "that Minnesota fishermen want muskies and every effort will be made to restock our lakes with this species."

R. J. Lund at Meeting of Insurance Agents

R. J. Lund, vice president of the fifth zone of the Minnesota Association of Insurance Agents, with eleven other vice presidents of the association, was entertained at a 12:30 dinner recently at the Minneapolis Athletic Club, Minneapolis. Harry A. Levant, Eveleth, chairman of the membership committee of the association and a member of its executive committee, acted as host.

LARGE PUMPKIN SERVES VILLAGE

Vesta. A huge pumpkin, grown by Joe Bickel of this village, weighed 72 pounds and will make enough pumpkin pies to serve Vesta's entire population. The pumpkin displayed in a local restaurant show window during the last weeks, has now started on its way toward pumpkin pies. Cut and cooked the pumpkin filled 13 jars, and each jar will make two large pies. Each pie will cut into six pieces, making 156 servings from one pumpkin. Cutting each piece into two so that servings would still be of fair size, there would be one piece of pumpkin pie for every man, woman, and child in the village of Vesta, with the exception of a few of the newest arrivals who have not yet reached the pie eating age.

Northrop Third Graders Inspect the Times Shop

A group of forty third-grade pupils of the Northrop school, accompanied by their teacher, Miss Alice Bredeson, last Thursday made a tour on inspection of the Times print-shop while the big newspaper press was in operation. They also saw the linotype machine at work, and some of the boys managed to get ink smudges on their hands from wet forms.

Rites Held Monday For Iver O. Solheim, Well-Known Resident

Rites were conducted Monday afternoon from the Telemarken church with Rev. E. O. Sabo of Mavie officiating, for Iver O. Solheim, well-known resident of this community, who died last Thursday morning in a local hospital. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Solheim was born June 17, 1874 in Hal, Hallingdahl, Norway, being at the time of his death 63 years of age. He was married in Norway in 1900 to Marie Stengrenson, and in the following year came to the United States, residing at Blooming Prairie. In 1904 he came to Thief River Falls, settling on a homestead in Cloverleaf township, where he lived until 1913, at which time he moved to Kratka township. In 1928 he moved to his present home at Mavie.

Survivors are his wife, four sons Olaf, Stanley, Arne, and Edward, all of this city; six daughters, Mrs. Joe Dostal, Jr., Sophie, Isabelle, and Goodrin, all of this city, Mrs. Lawrence Vingrin of Duluth, and Violet residing at home; and one brother and two sisters in Norway. Deceased relatives include his parents, two brothers and one sister.

Fall Fishing Reported as Exceptionally Good

"Exceptional" is the word used by Ed. L. Shave, director of the Minnesota Tourist Bureau, in describing fishing during these crisp fall months.

Reports from over 50 different sections of the state sent to Shave indicate that fishing this fall has proven the best in many years. Ardent anglers seem loath to hang up rod and reel when large Great Northerns, wall-eyes, both large and small-mouthed black bass, crappies and bluegills are being caught, he said.

Resort owners, sportsmen's organizations, commercial club secretaries and others have sent in reports. In one week, 25 fishermen caught Great Northerns each weighing above 15 pounds with several going over 18 pounds. Five tipped the scales over the 20-pound mark.

Forty pounds on the hoof, this gobbler is gracing someones' table this week, as millions throughout the United States gorge themselves on Thanksgiving Day. This big fellow was one of the herd of a thousand on a Northwest turkey farm.

License Revocations Doubled up to Nov. 1

Evidence that law enforcement agencies and the courts in Minnesota are increasingly "cracking-down" on the potential death-dealing driver was evidenced in a report to Commissioner N. W. Elsberg this week by Gil Carmichael, director of the drivers license division of the Highway department. The report disclosed that to Oct. 1, this year, 1,142 drivers licenses have been revoked as against 656 for the same period in 1936.

Of the total revocations for the period involved, in 1937, 1,123 licenses were taken away for driving while drunk and 19 were revoked for failure to stop after an accident. Hennepin county voided the licenses of 268 drivers for drunken driving up to Oct. 1, this year, Ramsey revoked 178 and St. Louis, 152.

"The courts and the peace officers of the state are to be commended for their service in keeping more and more dangerous drivers off the highways", Mr. Carmichael said.

Farm-Home Week Set for January 17 to 21

Dates for Farm and Home Week, the event eagerly awaited by thousands of Minnesota's rural folk, will be January 17 to 21, announces Dean W. C. Coffey of University Farm. The short course, which brings more people to the agricultural campus than any other annual affair, will be in charge of a committee headed by L. A. Churchill. Replete with instruction in agricultural and home subjects, contests and recreation, this short course is a combined school and vacation offered for the benefit and enjoyment of every Minnesota farmer and homemaker.

Infant Son of Morval Swensons Passed Away

Duane Swenson, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Morval Swenson of 624 Dewey Avenue died twelve hours after his birth on November 21. Funeral rites were held at the Swenson home Tuesday afternoon, with Rev. E. N. Daley officiating, and interment was made in Riverside cemetery near St. Hilaire. Surviving the boy's death are his parents, one brother Dale and two sisters, LaVonne and Carol, all residing at home, and his two grandmothers.

Prowler Basketeers Open Season Tuesday

With a promising array of material in the squad of candidates, including seven lettermen from last year, Coach George Lee's Lincoln high school basketball team will open the 1937-8 season next Tuesday, November 30, with a game at Greenbush, followed Saturday, December 4, by a contest at Bemidji with the teachers college B quint. The first home games scheduled are set for Tuesday, December 7, when Plummer and Roseau will furnish the opposition for the Prowler A and B teams.

Warren Man Fined Here for Drunken Driving

Mark Boardson of Warren, arrested by Sheriff Arthur Rambeck Sunday south of the city on Highway 32 on a charge of drunken driving after wrecking his car, appeared before Judge Lincoln Arnold in municipal court Monday and was fined $25 and costs, in addition to which his drivers license was revoked.

Gas Escapes Into Car, Erskine Mayor Succumbs

Funeral services were held in the United Lutheran church of Erskine Friday for Mayor Halvor Torkelson who died Tuesday night at a Mahnomen hospital. Death was caused by carbon monoxide poisoning and a fractured skull sustained November 1. Gas escaping into his car as he was enroute from Mahnomen to Moorhead caused Mr. Torkelson to be almost overcome and as he stepped from the car he fell to the pavement, fracturing his skull.

She used an umbrella on her husband—he was raining insults on her.

Cites Hunting Rules on Red Lake Reservation

Raymond H. Bitney, superintendent of the Red Lake Indian agency, this week called attention to regulations relating to hunting on the reservation. He stated that only members of the Red Lake Band of Indians have the privilege of hunting on the reservation, and no member of the band has the right to allow hunting by others or act as a guide to hunters there.

GAS TAX REFUNDS MOUNT SHARPLY DURING OCTOBER

Nearly One-Fourth of Collections Refunded to Payers

Nearly one-fourth of all the state gasoline tax collected in Minnesota in October was refunded to the payers, it was revealed late last week by George H. Griffith, chief state oil inspector. Tax evasion is largely responsible for the increasing refunds, officials believe.

In the same month a year ago, when the state tax was 3 cents a gallon instead of 4 cents as now, the refunds amounted to about one-sixth of the collections.

Refunds to farmers on gas supposed to be used in tractors or other farm machinery form the bulk of the refunds. The number of claims allowed for such farm refunds in November was 50 per cent larger than a year ago. This increase brought the number of refunds to the highest total on record.

Mr. Griffith warned that abuse of the refund privilege is growing to such proportions that it may cause the state Legislature to prohibit all refunds.

The total gas tax collected by Minnesota in October was $1,877,859. Of this amount, $1,456,344 went to state and county highway uses, while $421,515 was refunded. In October last year the total tax was $1,324,126 of which $218,187 was refunded. The amount of refunds nearly doubled in the year.

"I am alarmed at this situation because I believe in the principle of agricultural refunds," Mr. Griffith said. "I fear if the evident abuse of the privilege continues, our legislature may do what ten other state legislatures have done and abolish refunds altogether."

What is—
The Practice of Medicine?
1) A Careful study of a Patient to determine the cause of that Patient's discomfort, whether mental or physical.
(2) The application of whatever seems best, based on the training and experience of the Doctor, to relieve the cause—whether it be medicine, surgery, counsel or other treatment.
These two descriptive paragraphs sound simple enough, but if you will stop and think them over carefully, and analyze their full meaning, you will realize they cover a tremendous amount of territory in human lives.

CONTEST OFFERS FREE JOURNEY TO UNIVERSITY FARM

Announce Letter Writing Event to Promote Farm and Home Week

For writing 750 words on the topic, "Why I Cannot Afford to Miss Farm and Home Week," someone is going to win a free trip to University Farm for short course week, January 17-21, plus free lodging while there, announces Howard E. Grow, County Agricultural Agent.

Copies of an attractive folder giving full details about this offer are obtainable from the county agent or from members of the county Farm and Home Week Attendance committee, whose appointment by Dean W. C. Coffey, of University Farm, has just been announced, with Mrs. Owen Weeksworth as chairman. Other members are Henry Oen and Mrs. Freeman Allen.

The letter writing contest is being sponsored this year for the second time by the general Farm and Home Week committee at University Farm, with the grand prize being offered by The Farmer and Farm, Stock and Home, which will award the state winner a round-trip railroad fare to the short course or an equal amount in cash and provide his lodging while he is there. The winning letter will be published in the January 1 issue of The Farmer, and its writer will be given public recognition at the Monday evening get-together party of the short course and presented with a blue ribbon.

First, however, a county letter writing contest is to be conducted and only the winning letter from this contest will be eligible to compete for the state prize. Since the winning county letter must be selected and mailed to University Farm not later than December 11, a county deadline for receiving letters has been set for December 7. Beside being entered in the state contest, the winning county letter will be published in the county papers.

Anyone twenty-one years old or older may enter this contest, provided he or she is not a professional writer, that is, does not write or has not written for the press for pay.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

INTRAMURAL FOR YEAR IS STARTED MONDAY EVENING

Bombers Defeat Rebels in First Game of Season

Intramural Basketball season opened last week when a meeting was called in the Assembly for all boys interested in this sport. The following captains were chosen by Mr. Gabrielson and they in turn selected and named their teams.

Teams and Captains:
"Bombers", Glen Carlson
"Alley Cats", Perry Peterson
"Rebels", Wallace Tunberg
"Gophers", Bob Hanson
"Cornhuskers", [illegible]
"Panthers", Earl Nickelson
"Gompers", Orville Eide
"No Stars", [illegible]
"Blackhawks", Kenneth Jaranson
"Hawkeyes", [illegible]

The first game [illegible] was between the Bombers and the Rebels. The Bombers defeated the Rebels 14 to 11. The high point man for the Bombers was Glenn Carlson and for the Rebels, Tunberg made the most points. On the same afternoon the Alley Cats played the Cornhuskers and whipped them to the tune of 18 to 10. Bob Althoff was high point man for the Cornhuskers while Robert Kielty starred for the Alley Cats.

The following day marked the third battle among these stiff tilts. These teams battled it out until in a second overtime period Furuseth scored for the Panthers, making his team squeeze a victory over the Gophers by the score of 15 to 13. Mickelson made almost all the points for the Panthers, and Jung was high point man for the Gophers. Nickelson was high point man of all the teams for the whole week making 13 points.

The No Stars nosed out a victory over the Gompers, defeating them 17 to 15. Eide starred for the Gompers, while Flasch, a Freshman, was high point man for the No Stars in the last game of the week.

On Wednesday, the Blackhawks bowed to the Hawkeyes 14 to 18. Kenneth Jaranson and Merle Carlson, each made four points for their team, and the leading scorer for the Haweyes was Lowell Nesse.

Then after this game the Bombers scored a second defeat, making them the favorites of this week, and it appears they have the edge on the other teams although the competion is close all around.

The victims of the Bombers this time were the Cornhuskers, bowing to them to the score of 14 to 10.

The schedule for this week is as follows:

Monday—Alley Cats vs. Gophers; Panthers vs. Gompers.

Tuesday—No Stars vs. Blackhawks; Hawkeyes vs. Rebels.

Wednesday—Bombers vs. Alley Cats; Cornhuskers vs. Rebels.

His hobby is collecting souvenirs, and he definitely dislikes being teased about one hour and forty minutes when it only took us thirty five minutes. He aspires to earn his living by playing baseball, and all professional baseball players are inspirations to him.

PROWLERETTES CORNER

The season is over and the most successful, spirited tourney yet held climaxed the first sport of the year—volleyball. You Josies are really beginning to appreciate the possibilities of the sport. One attractive Miss gasped out "and I didn't think I'd like volleyball—whew!" after the freshmen junior game.

By the way—it certainly would not be amiss to add the volley-ball championship as another good reason for having the Junior flag grace the walls of the assembly stage. Nice work, good sportsmanship juniors— the sophomores and freshmen lost to a mighty good team.

SIX LETTERMEN REPORT TO FIRST TUMBLING MEET

Many Students Try Out for Berths on Team

With six lettermen returning to form the nucleus for a 15 man squad, H. W. Gabrielson, Lincoln tumbling mentor, anticipates a season that may prove better than last year's.

The returning lettermen include five sophomores: Battleson, Freed, Gaffy, Hovie, Furuseth, and one junior, Lunke. To supplement these veterans are a host of other aspirants who wish to fill the berths left open by the spring graduates, some of whom saw part time service last year. Those who participated in some of the activities last year include Popenhagen, V. Stenberg, and Conners. New men showing prospects of first class ability are Hanson, R. Gustafson, K. Stenberg, Carlisle, Carlson, Ostrum and G. Anderson.

The squad will make its 1937-1938 season debut before the local crowd when they appear as the feature attraction during the half time intermission of the Prowler-Cass Lake tussle here December 17.

Mr. Gabrielson will continue his plan this year of presenting his proteges at most of the basketball tilts this winter. The season will be climaxed next spring by the Second Annual High School Circus, an event that was inaugurated last year, at which time the experiment proved very fruitful.

The routine of stunts will be much like that of last year. Acts on the rings, and boxes will be interspersed in the program of hand springs, rolls etc. Later in the season a set of parallel bars is expected to be added to the equipment. Numerous acts will be formulated for use on this device, adding to the already large repertoire of acts.

A new dash of color will be added if the present plans of purchasing suits for the gymnasts are completed. Such a thing would lend an added "zip" to the performances, as was demonstrated when the boys were presented as a grand strand attraction at the county fair last summer.

If all goes as well as is expected, this season may be fated to be the best Lincoln High School may ever see.

BAND NOTES

The band's activities since school has begun have been decidedly greater than those of previous years. In the past twelve weeks the band has made thirteen public appearances. Among these, are: four home football games; the Hamburger Festival at Warren on October 2; its appearance at Grand Forks on October 4 when the president was there; during the Corn Festival they marched thru the streets playing twice, and they gave a concert in front of the Corn Palace on the first night of the celebration. On October 18, they provided entertainment for the PTA meeting held in the auditorium; they gave a concert at the M. E. A. held in Bemidji on October 21; the homecoming festival held on October 28 and 29; the auto show on November 4, 5, and 6.

Mr. Riggs has organized a horn sextette and a clarinett octette to take the place of the band at different school and social gatherings.

With the opening of basketball season drawing near, the faculty, Coach Lee, the players and the student body in general are preparing for what all of us hope will become another successful season in this popular winter sport. All of these groups are laying plans, or at least should be laying plans, for the realization of this high objective.

There is perhaps, little else we as member of the student body can do to promote success for our cage troupe besides attending as many games as possible and giving the Prowlers our whole hearted support. Probably this does not appear to contribute much to the team, but in reality it is quite a contribution when the efforts of each and all the students are summed up and analyzed. Making the "turnstiles click" brings prestige to the school and funds for the athletic department. Your cooperated support gives additional enthusiasm to the team and eventually a victory and presto, we have the inevitable success in more ways than one. It may resemble a fairy tale but it appears to us that all the team needs to put them across as winners is a bit of punch and the students are the ones who should be obligated to give it to them.

It seems that a great deal of coaxing is necessary to bring out this enthusiasm and even at times coaxing was of little avail. Is there no way to bring out this enthusiasm? While on the topic of bringing out this enthusiasm, we recall a question that was brought to our mind some time ago by a Lincoln student. He fired this question at us, "Why don't we have a few new, peppy and appropriate yells in addition to the old reliables we warble year in and year out? Well, why don't we?

A neighboring school was confronted by the identical problem and also solved it. A small container similar to an election ballot box was placed in one of the high school hallways. There the poetical inclined students deposited new yells for the use of the cheerleaders and students during the sports seasons. Some of the yells were good, some were bad, some were worse, but a few real good yells were discovered. The creators' names together with the accepted yells were published in the high school paper. This innovation was tried at a few other schools with varied success. Why don't we try it here? We won't guarantee its success but it can be attempted as it doesn't take a great deal of effort and it can certainly do no harm.

TEACHERS TRAINING

Another six week's period is drawing to a close, and everyone knows the meaning of that. Tests seems to be showered upon the students in the Training Department these days. Perhaps since they've begun teaching, however, they are able to see the teacher's point of view in giving tests.

Mr. Doran and his team finally got their long awaited party.

On Wednesday evening, November tenth, Miss Jorde and her team entertained the opposing team and Miss Stapleton at the Knox School. The program opened with Miss Jorde introducing her team to the guests.

The program consisted of songs by the Coo Coo Warblers and the Gold Dust Twins, witty sayings by Alice Blue Gown, and readings by Tillie and Bubbles.

Following the program games were played in the auditorium, after which refreshments were served.

The party closed with singing by the entire group, and it is believed everyone went home saying it had been a very pleasant evening.

The students' workroom seems to have been transformed into an art gallery lately. The training students themselves cannot help but admit it looks very attractive with its charts of flowers, leaves, trees, birds and books.

Everyone has been busy printing flash cards again. This time it's the subtraction cards that are being printed.

All are confirmed in the fact that it takes 'practice to make perfect" as it did not seem as great an effort to print these as the addition cards that were first made.

Mr. Welles of the F. A. Owen Publishing Company was here last week selling subscriptions for "The Instructor". "The Instructor" is a very fine and complete magazine for elementary teachers, and nearly every student in the department subscribed for it for next year.

Besides the magazine, Mr. Welles had some very useful extra material such as plan books, poster patterns, standard color prints, and primary projects. The students who ordered some of this additional material will undoubtedly find it very useful next year.

Practice teaching goes on in the third and fourth grade reading classes. The training students should be very proficient in teaching those classes by Thanksgiving.

Since November 15 to 20 was National Book week, each member of the Training Class made an illustration of the title of some well known book. These were strictly secretive, and a very enjoyable time resulted Friday afternoon by seeing how many titles each could recognize by the illustrations.

This week brings Thanksgiving. It has been said that many people welcome Thanksgiving only because of the holiday it brings them. Of course we all welcome a vacation, but let us also keep the true purpose of the day in view.

EXCHANGE

The "Warren High Chonicle" has unknowingly contributed this selection to our exchange column.

A Sad Sad Story of Not So Long Ago

By a Moralist

'Twas three o'clock in the morning
The clock was striking the warning
He didn't heat it go gong! gong! gong!
Till papa came down with a club bong! bong!

Now the moral of this, young man, you see
When calling on a gal you be—
Stop the clock when you arrive
So that when you leave you'll go still alive.

This upcoming rime or what have you—was taken from the Willow High New!

Adam Was Lucky

Whatever trouble Adam had,
No man in days of yore,
Could say, when Adam cracked a joke,
"I've heard that one before."

Less Than Two Feet High

Lavinia Warren, the famous dwarf, was born about 1841 at Middleboro, Mass. She was less than two feet high and her name was originally Mercy Lavinia Bumpus, but was changed after she joined Barnum's show. She was married to Charles S. Stratton, better known as Tom Thumb. After her husband's death in 1883 she married an Italian dwarf, Count Primo Magri. She died in 1919.

NIGHT SCHOOL TO CLOSE DEC. 1

Part-Time School Has Been Instructed by Pope and Harrison

During the past few weeks, Mr. Pope and Mr. Harrison have been interesting students in a part time school. These students have been instructed in Shop and Agriculture and are taking a lively interest in the completion of their projects. This school will come to a close December first. Eighteen students have enrolled in this course.

Mr. Harrison has completed the first of a series of ten evening school programs to take place in the various farmer's clubs. At the first program Mr. Harrison lectured on crop rotation and soil conservation at the Rocksbury Club on Friday, Nov. 19. Other features of the program were a group of songs rendered by a high school quartet.

A conference of all agricultural instructors of District I is scheduled to take place at Bagley on Dec. 3. The state supervisor is to be present to inform the instructors on the latest of information.

Agriculture I classes are studying the various breeds of swine. Agriculture II classes are learning how to raise beef. Marketing is the objective of the Agriculture III class. A film strip was presented to the Agriculture IV class on Monday. These strips were obtained from Washington, D. C.

Mr. Pope Girls' Home Mechanics department has just finished a unit on the automobile unit and are now on an electrical unit which deals with the principles of operation and maintainance of electrical devices of the home.

The boys taking General Metal Work are working on a study of electricity and are putting into practice electrical principle in the making of suitable shop projects.

The students in drawing are moving further into the complexities of orthographic projection.

PROWLING AROUND

With the opening of the intramural basketball season, several prospective first or second team cagers were sighted. The majority of them were players who distinguished themselves by their fine play last year, but at least one yearling was found that bids to become a first or second team performer within a short time. He is Ed Flash, a dimutive all-around player. Although he is only a freshman, he has shown up well in both intramural games and in auditorium practices and may even develop into an excellent second team player this season. Tommy Carlisle, considered as the peer of all eighth grade stars last year, may also make his presence known in the battle for second team berths. Neil Mullen, another freshman, also has been out for the daily practice sessions at the auditorium.

Loren Jung has displayed good form in intramural games, varsity and second team practices thus far. Loren is expected to cop a position on the second team and may equal the exploits of his older brother Vic, who scintillated in Prowler togs a couple of years ago. Loren's forte is a good left hand.

Earl Nicholson, leading scorer of last year's intramural race, snatched a hasty lead this year by scoring thirteen points in his first game.

And, by the way, has anyone a mascot for the Prowlers?

CHORUS

The Mixed Chorus is now preparing "Today there is Ringing", and "I Saw Three Ships" for the Christmas program.

They have also started on a new song "Joshua Fit de Battle of Jerico". This song was sung by the Bemidji State Teachers Acapella Choir at the last P. T. A. meeting.

The girls glee club is practicing on "To a Wild Rose" and "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers". They expect to sing these songs at the Christmas program.

Book Week's Beginning Marked by Public Tea

For National Book Week, all the public schools together with the public library, held an exhibit in the basement of the Carnegie Library.

A tea was held for the public Wednesday afternoon, November 17.

Puppet shows were held nearly every afternoon throughout the week and were attended by a large number of children and parents.

Each school had some novel exhibit. An especially good one was the project by the third grade of Northrop School under the supervision of their teacher, Miss Alice Bredeson. This project was a house of bricks. After each girl or boy had read a book, they would report on it, write the title of the book and their own name on a paper brick, and then paste the brick on the cardboard house, that was erected. They hoped to have had it covered last Friday, and if more bricks were made than there was room for, a barn was to be erected.

Central School had an exhibit that brought out their art ability. Book covers were made, which were illustrated by pictures representing the words.

Knox school brought out their selection of their favorite book characters by an exhibit of the figures, which were of a good size and easily recognized.

Another house was made by Washington School. It was of a colonial design and covered with book covers.

The library itself had a very complete book exhibit in an adjoining room. This room was appropriately decorated and had two distinctive portraits hung on the wall, namely, that of Andrew Carnegie and Abraham Lincoln, the book lover. The books exhibited were nearly all new ones and included biographies, many books of information, and modern fiction books. A goodly number of examples of the kinds of text books the parents and children used were also exhibited.

Two artistic posters pertaining to book week were exhibited by the third grade of Northrop School.

There were quite a few of added features. One of great interest was the puppet exhibit. Approximately twenty five dolls or more were labeled and exhibited.

Another exhibit of great interest was the case of handicraft with clay modeling dominating.

An interesting and unusual exhibit on licorice was shown. A poster showed from where the licorice came and below it on a shelf were examples of the forms licorice has today. There were the licorice roots, candy, and licorice powder.

The National Book Week of 1937 was carried out more extensively and completely in our library than ever before. The exhibits really caused a greater interest in books.

TATTER AND PRATTLE

Who are T. R. F.'s most prominent, most bestest and most happiest bachelors? R. G. Riggs and "Gabe" are sure some cooks. But, I say—"Gabe" is only a bachelor temporarily, of course, and from what I hear, shoe strings and soup are their specialty—[illegible], sounds good enuf for me—

Blushing is beautiful, but most inconvenient I guess— anyhow that's what Floyd M. said when his chair sort of slid from under him in Ag. class.

Next comes an observation from the "Bemidji High School News":

The old fashioned woman who darned her husband's socks now has a married daughter who socks her darned husband.

1937-38 SEASON FOR BASKETBALL IS ANNOUNCED

Greenbush Game Scheduled to be First of Year

Next Tuesday, Nov. 30, the Prowlers will play their first basketball game of the current season when they meet Greenbush on the latter's floor. The first home game will be played on December 7 with Plummer.

With seven lettermen returning to this year's squad, and a host of other promising material from which to choose the remaining three players, a successful season should follow and we should not be wrong in predicting a victory for the Prowlers in their first game.

The schedule for the season follows:

Nov. 30, Greenbush, there
Dec. 4, Bemidji Teacher "B", there.
Dec. 7, Plummer and Roseau, here.
Dec. 10, Mahnomen and Greenbush here.
Dec. 17, Cass Lake and Alvarado here.
Jan. 7, Warren A and B, there
Jan. 14, Bemidji and Newfolden here.
Jan. 21, E. G. Forks, there
Jan. 28 Crookston, there.
Feb. 1 Plummer, there
Feb. 4, E. G. Forks and Strandquist, here.
Feb. 11, Crookston and Climax here.
Feb. 18, Bemidji, there
Feb 19, Cass Lake there.
23 Warren A and B Here.
Mar. 2 Bemidji Teachers "B" Here and Red Lake Falls

SEEN DONE

And all through the dark, drear afternoon, two little heads shone brightly side by side. What's more there were more than two. Apparently all the twosomes in town landed at the Avalon. Funny thing too. So cold everyone stays home from church, school meetings, etc., but I've noticed that the sidewalk leading to the Avalon needs no shoveling. Don't suppose the darkness there has any connection, do you?

No harm in wondering, I hope. So I'm wondering how some girls get away with chosing the fellas on such a large scale. No names mentioned—of necessity.

Heard that Jimmy B. was so scared at his first debate that he nearly cried. Sure am glad he didn't though—tears are so blamed wet!

What the seniors didn't know about colleges before (coed style), they sure oughta know now. If they don't four senior girls are gonna be mighty disappointed. Just ask Oden.

Of all the confounded talent laying around school—Gosh, have you ever heard Ted H. and his English accent f'rinstance.

Could I say a lot more but why not summarize all and say a wheeful time was had by each and every native over the week terminal. (end to you dopes).

Melting Point of Lead, Tin

Lead melts at 327 degrees centigrade or 621 degrees Fahrenheit. Tin melts at 232 degrees centigrade or 450 degrees Fahrenheit. Solder alloys may be classified as "hard solder" if they melt above red heat, and a "soft solder" when they melt at lower temperatures. The melting point of a solder should be lower than that of the metal on which it is used.

While there, Mr. and Mrs. Baker will visit with the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Ramstad, and also with the O. L. Bergquist and E. S. Matska families.

Minnesota Farm Bureau Head Aids in Outlining Farm Bills at Capital

F. W. White, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, has been called to Washington by the American Farm Bureau to assist in presenting farm bills at the opening of the special session on Nov. 15. Enroute to the national capitol Mr. White addressed two County Farm Bureau meetings in Illinois, on Nov. 9 and 10.

Speaking several times weekly at farm meetings in Minnesota, Mr. White has found in his contacts with thousands of Minnesota farmers that there is a widespread hope that the coming session will see permanent farm legislation enacted, which will stabilize farm income on levels higher than have been obtained in the past. Farm sentiment is more strongly united than ever before as to the need for controlled farm production, Mr. White asserts.

Views expressed by farmers at the U. S. senate sub-committee hearing in St. Paul on Oct. 15-16 are held generally throughout the communities he has recently visited, Mr. White declares. The senate committee hearing found farmers almost unanimous in their recommendations for legislation that will control the surpluses that have always hammered down farm prices in years of good crops.

FARMER INJURED AS SEPARATOR EXPLODES

Granite Falls.—One of the most peculiar accidents to have occurred in the Granite Falls community happened one evening last week when a cream separator on the Elmer Maxwell farm in Hawk Creek township exploded, seriously injuring Mr. Maxwell, 40 year-old farmer. Mr. Maxwell had gone to the barn to separate the milk with a new separator, used only two times previously. When he failed to return to the house an hour later, his wife investigated and found him lying in a pool of blood. Being hurried to a Granite Falls hospital, the physician found that a piece of the iron casting had struck Mr. Maxwell in the forehead with sufficient force to break the heavy frontal bone, forcing fragments of it into the brain. The man was operated on immediately, the bone removed from the brain, and he is now given a fair chance for recovery. The sight of the right eye may be lost.

HOLT

Beulah Hennes had her tonsils removed last Wednesday at Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Melvin Bottom and son, Calvin Dean, spent the week-end at the Nels Johnson and O. H. Hall home.

Miss Agnes Engebretson who is employed at Thief River Falls spent a few days of the week at home here with her mother.

Engebretson-Johnson

Miss Ruth Engebretson, daughter of Mrs. Nels Engebretson and Clifford Johnson son of Mr. Nels Johnson were united in marriage at the parsonage of Rev. Tungseth at Thief River Falls Thursday evening at 7:30. They were attended by Miss Agnes Engebretson, sister of the bride and Mr. Helton Johnson brother of the groom. They will make their home in Holt this winter.

The sportsmen at Holt are deer hunting this week. They report having fairly good luck.

Mrs. Lynn Miller of Goodridge spent the week-end at the Sam [illegible] home.

Given Surprise Party

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Johnson were pleasantly surprised on Sunday afternoon at the Nels Johnson home where they were given a party. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Johnson, Mrs. O. H. Hall and daughter Ruby, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hale and son, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Hall and children, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Swan and girls, Mr. Sam Lorentson, Mrs. [illegible] Engebretson, Misses Alva Ordal, Agnes Engebretson and Harold Tungseth of Thief River Falls, Mrs. Andrew Halvorson and girls Myrtle and Bertha of Newfolden, Miss Beulah Dahl, Mr. Nels Johnson and children, Mrs. Lynn Miller, Albert Alto, Lewis Alto, Morton Kolden, Hans Bjornstad, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Ness, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Peterson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bergquist and children, Helen Hanson, Mrs. Anna Garvin, Orvis Dahl, Mr. and Mrs. Peter [illegible] and family of Plummer, Mrs. Melvin Bottom and son Calvin Dean. After opening all the lovely gifts a delicious lunch was served.

Circle 6 of the Lutheran Ladies Aid met at the parsonage on Tuesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent socially and doing sewing. Mrs. [illegible] Hanson served a very delicious lunch at the close of the afternoon.

A large crowd attended the Lutheran Ladies Aid sale on Thursday evening. Many beautiful and useful articles were sold. Candy and popcorn balls were sold by the Dorcas girls. Lunch was served by the ladies. Aid. Receipts amounted to about $30.

Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Myers and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Art Hollund and son and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Myers returned home this week from [illegible], Wash.

A number of boys and girls were entertained at the Hans Engen home on Friday afternoon in honor of Delores Engen's ninth birthday. Games were played after which lunch was served by Mrs. Engen. Delores received many nice gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Thorvaldson and son of Goodridge visited in this community Sunday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kruger of Wis., is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Wm. Mandt.

Miss Greta Fredrickson had the misfortune of spraining her ankle when she fell from a step. She spent a few days in a hospital in Thief River Falls receiving treatment.

BIND DEER FIRMLY TO CAR, SAYS ROSENWALD

Hunters returning from the northwoods with deer on their car fenders should take special precautions to see that the deer do not protrude from the side, that they are tightly bound to the automobile and that their weight is so adjusted as not to throw the car out of balance, W. F. Rosenwald traffic engineer of the Minnesota highway department warned today. He pointed out that in the past accidents had occurred because of improperly-packed deer on motor vehicles.

GRYGLA

Mrs. P. P. Maney from Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, arrived Friday for a visit at the O. J. Johnson and Maney homes.

Mrs. George Rocky from Wales, N. D. and a former resident here, arrived Friday for a visit with her father and brother, Mr. J. H. and O. J. Johnson, respectively.

Mrs. J. F. Gutrell from Detroit, Michigan, mother of Mrs. O. H. Adkins recently arrived for a visit with her daughter and son-in-law.

The wedding dance given at the local R. N. W. hall last Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Joell Aase of Gatzke attracted an overflow crowd, who all made merry and wished the newlyweds the best of everything in their future life.

Game Wardens Karl Glade from Alexandria and Martin Nelson from Fertile, have been in this vicinity the past ten days preparatory to the opening of the big game season, assisting local wardens in the protection of our wild life. To date no arrests have been made locally and the officers compliment the local sportsmen on their good behavior.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Johnson and family from Crookston spent Sunday visiting relatives here.

Do not fail to attend the Big Carnival to be given under the auspices of the local PTA at the new school on Friday evening the 26th. Preparations have been going on the past two weeks and from all reports all visitors can expect something unusual. The proceeds from the affair will be used to purchase seating equipment for the school auditorium. Turn out and give this worthy project the support it is entitled to.

The deer season which opened Saturday caused the usual influx of hunters we have at this time. Deer, however, which at first, or before the season had been reported plentiful but from reports and also the size of the bag which hunters bring in leads one to believe that the game is not what was anticipated.

While driving to Goodridge last Saturday, Mrs. David Day in some way for an instant lost control of the car with the result that it took a header for the ditch, the front part of the car being somewhat damaged while Mrs. Day received minor cuts and bruises. After some help the car was taken back on the road while she continued on her way and then upon return was taken to the hospital for surgical dressings and it is hoped will be none the worse after the spill.

Roy Brown, Chris Rinkle and Geo. Abbott from Thief River Falls were in this territory on Sunday in search of the elusive deer.

Experience is what you have left when everything else is gone.

1938 Hog Outlook Is Bright for Minnesota

Fair weather ahead for the Minnesota hog producer, at least through the coming winter and spring, and early summer of 1938, is the forecast of Dr. A. A. Dowell, agricultural economist at University Farm, St. Paul.

All available swine production data indicates that the current year will close with one of the smallest hog crops on record. The 1937 spring pig crop was 7 per cent below that of 1936 and the June 1 pig survey indicated a 8 per cent reduction in fall pigs. Light receipts of slaughter hogs and the fact that storage stocks have been reduced to the lowest level in years further bear out the belief that hog prices will be high in relation to corn.

Since the record 1937 Minnesota corn crop came on, the corn-hog ratio has changed so that conditions favor feeding hogs to heavier weights than usual. This means that spring pigs will be marketed somewhat later, thereby reducing slaughter supplies during the fall and early winter, and increasing supplies of hogs later in the winter.

With Minnesota farmers now harvesting the largest corn crop on record and hog numbers about half the normal average, it may be expected that hog production, beginning with the 1938 spring pig crop, may experience a sharp increase. Even so, Dr. Dowell predicts that the early farrowed 1938 spring pig will be a desirable piece of property if marketed before the usual heavy fall runs.

Minnesota Favored by Dairy Condition Trend

As Minnesota dairy herds enter into late fall and winter production, the probable trend of dairy conditions brings good news for dairymen—if practices which promote milk production are not neglected.

A rise in prices of butter and cheese, a further decline in feed prices and a relatively heavy out-of-storage movement of butter and cheese were the encouraging developments just previous to the most recent report on the dairy situation from the bureau of agriculture economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, reveals E. A. Hanson, extension dairyman, University Farm, St. Paul.

A further seasonal rise in prices seems probable, disclosed the report, and prices during the winter [illegible] the highest since 1929-30. Due to bountiful harvests this year, feed prices this coming winter will be decidedly [illegible] the winter [illegible]

Farmers of State Urged by University Farm Man to Get Legume Seed Now

With the 1937 harvest of red clover, sweet clover and alfalfa seed one of the shortest ever recorded in Minnesota and supplies of seed adapted to Minnesota scarce in other states, Minnesota farmers will be wise to obtain adequate seed supplies at once, warns A. C. Arny, agronomist, University Farm, St. Paul.

Supplies of sweet clover and red clover seed are moving fast, reveals a recent report of the bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Already about half this year's crop has been sold, and, since seed is scarce, prices on it are high, said Arny.

With a situation such as this maintaining, heavy importations of domestic and foreign seed unadapted to Minnesota conditions will occur. Consequently, the Minnesota farmer should be alert so that he will not waste his money on high priced, unadapted seed. Red clover seed produced in such northern states as Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Idaho, and Montana is suited to Minnesota conditions. Seed of alfalfa from Canada, Montana, and Idaho is also adapted to Minnesota, Arny says. Imported red clover and alfalfa seed is not adapted and must be stained to distinguish it from seed domestically produced.

Added incentive for obtaining adapted red clover and alfalfa seed lies in the fact that the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program provides for the establishment of a soil building goal for each farm and soil-building practices which may be used in achieving this goal. Agricultural conservation officers stressed the need for adapted seed when they said recently, "New seedings of red clover or alfalfa or mixtures containing these seeds, would be counted in achieving the 1938 soil building goal established for a farm in connection with this proposed program only if with adapted seeds."

Feeding hogs and driving a highspirited mule is part of Harry Thomas' job as he trains for his forthcoming fight with Max Schmeling on his brother's farm near Eagle Bend, Minnesota. He also takes time out from farming each day to spar a few rounds with his brother Henry Pontus on the Pontus farm to get in shape for his bout on December 13th.

PUBLIC OPINION

Long Beach, Calif.

We left Thief River Falls on Oct. 20, and arrived at Long Beach on Oct. 30, traveling 3,500 miles from Thief River.

The country we drove thru was very lovely from the beginning, thru Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma and the first part of Texas. The Gulf of Mexico and the country of Galveston, Texas was very nice, also. From San Antonio, Texas, through El Paso, Arizona, New Mexico, San Diego and Long Beach, Calif., I will say for 1400 miles the country consisted mostly of mountains and deserts.

We saw cowboys, but very few cows, stopped at a gasoline station and had a talk with the gasoline attendent. He said that one doctor came in there years ago and he starved to death because they shot the man that started the grave yard.

Along Long Beach and on through the orange country are many orange and fig orchards.

Los Angeles is a nice town, leading into Hollywood, in mountains and high hills. Also some of Hollywood lays in a valley. The movie stars have their homes in the mountains. We saw Ann Harding's home. It was located on a high peak in the mountains. Her home and others were very beautiful. We also saw the Warner Bros. Studios. We were looking for Charlie Chaplin and Mae West but they said Charlie Chaplin was in Europe and Mae West was out fishing, so we didn't see either of them.

I was out on a steamer the other day, about 30 miles out on the ocean and all I got was five small fish.

It is quite expensive traveling through this country, gas being the most expensive. In Texas, New Mexico and Arizona where they pump it out of the ground, they charge 26c a gal for Texaco gas. I think they are selling gas in Thief River Falls very reasonable, considering shipping it 3,000 miles. In Long Beach they are selling gas from 12 to 21c a gallon. So far as other things are concerned, I think living is cheaper, at an average, than in Minnesota.

The weather is warm, about 70 degrees above, being a little damp in the mornings.

Greetings to friends and neighbors of Thief River Falls and vicinity.

Andrew Ness and family.

36 Former Students at N. W. School Now Have Children in Attendance

A reunion unique in the history of a regional school occurred at the Parents' Day celebration at the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston on November sixth. Registrar J. W. Milnar found that thirty six former students or graduates now have a total of 37 sons or daughters attending school. Lowell Lindberg of Warren has the distinction of having both parents (William Lindberg and Helga Lindfors Lindberg '12) graduates from the same class. Newell Mostad of East Grand Forks; Vernon Scholin, Thief River Falls, and Marvel Seltvedt of Oslo are sons of parents who were both students or graduates. Alumni or former students with three children in school this year include Vernon Halliday of Fosston with Jean, James and Kenneth; Herbert Johnstons of Angus with Elaine, Eleanor and Stanley. Alumni or former students with two in school include: John Bergh of Hallock with Elmore and Jay, Elmer Bridens of Crookston, Gwendolyn and William.

ELSBERG URGES SCHOOL TRAFFIC POLICE SQUADS

Says 274 School Patrols Are Now Functioning in Minnesota

Superintendents of schools outside of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth who wish to establish school traffic patrols need only to make a request to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, and the Minnesota highway patrol will furnish patrolmen to organize and train the school traffic units.

At present there are 274 school traffic patrols in Minnesota and these are sponsored and supervised by the Minnesota highway patrol and the American Legion. Forty more are in the process of organization at this time.

The highway patrol furnishes the training instructors and the American Legion supplies the Sam Browne belts, badges, flags, signs and other necessary equipment. The state patrol has eight men who instruct school police as an extra and unpaid duty.

The school traffic patrol plan for towns out of the first class in Minnesota was conceived in 1933 by state highway and American Legion officials after the ever mounting toll of traffic fatalities at school crossings shouted that something had to be done. The school traffic police plan had worked successfully in large cities and was adopted. The growth of the movement has been exceptionally fast and it has prevented numerous school crossing accidents and saved many young lives, according to its sponsors.

Commissioner Elsberg points out another benefit of the American Legion Highway department school patrol plan when he says that it makes a child safety conscious at a period in life when most permanent habits are formed. He urges that all schools, whether they be rural or in corporate limits of towns along the highways, organize traffic patrols. He offers gratis the service of the highway patrol for organizing and training duties.

Record Blast Shakes Mesaba Range Mine as 1937 Operations End

Thirty-five tons of dynamite in one blast is what might be called a "Big Shot". Nearly four carloads of the explosive recently loosened about 150,000 tons of rock in the Hill Annex mine near Calumet.

The shot was timed to the fraction of a second, and every safety precaution had been taken to make it a safe explosion. The tremendous pile of rock, a small mountain in itself, covered good ore that will be mined next year.

The big blast came near the close of 1936 operations, which marked up a new record in shipments from state owned mines.

Nearly twelve and a half million tons of ore were produced in these mines this year as compared with about eleven and three-quarters million tons in 1929, which was the highest until this year, according to Ray Nolan, Director of Lands and Minerals.

While final shipping figures for all Minnesota mines are not yet available, the total for the state may exceed that of 1929. The figure will be very nearly the same, however, with about 50 million tons shipped.

MINNEOTA SPEED LIMIT FORMERLY EIGHT MILES

Minneota.—The rapidity with which changing conditions and customs invalidate laws may be a clue to the question of why lawmakers work the larger part of each year making new measures. For nearly every law passed there is a former one abrogated, as witness the 1910 traffic ordinance for this village, a copy of it having recently come to light. Many drivers of today are perhaps not aware that their cars can travel as slowly as the maximum rate of speed here then, which was eight miles an hour. It was also necessary for the village council to remind operators of "steam or gasoline propelled vehicles" just how to meet and pass other vehicles, and to have headlights visible for at least 200 feet ahead. This ordinance was later nullified by the passage in 1919 of a new one which raised the village speed limit to ten miles an hour, and included detailed instructions regarding parking in the village confines. The maximum rate of speed on the highways was 25 miles an hour.

Farm Credit Administration Explains Law Governing Settlements

Complaints of several Minnesota farmers that they have been persuaded by former creditors to give notes and mortgages to cover debts that had been scaled down so the farmer could get a land bank loan or a commissioner loan, have brought to light the fact that such supplementary notes and mortgages are invalid, according to a statement by the Farm Credit administration.

In numerous instances farmers seeking loans in 1933 and 1934 were found to be so heavily in debt that they could not be refinanced by the land bank or land bank commissioner. The only way in which such farmers' financial condition could be brought within range of the loan was for the creditor or creditors to agree to a specified scale-down of the debts owing to them. Such scale downs were agreed to in many cases, the creditors accepting the proceeds from the farmers' loans in full payment of their debts, and signing agreements to that effect.

Since that time creditors, so farmers are reporting have sought to regain the scaled down portion of the debts by persuasion in some cases, by intimidation in other cases, and have succeeded in getting some of them to make out new mortgages and sign new notes.

Now, some of these victimized farmers are wondering how they will be able to pay these new—re-newed—obligations and take care of their debt obligations to the land bank and land bank commissioner.

Farm Credit Administration authorities in St. Paul say they do not have to pay the new notes and that the new mortgages have been ruled invalid in so many cases that the principle is now well established that creditors who seek to recover by this means are violating a contract and can be haled to account in court by the lending unit.

PRESIDENT IN MESSAGE ASKS HOME COST CUT

Favors Reduced Down Payments on U. S. Housing Loans

SEEKS CUT IN COST OF LABOR AND MATERIAL

Says Lag in Building Holds Back All Industry and Trade

President Roosevelt asked congress to cut the cost of home building as an anti-depression measure Monday—and congress quickly showed a liking for the proposal.

In a special message, the chief executive suggested amendments to the federal housing act which, he said, would halve the down payment on small homes and reduce the financing charges on them, as well as on more ambitious structures.

He proposed, also, changes in the law to stimulate large scale construction of houses for sale and houses for rent, with a $50,000,000 allocation from the reconstruction finance corporation to give the movement impetus.

As a supplementary project, Mr. Roosevelt announced he would hold conferences with industry, union officials and finance directed at reducing the cost of labor and of building materials. He blamed the high cost of these items for the continuing lag in construction and called the latter "one of the principal reasons" for the current business recession.

"The long continued lag in building is a drag on all industry and trade," the message said. "This presents an urgent problem which is the common concern of industry, labor and government.

"Great numbers of people look directly or indirectly to the construction industry for employment. This industry, to a greater extent than any other, can put idle funds to work and thus speed up the circulation of the nation's money supply. This, in turn, would increase national income, reduce unemployment and as a result contribute towards a balancing of the budget."

In addition to the hoped-for housing boom, the president is obviously counting on other lines of action to halt the depression: Tax revision, an immediate purchase of some $245,000,000 worth of government supplies, a reduction in federal allocations for road building and a truce with the utilities that will encourage them to go ahead with long delayed construction programs running into the billions.

JUNIOR CHAMBER SPONSORS YULE WREATH SELLING

Local Boy Scouts to Conduct Drive to Decorate Homes in City

If plans of the Junior Chamber of Commerce work out as projected, homes in Thief River Falls will be more uniformly decorated for the coming Christmas holiday season than in any past year, it was learned today.

Thru the agency of the local Boy Scout organization, lighted Christmas wreaths will be sold at a nominal cost to be displayed in windows of homes, with whatever profit is realized going into the Scout treasury.

The committee of Junior Chamber members in charge of the campaign opening Saturday expressed the hope that nearly 500 of the wreaths would be purchased by residents of the community. Serving on the committee are Reuben Johnson, chairman, Kenneth Lindberg and Ole Engelstad.

Public Library Opens Branch in St. Hilaire

The local public library, with the assistance of the N. Y. A., has opened a branch library at St. Hilaire. Miss Valerie Olson of St. Hilaire is in charge of the branch, which was opened on Wednesday of last week and is located in the post office building. The library will be open to the public eleven hours a week, from 2:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week, and from 6:30 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. on Saturdays.

Pick Local Committees for Soil Conservation

The community meetings relative to the 1938 agricultural conservation program in Pennington county were held last week for the purpose of electing the committees and giving a background for the program.

To insure continuous and efficient administration of the program in 1938, a second alternate has been added to the community and county committees. This year as soon as it is determined that a committeeman is not eligible for a payment, under the program, he is automatically removed as a member of the committee, says Hans Anton, chairman of the county committee.

Community committees elected last week were as follows: Black River and River Falls: Ed Moren, chairman; W. P. Wilson, Herman Jepson, John Lundberg, first alternate, and Wm. Yonke, second. Bray and Polk Centre: Emil Larson, chairman; Carl Anderson, C. R. Melin. Wm. Kruse, first alternate, and Alfred Sorvig, second. Cloverleaf and Goodridge: E. H. Pomerenke, chairman; A. W. Oslo, Emil Sanders, J. A. McEnelly, first alternate, and Wm. Haase, second. Deer Park and Hickory: Ole Nesland, chairman; Martin Johnson, Filbert Hanson, William Singer, first alternate, and H. T. Hanson, second.

Highlanding: Einar Jonson, chairman; Arthur Thoreson, Clifford Vad, Justin Hanson, first alternate, and E. K. Rime, second. Kratka and Smiley: W. E. McCrum, chairman; Pat Culkins, Simon Brelland, Adam Lendobeja, first alternate, and Otto Causin, second. Mayfield and Wyandotte: Isaac Wilson, chairman; Henry Holstad, Wm. Jasperson, Bjorne Olson, first alternate, and Martin Hoaas, second. Norden and Numedal: S. E. Hunt, chairman; T. J. Wasley, J. O. Mead, Eldred Ayers, first alternate, and Ole Skaar, second.

Reiner and Star: Hans Solberg, chairman; Oleander Uglem, J. V. Hoffman, Gilbert Vraa, first alternate, and M. J. Anderson, second. Rocksbury: Hans Anton, chairman; Lloyd Johnson, Elmer Satre, Fred Kopp, first alternate, and N. E. Beebe, second. Sanders: S. H. Ness, chairman; Ernest Krause, E. A. Yonke, Wm. Ristau, first alternate, Ell Kaushagen, second. Silverton: Clarence T. Peterson, chairman; Odin Hanson, H. C. Woolson, Gust Berggren, first alternate, Victor Swanson, second.

The county organization meeting will be held December 9 to elect the county committee members who will administer the program in 1938.

November Settlement of Taxes Distributed This Week by Auditor

Warrants covering the shares to be received by the various Pennington county subdivisions from the November tax settlement were sent out yesterday from the office of County Auditor A. M. Senstad. The settlement aggregated $114,487.17, including $99,653.02 in current taxes and $14,834.15 in delinquent tax collections. Sharing in the distribution were the city of Thief River Falls, which received $18,828.07; Goodridge village, $355.48; and St. Hilaire, $466.32. Exclusive of special state aids, the Thief River Falls school district, No. 18, received $20,084.52.

COUNTY RED CROSS EXCEEDS QUOTA IN ITS RECENT DRIVE

Total of 645 Members Is Secured in Course of Campaign

Announcing that the Pennington county Red Cross quota of 600 members had been more than attained as a result of the concerted drive ending Thanksgiving Day, Mrs. C. M. Adkins, secretary of the county chapter, today issued the following statement:

"The executive committee of the Pennington county Red Cross takes this opportunity to extend its sincere thanks to the local press for the free space to give publicity to Red Cross activities; to M. G. Peterson, manager of the Montgomery Ward store for the fine Red Cross window display; to the theatres for running free of charge Red Cross pictures; to the business people of the city who cooperated so wholeheartedly in securing memberships in their various places of business to the school principals for securing memberships from the teachers; to the ladies who solicited on November 12 and did such fine teamwork; and to our roll call chairman, Mrs. H. A. Brumund, who labored so diligently and efficiently to make the roll call a success, as well as to all who took out memberships.

"Our goal this year was placed at 600 members for Pennington county. The city contributed 545 members; St. Hilaire branch, 63; Goodridge branch, 26; and Hazel branch 11; making a total of 645 members. The Goodridge and Hazel branches were organized late this fall and are to be congratulated on the fine showing made in these communities. Thanks also is due Fred Protz for the use of his car which made it possible to organize these two branches."

Fire Department Has Busy Week Answering Chimney Fire Alarms

Several chimney fires broke out in the city coincident with the week-end cold snap, but no damage of consequence resulted in any case. The fire department responded to an alarm Saturday morning from the Harvey Beauregard home at 123 Arnold av. S.; Monday from the Clarence Vevea home at 422 Markley av. S.; and, Tuesday from the Joe Peterson home at [illegible] av. and Eighth st. The department also was summoned Monday to the Jack Robinson residence at 913 Main av. N. when escaping automobile radiator alcohol fumes caught fire, slightly damaging the finish of the car. Saturday evening the house occupied by George Ferris near the gravel pit west of the city was reported to have been destroyed by fire in the absence of its occupants.

Another chimney fire Wednesday evening brought the firemen to the Elling Ramsey home at 715 Tindolph av. N. No damage resulted.

CITY TAX RATE WILL BE ABOUT SAME FOR 1937

Rate of 115.65 Mills Applies on All but Homestead Property

RATE ON HOMESTEADS IS SLIGHTLY LOWER

Auditor Senstad Announces Rates for Other Subdivisions

Property owners in Thief River Falls next year will be required to pay taxes on the basis of a 1937 tax rate substantially the same as that in effect this year, according to figures in the office of County Auditor A. M. Senstad, who is now engaged in completing the work of computing the rates for the various subdivisions of the county.

In spite of the fact that the rate for county purposes has been fixed at 39 mills, up 6.4 mills from last year owing largely to the necessity of including this year a levy of six mills for bond retirement purposes, a corresponding increase in the total rate was avoided as a result of slight reductions in the levies of other governmental units.

The Thief River Falls rate has been fixed at a total of 115.65 mills on all personal property and non-homestead real estate, while owners of homesteads with a full and true value up to $4,000 will pay on a basis 2.59 mills lower or 113.06 mills. The city rate in 1936 was 114.66 mills on all property. Items contributing to the 1937 rate include state levy, 10 mills; county, 39 mills; city, 28.15 mills; and School District 18, 38.5 mills.

Township rates which have been computed to date include Bray, 4 mills; Black River, 13.2; Cloverleaf, 6.8; Deer Park, 10.5; Goodridge, 8.6; Hickory, 10.9; Highlanding, 7.2; Kratka, 6.4; Mayfield, 25; Norden, 6.8; North, 10.7; Numedal, 9.2; Polk Centre, 3; Reiner, 17.3; River Falls, 8.5; Star, 8; and Wyandotte, 17.7.

Early Holiday Shoppers Find Local Stores Ready With Christmas Wares

The fact that the Christmas holidays are just around the corner is plainly evident this week to the throngs of shoppers that have invaded the business district, heeding the advice to "Do your Christmas shopping early." The stores are properly prepared for the advance rush, their display windows being gaily decorated and shelves and counters piled high with every wanted type of holiday merchandise, ranging from the luxury items to the most practical gifts. Toy departments are now in full swing, and display a bewildering array of things that will gladden the heart of any youngster.

MAGNUSON NAMES NORTHWEST TRADE PRACTICES GROUP

Roy Oen Appointed Chairman for Pennington County

Chairmen in Northwestern Minnesota counties whose duty will be to receive complaints of violations of the state unfair trade practices act were announced this week by A. M. Magnuson, district director of the Minnesota Retail Grocers and General Merchants association.

Appointed were Roy Oen, Thief River Falls, for Pennington county; R. B. Taralseth, Warren, Marshall county; Vincent Swenson, Hallock, Kittson county; Jack Lachert, Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county; and A. L. Alley, Roseau, Roseau county.

The duties of the chairmen, Mr. Magnuson explained, will be to receive complaints, if any, from retailers in this section of violations of the act, and to turn the case with full proof over to county attorneys, whose duties are to investigate and correct the situation if possible or to prosecute if necessary.

A peace treaty usually guarantees peace right up to the time the fighting begins.

Pioneer Builds "Covered Wagon" For Modern Trails

Eighty years ago Halvor Halvorson rode in a "covered wagon" from near Rock River in Wisconsin to Waseca, Minnesota. This week, at the age of 84, he finished building a "covered wagon" designed for modern trails, a house trailer that younger members of the family are now wheeling over the roads to the west coast.

Early in September Mr. Halvorson started work on the trailer on his farm in Rocksbury Township. Having operated a blacksmith shop in the early days of Thief River Falls, the job of converting an old automobile chassis into a sturdy frame for the new house on wheels was not much of a problem. Apparently the rest of the job didn't bother him a great deal either for the finished product would be a credit to a well equipped manufacturing plant.

Without question, the trailer is built strong. But it is also very attractive in appearance and certainly provides a maximum of comfort. Insulated Balsam, it provides protection from cold and heat. There are ample accommodations for four people, with stove, ice box, electric lights and storage space. It is kitchen, bedroom and living room all in one. All in all it is a remarkable piece of workmanship for a man of Mr. Halvorson's advanced years.

Born near Rock River, Wisconsin, 84 years ago, Mr. Halvorson moved with his parents to Waseca, Minnesota four years later. At the age of 31, with his own family this time, he moved to Hendrum and a year later, 52 years ago, homesteaded in New Solum township in Marshall County. In 1892 he moved into Thief River Falls and built the West Hotel on the site now occupied by the Northern Chevrolet Company building. He operated the hotel for several years, finally selling to Claus Rasmussen, following which, for a short time, he operated a blacksmith shop. In 1903 he bought the farm he has since made his home in Rocksbury township.

Arena Skating Rink is Now Open to Local Fans

With the arrival of cold weather over the week-end, the sheet of ice in the winter sports arena was completed and the rink was opened to skaters Monday evening, and has since been crowded to its capacity each evening.

A. B. Stenberg, in charge of ticket sales, announced that season tickets are now on sale at the arena as well as at the J. & B. drug store and Thief River Pharmacy. The scale of prices is as follows: Family tickets, $5; men, $3; women, $2; high school and junior high pupils, $1.50; and sixth grade and below, $1.

Preparatory to the opening of the winter hockey season, the committee in charge of the Thief River Falls league entry will journey to Hallock this evening to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the States-Dominion league. The schedule of games will be drawn up, and the by-laws will be completed. Out-of-town players on the Thief River Falls team will arrive here December 15, Alex Campbell, manager, said.

The skating show successfully presented in the arena last winter by Winnipeg talent will be given again by an augmented cast Saturday, February 12, 1938, it was announced by President Clarence Sande of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the event. It is expected that skaters from other cities in addition to Winnipeg also will participate.

REPUBLICANS TO PICK DELEGATES HERE ON MONDAY

Chairman Quale Calls Meeting in C. & C. Rooms at 2 o'Clock

Republicans of Pennington county will meet in the Civic and Commerce association rooms in the Auditorium next Monday afternoon, December 6, at 2 o'clock to select four delegates and four alternates to represent this county at the state Republican reorganization convention to be held in the St. Paul hotel in St. Paul Thursday, December 16, Theodore Quale, county chairman, stated today. The formal call is published elsewhere in this issue.

Republicans of Minnesota are enthusiastically making plans for the state convention, according to a joint statement issued this week by Victor J. Michaelson, St. Paul, chairman of the convention committee and F. D. Andreen, New Ulm, secretary.

Principal business of the state convention will be the consideration of a proposed change in the party's constitution which would provide for the naming of the state central committee membership by vote of county organizations thus doing away with the present procedure whereby the state central committee members are chosen by nominees for office. By general agreement there will be no endorsement of candidates for office at the state meeting.

265-POUND BUCK WINNER OF LOCAL BIG DEER CONTEST

Party of Fourteen Hunters Bag 14 Deer Near Warroad

While a large percentage of hunters were unsuccessful in bagging game during the recent short deer season which closed Thanksgiving Day, a goodly number returned with trophies.

The largest specimen reported locally to have been bagged, and which won the big deer contest sponsored by the Independent hardware store, was a ten-point buck weighing 265 pounds dressed. It was shot by Ray Daugherty of the Grygla community, who was awarded a sleeping bag.

Perhaps the best record was made by a party of fourteen men hunting in the Warroad vicinity, each of whom brought back a trophy. Included in the party were I. M. Peterson, G. S. Bergland, Helmer, Lawrence and Gunsten Skorsedal, Otto and Carl Rupprecht, Leroy and Lawrence Groven, Clarence Wold, Melvin and Carl Torgerson, George Baker and Joe Klungness.

Other successful hunters were Leon Kaiber, W. I. Carlisle, John Jacobson, Orlando Bishop and Arne Wick of Grygla.

CALL FOR BIDS ON GRADING T. H. 59 IN PENNINGTON CO.

Elsberg to Open Bids Dec. 17 on 10.6 Miles Southeast from City

Good news for motorists of Northwestern Minnesota is contained in the announcement this week at St. Paul that Highway Commissioner N. W. Elsberg will open bids December 17 on the grading of Highway 59 for a distance of 10.6 miles from Thief River Falls southeast to the Pennington county line.

The project calls for 218,571 cubic yards of excavation and 10,040 cubic yards of binder soil. It is expected that bids will be called for later on the improvement of the section from the county line to Erskine, connecting with the paving to Detroit Lakes and Minneapolis.

The call for bids involves construction estimated to cost a total of $625,000 and includes projects in Mower, Lac Qui Parle, St. Louis and Roseau counties. The Roseau county jobs include the installation of grade crossing signals on Highway 11 in Warroad and Roosevelt.

The construction of the section of Highway 59 out of this city will be of such a type as to prepare the highway for paving as soon as funds permit, according to Frans A. Rinkel, chairman of the Civic and Commerce association road committee, which has for some time been actively at work seeking the projected improvement.

Alex Campbell Receives First Shipment of 1938 Motor Vehicle Plates

The initial shipment of approximately 5000 sets of 1938 motor vehicle license plates were received during the past week by Alex Campbell, deputy registrar in this city, and they will go on sale after January 1, 1938. The new plates, with aluminum figures on a black background, must be secured not later than February 15 to avoid payment of a penalty. Mr. Campbell stated that local residents planning to leave for extended trips outside the state in December and wishing to secure their 1938 plates before the end of the year should make application for them in advance, as the plates must be issued in such cases from the office of Secretary of State Mike Holm in St. Paul.

SPEAKER OFFERS HINTS ON PROPER CHICKEN FEEDING

Miss Cora Cooke Addresses Two Meetings Here This Week

Proper housing and feeding for egg production that will produce the largest number of large eggs of good quality and high hatchability at the lowest possible cost were the main points that Miss Cora Cooke, extension specialist in poultry, emphasized at two meetings in Thief River Falls this week.

The main points in respect to housing that were emphasized were proper insulation of walls and ceiling and some kind of ventilation system that will keep the house free of dampness and prevention of sudden change of temperature inside the house. The best method of securing proper insulation and ventilation is to pack the walls between the studdings with fine straw or shavings and to use a straw loft with an opening in each end of the loft two feet square.

Eggs are produced according to the feed given the hens, Miss Cooke said. The hens can not be expected to lay very many eggs when they are fed only farm grains. It is extremely important that protein be supplied either by milk or meat scraps. Vitamins are important. The three that are essential are A, D, and G.

Vitamin A is supplied in yellow corn, cod liver oil or alfalfa leaf meal. Vitamin D is supplied by cod liver oil or plenty of sunshine in summer. Vitamin G which affects the hatchability of eggs, can be supplied to the hens by feeding alfalfa leaf meal or all the milk alfalfa leaf meal or all the milk

Birthday Supper Party Given for Harold Baker

On his seventh birthday anniversary November 30, Harold Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Baker, was guest of honor at a supper party given by his mother at the close of school hours Tuesday afternoon. The hours were enjoyed in games and a contest, for which the head prize was awarded to Clifford Amundson, second prize to Wallace Williams, and consolation to Gene LaSalle. The birthday supper was served at five-thirty o'clock at a table decorated with novel nut baskets of pink cellophane, and centered with a candle-lighted birthday cake decorated in green. Covers were placed for Harold Baker, guest of honor, Ardelle Liden, Clifford Amundson, Gene LaSalle, Jack Peterson, Donald Brunsoit, Wallace Williams, Floyd Christianson, John Baker, Jr., and Robert Baker.

Mr. Mrs. C. W. Sande Hosts At Evening Card Party Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sande entertained fourteen guests at an informal evening of cards at their home Saturday evening. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd VeVea, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wengeler, Miss Elizabeth Jorde, Miss Margaret Patten, Miss Agnes Haug, Douglas Booren, Harry Severson, Merle Lindberg, Randall Nuper, and Raymond Wengeler. Prizes for high scores at "flex" were won by Mr. Booren and Miss Haug. Mr. Booren also won high honors at "hearts", and Mr. Wheeler received a prize for low score. Mrs. Sande served a lovely tray luncheon at the card tables, and card playing continued for the remainder of the evening.

Mrs. Cy Thompson Entertains On Daughter's Birthday Sun.

Complimentary to her daughter Leona Phyllis on her eighth birthday anniversary, Mrs. Cy Thompson entertained at a party at her home Sunday afternoon. Party decorations were carried out in a yellow color scheme, the theme being carried out in pretty decorations on the table at which the five o'clock birthday luncheon was served. Gracing the table was a birthday cake topped by eight lighted candles. Leona received lovely birthday gifts from the guests present, who included Marlene Lund, Natalie and Marilyn Olson, Mary Freed, Veronica Cosgrove, Patricia and Harriet Ann Mullen, [illegible] Halvorson and Darleen Roser. [illegible] Thompson was assisted by [illegible].

Community Ladies' Aid Given Christmas Party

The Mesdames M. A. Brattland, B. Dan Bjorkman, Gust Anderson, John Skog, G. H. Frissell, and L. S. Hess entertained the members of the four groups of the Community ladies aid at a Christmas party at Mrs. Brattland's home Wednesday afternoon. The guests brought shower gifts for the church kitchen and donations for Christmas boxes to be distributed for the holidays. They enjoyed the afternoon with needlework and various Christmas games. To create a Yuletide atmosphere, a "bouquet" of tiny ornamental electric light bulbs were clustered in a basket to form the centerpiece of the buffet from which refreshments were served, and Christmas candles and colored candles also were a part of the decorations. Approximately sixty guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Lindstrom, Newlywed Couple, Honored

Mrs. Thora H. Nelson entertained at her home Sunday evening, Nov. 14, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Lindstrom, whose marriage was a recent event. Mrs. Jack McKechnie entertained at three tables of bridge at her home Tuesday evening. The hostess awarded a consolation prize to Mrs. Andrew Bottelson, and prizes for first and second high scores, respectively, to Mrs. Abbie Wengeren and Mrs. E. O. Peterson. Following the bridge play, lunch was served.

Miss Ethel Richards, E. Donovan Mattson Wed At Pretty House Nuptials

The marriage of Miss Ethel Cecelia Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Richards, and E. Donovan Mattson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Mattson, was solemnized at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, Nov. 24, at beautiful house nuptials in the candle-lighted living room of the Richards home, which was decorated in a motif of green-and-gold for the occasion. Rev. A. E. Cooke officiated at the single-ring ceremony in the presence of approximately forty relatives of the bride and bridegroom.

Miss Fern Barnett, classmate of the bride and bridegroom, played "At Dawning" and The Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, to the strains of which the wedding party descended the stairs and took their places at the altar against a background of gorgeous gold chrysanthemums on high pedestals and baskets of ferns which flanked the living room windows. Rev. Cooke entered first followed by the bridesmaid, Miss Eleanor Gunderson of Minneapolis, a classmate of the bride at the Asbury hospital school of nursing, who was met at the foot of the stairs and escorted by John Mattson, who served as his brother's best man. The bride descended on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, and was met at the altar by the groom.

The costumes of the bride and her attendant harmonized with the green-and-gold setting. The bride's gown was of autumn gold velvet fashioned with a slight train, draped v-neckline, and three-quarter length sleeves gathered in huge puffs from shoulder to elbow terminating in high tight cuffs. Rows of gardenias extended the length of the puff at the back of the sleeve. Her shoulder-length veil was of gold silk tulle caught with gold velvet loops which formed a headband. Her bouquet was of calla lilies and tea roses, and her only jewelry was a tiny gold locket, a gift from the groom's parents. Miss Gunderson wore moss green velvet, an antique gold brooch, and corsage of gold pom-poms and tea roses.

For the nuptials the bride's mother was attired in royal blue crystal velvet with silver accessories and corsage of gold pom-poms and sweet peas and the groom's mother wore floral silver lame and a corsage.

A reception followed the ceremony. Baskets of gold and green chrysanthemums and pom-poms and gold and green tapers in silver candelabra decorated the rooms and a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the table from which the luncheon was served. Mrs. M. P. Erickson and Mrs. C. W. Pope poured. During the reception, the guests were entertained by Miss Barnett with a program of nuptial music including the traditional "I Love You Truly."

Mr. and Mrs. Mattson left the same evening on a week-end trip to the twin cities, returning Sunday evening. Mrs. Mattson's going away costume consisted of a brown silk alpaca frock with which she wore matching accessories and a three-quarter length brown lapin fur swagger, a gift of the groom.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mattson are graduates of Lincoln high school with the class of 1932. The former attended the University of Minnesota, being affiliated with Phi Delta Theta fraternity, and is employed as teller at the Northern State Bank. His bride was graduated from the school of nursing at Asbury hospital, Minneapolis, and for the past two years has been employed as surgical nurse at the Physician's hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Mattson will be at home at 417½ Knight Avenue No. after December 10.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Ida Swanson, Miss Clara Richards, Mr. and Mrs. George Richards, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stalnbrook, all of Crookston; Miss Mamie Richards, Mrs. Mary Marleau and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Richards of Red Lake Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Mattson, Mr. and Mrs. Elgar Mattson, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Kezar and children David and Ella Blanche, Mrs. John Rue, and Andrew Nelson, all of Warren; and Mr. and Mrs. Hartvig Larson of Viking and Wilfred Vickaryous of Viking.

Wiedenbeck-Dablow Vows Spoken at Church Rites At Barrington, Illinois

The St. Paul church at Barrington, Ill., was the scene of a beautiful and most unusual event Wednesday evening, November 17, when Miss Ruth Wiedenbeck became the bride of Gordon Dablow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dablow of this city, and the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Brandt, who had exchanged wedding vows at the same altar and at the same hour just fifty years before, again plighted their troth. The softly candle-lighted church auditorium was beautifully decorated with palms and baskets of white chrysanthemums.

While the ushers Harry Wiedenbeck, brother of the bride, and Myron Kuhlman were seating the guests, a prelude of soft organ music was played by Miss Emma Walbaum. At the close of the golden wedding rites, which preceded the nuptials, Martin Conway sang "Because". Then to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus the bridal party entered and proceeded to the altar for the exchange of vows. Rev. Herman Koenig officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white velvet gown with train. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a band of orange blossoms and her bouquet was of white rosebuds and sweetpeas. Miss Margaret Wiedenbeck, who attended her sister as bridesmaid, was attired in orchid satin with corsage of rosebuds and orchid chrysanthemums. She wore a headband of golden roses and gold sandals in honor of the golden wedding. Deane Bradie was groomsman.

Following the exchange of vows Mr. Conway sang "I Love You Truly" and Miss Walbaum then played Mendelssohn's recessional as the bridal party and the 300 relatives and friends who witnessed the unusual service retired to the church parlors where a reception was given by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Wiedenbeck, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brandt. A large white wedding cake with the figure "50" in gold made an attractive center piece for the table, which was decorated with baskets of yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride had the pleasure of her great-grandmother's presence at her wedding, and has had the unusual experience of being present at her great-grandparents' golden wedding 22 years ago, as well as her grandparents golden celebration on her own wedding day.

Mr. and Mrs. Dablow are spending a short vacation in Minneapolis and on their return will be at home at 135 Garfield Street, Barrington, where Mr. Dablow, a graduate of Lincoln high school and the University of North Dakota, is transportation supervisor for the Jewel Tea Co.

Mrs. E. M. Hammang Is Honored by Birthday Club

ONE BAD BREAK AFTER ANOTHER

St. Cloud. Life, during the last five months, has just been a series of bad "breaks" for Frank O'Keefe, local youth who miraculously survived an 80-foot fall in June, but suffered a fracture of his right leg. After the leg had been set and Frank was resting comfortably in the St. Cloud hospital, he was told the leg was not healing properly and that it would have to be broken and set all over again. Frank took the news with his customary grin, but grinning came a lot hard [illegible] Sunday afternoon when he slipped while walking on crutches and reopened the fracture. Having eagerly looked forward to going home the following day, after having spent five months in a hospital bed, Frank has to go through the entire process once more. Mrs. Thomas O'Keefe, the patient's mother, explained it might have been worse than that, perhaps, the accident was all for the best. Had Frank been taken home the next day, she said, the accident could have happened just as easily, but with, perhaps, more complications. The slip was very slight, for Frank did not fall to the floor. He was being assisted by his physician at the time of the misstep.

LEADERS ENDORSE CHRISTMAS SEAL SALES CAMPAIGN

All Join Forces in Endorsing Campaign Against Tuberculosis

National and state leaders representing government, business, labor, church, civic and educational groups have endorsed the annual Christmas Seal campaign now in progress in Minnesota, it was announced today by Dr. E. A. Meyerding, executive secretary of the Minnesota Public Health Association, which, with affiliated county associations, carries on the campaign in the state.

General John J. Pershing said: "I am pleased to express my heartiest approval of the Christmas Seal. It affords every one of us an opportunity to contribute to the fight against the dread tuberculosis in proportion to our means."

John L. Lewis and William Green, of the C. I. O. and A. F. L. respectively, both endorse the Christmas Seal as an outstanding means of combating tuberculosis.

Victor Christgau, state administrator of the WPA, said: "Money spent for Christmas Seals is payment of a premium on health insurance. None of us knows when he or she may find himself victimized by the 'white scourge'."

"The 4-H leaders consider it a real privilege and opportunity to have a part in the sale of Christmas Seals and that way help in the fight against tuberculosis," said T. A. Erickson, State 4-H Club leader.

Minnesota Program to be Broadcast Sunday

With radio talent rivaling that of the largest network programs, "The March of Minnesota" will be inaugurated next Sunday. In a series of 26 broadcasts, the interesting stories of Minnesota's early days will be dramatized. The musical portion of the programs will feature eighty-five members of the Minneapolis Symphony under the direction of Daniele Amfitheatrof. Presented over WCCO, Minneapolis, "The March of Minnesota" will be heard from 6:30 to 7:30 each Sunday evening. During each program, a special radio hookup will be made at some Minnesota city and several people from different localities will be interviewed by Cedric Adams. During the interviews, citizens of Minnesota in all walks of life will discuss their part in making the state a pleasant place in which to live.

COUPLE REMARRIES ON GOLDEN WEDDING

Carlton—Deciding to "do it all over again" an aged man and his wife applied at the clerk of court's office here for a marriage license and were remarried on the 50th anniversary of their first wedding. The couple left their home in Chicago without telling their friends and relatives where they were going or informing them of their intentions and then after the ceremony conducted here and a wedding dinner served at the home of their niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Beaupre of Cloquet, they sent telegrams to their son and friends telling of the event. They spent their "honeymoon" in Cloquet. Being married for the first time in Chicago, the couple, believing in the axiom, "It takes a lot of living to really make a home", lived in the same house for 48 years. Mr. Wertman, the "groom", was a railroad ticket agent for 28 years after which he retired to a carpenter's job because of ill health.

Growing With Your Child

IS THIS A PROBLEM IN YOUR FAMILY
University of Minnesota Institute of Child Welfare

I wish I could illustrate this column with a picture I have just seen, of a baby boy, his face aglow, his lungs expanded in a tremendous shout—he has just seen his father come in the door!

When a little boy is born, it is usually his mother who takes care of him during those early years of almost complete helplessness. If he is born in the country, or in a small town, he may see his father for several hours a day. But if he is a child of the great city, he is lucky if he sees and plays with his father for a half-hour a day. And that half hour is apt to come at a time of day when father is not at his best, when he is fagged with his day long effort toward making a living.

When that boy reaches the age of five or six, he goes to school. His teacher is almost invariably a woman, who acts as a mother substitute, we might say, until the child reaches an age when he can handle enough responsibility so that he is allowed to find his way around among the class-rooms of a number of teachers, as many as he has subjects. In high school, one teacher out of every five or six he sits under may be a man, but he is still spending a large proportion of his time in the care of the opposite sex.

Not until the youth gets to be seventeen or eighteen, ordinarily, does he come out from under this rather over-lop-sided arrangement and begin to live in a normal situation, where he mingles with older people of his own sex.

Why does the boy live in a world overpopulated with women? Largely, we know, because the salary of teachers doesn't offer the incentive for many men, comparatively, to go into that field. Only an occasional young fellow feels the deep interest in the educational process that makes him willing to forego the possible higher rewards of a business career, for the thrill of dealing with human material in its formative years.

In child guidance clinics, many more cases of boys than of girls come up for study. May not one of the reasons for this lie in the probability that the mothers and women teachers who have these boys under their care are less understanding of the needs of boys than of girls? Because the boy is more aggressive, more active, than the girl, much of his conduct is regarded as problem behavior because, as one investigator puts it, "It does not fit in with adult standards of controlled, orderly behavior."

Boys need the companionship and understanding of their fathers. How, in the present social order, it can be arranged for fathers to have more opportunity for being with their children, is the problem. But every thinking father must, if he stops to give this question any consideration, realize that it is up to him to plan some means whereby he can develop a truly meaningful relationship between himself and his children during the formative years.

ORE SHIPPERS AT HEAD OF LAKES HIT NEW HIGH RECORD

2210 Shiploads of Iron Ore Go From Lake Superior Ports This Year

One of the greatest ore shipping seasons in history from Lake Superior ports ended last week with 62,393,261 tons being freighted to lower Great Lake ports since last April.

The final shipment of 8,300 tons from the Great Northern dock in Superior, [illegible] of the Cleveland-Cliffs [illegible] shipload of ore from Lake Superior ports this season.

The total of 62,393,261 tons will be increased by a possible additional 100,000 tons as the docks at Escanaba, Mich., have not yet reported November ships. To November 1, Escanaba docks shipped [illegible] tons.

This year's season total is approximately [illegible] tons short of the all time record of [illegible] tons shipped in 1929. In 1936 a total of 44,822,023 tons were shipped. The lightest shipping in many years was 3,567,985 tons in 1932.

Largest tonnage was moved from the Great Northern dock in Superior, 20,271,959 tons, with the Duluth, Missabe and Iron range in Duluth next with 16,731,684 tons and the same company's dock in Two Harbors third with 9,743,170.

Avalon Toy Performance Attracts Big Audience

Several hundred small boys and girls of the Thief River Falls community last Friday morning brought discarded toys which admitted them to a special performance at the Avalon theatre. Several huge boxes of toys were accumulated in this manner, and they will be renovated by the Salvation Army in cooperation with NYA workers to prepare them for distribution to needy children at Christmas time.

First Payment on Sugar Beets Totals $1,250,000

Gross initial payments totaling more than one and one-quarter million dollars, the largest on record, were made during November by the American Crystal Sugar Co. of East Grand Forks for the Red River valley's 1937 sugar beet crop.

The gross payments, from which advances for seed, fertilizer and hand labor were deducted, included $128,015 to Grand Forks county growers and $137,150 to Polk county beet growers.

For other Minnesota counties, the totals were: Clay $149,570; Kittson $35,520; Marshall $100,720 and Norman, $41,390; total for Minnesota counties $803,650.

Check Artist Located in Charleston, S. C.

Sheriff Arthur Rambeck was notified this week of the arrest on a liquor charge in Charleston, South Carolina, of James E. Rogers, who last year cashed a check in a local cafe which he had issued without funds and on which he had forged the endorsement. Sheriff Rambeck who was notified by the Federal Bureau of Identification, said that owing to the smallness of the amount involved, no effort would be made to bring Rogers back to Thief River Falls to face the local charge. He is also wanted in Park Rapids.

Orders Winter Fishing to Cease December 31

Governor Elmer Benson by proclamation Tuesday orderedthe ces- clamation Tuesday ordered the cessation of angling of game fish on December 31, lopping two months off the statutory season on certain species.

The order meant termination by the first of the year of season on all pike, pickerel, perch, muskellunge and crappies. The season on crappies formerly extended to February 1, while taking of other species was permitted to March 1.

An investigation by the conservation department, the proclamation said, showed game fish are in "grave danger of undue depletion" by continuance of the season as decreed by the legislature. Excluded from the shortened season were all rough fish.

Junior Class Play to be Presented Friday Night

"Adam and Eva", a lively three-act comedy, will be presented by a cast of ten members of the Lincoln high school junior class in the municipal Auditorium Friday evening, December 3. The players have been rehearsing diligently the past several weeks under the direction of Miss Helen Margaret Olson of the high school faculty.

When a girl is sizing up a new boy friend, she usually notices his height, thickness and breath.

Grand Fishin' in Grand Canyon

THROUGH the Grand Canyon in Arizona flows the Colorado river. Since "Colorado" is Spanish for "red" its water should be that color, but mostly it's a turbid, yellow stream. Ask Jim Hankins, ex-prospector, ex-cowboy and now a tourist guide, if there are any fish in the stream and he will say:

"Sure, there's fish there, but I 'low I'm about the only man in Arizony who knows how to ketch them fish. They're right peculiar, same as everything else down in this country. One funny thing about 'em is that they always swim backwards.

"Why? "So's to keep the mud from gettin' in their eyes. An' it's just because of that fact that I kin ketch 'em. Them fish is all plumb crazy over eatin' tobacco. So when I am to go fishin' I take me a club and a ten-cent plug o' eatin' tobacco.

"Then I go down to the bottom of the canyon and I pick me out a nice shoal place where I can see the fish as they come swimmin' upstream, tail first. Then I take my pocket knife and I cut the plug up in little bits. I wade out in the stream a little ways and spread the bait on the top of the water.

"Well, sir, them fish grab it and go down to the bottom and start chewin'. Purty soon they get a hankerin' to spit. Not even a fish can spit under water, so when they come up to the top to spit I just haul off with my club and hit 'em over the heads. And that's all there is to it."

Prowlers Win Opener at Greenbush, 50 to 5

Displaying mid-season form in a game at Greenbush Tuesday evening, Coach George Lee's Lincoln high school basketball team defeated Greenbush by the one-sided score of 50 to 5. Twelve local players took part in the game, and all scoring combinations proved equally effective. Players scoring five or more points included C. Mickelson, Lorentson, Nicholson, Peterson, Caldis, Lee and Haughom. The Prowlers will journey to Bemidji Saturday for a contest with the Bemidji state teacher college reserves.

Elsberg Awards More Road Building Jobs

Awarding of $151,207.45 in state highway projects, to be distributed over six counties, was announced this week by N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner. The jobs will include five scale pit and weighing stations, one bridge, gravel surfacing asphalt paving, rip rap, and sewer and miscellaneous construction. Included in the jobs were two $10,000 awards, in Ramsey county, to the C. F. Sculley Equipment Co. of St. Paul, one for asphalt-paving and the other for a sewer and other miscellaneous construction.

Red Lake Falls Man Not Guilty of Auto Death

Dwight C. Kundert, of Red Lake Falls, was acquitted of the charge of criminal negligence in the operation of an automobile, resulting in the death of a human being, when a Polk county district court jury reported shortly before noon Wednesday. The Kundert case went to the jury at 6:10 p. m. Tuesday, and veniremen reached a decision after nearly 18 hours of deliberation, during which they once requested a further interpretation of the law dealing with negligence when a driver falls asleep.

10 DAY RADIO SALE!

SENSATIONAL SAVINGS—LIBERAL TRADE-IN ALLOWANCES!

Here is a 10 day radio sale that will undoubtedly set a new standard in value giving. This isn't a sale of old models, or discontinued models or sets specially built to meet a price. We have actually slashed prices for this event on our newest 1938 radios. Here are savings that make this sale one of the greatest offerings of new radio values you have ever seen—values that knock the spots off any previous idea of a good buy in radios. Ordinarily prices are cut at the end of the radio season but we are lowering prices at the very peak of the season, right at the time when people are buying radios, right at the time when they want the best values they can get. We don't believe you can duplicate these values anywhere. These sets were outstanding values at their regular price but now at those reduced prices they absolutely eclipse anything we have ever offered before. To further prove the values we offer, you are invited to try one of these new sets in your own home for 5 days absolutely free, entirely without obligation on your part. We want you to convince yourself that this is the biggest opportunity of the year to purchase a fine radio. A phone call will place one of these sets in your home. Sale starts Friday December 3rd.

USE OUR LAY-BY PLAN. Select your set now before stocks are depleted and merely make a 10% down payment. We will be glad to hold it for you until Dec. 18th. If more convenient, use our Budget Payment Plan. Small monthly payments can be made while you use the radio.

$212,173 TAXES IN MARSHALL CO. BEING PAID OUT

November Settlement Substantially Less Than a Year Ago

Distribution of a $212,173.18 tax melon representing tax collections in Marshall county from June 1 to October 31 was started this week in the office of Levi G. Johnson, county auditor, with clerks in the office completing the settlement Monday, says the Warren Sheaf.

The distribution totals $49,475.15 less than the November distribution in 1936 which totaled $261,648.33, a high figure for recent years. The new tax settlement is less than last year due to a decrease in collection of delinquent taxes during the period.

Warrants for the townships' share of the collections were mailed out by Auditor Johnson yesterday while within the next few days school district treasurers will receive their share of the distribution.

The county received the largest portion of the $212,173.18 tax distribution with a total of $82,106.39. The huge county portion was made necessary to care for old age pensions and relief appropriations with other funds for county government and roads remaining approximately the same as in previous years.

Funeral Services Friday For N. S. Nelson, Local Resident for 33 Years

Rites will be held at 2 p. m. Friday for N. S. Nelson, a resident of this vicinity for the past 33 years, who passed away at his home at 203 North Duluth Avenue Tuesday. Rites will be conducted from the Larson chapel, with Rev. R. M. Fjelstad officiating, and interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Nelson, who was in his 81st year at the time of his death, was born at Rochester December 15, 1856. In 1875 he was married at Rochester to Cecelia Westrum and lived there for five years after his marriage before moving to Hawley in 1880. He resided at Hawley for seven years and moved to Poseston in 1888. He came to this community to make his home in 1904.

He is survived by his wife, four children, Mrs. E. B. Bakke, Mrs. Frank Schmidt, and Severin Nelson, all of this city, and Mrs. L. A. Larson of Los Angeles, Calif; one brother S. S. Nelson of this city; four grandchildren, and 1 great-grandchild. Two brothers and one sister preceded him in death.

Temperatures locally, which had dropped to well below the zero mark over the week-end, moderated Wednesday and ideal winter weather prevails today. No snow fell during the past week.

Last Rites Today for Mrs. Anna Olson, 91, of Grygla Community

Last rites will be conducted at 1 p. m. today for Mrs. Anna Olson of Grygla, a resident of Marshall county since 1908, who passed away Saturday afternoon at Grygla at the age of 91 years. Rev. S. T. Anderson of Grygla will officiate at the rites which will be held at Linsell cemetery, where interment will be made.

Mrs. Olson was born June 15, 1846, in Breckavallane, Fernasdalen, Sweden. She emigrated from Sweden to Renville county in 1884, and was married there in the following year to Halvor Olson. In 1908 she moved to Marshall county, where she has since lived.

Surviving relatives include one daughter Mrs. Anna Norberg of Minneapolis, one son Olaf Myhre of Minneapolis, and several grandchildren. Her husband and one stepson preceded her in death.

J. S. Nakken Insurance Agency Opened in City

J. S. Nakken, formerly engaged in the insurance business in Minneapolis, has taken over the local agency of the State Farm Mutual Insurance companies of Bloomington, Illinois, and will maintain offices in the Dahl building, it was announced this week. Mr. Nakken is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Nakken of the Rosewood community.

Frank J. Cernousek, 94, Pioneer Resident, Dies; Funeral Services Today

Funeral services will be conducted today at 1:30 p. m. from the chapel of the Larson funeral home for Frank J. Cernousek, who died Monday noon at his home in this city at the age of 94 years. Rev. E. A. Cooke will officiate and interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Cernousek was born October 1, 1843 in Bohemia. He came to the United States in 1872, and after staying in Cleveland, Ohio for 2 years came to McLeod county and later engaged in teaching near Hutchinson for 2 years. On September 10, 1877 he was united in marriage to Anna Dostal. Two years later they moved to Ottertail county and in 1881 they came to Tabor in Polk county, where he was the first postmaster serving during the terms of Presidents Garfield and McKinley. He came to Thief River Falls in 1900 and during his 37 years residence in this city served as Street commissioner for 2 years.

Surviving relatives are his aged wife, four sons, Frank of Bemidji, George of this city, and Joe and Edward of Warren; and one grandson. One son preceded him in death.

Accompanying him here were Arnie Solem of Washington, D. C. and Allen Solem, student at the University of Minnesota. Mr. and Mrs. Bjornaraa plan to leave St. Paul the middle of December for St. Louis, Missouri, where Mr. Bjornaraa will assume the post of local director of the division of standards and research of the National Reemployment service.

Rise in Grain Movement On Soo at Newfolden

Testifying to improved conditions in the Newfolden community this fall, G. E. Holman, Soo Line agent at Newfolden, reported that a total of 30 carloads of grain were shipped from the village during the three months ending October 31 compared to 16 carloads for the same period in 1936. A total of 47 carloads of various commodities were shipped out in the month of October, including as major items 17 cars of livestock and eleven of sweet clover.

Barber Code Illegal, Lower Court Maintains

Holding that the state barber code restricting the price of haircuts is unconstitutional, Judge Fred Dennis in Detroit Lakes municipal court Tuesday handed down a verdict of innocent in the action of the state against Albert and Henry Kline, brothers who operate a shop.

The defendants were arrested several weeks ago on complaint of C. E. Gustafson, Duluth, state examiner, who charged the pair charged only 25 cents for haircuts.

In his decision Dennis declared: "A legislature does not have the power to dictate the price parties must charge and pay in making contracts for personal service."

FLYING SQUIRREL SHOT BY HUNTER

Staples.—A flying squirrel, not reported for some time in this vicinity, was shot last week by Lynn Fox, son of Wm. Fox, while hunting near Verndale, his home town. He shot the animal, thinking that it was an ordinary squirrel, but instead it came sailing to the ground. Lynn's father says he used to see many such squirrels around Verndale, but that he has not heard of one in recent years. A loose furry skin forms a web between the animal's four legs, the back is a brownish gray color, white underneath, the fur being of a fine texture. The tail is long and bushy. Having displayed the flying squirrel among local friends, Lynn expects to have it mounted.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

THE PUBLIC PAYS THE BILL.

Hearings are being held before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington on a request by the railroads for an increase in rates. This is going to be a difficult case for the Commission to decide. The government, by various acts, has increased operating costs for the railroads. The railroads are in poor financial circumstances and very few of the roads could absorb these increased costs. The thought, at the time the added expense was forced upon them, no doubt was that this expense would be passed on to the public. A few months ago this procedure might have been followed with but little protest from the public. Recent developments, however, have changed this situation. To boost transportation rates at this time will be decidedly unpopular and by the time the hearings have ended the Commission probably will have discovered this fact.

The farmers of the country, for instance, are still looking for prices on their products that will give them the long promised parity. Increasing transportation costs will not benefit agriculture. On the contrary, it will broaden the spread between the value of the raw materials the farmer sells and the finished products he buys.

Increased transportation costs will not be helpful to the administration's housing program. On the contrary, increased transportation costs will further retard construction. The freight bill represents half of the cost of a carload of lumber in Thief River Falls now. Adding to the size of that bill certainly is not going to encourage people to build.

These are things the Commission will be reminded of at the hearings. That the railroads need additional revenue no one will deny. They need that revenue largely because of increased costs the government itself has imposed upon them. Our railroads are a fine example of the result of too much government. The public pays the bill.

For the youngsters, Christmas is still many days ahead. For most of us, however, it is only three short weeks away.

Tomorrow night will be your last, and first too, chance to see the school play at the Auditorium. "Adam and Eva" is one of those comedies that has a lot of chuckles in it and our guess is that it will be worth seeing.

We still don't believe it. The papers say that George Griffith, who was imported from North Dakota to take over the state oil inspection department, is accusing the farmers of cheating the state on gasoline taxes. If there is any truth in the report then George certainly will be ousted from the Farmer-Labor party because all Farmer-Laborites know that tax evasion is practiced only by big corporations and Republicans.

THE SODOM'S APPLE OF GOVERNMENT FAVOR

(Morris Tribune)

There never was a time when the "government" projected itself into everyone's business as much as it does today, and there never was a time when craft and professional organizations devoted so much time to discussing what the government is doing to them or what the government might do for them as is the case today.

Every industrial and commercial group meeting in convention devotes a minor portion of its time to discussing means and methods of improving its practices and increasing its field of usefulness to the public and more and more to how it can obtain some special favor from the government, or impose a restriction by law upon some competing interest.

It isn't necessary to file a bill of particulars. Everyone who attends gatherings of the men and women engaged in the same craft, business, profession, or industry knows that a large share of the set speeches and 99 per cent of the informal discussion pertains to some proposed law or laws which will grant special favors to that particular business or impose special hardship on some opposing group.

The report of the membership committee invariably contains a statement that everyone in that particular business should join because of the financial benefits of certain legislation secured by the association has amounted to more than the cost of a membership. Of course, such advantage has always been secured at the expense of some other group or of the public generally.

It is but a step from being the pampered pets of the government to becoming the wards of the government. And it is just another step from being wards of the government to becoming serfs of the government. Americans resent being serfs, and when the government starts ordering them hither and yon, they voice a strenuous but more or less ineffectual protest. None of us has any right to complain about what the government is doing to us so long as we spend so much effort in getting the government to do things for us. In such an arrangement everyone gets squeezed in the long run, and the only ones who profit are the million of government employees who tell us what to do—at our expense.

Those who are clamoring for more intercession by the government on their behalf might well stop, look and listen before proceeding further. At first the government favors may seem pleasant, but in the end they become as burdensome as the Old Man of the Sea. The railroads, banks and many other businesses know the bitterness of government favors.

There is no business powerful enough or any group large enough (not even the farmers) to tell the government what it shall do. In the end the pressure of other groups is more powerful than one group, and the single group must eventually yield. That's why this continual effort for government favor eventually works to the detriment of the group favored.

If we do not want the government to run everything and own everything, then it is time that intelligent Americans set their faces against this popular pastime of running to the government for special favors on any and all occasions. If we do not want to slip more and more into serfdom to the government, it's time that we snap out of it.

TESTIMONIAL DINNER

(Montevideo News)

As long as the talk is on government spending, and on the subject of where the pressure for spending originates, a look at one more exhibit will help answer the latter question. Exhibit A is an item in the papers under a Crookston, November dateline, and reads like this:

"A testimonial dinner, honoring Congressman R. T. Buckler, for his efforts in behalf of obtaining an $85,000 appropriation for a Crookston postoffice building will be held here Thursday night, sponsored by the Crookston Association of Public Affairs."

Was there ever a testimonial dinner for a congressman because he held appropriations down instead of shoving them higher?

The trouble with unreasonably short working hours is that they afford too much leisure time to those who have not the capacity to profitably employ leisure time. Do you know a successful person? He was one who made good use of his leisure. That's all there is to success, but most people would rather have what they think is a "good time" during the hours not devoted to their usual avocations. Leisure-possesses and employs the means to destroy as well as employ.—Fairmont Sentinel.

CHILDREN TRAPPED IN BURNING HOUSE

Northome.—Two small children, Marvin and Merton Pellinen, aged 14 months and 3½ years, respectively, were burned to death last week when the farm home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Pellinen, two miles north of this village, was destroyed by fire. The boys were trapped in the bedroom from which the fire department arriving when the house was a mass of flames, found it impossible to remove them for the entire roof had already collapsed. The origin of the fire, altho not definitely known, is thought to have been a defective chimney. Only the mother of the family was home when fire broke out and being in the barn at the time did not discover the blaze until it had consumed a large portion of the structure. Mr. Pelinen, who was on his way to Blackduck to get material for the house, did not return until later. A drive to secure donations for the Pelinen family was begun in the Northome community and business men plan to build a new home and provide food and clothing.

"OLDEST" HUNTER TO NORTH WOODS

New Richland.—Local residents consider themselves fairly safe in saying that one of its natives will perhaps be the oldest hunter in the north woods this fall during the deer hunting season. He is Morris Holbrook, 81, who left last week for the northern part of the state to hunt deer. At his age, Mr. Holbrook is still able to step it off through the tough going and can show up some of the younger members of the group which he accompanied. Friends of his wager that he will bag his deer, also.

CAN'T NAME PRESIDENT, CITIZENSHIP NOT GIVEN

Holdingford.—Because a local man could not name correctly to officials the president of the United States this person did not receive the citizenship papers for which he made application. He called Colonel Charles Lindbergh president, for to him he had been that for some time. Appearing last week in court at St. Cloud was the 61-year-old Holdingford man who had been in America since 1891. He was asked to name the president of the United States and promptly answered, "Lindbergh". Asked later why he thought Lindbergh to be president, he replied that he had heard so much about him that he thought he was president.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

METHODISTS SPEAK UP

At a great meeting of Methodists in Dallas, Texas, recently,—composed of preachers and laymen—the following declaration was unanimously adopted:

"Since the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and the legalization of the liquor traffic in Texas, we observe with deep regret the increased consumption of intoxicating liquors with all its attending evils, especially the ever mounting number of accidents on the highways, many of them caused by drunken drivers.

"We observe also the disposition on the part of many to violate the liquor laws and thus bring all law into disrepute. We note also the demand of these violators of the law and their representatives in the legislature to 'liberalize' the existing laws, so that intoxicating liquors may be sold by the drink, when we believe this is open violation of the will of the people as expressed in the constitutional amendment adopted in the last election on this question.

"We believe the legalization of the sale of intoxicating liquors in any way is against the best interests of this state and we are unalterably opposed to any such law.

"We denounce the liquor traffic as the enemy of the home, the church and the state. It is man's worst enemy.

"We commend our governor for his courageous message to the legislature asking for the strengthening of our liquor laws.

"We appeal most earnestly to our honorable legislature to heed the governor's request to put teeth into our liquor laws so they can be enforced.

"We appeal to our enforcement officers to see that our laws are enforced and pledge them our hearty cooperation.

"We urge our juries to see that convictions shall result when the laws have been violated."

This declaration was introduced by Bishop H. A. Boaz of Fort Worth.

Helium for Medicinal Purposes

Helium is mixed with oxygen for severe cases when oxygen by itself is too heavy a gas for a patient to inhale because the orifice has become too small to admit it. Its use is restricted by its price, but it will probably save many lives in the future.

Farm and Implement News

A CAR LOAD

The ever growing popularity of the McCormick-Deering cream separator is again evidenced by another solid carload just shipped into Thief River Falls for distribution among neighboring town dealers. We have our share and are ready to demonstrate on any farm that this machine is actually second to none. If your old cream separator is not doing the job to save all the cream, won't you let us show you just how easy you can replace it with a McCormick-Deering on our easy payment plan. In most cases the McCormick-Deering cream separator pays for its original cost in the saving of cream that the old machine will not take out of the milk.

BUY NOW FOR SPRING

The reduced price placed on the McCormick-Deering "F12" Farmall tractor this fall under the Harvester Company promotion sales campaign is still in effect, $625.00 and freight. We have no assurance however that this price will not advance and even to a higher level than former price. So we do believe it is a very good suggestion that you come in now and let us figure with you for spring delivery while we can still protect you at this very low price. Two farmers recently placed their orders and closed deals with us for spring delivery. You should do the same. Never a better farm tractor for all around work and at low cost of operation.

USED CAR AND TRUCK SALE

STILL ON

Our special reduction sale on used cars and trucks as a pre-inventory sale is still going strong and we have a very fine assortment in our present stock. We need room for winter storage space. Our used cars are kept inside, which is an advantage over the open lot. They are preserved and protected and are ready to go when you are ready to buy. We have bargains you cannot match elsewhere. We invite all to look over our used car bargains as we slash prices for a big reduction before the end of the year. Three 1937 models, two 1936, a number of 1935 and 1931 models. Besides many older models that are exceptional values.

HORSES

Right now we have only six head of horses. Two of them are two and three year olds. All good work horses and now at much less money than next spring. We expect to trade for several additional horses in the near future.

SPECIAL TIRES FOR WINTER

It is a smart thing to buy two extra Goodyear Sure Grip Tires for the rear wheels of your truck or car for winter and you never need chains. Save the old tires for summer use. Eventually it pays, and is a great satisfaction in winter driving.

The Republicans are going to hold a state convention and, we learned on good authority (We must insist on keeping the source of our information secret) they are planning to ask the people to restore them to power.

They will seek this public vote of confidence on the basis of the formidable record which they made in the last Legislature. Here is part of it:

They opposed homestead exemption, and, when forced to pass it, emasculated the measure so that home owners and farmers will not receive its full benefits for two years.

They killed the AFL state labor relations act.

They administered a dose of sleeping powder to the 44 hour bill for women in industry.

HOCKEY TEAMS IN PRE-SEASON TILT FRIDAY, DEC. 17

Thieves to Appear in Game Climaxing Fund Raising Campaign

The 1938 hockey season will get under way in an auspicious manner on Friday December 17, it was announced today by the American Legion's post activities committee which has been sponsoring a number of benefit activities in behalf of the winter sports program inaugurated last year by the Elmer E. Eklund post.

The post committee today made arrangement withth e arena association to stage a pre-season game between the Thieves and some other opposing team as a climax to their benefit-fund raising drive which starts on Saturday December 11, and continues for six days. During that period the committee will make a thorough canvass of every business establishment to sell hockey-booster buttons in an effort to raise money which will serve as a reserve fund for hockey promotion.

Admission to the pre-season game will be the hockey booster button and those wearing them will have an opportunity to get there first glimpse of the new team which will defend Thief River Falls in the States-Dominion league. Complete details as to the line-up and opponents for the benefit game are being worked out and will be announced in a later issue.

Firemen Retain Present Officers for Next Year

All officers of the Thief River Falls fire department were reelected at the annual meeting held Wednesday evening of last week. They include Leonard Hanson, chief; Morris Lasell, first assistant; Philip Schmitz, second assistant; Iver Hugge, third assistant; Harry Schuster, secretary; and Lawrence Bjorkman, treasurer.

Red Lake Co. Man Sows Sweet Clover Nov. 24th

Seeding in November is an extremely "unusual" event in Red Lake county and has brought considerable comment by motorists who have traveled Highway No. 32 south of Red Lake Falls during the past two days, when they witnessed the tractor and drill making its regular rounds on a plowed field a mile and a half south of Red Lake Falls, says the Gazette of that city. Investigation proved it to be none other than Jos. F. Skala sowing sweet clover seed. This date, November 24, 1937 will probably go down in history as the latest fall seeding date in many years.

Rural Rehabilitation Supervisors Discuss Farm Accounts Monday

Rural rehabilitation supervisors from ten northwest counties attended a meeting in the Civic and Commerce association room Monday to hear a discussion and comparative analysis of farm account records kept by borrowers from the federal agency. Record books are being maintained by 1215 borrowers in northwestern Minnesota including approximately 400 in the vicinity of Thief River Falls, it was announced. Speakers at the meeting included Lloyd I. Nelson, state director of the agency; A. W. Anmolt, in charge of cooperative services, and Spencer Cleland, farm management specialist at University Farm, St. Paul.

Owing to the absence of three councilmen no quorum was present at an adjourned meeting of the city council scheduled for Tuesday evening, and business due to come up for consideration at the meeting was deferred to a later session.

FORD V-8 MODELS FOR 1938 ARRIVE IN CITY TUESDAY

Crowds Inspect New Models at Lund & Tunberg Showrooms

Ford V-8 models for 1938 went on display Tuesday in the showrooms of Lund & Tunberg, local dealers, and have since attracted a large attendance of interested persons. The cars are offered in two distinct lines differing in appearance and price, but both in the low-price field.

One is a newly-styled standard Ford line, in coupe, Tudor and Fordor body types, powered either with the 85 or the 60-horsepower V-8 engine. The standard cars are designed to meet requirements of the many motor car owners whose means dictate maximum economy in first cost, as well as in maintenance and operating costs.

The other is a newly-designed deluxe line for owners who desire additional style and appointments, powered only with the 85 horsepower V-8 body types, the coupe, Tudor, and Fordor sedans, as well as the club coupe, convertible cabriolet, club convertible cabriolet, convertible sedan and the phaeton.

The two lines of cars have the same improved V-8 chassis, but their styling is distinctly different.

The de luxe cars are larger in appearance. The hood has been lengthened. Its nearly vertical front is carried in a "V" well down into the radiator grille, with the familiar V-8 emblem at the tip of the "V." Horizontal lines of the grille bars and the louvres are echoed in a bright rustless steel band which is carried along the belt to the rear.

The new standard line cars also present a larger appearance, with a newly-designed front end, grille, hood and fenders. The front end is formed in a "V", with the horizontal grille bars extending unbroken along the hoodside to form the louvres.

BOWLING SEASON IS NOW IN FULL SWING LOCALLY

Eight Teams Have Been Entered in League for Current Season

The Thief River Falls bowling season got off to a flying start on the local alleys early last week with the formation of a league including eight teams. Play has since been regularly under way.

In matches last week the Hub Clothing team took two out of three from the G-Men; the Standard Oils made it two out of three from the Gamble-Robinsons, and the Sorenson Cafe team took three straight from the Fitgers.

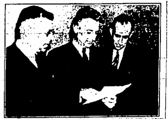
The Sorensons Monday of this week won two out of three games from the Hub Clothing team, high scores being made by Jesse DuChamp, 174, and Carl Carlson, 179. Tuesday evening the Standard Oils won three straight from the Thieves, Harold Burrell, 174 and Robert DuChamp, 161, making the best scores.

In a match at Grand Forks November 28, Thief River Falls was victorious by a total score of 2680 to 2424, high scores being registered by Wallace DuChamp, 225, and R. Jundahl, 203. The locals engaged in a second out-of-town tilt Sunday at Detroit Lakes, winning by the close score of 2465 to 2415. Wallace DuChamp was high for the locals with a total of 578, while Toomas was high man for Detroit Lakes with 586.

Standings in the local league follow:

	W	L	Pct.
Sorensons Cafe	5	1	.833
Standard Oil	5	1	.833
Hub Clothing	3	3	.500
Thieves	2	3	.400
G-Men	1	2	.333
Gamble-Robinson	1	2	.333
Fitgers	0	3	.000
House Rats	0	3	.000

He called his girl friend a little sugar and wound up by paying her a lump sum.



Three dads, whose sons helped to carry the football team Gophers to their 13 to 6 win over Wisconsin and to the Big Ten championship at Memorial stadium last week, were happy to "tell the world" about it immediately after the final gun. Left to right, they are A. D. W. Johnson of Anoka, father of Bob Johnson; George Gmitro of Minneapolis, father of the elusive Rudy; and Norman Elmer of Minneapolis, father of Dan Elmer. The three, with fathers of other Gopher gridiron stars, watched the game from the sidelines as part of the annual Dad's Day program.

Time Now for Preparing Yule Mail for Europe

Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced today that less than two weeks remain for local residents to prepare letters and parcels for mailing to European countries in time to reach their destination in advance of the Christmas holidays. He stated that December 15 is the latest date of dispatch from New York for mail destined for England, France, Germany, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Italy, and that allowance must be made for the time required for mail to go from this community to New York. More distant places call for proportionately earlier mailings.

O. G. Ekeren, Warren, Takes Over Hal Ekeren Interest in Pharmacy

Announcement was made this week that O. G. Ekeren of Warren and Walter Ekeren of this city have taken over the interest of their brother Hal in the Thief River Pharmacy and will operate the business from now on. At the same time Hal Ekeren took over the Warren Pharmacy, formerly owned and operated by O. G. Ekeren together with his father, O. H. Ekeren of this city. Hal was formerly connected with the Warren store, coming to this city in 1934 at the time the Thief River Pharmacy was opened. Each of the Ekeren brothers is a registered pharmacist. O. H. Ekeren, who has transferred the two stores to his sons, will continue to assist in the local store as long as his health permits, he announced. He has been engaged in the drug business since 1895, starting as a clerk in the J. T. Johnson store in Fergus Falls, and moving to Rothsay in 1896 where he became proprietor of a store in 1899, continuing in that capacity until the Thief River Pharmacy was opened.

W. H. BonDurant Falls and Breaks Right Arm

W. H. BonDurant, hardware salesman who makes his headquarters in this city while covering Northwestern Minnesota, last Friday morning had the misfortune to slip on an icy sidewalk on LaBree av. and fracture his right arm just above the wrist. He left Tuesday morning with Mrs. BonDurant for his home in Minneapolis to remain there while the fracture is healing.

CHRISTMAS TREE HARVEST MILLION DOLLAR INDUSTRY

2,500,000 Minnesota Trees Will be Marketed Thruout Nation

Two and a half million Minnesota Christmas trees will carry the holiday festive spirit to homes in every state in the nation, and several foreign countries as well. This is the approximate annual harvest in the state's million dollar industry that includes over a thousand operators, large and small, from the settler selling a few dozen trees, to the large operators handling tens of thousands.

One Duluth operator alone shipped trees last year to 40 states, as well as to several foreign countries. Cold storage and processing plants have been in operation since mid-September, while small operators waited for cold weather before cutting trees. This activity continues until the holidays.

All trees sold in Minnesota, whether they originate in the state or not, must carry the conservation department tag. Any trees sold without this tag are "bootleg" and the seller is liable to arrest and prosecution under the state Christmas tree law. The money derived from the sale of these two cent tags is used to supervise cutting operations according to good forestry practice, and serves to prevent a flooded market, with the resultant waste.

One requirement of the law is that the legal description of the land on which trees are cut must be reported to the conservation department, thereby protecting both the state and private lands against the raids of tree thieves and bootleg cutters. The reports must show that the cutter has the owner's permission to cut trees, and that the land is not tax delinquent.

Permits to cut trees on state and tax delinquent lands are handled by the forestry division of the conservation department in the same manner as regular timber sales.

Venison When Properly Tagged May be Retained Until February, 1938

Venison taken during the open deer season may be kept until the last day of February, 1938, provided it is properly tagged within five days after the close of the season.

Any person, according to the game laws, who desires to retain possession of venison after the close of the deer season must surrender the license under which it was taken to the Department of conservation or any game warden, and a written permit will be granted to retain this game.

Tags will be issued which must be attached to the venison to be kept. Any venison not so tagged will be regarded as illegal and will carry the same penalty as though it were taken out of season.

TWO MEN ARE FINED FOR VIOLATING LIQUOR LAWS

Pleading guilty before Judge M. A. Brattland in district court to the charges of illegal sale of liquor, Henry Hastad and Herman Timm November 21 were ordered to pay fines of $50 each. A thirty-day jail sentence in each case was suspended on condition that the fine be paid.

BERLINITE PURCHASES MINNESOTA GROCERIES

Red Wing — Loyalty to the "home town merchant" certainly is foremost in the mind of Mrs. Abella Wilson, who lives with a daughter in Berlin, Germany, and recently ordered a long list of groceries from the Lake City merchant with whom she had traded for years. Among the grocery items listed were such products as shredded wheat, puffed rice, grape-nuts, corn flakes, bran flakes, bran, cake flour, Jello, 50 packages of chewing gum, and graham crackers. A total of 150 items were listed. Mrs. Wilson reports a food shortage in Berlin and states that a check of garbage receptacles is made daily by those in authority to see that all waste is eliminated as far as possible.

Loftiest Large Plateau

Tibet is the loftiest large plateau in the world, a vast tableland, with an average elevation of 16,500 feet. Tibet is a strange place, inhabited by strange people, with strange customs and habits. It is a province in central Asia, west and southwest of China, and north of India. The population is largely a mixture of Chinese and East Indians.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Werking

Rabbit Hunting

About a year ago your writer made some reference in this series to commercial rabbit hunting in the states of Minnesota and North Dakota, and at that time it was pointed out car loads, even part train loads, including several cars of frozen jackrabbits are shipped east from different points in the state to be marketed through the channels that have opened in recent years.

A newspaper dispatch from Washington, D. C. calls attention to the fact that farmers now go hunting for rabbit skins, not to "rap baby bunting in," but to be used for various purposes including for trimming for women's hats.

It may seem strange to some readers that this rabbit fur business has grown to a million dollar status, but this is what the biological survey bureau reports. While the report shows that most of the rabbits come from North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, and Montana, Minnesota also produces a large amount.

Fall, winter and spring are the season for big rabbit drives. They are different from the snipe drive hoax, in that no one is left "holding the bag." The bureau said these drives serve a dual purpose for the farmers—ridding them of hundreds of thousands of the pests each year, and providing also an extra cash income.

The Dakotas, particularly, are good hunting grounds. The bureau estimated North Dakota farmers received $100,000 last year from rabbit skins. Nebraska and South Dakota farmers netted as much or more, officials said.

The skins bring the hunter about five cents a pound, and it takes about four skins to make a pound. In the retail market the skins bring approximately 50 cents a pound.

Buckshot or bullets spoil the skin, so the hunters, usually working in groups, plan rabbit drives, rounding the animals into pens and clubbing them.

The rabbit fur is used chiefly for trimming women's hats. Biological survey officials say the skins usually are at the wrong state of development for use as furs—they are too tender and shed too easily.

The writer has not learned whether or not brush rabbits or the so-called cottontails are used for this purpose also, but we see no reason why they should not be. By the way, there are various other purposes for which this rabbit fur is used. One is the making of gloves and a kind of felt, which leads us to assume that the fur may also be made into men's hats.

The snowshoe rabbit certainly qualifies as well as its cousin, the jackrabbit as a source of the commercial product. But it is well that ridding the country of rabbits is considered worth while and that others find sport in hunting rabbits for the pecuniary reward is surprisingly small as the figures quoted above reveal. Think of getting only about a cent for a rabbit skin! Still, a carload of them amounts to something at least. It is reported that the most of the rabbits is sold in butcher shops in the large centers of the east.

Even today in this country we occasionally see rabits displayed in butcher shops but the prevalence of tularemia among rabbits has caused most people to avoid them as food. When the writer was a boy he spent some time in southern Minnesota and often went hunting for cottontails. We used to eat them fried, stewed and encasserole. But somehow we have completely lost our appetite for rabbits.

The oldtimers ate them, however, and considered a roasted, fried or stewed jack an excellent dish. Rabbits were even served "stuffed" and we have heard of them being stuffed with chestnuts.

We understand that rabbit fur can be made quite durable by certain treatments and it may be that the enterprising eastern merchants will evolve new methods by which the fur will be made more useful and consequently more valuable. In that case the price on the hoof, so to speak may advance. At present it would appear that the price of rabbits, like those of all other commodities the farmer is able to produce is far too low.

It may be necessary to get the G-men to investigate and find out if there is too much spread between the price paid here and in the eastern markets. There certainly is quite a spread when the retail market prices average 50 cents, as we learned earlier in this article.

If the price advances sufficiently motorists may find it profitable to stop and pick up the jackrabbits they hit on the highways.

Advise Using Brakes Before Hitting Curves

"Don't use your brakes on curves—brake your car before you are on the curve and once making the swing accelerate your car. That is the safe way." So counsels W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer of the state highway department.

When brakes are applied on curves themselves, the safety chief said, all traction is between the tires and the road surface and none is left to counteract the terrific centrifugal force and a car has a tendency to skid. When power is applied when rounding a curve, part of the driving force of the rear wheels forces the car toward the inside of the curve, centrifugal force is opposed and the danger of skidding lessened.

The safe way then, Mr. Rosenwald points out, is to brake in advance of the curve when the speed of your vehicle is great, then proceed around the curve with a reasonable amount of accelerated power.

THIRTY-FIRST SEAL

Christmas Seals!
GREETINGS
1937
Buy and Use Them

For the thirty-first year, the tuberculosis Christmas seal gives everyone an opportunity to help in the fight against tuberculosis. Thirty years ago two hundred people out of every one hundred thousand in the United States were dying of tuberculosis. Today, the death rate has been cut more than two-thirds.

Einar Holboell, a Danish postal clerk, in 1904 conceived the idea of selling a penny stamp to raise money for a hospital for children sick with tuberculosis. Holboell's idea now circles the world.

The first tuberculosis seal sale in the United States was held in 1907 at Wilmington, Delaware.

PUDDING POISONS FIVE IN FAMILY

Sauk Centre. — Five persons were seriously ill recently from food poisoning when members of the Henry Voller family of the Pleasant Valley community ate chocolate pudding. Acting quickly, they summoned medical aid and nothing further than illness resulted. Origin of the trouble was traced to a dish containing chocolate pudding of which the family ate following a meal. In a few minutes the poison acted quickly and sent the persons in pain to the [illegible] girl, according to reports was nearly hysterical from pain. The pudding had been kept in a metal dish, covered nearly airtight. Pumping stomachs relieved the action of the poisons, and all patients have apparently recovered.

CANTALOUPE SHELL SAVES MAN $42.00

Luverne—Harold Jordahl, a local man, has a piece of cantaloupe and the United States Treasury department to thank for saving him $42.00. Some time ago Harold inadvertently set fire to a wad of currency and had it not been for the piece of cantaloupe, the $42.00 would have gone up in smoke. The charred bills have just been redeemed by the treasury department. The incident came about when one evening Jordahl who runs a service station at the edge of Luverne, left the place in charge of an attendant, cautioning him to put all money in the waste basket when he closed up, instead of locking it in the cash register. The station had previously been looted and since that time the owner had been hiding money in secret places. When the attendant locked up for the night he did as he had been told, secreting $42 in currency in the waste basket. The next morning Harold emptied the basket into the garbage can and set fire to it. When the refuse was blazing merrily, he suddenly thought of the money. Hastily extinguishing the blaze, he found the bills at the bottom of the can, partially covered with the shell of a cantaloupe. The bills were charred on one end where they had not been covered and a few were reduced to ashes. Jordahl cautiously recovered the money and the ashes and took it to a local bank, from where it was sent to Washington.

DOLL 100 YEARS OLD, ON EXHIBIT

International Falls.— Costumes of many races and nationalities are depicted in an unusual doll exhibit shown here at the public library. Oldest doll in the display is a German antique between 95 and 100 years old. Next in age is an early American doll which is 40 years old. Many European country dolls are included in the exhibition.

4714 Motorists Given Aid by State Highway Patrol in September

Continuing its practice of being an aid-giving as well as a law enforcement agency, the highway patrol of the Minnesota highway department is listed as helping 4,714 motorists in September in a report presented N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, by John P. Arnoldy, patrol chief.

During the same month, according to the patrol summary, 672 arrests were made and resulted in fines amounting to $11,627.85, which brought the total traffic fines as a result of state patrol work for 1937, up to Oct. 1, to $80,476.86.

Another duty of the patrolmen which has brought money into the state's treasury is its license plate correction work. In September this amounted to approximately $13,449.56, which boosted the total for the year to $207,721.03.

At the same time, 9,756 traffic act violators were warned, 2,315 for improper parking, 1,326 for unreasonable speed, 1,756 for driving in the wrong lane, 1,666 for improper lights.

For improper equipment, 112 drivers were arrested; for going through "stop" signs, 86; for careless driving, 76; for drunken driving, 75, and for improper passing, 45.

For use of illegal equipment on the highway, 1,683 drivers were given tags to repair or adjust the faulty mechanisms of their vehicles immediately.

Up to Oct. 1, this year, 203,092 hours of duty have been served by the patrol, 3,267,931 miles traveled, 909 traffic accidents attended and first aid given to 124 victims.

BAYPORT NOMINATES A "MEANEST" THIEF

Bayport.—A leading contender for the "meanest" thief title was nominated here and orchids offered the thief mean enough to make useless a stove used by hundreds of persons. One night last week someone broke into the log cabin at the local park and stole the entire top from the range. To make the job better, the prowler either stole or threw away the lock to the door which had been forced by tearing away the staples holding the lock. The supposition that the act was committed by someone located in or near the village is grounded on the fact that a person not acquainted with the cabin could not have known of the range. The other stove in the cabin was not disturbed.

EARLY DISCOVERY

"A tuberculin test for every high school pupil; a chest x-ray of every positive reactor."

This is the objective of the youth campaign against tuberculosis financed by Christmas Seals. In Minnesota thousands of boys and girls have been tuberculin tested and x-rayed, and many unsuspected cases of tuberculosis have been brought to light in the Christmas Seal financed school surveys.

Do Not Utilize Oils or Ointments in Treating Burns, Physicians Warn

The Hindenburg disaster has furnished the text for an important warning to the public from one of the surgeons who was called upon to care for a number of the victims.

The Minnesota State Medical association's committee on public health education quotes a paragraph from the surgeon's report of his experience in its bulletin issued today to emphasize the importance of avoiding use of greases or ointments in the first aid care of serious burns.

The surgeon said recently, as quoted in the bulletin: "I believe that much missionary work must be done to acquaint the public with the evils of applying ointments, oils or fats to severe burns, and to further emphasize the fact that many times such abuses of treatment may be the deciding factor in the life or death of the patient."

In the excitement that attended the burning of the Hindenburg, most of those who gave first aid to the victims made use of the old fashioned remedies including oils and greases of various descriptions. These oils had to be removed when the dangerously burned passengers arrived at the hospital, a process that added to the pain and shock and seriously diminished their chances of recovery.

WORKER'S COAT JOINS RUMMAGE SALE STOCK

Granite Falls—"Charity begins at home" is a fine adage in its place, but it looked quite strong to Mrs. Jack Falkingham, W. C. T. U. worker, when someone sold her own coat at the annual rummage sale held at the city hall here. It all came about when Mrs. Falkingham went to the city hall to help other women conduct the sale. Removing her coat, she folded it and placed it in one of the voting booths. In a manner unknown the coat was taken from the booth and hung with other garments which had been donated for the sale. Along came a customer who liked the coat and a co-worker, not recognizing the garment to be that of Mrs. Falkingham sold it to her prospective customer. The humor of the situation, although the incident was regrettable, caused many a chuckle in the city hall the afternoon of the rummage sale.

Your Compliments to HIM!

LENTHERIC's toiletries for men imply good grooming and good breeding. Hence—it is a compliment to him to be presented with any of these select preparations. If he isn't already a confirmed user, he will appreciate the introduction. If he is—then you have found what pleases him most.

A handsome and practical combination includes the ivory-tone shaving bowl, the after shave powder in matching container, and either after shave lotion or eau de cologne. The gift box in mahogany and beige tones is decidedly masculine.

This particular set is priced at $2.75, but there are a variety of other combinations from $1.50 up.

SMILEY

SMILEY CLUB MEETING

A good program was presented at the Smiley Hall by a committee consisting of the Adam Lendobeja and [illegible] Brekke families. The meeting opened with a business session in which the annual election of officers was held. Those duly elected were Herman Betzwenger as president, Oscar Weckwerth, vice president, L. O. Stenseth secretary, and Adam Lendobeja treasurer. Committees for the year have not as yet been selected. The program opened with community singing led by Mrs. S. W. Nelson followed by other numbers consisting of a piano solo by Mrs. Math Olson, a song by little Elaine Nelson, a lullaby by Joyce and Eleanor Foss and Eunice Berk, [illegible] a very interesting talk by Mr. Jacobson of Thief River Falls on the organization of a Junior College in Thief River Falls and a duet by Marian Nelson and Ollie [illegible]. Refreshments were served by the Oscar Weckwerth and Walter Lendobeja families.

Harold McCrum of Billings, Mont., arrived Sunday to visit his mother Mrs. Margaret McCrum who is quite ill having received a stroke two weeks ago. Her daughter Mrs. [illegible] Cabot of Jamestown, N. Dak., arrived Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Math Olson were Sunday visitors at the [illegible] Knutson home in Viking where the latter's [illegible] Walter is employed.

Carole Marilyn Mae McCrum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCrum was baptized at the home of her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Olson Sunday by Rev. E. L. Tungseth. The sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. George Ege. The occasion also marked the birthday anniversary of the baby's aunt Clara Olson. A huge turkey dinner in the evening was served to the Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Tungseth, Mr. and Mrs. George Ege and the Olson family. Other guests in the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Stevenson and Ina and Lillian Stevenson.

Leon Lendobeja and Julian Syvrud motored to Fargo and spent the week end with the latter's sisters.

Charles Olson of International Falls, associated with the Trappers and Hunters company was a caller at the Jim McCrum home Sunday evening.

Junior Hanson is at present employed at the Olaf Selhelm home in Thief River Falls.

Mark and Orion Olson and Clifford Rosen of Thief River Falls got a four point buck on a recent deer hunting expedition up near Baudette.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peterson have taken a trip to Chicago where they attended the wedding of their sister, Violet Peterson which occurred Saturday.

Mrs. O. N. Olson and daughter Clara, Mrs. Mark Olson and Mrs. Jim McCrum and children helped Mrs. George Ege celebrate her birthday in Thief River Falls Wednesday.

RIVER FALLS

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jepson left for Minneapolis on Wednesday evening to be present at the Milford Klingensmith home for Thanksgiving day and also a brief visit with friends and relatives.

Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Erickson and children of Thief River Falls, Arthur Erickson of [illegible], Harold Fellman and Howard Anderson of CCC camp of Middle River were Thanksgiving dinner guests at the John Fellman home on Thanksgiving Day.

[illegible] Gunnulson was called to Crookston on Saturday to see her sister Mrs. Frank [illegible] who is ill.

Howard Anderson and Harold Fellman of CCC Camp of Middle River spent their Thanksgiving vacation at the latter's parents' home, Mr. and Mrs. John Fellman.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fellman visited at the Hilda Erickson home in Thief River Falls where they visited with Hilda's mother, Mrs. K. J. Erickson.

Mrs. Frank Johnson came home on Sunday from the Thief River Falls hospital. Mrs. Johnson and twins are coming along nicely.

History of Grygla Norwegian Lutheran Church Is Reviewed

The following history of the St. Olaf Norwegian Lutheran church of Grygla was prepared by S. D. Lincoln of Stephen, investigator for the Minnesota Historical society, in cooperation with H. T. Peterson, treasurer of the church.

The St. Olaf Norwegian Lutheran church is located in the village of Grygla, Marshall County, Minnesota. It was organized in 1903 as a Norwegian United Lutheran congregation but on Feb. 7, 1908 it became affiliated with the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America.

The pastor also serves the congregations of Moose River, Landstad and St. Peter in Marshall County and Northwood, Jelle, Valle and Carmel in Beltrami County.

The charter members were H. T. Peterson, G. K. Nesland, Ole Newton, O. A. Fladeland, S. Nomeland, and Targe Haugeland. Services were held in the school house until 1924.

At a business meeting on Dec. 20, 1923, arrangements were made to buy a building from a Mr. Gustafson of Thief River Falls. This building was moved and placed on a good concrete foundation; a tower was erected and the old roof replaced by a new one. A bell was purchased and hung in the tower and rung for the first time on Oct. 2, 1924. In the spring of this same year the congregation had received a gift of some very fine church furniture from the Lutheran Congregation of Hygland in Polk County. The congregation now has a very nice and well-equipped church building free of debt.

A parsonage was purchased from Edward Olson in 1920 and is owned jointly by four congregations—St. Olaf and St. Peter in Marshall County and Valle and Carmel in Beltrami County. The parsonage is located one half mile south and one and one half miles east of Grygla.

The first officers were: H. T. Peterson, pres.; A. O. Fladeland, secy.; M. T. Torgerson, treas.; Ole Newton, O. A. Fladeland and T. M. Nesland, trustees; G. K. Nesland, S. Nomeland and Andrew Thompson, deacons.

The congregation was re-organized Feb. 7, 1908 and was named the St. Olaf Norwegian Lutheran Church. The following officers were elected: Ole Newton, pres.; A. O. Fladeland, secy.; H. T. Peterson, treas.; Helmer Sarbo, Knute Torgerson, H. T. Peterson, trustees.

Services were conducted by itinerant or visiting pastors for some time before the congregation was organized. Rev. H. Bjornson served in that way from 1898 to about 1903 or 1904. The congregation was organized in 1903 by A. Stennes and in 1904 the Inner Mission Board of the United Lutheran Church sent Rev. J. A. Lofthus as the first regular pastor. He served until 1907. After the congregation was re-organized Rev. O. H. Haugen was called and served from 1908 to 1911. The Rev. E. O. Sabo served as visiting pastor from 1911 to 1913 and was then called as regular pastor and continued to serve until May 31, 1920 when he resigned. He was succeeded by Rev. S. T. Anderson the present incumbent.

The church corporation owns a cemetery which is located about a mile southeast of the village of Grygla on the SE¼ of Sec. 25 in Valley Township. This cemetery was established in 1904 on a site donated for the purpose by Ole Newton. It is used by the public generally regardless of any church affiliation. The first interment was Inger H. Nesland who died in 1903 at the age of 73 years and 11 months. A total of 96 interments had been made prior to Dec. 31, 1936.

The Norwegian language was used in the beginning but is being gradually superceded by English.

The St. Olaf Ladies' Aid Society was organized in 1904 with a membership of twenty. In 1920 the society was re-organized under the name of the Grygla Ladies' Aid Society with a membership of twenty-four. The charter members of the St. Olaf Ladies' Aid were Mrs. Soren Nygaard sr., Mrs. Ole Fladeland, Mrs. Ole Newton, Mrs. Torkel Nesland, Mrs. Gunder Nesland, Mrs. Mikkel Torgerson, Mrs. A. O. Fladeland, Mrs. Andy Fladeland, Mrs. Hans Peterson, Mrs. Hjalmer Sarbo, Mrs. Ed. Torgerson, Mrs. Targe Haugland, Mrs. Ole Haugland, Mrs. Torgus Halvorson, Mrs. Sigurd Nomeland, Mrs. A. J. Anderson, and Mrs. G. K. Austad.

A Luther League Society functioned for a time but has been discontinued.

The church has had a Sunday school for several years but it is inactive at the present time.

The church began with a membership of twenty families. At the present time there are eleven families.

The above information was obtained from H. T. Peterson, treasurer of the church, Grygla, Minn.

YOUTH CRUSADES TO "CLEAN UP" VICE

"We want it stopped," was the decision of the young people of Joplin, Missouri, when conditions in regard to the gambling and vice in that community were brought to their attention. A young man standing before the young people's organization of his church reported the situation, telling how even the neighborhood stores had slot machines where small children regularly spent their lunch money and then went without a noon meal. The result, as told in a Christian Science Monitor story, was the circulation of a petition among the young people's organizations of the churches and the high school students of Joplin asking for law enforcement, which were presented to the city council with enough signatures to demand a hearing and action. The young folks also petitioned the mayor and obtained permission for peaceful picketing of all places in which the slot machines were being operated.

They got results. Approximately 2800 slot machines or marble games, about one to every 15 inhabitants of the city, were whisked into hiding. The exodus started before the Mayor's order to his police, demanding removal of all gambling devices.

Laymen and pastors of churches throughout the county vied in circulating petitions asking for a special grand jury investigation in Jasper County, Mo., saying the conditions were county-wide. The grand jury returned 108 indictments against 62 persons. Fines ranging from $200 to $1,000 each were collected from the 62.

The grand jury criticized local enforcement officers, and called on the people of the county to take an interest in local government. The grand jury told the county that a single day's "take" by the gambling devices and gambling houses was more than the entire cost of the jury session.

Criminal and civil charges have been filed by the state against certain officials, but the many postponements make it unlikely that trials will come up before election.

But nothing has been done to dull the ardor of the young people who started the anti-vice and anti-gambling movement. There are no slot machines in Joplin; gambling and vice find the youthful leaders remain vigilant and ready to spring into action again.

10 MONTHS FARM SALES OUTSTRIP RECORD OF 1936

Federal Land Bank Disposes of 43,000 Acres to Farmers

Where farm crops have been good there has been a vigorous, healthy demand for farm lands, says the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul. In support of this trend it points to the fact that in Minnesota 345 farms were sold by the bank in the first 10 months of this year compared with 311 for the entire year of 1936.

This is an increase for the 10-months period of almost 10 per cent over the 12 months of last year.

Forty-three thousand acres in this state which the land bank had been compelled to take over have thus been returned this season to the hands of private operators, most of them farmers who are going to live on the land they have bought.

"We are glad to note that most of our buyers are practical farmers who either need more land than they have had, or are changing from the status of renter to that of land owner," says a statement by the bank. "It is a wholesome tendency in a community to have resident ownership of farms on the increase. This generally insures more and better improvements and greater tax paying ability within the community."

ATTENDS CHILD'S GOLDEN WEDDING

Baudette.—Being able to attend the golden wedding anniversary of her daughter and son-in-law was the unique distinction which Mrs. Anna Gjelhaug, formerly of Silver Creek and now of Big Woods, experienced recently when Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Imsdahl commemorated their 50th anniversary. Mrs. Gjelhaug, who is 94 years of age, is in excellent health, it is reported, and is up and around daily.

Champ 4-H Canner

ARDELLA J. ZENDER, 17, of Butterfield, has earned the Minnesota 4-H championship in food preservation on five years of club work in which she canned 2140 pints of fruit and vegetables, and made 96 glasses of jelly valued at $765.66. She gave 21 public demonstrations, and was the 1937 champion. Her award is a trip to the 16th National Club Congress in Chicago Nov. 26-Dec. 4, where she will vie with other Central state winners for sectional honors and a $200 scholarship provided with other awards by the Kerr Glass Corporation. If successful she will compete for an additional $200 awarded the National Champion.

PARTED 56 YEARS BROTHERS REUNITE

Park Rapids.—Two brothers who had not seen each other for 56 years last week expected to be reunited, in an event to which both men had looked forward with anticipation. Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Watt and family left on a trip to Indiana to visit Albert Watt, brother of T. N. Watt, the two not having seen each other since they were youngsters at home on the farm. They are now 84 and 90 years old. The younger brother has made his home in Hubbard county more than 30 years, residing on a farm south of Akeley until this fall when he sold out and moved to Nevis.

University Will Make Study of the Effects of Athletics on the Body

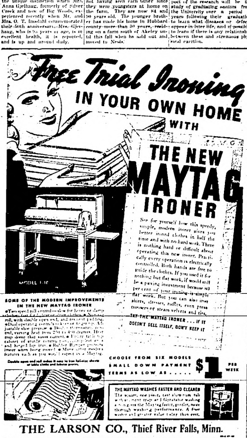
A unique study for the two-fold purpose of improving the effectiveness of the physical education program of the University and of conducting research into the effects of athletics upon the human body, has been announced by Frank G. McCormick, director of athletics at the University of Minnesota.

Launched as a joint project between the athletic department and the medical school, the study will entail the training of physical education students in human physiology and the investigation of the effects of exercise and other activities upon students, including the athletic squads. The project will be directed by Dr. Ancel Keys, formerly of the Mayo Foundation.

In discussing the project, Dr. Keys said:

"We are not concerned with the development of better athletes. But we are concerned with individual differences, such as those which make one man a better runner or jumper than another. We want to know what happens when a person engages in strenuous physical exercise in various conditions. We are particularly interested about exchanges between blood and tissue during exercise and recovery."

Athletic Director McCormick and Dr. Keys propose to train physical education students who later will be in the coaching and physical education fields as investigators so that the project will have an increasingly wider scope. Close contact will be maintained with the Mayo Foundation at Rochester so that the data gathered about Normal individuals at the University may be used there in studying the sick. A further long range aspect of the research will be the study of graduating seniors from the University over a period of years following their graduation to learn what diseases or defects appear in later life, and if possible, to learn if there is any relationship between these and strenuous physical exertion.



See for yourself how this speedy, simple, modern ironer gives you better ironed clothes in half the time and with no hard work. There is nothing hard or difficult about operating this new ironer. Practically every operation is electrically controlled. Both hands are free to guide the clothes. If you used it for nothing but flat work, it would still be a paying investment because 80 per cent of your ironing is simple flat work. But you can also iron shirts, dresses, ruffles, even press trousers or steam velvets and ties.

TRY THE MAYTAG IRONER . . . IF IT DOESN'T SELL ITSELF, DON'T KEEP IT

SOME OF THE MODERN IMPROVEMENTS IN THE NEW MAYTAG IRONER

● Two speed roll control—slow for heavy or damp clothes, fast for lighter or drier clothes. ● Narrow roll, with double open end, and resilient padding. ● Dual operating controls—knee or finger tip. Adjustable shoe pressure. ● Double thermostatic control, varying heat from 200 to 400 degrees. Heat trap dome that saves current. ● Utility table top cabinet of sturdy construction, completely enclosed and hinged lap tray. ● Rubber Bumper protects ironer when being moved. ● Many other modern features such as you would expect in a Maytag.

Double open end roll makes it easy to iron full-size sheets or table cloths and tubular pieces.

THE MAYTAG WASHES FASTER AND CLEANER

The square, one piece, cast aluminum tub with sediment trap and Gyratator washing action gives the Maytag faster, gentler, more thorough washing performance. A finer washer and greater value today than ever.

It Happened at the Capitol

The Fiterman report struck the state like a bomb shell. Things contained in the survey were pretty generally known by persons who had given any thought to the trend of finances in Minnesota, but these things lacked confirmation by a official authority and this the Fiterman report supplied.

The state administration apparently sought to take credit for starting the whole survey, after they noted the reaction from throughout the state, but it is to be remembered that the state administration, before the release of the survey, did not indicate in any way that the survey was being made. The administration apparently figured that discredit would be cast upon previous administrations and not upon its own. In this they were mistaken. Their aftermath of grappling for credit has been given little credence from any well informed observers.

It scarcely required the investigation of an expert, to determine the fact that there was existing an extensive overlapping of offices, bureaus and commissions and that they were patently created as patronage tokens to be given out in exchange for political support. This was made clearer to the voters of the state, however, when the governor so curtly rejected a genuine civil service proposal such as the one submitted to the legislature last Winter—the one which bore the indorsement of the American Federation of Labor.

The need for economy which is emphasized in the Fiterman report scarcely requires comment. As one instance, it is noted that the number of highway department employees alone jumped from 11,500 to 16,000 in a period of three years during a time when there should be less need for maintainance due to the greater permanent highway surfacing. It is evident from the whole report that economy as a pillar of state government has been virtually ignored and now the structure is starting to fall of its own weight.

The "Phoney" Reorganization

The nervous, superficial gestures of Governor Benson and the "Mexican Generals" in their hasty endeavor to "purge", "clean-out" and "reorganize" departments has created quite a laugh over the state. Dismissing 13 persons here and shifting four or five there and then re-instating them a few days later and dismissing someone else means nothing so far as substantial economy and promotion of efficiency is concerned. The whole thing is merely a little show, such as the operator of a marionette gives to his audience as he pulls the strings of the puppets and makes them jump about the stage to attract the attention of the public. These state leaders use the same tactics but instead of marionettes they seek for newspaper headlines containing the words "economy" and "efficiency". The idea is the same.

Persecuting Business

Those who have studied the antics of the present state administration should realize by now that the influence of those in control is not directed toward the revival of industry in Minnesota nor the re-employment of more people in private endeavor. It is becoming clearer day by day that the only thing these political overlords are interested in is the persecution of business and the driving of as many firms as possible away from the state. One wonders at times if it is the intention of the state administration to take over private business. A few years ago this was frankly declared, now it is more coyly hidden. The objective is the same, however, as that which revealed its head in 1934 as the "co-operative Commonwealth" and none should be so blind in Minnesota as to mistake its present identity.

What Minnesota needs is more industry—not less; more encouragement—less strife; more cooperation—less antagonism. There should be a frank and open bid for industries similar to that now being made by eight southern governors. There should be the same sort of effort as is now being done by the State of Massachusetts in buying full page advertisements in magazines of large circulation. We should be doing as other states are doing in order to give more and better employment to our citizens. Instead of that, in Minnesota, we find a state administration which apparently seeks by every device within its grasp to create strife for industrialists through the rank of labor, to embarrass business by confiscatory taxation and in other ways seeks to ham-string and destroy as far as possible all private industry within the boundaries of the commonwealth.

STATE HIGHWAY SNOW FLEET IS SET FOR BATTLE

1700 Experienced Workers Are Now Prepared to Fight Drifts

The Minnesota Highway department's great snow removal fleet of 404 units, costing approximately $750,000 and manned by 1,700 experienced storm fighters, is mobilized this week, ready to do battle with the inevitable flakes, drifts and winds that bury Minnesota's 11,350 miles of state highways each winter.

In preparation of snow control on the state's highway system in the winter of 1937-38, new equipment has been purchased by the department, some of which will replace outmoded machinery. Other units have been added to the fleet in an effort to eliminate the necessity of hiring expensive private equipment at times of heavy, long storms. The new units are larger, as modern as the market offers, and will plow wider swaths in quicker time. Their acquisition will permit the department to provide users of the state's highways with open roads this winter in even speedier time than was possible during the critical storm periods of the record-breaking winter of 1936-37.

In the snow control fleet there are 14 rotary plows, 375 "V" and "one-way" type plows and 15 tractor plows. On the average, these are operated by four men each. Both plows and men stand ready to work 24 hours a day during periods when blizzards are raging. In addition the department has 120 motor graders for shearing ice off hard surfaced highways.

Snow control costs in the winter of 1936-37 totaled about $1,750,000, which sum came from the maintenance division's budget.

"In addition to the vital need of keeping the roads open for commerce and travel necessary to the life of every community," N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner pointed out, "cleared highways in a normal winter produce revenue enough through the gas tax to virtually offset the cost of snow control."

Because the Minnesota climate has little or no thaws in the freezing months, the snow that falls remains loose and shifts continuously with the winds and some routes have to be plowed several times a day due to reappearing drifts. While 1,200 miles (or over 6,000,000 feet) of snow fence do a remarkable job in checking this drifting, they are not capable of preventing all drifting.

"It is the department's policy, so far as funds and weather extremes permit, to keep Minnesota's highways as open and safe for travel in the winter as in the summer," Commissioner Elsberg said, "and everything sensible and possible which can be done will be done to keep our trunk system cleared this winter so that commercial and pleasure traffic can move in unhampered safety, and so that no hardships shall be suffered by communities dependent on the highways."

In addition to the state's equipment for snow control, the various units of local government of the state own machinery which in total dwarfs the state highway system's fleet. This equipment, however, is used exclusively on county, township and municipal thoroughfares.

Laws Are for Protection

Laws are for protection, says Hygeia, the Health Magazine, for ourselves and for other people: to be a success as a citizen, we must each one respect our fellow man's rights, and we should obey and keep the laws as long as they are laws.

PRIZE 4-H COOK

EVELYN H. KERN, 18, Wadena, named Minnesota 4-H champion in food preparation by Extension Leaders, completed 36 projects in nine years. She planned and served 900 meals, baked 180 loaves of bread and 30 cakes, canned 1010 pints of fruits, vegetables and meats, and gave 20 public demonstrations. On 80 exhibits at county and state fairs she won $5196, and her projects inventory $1430.00. As state champion she receives an all-expense trip to the 16th National Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-Dec. 4, and will compete with other Central State champions for sectional honors and one of two Servel Electrolux kerosene operated refrigerators. If successful she will have a chance to win one of three college scholarships of $400, $300, and $200, also provided by the maker of the refrigerators in supporting the contest.

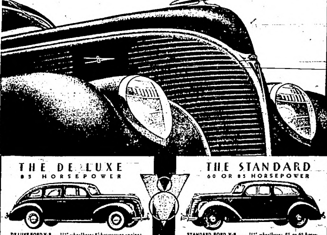
Announcing TWO NEW FORD V-8 CARS FOR 1938



DE LUXE FORD V-8 . . . 112" wheelbase; 85-horsepower engine; Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes; Center-Poise Ride; All-steel body; Mohair or Broadcloth upholstery; Walnut-finished trim; Twin horns, tail lights, sun visors; Clock; 6.00" black tires, white side-walls are extra; 8 body types; 6 colors.

STANDARD FORD V-8 . . . 112" wheelbase; 85 or 60 horsepower engine; Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes; Center-Poise Ride; All-steel body; Broadcloth or Mohair upholstery. Mohair extra in "60"; Mahogany-finished trim; One tail light, sun visor; Twin horns; 3 body types; 3 colors.

FORD offers two new cars for 1938—the Standard Ford V-8 and the De Luxe Ford V-8. They are different in appearance—but built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence—on the same chassis.

Because people liked our 1937 car so well, they bought more than of any other make. They liked its looks, its smooth performance and the way it handled. We have improved on that car in the newly styled Standard Ford V-8.

But some folks wanted still more size and style, with the same Ford advantages. For them, we designed a new De Luxe line. The De Luxe Ford V-8 Sedans are longer with more room, larger luggage space, and finer appointments all around. De Luxe cars are equipped with the 85-horsepower engine only.

The Standard is even lower priced than the De Luxe. It has graceful new lines and well tailored interiors—with a choice of engine sizes—85 or 60 horsepower.

Before Ford made V-type 8-cylinder engines available to every one, they were used only in expensive cars. Since then, four million Ford owners have learned the genuine enjoyment of driving an eight-cylinder car with all-around economy. The thrifty "60" engine, especially, makes possible in Standard models a very low first cost and equally low operating cost. With two distinct designs, two engine sizes and two price ranges, you'll find a 1938 Ford car to fit your needs exactly.

PRICES FOR CARS DELIVERED IN DETROIT—TAXES EXTRA

Standard Ford V-8 (60 hp.)—Coupe, $599; Tudor, $644; Fordor, $689. Standard Ford V-8 (85 hp.)—Coupe, $629; Tudor, $669; Fordor, $716. De Luxe Ford V-8 (85 hp. only)—Coupe, $689; Tudor, $729; Fordor, $774; Convertible Coupe, $774; Club Coupe, $749; Convertible Club Coupe, $801; Phaeton, $824; Convertible Sedan, $904.

Standard and De Luxe cars equipped with bumpers, bumper guards, spare wheel, tire, tube, tire lock and band, cigar lighter, twin horns, and headlight beam indicator on instrument panel, at no extra charge.

In addition, De Luxe cars are equipped with extra tail light, wind-shield wiper, sun visor; also de luxe steering wheel, glove compartment lock, clock, and chrome wheel bands, at no extra charge.

Larson Funeral Home
THIEF RIVER FALLS — ST. HILAIRE
MIDDLE RIVER — HOLT,
MINNESOTA

Dear friends:

We are frequently asked, "What should I pay for a funeral?"

Our advice always is this: "You are the only one who can answer that question. Your tastes and your finances should decide. Don't spend beyond your means. On the other hand don't deprive yourself of the life-long satisfaction of paying a loving tribute to the one who is gone."

We prefer, always, to leave the selection entirely in your hands.

Respectfully,
Carl B. Larson

Farm Leader Sees Hope for Action by Congress

Hope that congress will enact satisfactory farm legislation was expressed by F. W. White, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, who was in Washington just previous to the opening of the special session on Nov. 15. Mr. White and other members of the executive board of the American Farm Bureau Federation were in session several days and met with members of congress to impress on them the need for passing adequate legislation. Farm leaders came out of the preliminary conferences fearing that a strong farm bill could not be passed. As conferences proceeded, however, the trend of congressional opinion swung more toward the farm viewpoint that production control legislation with adequate safeguards against surpluses must be passed.

PURSE LOST 13 YEARS FOUND IN VENTILATOR

Red Wing—Had it not been that the ventilator at the local Y. M. C. A. building became clogged last week, Mrs. C. S. Sultzer would perhaps never have learned what became of the brown leather purse she lost 13 years ago this month. Thirteen years ago a banquet was held at the "Y" and Mrs. Sultzer was among the guests. During the course of the evening her handbag disappeared. She often wondered what had happened to it, because she had several receipts, a bank book, a book of railroad mileage tickets, several stamps, and other personal items in the purse. One day last week it was found at the base of the ventilator when workmen tore away part of the wall in a section in an effort to repair it after it had become clogged. Although covered with dust, its appearance was the same as the day it was lost. Inside were all the papers, receipts, and tickets, intact the day the purse disappeared. Money, which had been contained in a leather billfold, was missing however. It is believed the purse was stolen, the money taken from it and the bag tossed into the ventilator by the thief.

Minnesota Farmers Reported Catching up on Land Bank Loans

Minnesota farmers are forging ahead in paying their debts, and federal land bank officials are pleased with the way they are wiping out their delinquencies.

Scanning a report recently compiled for all 4 states in the 7th farm credit administration district, it was found that Minnesota farmers are above the average for the district, and have decreased their delinquencies 19.6 per cent within a year (12 months ending Sept. 30.) This means that 1,216 farmers who were behind with payments on their land bank mortgages a year before are now caught up on all payments. For the 4 states of the district, including also Michigan, Wisconsin and North Dakota, delinquency has decreased 16.3 per cent in that time.

Of the 30,151 Minnesota farmers who have land bank loans 83.5 per cent are up to date on all installments. Another way of showing how Minnesota farmers are getting out of debt by applying the proceeds from good crops sold at fair prices is to know that the due and unpaid portion of total bank loans amounts to only 59 cents on each $100 of all land bank loans outstanding to September 30.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Johnson and family, Grandpa J. R. accompanied by Mrs. Geo. Beckey of Wales and Mrs. P. P. Money from Edmonton, Canada spent Thanksgiving day with the Geo. A. Johnson family at Crookston.

Miss Lucille Johnson daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Johnson of Crookston spent her Thanksgiving vacation visiting with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Brown and Miss Gail spent Thanksgiving day visiting at the Anna O. Brown here.

Mrs. Anna Olson who formerly resided in the Gatzke vicinity and until lately has made her home with Mrs. Ellen Groninger passed away last Saturday afternoon. Funeral services will be held on Thursday with Rev. S. T. Anderson officiating.

Harry Farmer left on Sunday for his employment at New York and will look with longing eyes until his return next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Donahue spent a few days at Grand Forks, N. D. last week. They were accompanied by Miss Ellen Loven who visited with a sister.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Lunde spent last Sunday visiting with friends at Gatzke.

Miss Gladys Lockwood, teaching school in the [illegible] district left on Wednesday for her home at Motley for a few days visit.

Douglas Money, Gordon Bush and Kyle Lunn, all students at the high school at Warren spent their Thanksgiving with their folks here.

Mrs. Willard Sorenson and son Bobbie spent Thanksgiving visiting at Grandma and Grandpa's house.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Holthusen and family from Thorhult spent their Thanksgiving visiting with the C. P. Armstrong family here in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gombering and family motored last Thursday to Argyle where the day was spent with friends and relatives.

Gunder Halvorson returned to his home here last Wednesday from the Hospital at Warren with his health very much improved.

While out enjoying a car ride last Thursday evening, Mrs. Gunder Grovum and children nearly had the scare of their lives. They were just a mile south of town when their 8-cylinder Pontiac caught fire. They barely got the car stopped and managed to get out without any bodily harm. Through a fault somewhere the fire became ignited under the hood and was first discovered coming thru the dash. The car was a total loss.

Through these columns the committee in charge and the local P. T. A. wishes to extend to everyone their sincere thanks for the turn out and their generosity at the Carnival last Friday evening. The new school building was taxed to its capacity, the various forms of amusement were well patronized and because of it all the school Community room will soon have some new seats. The amount realized from it all really exceeded expectations.

HOME ECONOMICS CLASS IS COMPRISED OF BOYS

Sleepy Eye.—One of the home economics classes at the local public schools is made up entirely of boys, but there's no telling what will happen if a person calls anyone of the young men "sissie." There are 17 of them in the class and a few will put the fairer sex to shame when it comes to turning out tasty dishes and needle work. Last week the class made aprons and caps to be used in the cooking department. Several members of the football squad have received "A's" in baking and sewing. The local school is one of the few in the state having a special class in home economics for boys.

COSTS MAN $50 TO SEE STATE CAPITOL

Preston.—Melvin Jacobson of Whalan has decided $50 is too much money to pay to just look at the state capitol. Jacobson was sitting in the bus depot at Chatfield when a stranger engaged him in conversation and, learning that he was headed for St. Paul, proceeded to show him the state capitol. The traveler saw the capitol; the stranger saw $50 in bills which Jacobson carried. When the money was displayed, the stranger grabbed it and ran.

Careful Attention to Fractures Will Aid in Case of Auto Mishaps

Storms and icy roads increase the danger of automobile injuries on the highways. Since the majority of these injuries involve broken bones, physician members of the Committee on Public Health Education of the Minnesota State Medical Association again point out the dangers involved in improper first aid for fracture victims in a bulletin issued today.

The first impulse of most of the bystanders at the scene of any accident is to drag the injured person to the road side or thrust him into an automobile and rush him away. The result of such handling according to the physicians is often to convert a simple fracture into a serious, gravely infected compound fracture. It may even mean the death or the permanent crippling of the patient.

The first thing to do, in case of an accident on the highway involving the possibility of broken bones, is to cover the victim warmly. He should be allowed to remain quietly where he has fallen, then, until someone with proper emergency splints arrives to move him.

If there is bleeding, the procedure learned by every well-instructed boy scout can be followed at the scene of the accident. If the wound is on the head, pressure against it with a clean bandage will usually control the bleeding. If it is on an arm or leg, a tourniquet tied tightly above the wound will usually control it until help arrives.

Some recent figures show more accidents, but fewer fatalities. The drivers are no more careful, but pedestrians are getting tougher.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

AWARD FOR MOST VALUABLE PLAYER IS PRESENTED

Coach Lee's Football Trophy Is Given to Nesse

At a special assembly program last Wednesday afternoon, Coach George Lee announced the winner of his annual award to the most valuable player next year's grid captain, and the lettermen for the undefeated Prowlers of the 1937 season.

Coach Lee's annual award was an attractive football, autographed by the famed gridder and wrestler, Bronko Nagurski, former Minnesota "U" all-American, together with the autographs of a great number of his team-mates on the Chicago Bears, one of the best professional football teams in the United States. Lowell Nesse, who did the bulk of the passing, punting, and ball carrying on this year's team was selected as the winner of the award in a fairly close ballot of the team and Nesse was duly presented with the football by Coach Lee.

Loren "Bones" Stadum, the bulwark of the line the past season, was selected by a landslide vote to guide the Prowler's destiny on the field next season. The choice, in our opinion, will leave little to be desired as "Bones" possesses the experience, poise, courage, and incentive so essential to a football captain.

Twenty-four of Coach Lee's charges were announced as letter winners including fifteen seniors, eight juniors, and one sophomore. The seniors are retiring, Captain Bob Hanson, Lowell Nesse, Mel Haughom, Ray Bredeson, Clare Mikkelson, Don Lorentson, Lynn Booren, Wallace Tunberg, Gordon Caldis, Cliff Oleson, Clarence Mattson, Bob Quale, Wesley Johnson, Jack Hess, and Floyd Melby. Juniors: Captain-elect, Loren Stadum, Jewell Stadum, Orville Eide, Harry Oen, Karl Sundberg, Austin Shanahan, Cliff Lunke, and Lester Erickson; and sophomore, Gene Nelson.

Lowell Nesse, Bob Hanson, and "Bones" Stadum were called to the stage where they expressed their enjoyment of the past season and their hopes for next year's schedule.

Mr. Gabrielson, assistant football coach who has done a great part in bringing success to the Prowlers, completed the interesting program by responding briefly.

Browning Unappreciated

Robert Browning, the famous poet, had his first book published when he was scarcely twenty, a thin, slender volume, "Pauline," an anonymous venture by, of course, a then unknown writer. Not a single copy of the original edition found a buyer.

SHOP NOTES

Two regulation size ping pong tables with folding legs are being made in the General Industrial Training Department for the noon day recreational program which is now beginning.

Shop 1 boys are learning the proper projection of an object and how to make patterns or layouts by orthographic methods.

Shop 2 boys are studying the principles of meters and measurement of current and the calculation of power and light cost as it relates to the home.

Home Mechanics girls are studying circuits and appliances as applying to the home.

This is the final week of the part-home course conducted by Mr. Harrison and Mr. Pope, meetings being held on Monday and Wednesday evenings, the school closing Wednesday.

EXCHANGE

From the Gustavian Weekly, we receive some of these little verses or what not!—

Here's one dedicated to all the lads:

In front of a coming train I'd lay.
And gladly, too, the bore
Who greets my column with, 'Oh say
I've heard that one before."

A St. Paul man said that it costs him $10,000 for his son's college education and all he got was a "quarter-back".

Found in a book cover:

A nifty young girl named Jane
While walking was caught in the rain
She ran—she flew,
Her makeup did, too
And she reached home exceedingly plain.

On poor Johnny Ker
Fasten tight the casket lid;
He didn't think at 70 per
His car would ever skid.
Better watch out "Zip" or this might be you.

A certain boy was heard to say that he once loved a girl who made a fool out of him. My, what a lasting impression some girls make.

I guess I'll quit now but remember
Girls who retire at half past ten,
Are loved by their parents and elderly men.

"Pan-Handler" Defined

According to Godfrey Irwin in his book "American Tramp and Underworld Slang," a "pan-handler" is a beggar who solicits alms on the street. It is an old name for that type of beggar and the origin of the term has not been definitely determined. It was perhaps derived from the tin cup or pan many carry to receive the alms.

PROWLERS DOWN GREENBUSH 50-5

B. S. T. C. to be Locals Next Opponent

Flashing good early season form Coach George Lee's Prowlers buried a stubborn Greenbush five under an avalanche of field goals to coast to an easy 50-5 win on the Greenbush floor, Tuesday night.

Except for some rather erratic shots characteristic of all early games, the locals put on a display of floor work reminiscent of last year's championship outfit. The Leemen were particularly effective on angle shots from the near corners.

The Prowler shotmakers were paced by Don Lorentson who accounted for seven of the teams total. He was closely followed by Clark Mickleson, Earl Nicholson, and Gordon Caldis, each with six to his credit.

Big "Bones" Stadum was a bulwark on defense, proving to be particularly adept at retrieving shots from the backboard.

The visitors got off to a fast start early in the game when Reuben Mickelson started the scoring with a nice shot from just out of the free throw circle. This was followed by successive goals by Stadum and Nicholson.

A fresh team was put in at the beginning of the game which accumulated a total of fifteen points. The most points were scored in the last quarter, at which time the Prowlers connected with the basket for 16 counters.

Captain Ed Haug stood out for the Orange and Black, accounting for three of his teams points and was by far the best Greenbush defensive player.

Both of the Greenbush tallies from the floor came as a result of long heaves. Otherwise, Coach Homans' boys were held scoreless in the first and third stanzas.

The Prowlers journey to Bemidji where they face the Teacher Reserves. The Prowlers will be divided into two squads facing the Roseau and Plummer fives next Tuesday in the first home games.

Tomorrow evening in the Municipal Auditorium there will be presented what we expect to be another in a long line of consecutive Lincoln high school stage successes. As we all know, there will be presented at that time the annual play of the Junior class under the expert direction of Miss Helen Margaret Olson.

An excellent three act comedy entitled "Adam and Eva" was selected for the occasion after careful scrutiny of a number of outstanding plays. The play represents the average American business man and his family entanglements and should be highly entertaining for the yearly classic is timely and also delightfully organized. The play is cleverly and humorously brought to a happy ending, as all comedies do, but the audience will be kept guessing throughout the play as to the developments leading up to the eventual outcome. It can be truly said that the selection of the play was ideal.

A high class cast has been chosen from the outstanding members of the junior class so we can be well assured that each character will be represented by the best the junior class has to offer in that field of characterization. Those selected for the cast are Clifford Lunke, Palma Jahr, June Ystesund, Lester Erickson, Joyce Bennes, Leona Brattland, John Fabrick, John Lillevold, Ralph Gustafson and Earl Burrell.

In the past these plays have been well attended and there is every reason to believe this years production will be equally well attended and that "Adam and Eva" will go down in Prowler annals as another Lincoln high school stage triumph.

Let's all attend this grand dramatic reward to Miss Olson and the splendid cast. Your time and money will be more than well spent.

PROWLING AROUND

Although practically all that remains of football in the air is the picking of various all-star aggregations by the downtown quarterbacks, we believe that you will always be interested in the exploits of a Prowler gridiron hero of a year ago. And so a word about Milt Nesse. In a column written by "Bunny" Johnson of the St. Olaf school paper, Milts work was praised "to the skies" and he was already compared to Jack Kirkeby, one of the most widely acclaimed players in the history of the Manitou Heights institution. This comparison was quite a boost to the former bone crushing fullback of the Prowlers inasmuch as he is only a freshman and was by a conference ruling permitted to participate in only games outside of the Minnesota conference and was thus given little opportunity to show his stuff. Congratulations, Milt!

Another ace of last years football team was also given high recognition recently. He is Pomeroy Hill, the talented halfback. Hill was recently nominated as one of the seven or eight best prep halfbacks in the state of North Dakota in the selection of the all-state team.

And, so, back to basketball.

Don't be surprised if Perry Pederson is soon listed as a member of the Prowler varsity. Competition is unusually keen for the first team utility jobs, but Perry is making a whale of a fight and may make it. All he lacks is experience.

We nominate the ball juggling Mel Haugham as this year's surprise package of the Prowlers. His play last year was of high grade, but he did not see much action in varsity competition and luck appeared to go against him on these occasions, but Mel is "rarin'" to go this year. His tenacious ball handling, his ability to whip the ball anywhere on the court while he is in almost any position, and his elusive tactics of scoring while under the basket are little short of uncanny. Watch his "smoke" this year!

Rival centers are going to have their work cut out for them if they are to succeed in stopping Gordon Caldis if he continues at his present clip. He has shown great improvement over last year's form.

The Roseau cagers, first Prowler "B" opponents, were soundly trounced by an average Strandquist five recently.

This year's "B" squad may have to employ a little "black magic" if they are to keep up the pace set by the Prowler reserves of any of the last three years. During that time only one game was lost. Last season the "B's" won eleven consecutive victories for a perfect season. This year's rigorous schedule lists 14 games, including such strong foes as Climax, Warren "B", Newfolden, Strandquist, and Greenbush including others who may develop into strong teams.

The first team may get a few additional pointers when they go to Bemidji this week-end for the Concordia five jangles with the Bemidji Teachers in the headline tilt of the evening.

Don't forget to purchase your season basketball tickets early.

TEN INTRAMURAL GAMES PLAYED

Intramural Series Is Progressing Very Rapidly

According to Mr. Gabrielson, intramural basketball is progressing rapidly. Ten games have been played so far and during this week, four more are scheduled to be played. On some evenings two games are played in order to complete the scheduled games in record time. The Bombers defeated the Rebels 14-11. The Cornhuskers bowed to the Alley Rats, the score being 18-10. The Panthers and the Gophers fought a close battle with the Panthers winning 15-13. The No Stars stepped ahead of the Gompers 17-15. With a scoring of 18-14, the Hawkeyes defeated the Blackhawks. The Bombers defeated the Cornhuskers 16-14; the Gophers defeated the Alley Rats 27-21; the Gompers defeated the Panthers 20-12; and, the Blackhawks defeated the No Stars 21-15. Finally, the Rebels led the Hawkeyes to the tune of 25-10.

Up to this time the Bombers have won two games while the Cornhuskers have lost two games. The Rebels have been defeated once and have been victorious once. A victory shone for the Alley rats in their only game. The Gophers have one defeat and one victory to their credit. Of the two games played, the Panthers and the Gompers both won one and lost one. The No Stars and the Blackhawks also have been victorious once and defeated once. Another team, the Hawkeyes, have one defeat and one victory to their credit.

This sums up the intramural proceedings to date but a more detailed account including the star players of each team will appear next week.

AG NOTES

Mr. G. W. Taylor gave two very interesting talks to the Agriculture IV class. One of them was given last Wednesday and the final lecture was given on Tuesday. He explained some of the resettlement projects to the class and he also showed them some very interesting blue prints of farm layouts. Mr. Taylor also informed the class that the Resettlement Administration had been changed to the Farm Credit Administration. On the whole it was a very interesting talk and the class wishes to thank Mr. Taylor very much.

DEBATE NEWS

A few more students have now signed up for debate, namely, Clifford Olesen, Reuben Stock, and Gloria Quist. They practice on Wednesday and Friday. The Public Library has cooperated with the debate students and have sent for new material. A strong negative case has been developed, but as yet the affirmative is weak.

The declamation students are now practicing on their pieces. The contest will be held sometime after Christmas.

SENIORS WHO'S WHO

Wallace Charles Tunberg alias Wally, Fibbe, Philbert, Junior, etc., is seventeen years old, and, true to our expectations, he dreams of being another Henry Ford. "O Pioneers" by Willa Cather is his favorite book, and "Ali Baba Goes to Town," starring Eddie Cantor, is his favorite movie. He likes to hear Wayne King play "Remember Me." He finds a great deal of enjoyment in just going uptown and eating a marshmallow malted milk or two. Maybe it's laziness—we like to think so—anyway, Wally fails to commit himself as to his favorite sport. There you have Wally in a nutshell—a rather small nutshell—but extremely loud.

Name: Theodore Quentin Helle.
Nickname: "Ted".
Age: 18.
Favorite book and author: "Round Up" by Ring Lardner.
Favorite movie stars: Ronald Coleman, Henry Fonda and Rosemary Lane.
Favorite movie: "Laddie."
Favorite dish: Coconut cream pie.
Favorite pastime: Watching varsity basketball practices.
Favorite orchestra: Guy Lombardo.
Favorite song: "Rosalie."
Favorite subject: English IV.
Hobby: Collecting sports data and pictures of noted athletes.
Pet-peeve: Getting up early.
Aspiration: Sports writer on a large newspaper.
Inspiration: Grantland Rice and John Lardner.

She's seventeen years old, blonde, tall, and verry, verry talkative! Unlike most of us she really has read "Gone With the Wind"—or she says so. She thinks sports are far too much effort, so she refuses to indulge. She likes to eat anything that isn't fattening, and her favorite pastime is watching the expressions on certain peoples faces during study period. Her favorite song is "I'd like to be in Winchell's Column", and she doesn't care who plays it—Benny Goodman or Olaf Rolsum. Her idea of 2½ hours well-spent is the movie, "Big City" with Louise Ranier and Spencer Tracy. Latin II is her favorite subject and her pet peeve is giving English speeches. Her hobby is bothering other people—and we must say she faithfully executes her purpose. She would be satisfied to be on the Alpha honor roll just once, and holds our own Bobby Smith up as her inspiration. You guessed it—Harriet Simonson.

Sleep a Great Mystery

Why do we sleep? What is sleep? Science can give no definite, final answer. The mysterious processes are imperfectly understood, states a writer in Literary Digest. The body is larger, the brain smaller when we sleep. Blood vessels of the body dilate, drawing blood from the brain, which becomes relatively anemic when its owner sleeps, as has been visually observed in the cases of persons in whom skull injuries have exposed small portions of the brain.

JUNIOR CLASS TO PRESENT PLAY 'ADAM AND EVA'

Cast Now Working on Final Touches of Play

The annual Junior Class Play will be presented Friday, December 3 at 2:30 o'clock and 8:00 o'clock in the municipal auditorium.

The three act comedy, entitled "Adam and Eva" is a lively, amusing play of the American business man who has a genius for making money but no talent for managing his own family. It is the story of a wealthy man, his extravagant, selfish family, clinging dependent upon him and apparently regarding him as bothersome except when he poises pen above checkbook. These relatives even arrange with his physician to have him go away on a long trip, so that they may run up bills more freely. In comes the father's young business manager who tells his employer how he would love a home. The exasperated father suggests that they change places, and puts him in command of the household, himself lighting out for the upper reaches of the Amazon. The young man soon finds himself confronted by the same hurricane of flippancy and terrific bills for lingerie. As a desperate remedy he deludes the family into thinking that father's big rubber business is ruined. In diverse and humorous manners they meet the emergency. Of course it does them all good and brings out the best in them.

The original cast as you meet them are:

James King, rich man, by Clifford Lunke.
Corenthia, parlor maid, by Palma Jahr.
Clinton DeWitt, eldest daughter, Orwold Forbord.
Elva King, youngest daughter, Joyce Bennes.
Aunt Abby Rocker, sister-in-law, Leona Brattland.
Dr. Jack Delamater, neighbor, John Fabrick.
Julie DeWitt, June Ystesund.
Horace Pilgrim, uncle, John Lillivold.
Adam Smith, business manager, Ralph Gustafson.
Lord Andrew Gordon, would be son-in-law, Earl Burrell.

Orwold Forbord has been given the part of Clinton DeWitt, due to the illness of Lester Erickson.

The assistants are the following: Prompters: Mary Alice Biedermann, Beatrice Peterson; stage hands: Austin Shanahan, and Irvin Wilson, assisted by Lowell Nesse; advertising chairman: Loren Stadum; properties: Marion Parbst, chairman, Delores Froseth, makeup and costumes: Anne Hanson, Mae Wilson, Joyce Olson.

Tickets for the play are now on sale.

FARMERS TELL CIVIC GROUP OF FLOOD STATUS

Evans and McMillin Spokesmen for Protective Association

CITE DAMAGE FROM FLOODS LAST SUMMER

C. & C. Committee Is Named to Cooperate in Seeking Relief

Following appearance at the Civic and Commerce association luncheon last Thursday of a delegation of members of the Eastern Marshall County Protective association, President Walter Jung of the civic group appointed a committee to cooperate with officers of the Marshall county organization in an effort to solve the flood problem which the visiting group asserted is due at least in part to the attempted restoration of water levels in the Thief lake and Mud lake areas.

Named on the committee were Mayor W. W. Prichard, W. L. Carlisle, Theodore Quale, W. E. Dahlquist, H. O. Berve and Paul Lundgren. Principal spokesmen for the Marshall county association were A. C. McMillin, chairman, and E. M. Evans of Middle River. Their statements were supported by testimony from Ole J. Eastby, John Kast, Hans Dahl, M. Sandsmark, Ole Larson, S. K. Sandland and George Fricker, Holt banker.

Mr. Evans in his statement deplored turning the area back to its wild state, at the same time making it plain that the association did not object to water level restoration so far as it does not ruin first class agricultural lands. He called attention to the productiveness of the soil in the affected area, stating that it is well adapted to dairying and grass seed production. Citing the flood conditions that existed in that section last summer, he said the farmers are not asking the complete drainage of Thief lake, but merely keeping down the level so that it will not hinder agriculture.

Mr. McMillin testified that E. V. Willard of the state conservation department had promised to lower the lake level 18 inches, which would solve the problem in part, but that this had not been done. He stated that the farmers objected to the construction of dams to hold back water in Western Beltrami county, which has further aggravated the drainage problem to the west of that area. The farmers who have struggled for many years to build up the area, he added, ask merely to be let alone.

H. O. Berve, local attorney and former resident of the flooded area, spoke in support of the stand taken by the speakers and declared that the water restoration project had been instituted without the consent of the people in the affected territory. He pointed out that in an effort to improve the situation ditches should be dug around Mud lake and the dams in the Beltrami Island area should be removed.

SALVATION ARMY NOW PREPARING FOR CHRISTMAS

Asks Assistance in Preparing Used Toys for Yule Gifts

In connection with the Salvation Army—NYA toy repair project now under way under the direction of Mrs. Israelson, Envoy E. W. Bailey this morning requested local women who can spare a few hours to meet at the Army hall this afternoon at 2 o'clock and assist in the work of dressing dolls which will be distributed at Christmas time.

Mr. Bailey also asked that anyone having toys to spare leave them this week at the Army hall, as the work is being finished Saturday.

Calls for Christmas baskets are coming in daily from points in the five counties served by the local Salvation Army unit, Mr. Bailey stated, adding that any local family in need of Christmas relief should leave his name with the church with which he is affiliated, thus avoiding any overlapping. Anyone having canned goods to spare is asked to leave them at local Army headquarters.

Approve Project on Fair Grounds

The fair board was notified Tuesday by Alden Halseth, area WPA supervisor at Crookston, of approval of a WPA project to be carried out on the fair grounds, which will provide employment for about twenty men beginning early in January, Secretary Robert J. Lund announced today.

The project, which calls for an expenditure estimated at $8,950, includes construction of a long-awaited 4-H building to cost approximately $3,260, and work on which will not get under way until early in the spring.

Work to be done during the winter months includes installation of a ditch on the grounds for drainage purposes; hauling dirt onto the race track; repairing the agricultural building and fences; and planting of trees.

Plans for the 4-H building as drawn by Henry C. Eklund, local architect, call for a building 48 by 65 feet in dimensions, with a porch 65 feet long on the north side, which will serve as a place for fair visitors to rest while the event is in progress. The new structure will allow space for an enlarged exhibit of farm products in the agricultural building, which up to now has been shared by the 4-H department.

At the organization meeting of the fair board Monday, all present officers were reelected, including S. E. Hunt, president; Hans Anton, vice president; R. J. Lund, secretary; and L. J. Kaliher, treasurer. Delegates named to attend the St. Paul meeting of fair board members January 12 to 14 include R. J. Lund, Harry Lund and O. C. Paulson, with C. G. Hillard and R. J. McKercher as alternates.

This Section Gets Taste [illegible] Real Winter Weather

[illegible] hawing temperature [illegible] arday afternoon, this [illegible] on since has experienced a taste of old-fashioned winter weather, with the mercury dropping to the vicinity of 15 below zero Sunday and Monday, and 10 below Wednesday morning. The wintry effect was enhanced by a snowfall of about four inches Monday, which a driving north wind Wednesday and this morning whipped into drifts. Continued cold is predicted for Friday.

PICK DELEGATES TO REPUBLICAN MEETING DEC. 16

Four Delegates, Four Alternates Were Selected Here Monday

Pennington county Republicans assembled Monday afternoon at a meeting in the Civic and Commerce association rooms to discuss the matter of participating in the Republican reorganization convention to be held at the St. Paul hotel in St. Paul next Thursday, Dec. 16.

It was voted to appoint four delegates and four alternates to the state meeting. Delegates named include Mrs. Abbie Waasgren, Haakon M. Olson, Frank Hardisty and Richard G. Mabey, while the alternates selected are Olga Jepson, River Falls; Christ Steen, North; David Haugen, Wyandotte; and Earl Jensen, Black River. It was indicated that the county will be represented at St. Paul by its full delegate voting strength.

County Chairman Theodore Quale presided at the meeting Monday, while Richard Mabey served as secretary.

SCHOOLS OFFER YULE PROGRAMS HERE NEXT WEEK

Events Announced at Knox, Washington and Northrop Schools

The glad news that the festive holiday season is at hand will be heralded by special Christmas programs in the local schools, Supt. Morris Bye announced today.

The first program of the series will be presented by Knox school pupils next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, the various numbers including songs by the various classes, two plays and a duet by Doris Ryan and Leroy Rupprecht.

Washington school pupils will present their program Wednesday afternoon, December 15, at 3 o'clock, a feature being the presentation of an operetta, "A Box of Dolls", by the first and second grades. Songs, plays and tableaux by the other classes will complete the offering.

The Northrop school program is scheduled for next Thursday, December 16, at 2:30, the numbers including recitations and songs by the various classes and a violin solo by Lois Ann Lund accompanied by Donna May Twete.

PROWLERS MEET MAHNOMEN QUINT FRIDAY EVENING

Lincoln School Teams Win Three Tilts During Past Week

Having got off to an auspicious start with three victories during the past week, the Lincoln high school basketball team Friday evening at the Auditorium will meet what is expected to be its first real test of the season, with Mahnomen furnishing the opposition. During the past few seasons Mahnomen has had a scrappy team that finished well up in the ratings.

Playing at Bemidji Saturday evening, the Prowlers defeated the Bemidji state teachers college reserves by a score of 41 to 28. The locals led 16-11 at the half and showed a burst of strength in the final period after the third quarter ended 25-24 in their favor. Lorentson led the scoring with a total of 13 points followed by C. Mickelson with ten.

In their debut on the Auditorium floor Tuesday evening, the Lincoln boys gave promise of furnishing stiff competition for their opponents this season when, divided into two quintets, they handed out decisive defeats to Plummer and Roseau, downing the former team by a score of 31 to 14 and the latter 42 to 8. A relatively small crowd witnessed the games.

Marshall Co. Men Tell of Recent Floods There

While in Thief River Falls last Thursday, officers of the Eastern Marshall County Protective association issued a statement in explanation of the recent flood situation in that area. The statement is signed by A. C. McMillin, Ole J. Eastby, John Kast, Hans Dahl, M. Sandsmark, Ole Larson and S. K. Sandland, and it reads as follows:

At this time perhaps a brief statement would be in order in regard to the recent flood situation in eastern Marshall County, as well as in regard to the objects and purposes of the Eastern Marshall County Protective Association.

In the first place, it is not claimed that all the damage that took place in Marshall County is due to the Thief Lake, and Mud Lake Refuges, nor to the large number of Water Storage Dams in Beltrami County. No one has made such a claim. But it is claimed that a portion of the damage is due to the activities of the State and Federal Governments in constructing the Thief Lake and Mud Lake Refuges, and in constructing the Dams in Beltrami Island in Beltrami County. Just how much can never be exactly determined. There is no way of telling just how much of the damage is due to the heavy rains, and just how much is due to the refuges and the dams. The damage cannot be separated.

What the people complain about in the first place is that both Thief Lake and Mud Lake Projects were forced in, and railroaded into eastern Marshall County against the wishes of the people of that territory, and over their active opposition. It would seem to all fairness that the people who live in there and who own property in there should have some voice in matters of this kind. A delegation of people from eastern Marshall county went to St. Paul and appeared before Conservation Commissioner Willard and objected to

RESETTLEMENT BUILDING WORK CEASES DEC. 15

Large Crew of Men Will be Laid Off With Coming of Winter

74 SETS BUILDINGS COMPLETED TO DATE

Six or 7 Weeks Next Spring Needed to Complete Project

Following a busy season in which 74 sets of farm buildings were completed in this area, and twenty more finished except for fencing and painting, the farm security administration, formerly known as the resettlement division, will halt construction work in the field next Wednesday, December 15, John W. Taylor, manager of the project, announced here today.

The bringing to a close of the year's operations will involve the release of approximately 400 workers who were assembled from residents of this city as well as other Northwestern Minnesota communities. Only a small staff will be retained at the construction office in this city, in addition to five persons in the management office in this city.

Mr. Taylor stated that it is planned to resume work early in April, 1938, when approximately six or seven weeks will be required for completion of 17 sets of farm buildings in the Grygla and Gatzke vicinities, as well as finishing details on twenty units near Goodridge and Highlanding.

Approximately $400,000 was expended during the past year on labor and materials used in connection with the project, Mr. Taylor said, in addition to $271,000 paid out for farm lands, mostly in 1936. An aggregate of $81,000 also was paid out in loans in connection with the relocation of farmers formerly in the Mud lake area.

The farms included in the local project, Mr. Taylor added, are being sold on a basis that will return to the government the cost of the land and improvements including construction overhead. To date 53 farms have been sold and occupied by their new owners.

John Hurley, who served efficiently as construction superintendent, will be transferred December 15 to a similar project at Saginaw, Michigan, and he will be succeeded here by Harry Dole, serving also in a similar capacity on the Red River Farms project near Fargo.

PENNINGTON CO. BOARD ASKS AID FOR FLOOD AREA

Commissioners Adopt Resolutions at Session Tuesday

Declaring that an emergency still exists in eleven Eastern Pennington county townships that last summer suffered extensive damage from floods, the Pennington county board at its December session Tuesday adopted a resolution requesting the state administration to make an additional appropriation of $37,000 for relief purposes. Copies of the resolution were forwarded to Governor Benson and other members of the state executive council.

A second resolution urged support of Minnesota congressmen for a continuation of federal highway aid. Other business transacted by the board included the making of the annual appropriation of $1,500 for extension work in the county, and the approval of eight graveling and two grading jobs recently completed.

The board was notified that Hugo Schwartz of the Farm Security administration at Washington, D. C., had completed negotiations whereby the government will pay the equivalent of taxes levied by Pennington county and its subdivisions on resettlement farms in the county. Individual contracts will be entered into by each affected township and school district, it was explained. The county's share of the taxes, based on its levy, will amount to $1,852.72.

Confining instead of fining would be more effective on drunken drivers.

Mayor Buys First Hockey Booster Button

HOCKEY REIGNS AGAIN!

Never in the history of Thief River Falls was more enthusiasm aroused or better support rendered an outstanding sport, than towards the close of the hockey season last spring.

Now we are about to continue from that point. You will shortly be solicited as a Booster for a most promising aggregation of boys who will carry the colors of your town throughout the season.

We have a better understanding of the game. It is packed with just as many thrills for the spectator as the player. It is recognized as the fastest of all games. We can attend these matches played under the most favorable conditions for the clubs and audience, in a well kept modern arena.

In the true fashion of Thief River Falls, let us lend every encouragement to our local club in what now promises to be a successful season, and in making all this possible, first become a Booster thru your nominal subscription to the committee of the American Legion who will wait upon you.

W. W. PRICHARD, Mayor.

League Hockey to Open Here Dec. 19

The eagerly awaited opening of the States-Dominion league hockey schedule will take place at the arena in this city Sunday, December 19, when the highly rated Emerson team will furnish the opposition for the Thieves, local league entry.

The schedule as drawn up at Hallock last Thursday evening calls for nine home games for the Thieves and nine away from home. Present at the meeting from this city were A. B. Stenberg, league director; A. M. Senstad, booking manager; and Ray Elland, assistant manager.

Presented in detail elsewhere in this issue, the schedule calls for home games December 19, January 9, 16, 19, 23 and 26 and February 9, 20 and 23. In addition extra games have been arranged for January 1 at 8:30 in the evening and January 2 at 2 in the afternoon with the speedy Flour City-Stott team of Minneapolis, composed of former University of Minnesota players.

Players from outside the city expected to arrive this week include Clayton Taylor, Hibbing; A. Tremontin, Chisholm; Coach Bun Craig and George Hassan of Winnipeg, while Frank Clifton of Kenora, Ontario and Art Derrick of Winnipeg will join the team after the Christmas holidays.

Manager Alex Campbell stated that Carl Dahlquist, former star Roseau player, is now located in this city, and that, if in a position to play, he will be a valuable addition to the team. Mike Foy who last year starred on the defense on the local sextet, is lost to the team this season because of ill health, it was announced.

Of the local members of the team Rule and Snooks Julien, Stanbridge, Parbst, Williams, Rustad and Hilding Peterson have already been doing some conditioning work on the arena ice. Mr. Campbell stated that the first official practice has been called for Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, and he requested that all experienced men report for the session.

"We have not been able to get enough information as to the strength of the other teams to arrive at any favorites in the pre-season 'dope'," Mr. Campbell said. "The local club has about the same strength as last year, or possibly a little stronger. The season will start with no favorites and all teams of high caliber."

Two Houses Destroyed in St. Hilaire Dec. 1

A fire believed to have been started by children playing with matches at the Melvin Nohre home in St. Hilaire Wednesday, December 1, completely destroyed that structure together with all its contents, and also burned the Walter Hilligoss home adjoining. When discovered at the Nohre place, says the St. Hilaire Spectator, the fire had gained such headway that there was little possibility of saving anything. Mrs. Nohre was severely burned about the head and shoulders while getting the little children out of the house.

Falls Gift and Sweet Shop Opens Saturday

Mrs. Leonard Olund today announces the opening Saturday, Dec. 11, of the Falls Gift and Sweet Shop in attractive quarters in the new Falls theatre building. The shop will provide a varied selection of imported and domestic gift novelties in addition to California artificial flowers and candies.

Additional Supply of Wreaths Received in Junior Chamber Drive

With an initial supply of fifty wreaths sold Saturday by Boy Scouts in the Christmas home decorating campaign sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, an additional supply of 250 wreaths was secured this week and are now being distributed by the Scouts. The outlook is that additional orders will need to be placed to supply the local demand, according to Clarence Sande, president of the Junior Chamber. He added that a substantial prize will be awarded to the two Scouts selling the largest number of wreaths.

MEET TODAY TO ORGANIZE SOIL CONSERVING UNIT

County Group to Administer Soils Program in This County

The organization meeting of the Pennington County Agricultural Conservation association will be held today at 1 o'clock, County Agent Howard Grow announced today. At this time the county committee will be elected from the board of directors who are also the chairmen of the community committees. The county committee will administer the conservation program for 1938 which also includes the completion of the 1937 program. Members of the board of directors and the communities which they represent are: Ed Moren, Black River and River Falls; Ole Nesland, Deer Park and Hickory; Emil Larson, Bray and Polk Centre; Einar Jensen, Highlanding; E. H. Pomerenke, Cloverleaf and Goodridge; W. E. McCrum, Kratka and Smiley; S. E. Hunt, Norden and Numedal; Alfred Lundgren, North; Hans Solberg, Reiner and Star; Hans Anton, Rocksbury; S. H. Ness, Sanders; Clarence L. Peterson, Silverton; Isaac Wilson, Mayfield and Wyandotte.

Large Audience Enjoys the Junior Class Play

A large audience last Friday evening enjoyed the presentation of the junior class play, "Adam and Eva", under the direction of Miss Helen Margaret Olson. The performance reflected much careful preparatory work on the part of the cast, which included Clifford Lunke, Palma Jahr, June Ystesund, Lester Erickson, Joyce Bennes, Leona Brattland, John Fabrick, John Lillevold, Ralph Gustafson and Earl Burrell.

Ice Cutters Find Sheet About 15 Inches Thick

While the local ice harvest for storage purposes is not yet under way, the cutting of wash ice was started last week by the O'Hara Fuel & Ice company. Ed. O'Hara reported that while the ice December 4, 1936, was eight inches thick, this year it was twelve inches thick on the corresponding date, and that it is now about 15 inches thick and of good quality.

County Agents Report Shows Much Activity

Stressing cooperation with the federal soil conservation program and with various local agencies working for the betterment of agriculture, the annual report of County Agent Howard Grow was completed late last week for submission to state and federal extension offices.

Mr. Grow reported that approximately 90 per cent of Pennington county farmers participated in the 1937 soil conservation program, and that with 1207 applications for grants a total of $165,000 was paid during the year to cooperators.

Other agencies which received assistance from the county agent's office included the wool pool, livestock shipping association, poultry show, garden club, rural rehabilitation agency, resettlement division and the Farm Credit administration. In addition 125 seed loans were negotiated thru the office.

The report reveals that 170 boys and girls in 17 4-H clubs carried out a total of 612 projects under the direction of Miss Thelma Solie county club leader, assisted by leaders of the various clubs. The members were represented at the county fair by 310 exhibits, and 37 boys and girls were awarded free trips during the year for outstanding work. In addition 17 members attended 4-H club week at Crookston. A highlight of the year was the 4-H banquet at the Auditorium sponsored by the Civic and Commerce association.

The county women's project this year carried on a study of Home Management II, with 328 women enrolled in 19 groups. A self-help program is being projected for 1938.

SAYS ROAD AID SLASH WOULD MENACE STATE

Elsberg Says President's Proposal Would Hamper Highway Plans

ASKS COUNTY BOARDS TO FIGHT SUGGESTION

Points Out Large Sums Collected in Minnesota by Government

Warning that Minnesota's state highway improvement program faces almost a complete shutdown July 1, 1938 with disastrous results to community progress, road building, and employment conditions in every section of the state, was broadcast by letter this week to the 436 members of the state's 87 county boards by W. C. Minks of Minnesota Lake, secretary of the Minnesota Association of County Commissioners.

Every county board in the state was urged to take immediate and vigorous action, demanding that Minnesota's delegation in Congress fight against the cancellation of federal aid highway funds suggested by the President in his special message to Congress November 30.

At the same time, the facts of this impending crisis were pointed out by State Highway Commissioner N. W. Elsberg, in letters to each Minnesota senator and congressman.

If the executive recommendations are carried out, all federal aid for the fiscal year 1939 for Minnesota (July 1, 1938 to July 1, 1939) would be cancelled; and $3,405,000 for state highway projects, $1,343,000 for grade crossing eliminations, and $700,000 for county assistance in improvement of secondary and feeder roads would be lost, according to the Commissioner. This would mean, he said, that road improvements in Minnesota would virtually halt after July 1, or about the time the summer construction season is getting well underway.

If construction work in Minnesota is halted, and with relief funds such as those coming from the Emergency Appropriation Act and the National Industrial Recovery Act completely exhausted, the unemployment situation in Minnesota will become alarming, said the letter. The Commissioner estimated that elimination of federal aid would mean at least 10,000 man-jobs lost next year. About 90 per cent of highway funds he said, quoting U. S. Bureau of Public Roads figures, go to labor. Eighteen thousand man-jobs were provided directly on Minnesota highway work this year, he pointed out, and thousands more, indirectly, in providing materials and manufacturing of equipment.

Particularly perturbed was Commissioner Elsberg over the fact that the enactment of the President's curtailment recommendations would mean that verbal promises given by the state to communities for highway work in the future will be impossible to fulfill. Under the terms of the Hayden-Cartwright Act, enacted

7 VETERINARIANS BUSY IN COUNTY ON BANGS TESTING

All But 150 Cattle Owners Have Had Herds Tested to Present Time

The testing of cattle in Pennington County for Bang's disease is progressing satisfactorily it was announced today. At the present time seven veterinarians are working in the county and there are only about 150 cattle owners who have not had their cattle tested.

Practically all of the recently signed agreements have been taken care of but every day there are some new signers and it is hoped that before the veterinarians complete the retesting work on herds tested previously that all cattle owners will have signed contracts.

Some farmers have lost some cattle because they reacted to the test but they have been well paid for disposing of these animals, according to the man in charge of the campaign. Cattle prices have been favorable and in addition the government pays an indemnity payment on each individual cow that reacts to the test.

Parties Held During Week-end in Farewell To the Wesley Wheelers

During the past week-end, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wheeler, who will leave soon to reside at Lakefield where Mr. Wheeler has been appointed branch manager with the Land O'Lakes creameries, were honored at a going-away party, and were hosts at a farewell dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Alv Vistaunet entertained for the Wheelers Saturday evening at three tables of bridge at the Vistaunet home, followed by dancing at the Sons of Norway hall, after which luncheon was served at the Vistaunet home. Bridge prizes were presented to Mrs. Clifford Storholm and Al Ulleberg for high scores and to Mrs. Clair O'Hara and Mr. Wheeler for low scores, and the Wheelers were presented with a guest prize, a going-away gift from the hosts. Card table appointments and the luncheon menu were carried out in a Christmas motif.

As a conclusion to their entertaining in local circles prior to their departure for Lakefield, the Wheelers were hosts Sunday evening at a dinner party. A six o'clock, three-course dinner was served in the Log Cabin of the Palm Garden cafe, after which the guests and their hosts retired to the latters' home, where bridge was played at three tables. Mrs. Vistaunet and Clair O'Hara won high honors, and Mrs. O'Hara, and Harold Rasmussen were awarded consolation prizes. After the card games, Mrs. Wheeler served her guests a luncheon at the card tables.

Present at both parties were the Messrs. and Mmes. Wesley Wheeler, Alv Vistaunet, Harold Rasmussen, Clarence Sande, Clifford Storholm, Al Ulleberg, and Clair O'Hara.

Dorcas Society Will Hold Pre-holiday Program Mon.

A program of Christmas songs, instrumental numbers, and readings will be given at a special pre-holiday meeting of the Dorcas society of Trinity Lutheran church to be held Monday evening, December 13. The high school brass sextet, composed of Lorraine Amundson, Donald Peterson, Martha Havel, Eleanor Erickson, Gloria Quist, and Wesley Burrell, will play a group of selected numbers. Mrs. S. R. Dahlen will give a reading entitled "Nocturne" and Arlene Michaels will sing "Under the Stars". "Christmas Quail" will be sung by LeRoy Rupprecht and Doris Ryan, and the assembly will join in the singing of carols.

Mrs. H. Harrison's Music Pupils Work on Projects

The Junior Music club, composed of pupils of Mrs. Harold F. Harrison, met on Wednesday afternoon of last week after school hours at the Harrison home, for rehearsal of selections for their Christmas recital. Rehearsal followed a four-thirty luncheon. Members are Louella Jean Lund, Ralph Foster, Jr., Roger Tunberg, Betty Ann Jacobson, Romona Quist, Bobby Granum, John Hamilton, Barbara Fast, Phyllis Steen, Lois Lund, Halvor Ekeren, Lois Tommerdahl and Joan Lynde.

Mrs. Harrison's Intermediate Music group met Friday evening to begin work on their music scrap books, and to discuss plans for the making of home made instruments as their project for the year. The construction of a marimba will be their first project and will be started at the next meeting, each student making certain portions of the instrument. The purpose of the project is to bring to the students a realization of the practicability of making in the home instruments that will produce real music. Lunch was served.

Intermediate group members are Pearl Kompelien, Bernice Lindland, Marion Swanson, Adelaide Peterson, Barbara Jacobson, Cleo Monson, Patricia Berge and Carmen Backlund.

LODGES IN CITY PICK '38 OFFICERS DURING THE WEEK

Masons, Sons of Norway and Odd Fellows Conduct Elections

With the election season for fraternal orders now under way, several local groups have named new officers during the past week, and they will be installed during the next few weeks, at which time appointive officers will be announced.

Ronald G. Kinghorn last Thursday evening was elected worshipful master of the Masonic lodge, succeeding C. W. Pope, other officers named including L. G. Larsen, senior warden; S. C. Severson, junior warden; J. Fabrick, secretary; Adolf Eklund, treasurer; and O. L. Ihle, trustee for a term of three years.

Officers elected by the Sons of Norway lodge Monday evening include Bernhard Knudsen, judge; Ed Ness, president; Alfred Haugen, vice president; T. J. Reierson, secretary; E. P. Burstad, financial secretary; W. A. Parbst, treasurer; Dr. P. L. Vistaunet, regent; Martin Moen, marshal; Albert Olson, assistant marshal; Herman Kjos, inner guard; Christ Steen, outer guard; Ole Ness, trustee for three years; Drs. Vistaunet, O. F. Mellby and Edward Bratrud, physicians; and Judge M. A. Brattland historian.

The Odd Fellows lodge last week elected Albert Swanson, noble grand; Arthur Rambeck, vice grand; Adolf Eklund, secretary; Dr. P. L. Vistaunet, treasurer; and Charles Fisher, trustee.

Hulda Mosbeck, Floyd Canfield Speak Vows

Miss Hulda Mosbeck, daughter of Mrs. Louise Mosbeck of this city, and Floyd Canfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jens Clauson, also of this city, spoke their marriage vows at 8:30 p. m. Friday, Nov. 26, at St. Hilaire at the parsonage home of Rev. H. L. Larson, who read the service.

The bride wore for her wedding a frock of blue silk crepe with trim and accessories of black. Her attendant, her sister, Miss Myrtle Mosbeck wore colors matching those of the bride's costume. Her dress was of black silk embroidered in blue and her accessories were black. The bride's brother Vernon Mosbeck was best man.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party were entertained at a luncheon at the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. Mosbeck have taken an apartment at 412 Red Lake Blvd and are at home there. The former is employed with the L. B. Hartz Stores, Inc., and his bride is employed with the Hardy North Dairy.

Shower Given Honoring Mrs. J. A. Narverud

Mrs. J. A. Narverud was guest of honor at a surprise shower at Mrs. Henry Buen's home Tuesday evening, hostesses at the affair being Mrs. Buen, Mrs. C. E. Snyder, and Miss Martha Narverud. The list of guests included the Mesdames J. A. Narverud, honor guest, Oscar Cerny, Knute Jonie, Harvey Beauregard, Alfred Bakke, Nels Olson, Marie Buen and Oscar Hogquist, and the Misses Rose Hermanson, Violet Langer, Rose Erickson, Borget Iverson, Elaine Bruggeman, and Marguerite French. The evening's main diversion was bunco, which was supplemented with contests. Prize winners at bunco were Mrs. Bakke and Miss Bruggeman, who were awarded high and consolation prizes, respectively. Mrs. Cerny won a door prize, and Miss Iverson as the winner of a contest also received a prize. The guest of honor unwrapped the lovely shower gifts which were presented to her in a huge basket decorated in pink and white. At the close of the evening the hostesses served a chow mein luncheon.

Local Woman's Club Observes Yuletide at 2nd General Meeting

In celebration of the approaching Yuletide, the local Woman's club enjoyed a Christmas party Monday evening at its second general meeting of the year. Arrangements for the party were made by the Young Matrons group.

The club members assembled in the basement of the public library where the puppet show, Dicken's "Christmas Carol" was presented under the direction of Mrs. Chas. Dostal, assisted by Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, Mrs. L. B. Hartz and Miss Evelyn Augur, which was followed by the reading by Mrs. Stanton Dahlen of "The Birds' Christmas Carol".

The group then adjourned to the club room in the auditorium where, following a short business session, a program of music was presented, including a piano selection by Mrs. Leon Mousley and three songs "Dear Land of Home", "The Angel" by Rubenstein, and "Silent Night, Holy Night" sung by the music group chorus, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Kenneth Lindberg. Miss Ruth Nelson led in ensemble singing of old Christmas carols, during the singing of which the entire assembly marched around the lighted Christmas tree to offer their gift of silver to be used for charity.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated in a green-and-red color scheme and centered with the traditional Christmas tree before which was laid a candle-lighted yule log. In charge of the serving was a committee composed of Mrs. Al Ulleberg, Mrs. Carl Kretzschmar, and Mrs. Charles Warner, Mrs. Robert Lund, Mrs. Oscar Paulson, and Mrs. Alv Vistaunet were the committee in charge of decorating and program arrangements.

Mrs. A. E. Helland Is Speaker at Meeting of Legion and Auxiliary

Mrs. A. E. Helland of Gonvick, ninth district president of the American Legion Auxiliary, was guest speaker at a joint meeting of the local Legion and Auxiliary held last Thursday evening. Other out-of-town guests who spoke briefly were Dr. Hedin of East Grand Forks, a department officer, and Dr. Olson of McIntosh. An informal program of music and refreshments completed the evening's program. The members of the two organizations brought Christmas gifts to be distributed at Christmas time to hospitalized veterans. Festive Christmas decorations, including a lighted Christmas tree, decorated the luncheon table. The serving committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. James Cahlis, included the Mesdames W. L. Carlisle, Oscar Paulson, Henry Hanson, Harold Eide, Oscar Monsebroten, Geo. Werstlein, O. C. Riersgaard, C. A. Wiltrout, Peder Amundson, H. O. Chommie and Mons Engelstad.

Mrs. Borreson, Mrs. Chommie Are Hostesses to Bridge Club

Mrs. Baldwin Borreson and Mrs. H. O. Chommie were hostesses to the members of their bridge club at a 1:30 o'clock luncheon at Mrs. Borreson's home Wednesday afternoon. Covers were placed at a luncheon table decorated in a holiday motif of red-and-green and graced by the traditional Christmas tree. Prizes at bridge were awarded to Mrs. Lloyd Bennes and Mrs. Roy Barzen for high and second high scores, respectively. The club membership includes the following: Mesdames W. L. Carlisle, N. A. Holen, R. S. Selover, John Lind, Roy Barzen, Philip Bryant, Kern Olson, L. N. Bennes, and the hostesses.

Biggest Vegetable Growth in Sea

The biggest of all vegetable growth is to be found in the sea, says London Answers Magazine. There is a seaweed found in the South Atlantic called "nereocystis," with stalks at least 600 feet in length. No one knows its diameter, as it emerges from the sea floor.

DOG, GOAT FOLLOW WOMAN TO GROCERY

St. Cloud.—Something got Mrs. Berney Bachman's "goat" last week. It was just that—a goat. The story began several months ago when Ed Daniel's dog "Nigger found himself an inseparable pal, a young goat. Every so often Nigger takes a hike back into town to see the Daniel family. Then, on his own accord, the dog does back to the farm. Lately, the goat has been making the trip with Nigger. Last week the pair again showed up in the Daniel backyard—Nigger and his friend goat. Wishing to be friendly, Mrs. Bachman, a neighbor to the Daniel family, fed the pair. It was then the two buddies' turn to be friendly so when Mrs. Bachman made a trip to the neighborhood grocery, the pair accompanied her. Down the sidewalk came Mrs. Bachman. Thirty paces to the rear trotted Nigger and the nanny. At the grocery doorway the woman discovered her shadowers. "Shoo", she said, but not being chickens, the two failed to heed the command. The grocery staff took an immediate liking to the goat and tossed it a lettuce leaf. But, thinking there was plenty lettuce to be had on the farm, the goat barely sniffed the greens and calmly walked over and began digesting a cigarette stub.

BULL ATTACKS MAN, IS SHOT

Howard Lake.—O. C. Jamieson, Faribault county livestock man who farms north of Easton, bought a black Galloway bull recently, paying $1,100 for the animal which weighed 1,799 lbs. Now the bull is dead, having been shot and Jamieson is under a doctor's care for possible internal injuries, sustained when the bull attacked him as it was being unloaded in Jamieson's yard. As the bull was being led out of the truck, an iron ring in its nose pulled lose.

REEMPLOYMENT UNIT ABSORBED BY NEW DIVISION

To Aid in Administration of Unemployment Compensation Law

The National Reemployment Service, an emergency federal agency which in four years has registered 325,618 Minnesota applicants and filled 437,183 jobs in private and public employment, this week is being absorbed by the Minnesota State Employment Service. The state service formerly operated offices in the three major cities, Minneapolis, Saint Paul, and Duluth, but the expansion will bring the total to thirty-nine district and branch offices.

The state-wide service is established in accordance with the state Unemployment Compensation law and the federal Wagner-Peyser Act providing for state agencies affiliated with the United States Employment Service.

Mr. W. H. Stoll is director of the state service, under the supervision of Frank T. Starkey of the industrial commission which administers both the employment service and the unemployment compensation laws.

Dreng Bjornaraa, Minnesota director of the National Reemployment Service, is being transferred to St. Louis, Missouri, to head a community employment center of the United States Employment Service. He will assume his new duties in St. Louis this month.

District offices of the National Reemployment Service at Bemidji, Virginia, Fergus Falls, St. Cloud, Montevideo, Mankato and Rochester will be continued as such by the state service, in addition to the district offices in the three large cities. There will be full-time branches at Thief River Falls, Crookston, International Falls, Grand Rapids, Ely, Two Harbors, Mora, Little Falls, Detroit Lakes, Moorhead, Alexandria, Willmar, Redwood Falls, Marshall, Hopkins, South St. Paul, New Ulm, Worthington, Fairmont, Albert Lea, Austin, Winona, Red Wing, Owatonna, Stillwater, Faribault, Cloquet, Brainerd, and Hibbing. Some counties and communities will be served by travelling interviewers making weekly trips out of district or branch offices.

After January 1, 1938, in addition to placement activities, the employment service will register claimants for benefits under the Unemployment Compensation Act.

Mrs. J. Kiewel, Mother of Ben Kiewel, Interred Monday at Little Falls

Funeral services for Mrs. Jacob (Rose) Kiewel, mother of John R. Kiewel, Crookston, and Ben J. Kiewel, of Thief River Falls, were held Monday at Little Falls, where she had lived for more than 40 years.

Mrs. Kiewel died Friday evening at her home at the age of 89 years, after an illness of about four weeks.

She is survived by six sons, Charles E. of Minneapolis, George, Frank and Joseph of Little Falls, in addition to John and Ben; and two daughters, Mrs. Herman Pantake, of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Barney McGivern of Little Falls.

Her children, and many of her grandchildren were at her bedside when she died, and all were in Little Falls for her funeral services. The rites were held at the German Lutheran church there.

The late Jacob Kiewel founded the Kiewel Brewery, operating first in Fergus Falls and later moving to Little Falls.

The surviving family includes 21 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Rites Today at 2 P. M. For Halvor E. Olson, Long-Time Resident

Funeral rites will be conducted at 2 p. m. today for Halvor E. Olson, a resident of this community for 35 years, who died Sunday in a local hospital. Rev. R. M. Fjelstad will officiate at the services, which will be held at Trinity Lutheran church, and interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Olson was born June 2, 1862, in Valders, Norway, being at the time of his death 75 years of age. He emigrated to America in 1870 and lived on a farm near Montevideo. In 1902 he moved to this community where he was engaged in farming one mile south of this city until 1911. In that year he moved to this city to reside for the remaining years of his life. He was married in 1890 at Montevideo to Lottie Bakken, who survives his death.

Other surviving relatives are two sons Edwin of Grygla and Henry of this city, two daughters, Mrs. H. H. Collins of Chicago and Mrs. Henry Dunn of St. Paul, five brothers, Elling, John, and Ole, all of Camrose, Alberta, Can., Ed of Ontario, Can., and Hans of this city; one sister, Mrs. Otto Bakken of Tioga, N. D., ten grandchildren, and one great-grandchild. Deceased relatives include one son Louis and two sisters.

MORE INSURANCE OR MORE PIE

We paid another premium on our life insurance policy the other day. We need a new suit of clothes too, but we decided it would be better to pay the insurance premium and have the old suit patched and pressed once again.

This isn't a "true confessions" story so don't sneak off in a corner to get the rest of the gory details. That's all there is to the story as far as we are concerned. But the same situation occurs regularly in the lives of millions of people every year. An insurance premium comes due. There is the question of whether to pay for the insurance or spend the money for shoes, soda pop or gasoline. We have figured the problem with ten different pencils and we get the same answer every time. There just isn't any way that we can spend the same dollar for both insurance and hair cuts.

The only reason we mention the thing is because, as a nation, we are now paying billions of dollars for insurance through the government's social security organization, and as a nation we are going to face the same problem that an individual faces when he pays his individual premium. If we are going to have that insurance we will have to deny ourselves a few other things. Insurance is a form of saving and saving is not possible without self-denial.

As far as we are concerned, we are in favor of insurance. We have paid enough insurance premiums, however, to know that insurance involves a sacrifice from which a future generation will derive corresponding benefits. That's the way our social security legislation will work. We will have to get along without pie for breakfast and will have less money to spend for automobiles and radios. Those who cash in on what we save in this way will be better able, because of this sacrifice, to pay their share of the public debt that they will also inherit from us.

BASKETBALL AND HOCKEY

Between basketball and hockey, local sports fans will have plenty of entertainment during the next three months. The basketball season opened officially last night and next week will bring the first hockey games of the season. Coach Lee and his Prowlers are on the spot this year, defending their title as regional champs. The customers will expect much, perhaps too much. It is safe to predict, however, that the squad will come through the season with a very creditable record and every game should be a good game to watch. While the official hockey schedule does not open until December 19, the Legion, which is sponsoring the team, is arranging a pre-season game for next Thursday night that, in many respects, will be more interesting than some of the league contests. The local squad will be split into two teams, which will mean that fans will have an opportunity to see all of the squad in action. Booster buttons are being sold to raise funds for the support of hockey and these buttons will admit purchasers to the Thursday night game free of charge. Fans who plan to follow the team through the season will get a bang out of this opening contest and at the same time will make a much needed contribution to an activity that deserves support in the community.

BALANCING AN UNSOUND BUDGET

By Dr. V. O. Watts,

Associate Professor of Economics at Carleton College

(Northfield News)

Once again President Roosevelt promises to balance the federal budget. The fact that he has been promising this for five years should not make us altogether mistrust his latest announcement. He probably still hopes that rising tax revenues and falling relief costs will next year make a balance possible.

But drifting into a balance in this way is not enough. Sound financial policy for the United States requires either a large decrease in public expenditures or a large increase in the real national income, or both.

Government in the United States today is taking 20 to 25 per cent of the national income. This load is about as great as any democratic nation can bear in peace time. What would happen, therefore, if we were suddenly faced with some new emergency such as a war or another depression? With taxes near their upper limit and with a huge government debt, could we do anything but repudiate our debts, with our credit thus destroyed, resort to currency inflation?

Many admirers of the New Deal may hope that depressions in America are now a thing of the past. So thought some admirers of the Old Deal in 1929. But probably no economist would agree that the New Deal changes are so fundamental that they are likely to have cured this age-old social affliction. No one can tell when the next depression will come or how long it will last. But that it will come sooner or later no one should doubt. How well then are we prepared for it?

Some persons may hope that the "social security" legislation will save us from the suffering of past depressions. But this legislation promises help only to some of the unemployed and the aged. It does not guarantee employment or prosperity to any one. Only about one half of the workers are covered by it, so that the pensions will be entirely inadequate to meet the relief burdens of a major depression. And whether even the promised pensions, small as they are, will be paid to any one will depend entirely on the solvency of the government and the prosperity of the mass of taxpayers when the pensions fall due.

One or both of two things must be done. Either public expenditures must be greatly reduced so that they can safely be stepped up again in an emergency, or the national income must be greatly increased so that even after taxpayers' incomes are reduced 30 or 50 per cent, as they are apt to be in any depression, they can still stand increased taxation.

Otherwise, in the next depression or other national crisis the social security program and the whole New Deal will prove a cruel hoax on the American people.

The iron houses at Stillwater and St. Cloud are full to the rafters with inmates. Crime is a tough way to make a living.—Cook News Herald.

Topics of the Times

By M. A. R.

A forthcoming movie, "Hitting a New High", does not deal with the federal debt situation.

The Baudette power plant made a little more money than the municipal liquor store this year. Evidently folks up there are more concerned about light than heat.

It gets pretty hot in Washington even in the winter time. Hence the President's fishing trip last week.

To the question, "What is your favorite Christmas carol?" some movie-minded person answers "Lombard."

We read about a three-day-old girl who can pronounce her last name perfectly. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waa of North Dakota.

That barbers' code won't be fully perfected until it provides for a permanent shave.

The Home Owners Loan corporation, a federal agency, has taken over 111,000 homes on which it held mortgages, we read. There can't be any Santa Claus.

"Pork barrel money," we are advised, is cash spent in other communities for public improvements.

And now a Detroit Lakes fisherman tells about having landed a dogfish that had a dog collar around its neck.

We say "Amen" to Billy Noonan's remark, "We would rather have two bucks in our pocket than one hanging up in the woods."

Rubber fenders are being used on London buses, but the fellow who can develop rubber bones really will have something.

In connection with the festive spirit of the holidays, it is of interest to read that your share of the national debt is about $285.

It is estimated that there are more than 10,000,000 dogs in the United States. If it is true that every dog has his day, the calendar is out of date.

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

From the Times, Dec. 8, 1927

The mercury dropped to 26 below zero here December 2. The local ice harvest has already been started, ice in the river being 16 inches thick. Local banks are laying in a stock of $2.50 gold pieces which their patrons will use for Christmas gifts. Final reports in the alfalfa campaign indicated that 12,000 acres are seeded to that crop in Pennington county. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Melin of this city celebrated their golden wedding anniversary December 1. A. J. Olden, Soo Line dispatcher, was the speaker at a meeting of the Trinity Men's Brotherhood.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From News Press, Dec. 6, 1917

Finishing touches are being completed on the new Oakland Park sanatorium, which is expected to receive patients about January 1. Mrs. Hedvig Mogenson, 61, mother of E. O. Mogenson, died at the home of her son Sunday. Curt Sundahl left for Warren to enter North Star college. Mr. and Mrs. Halvor Loken left for the state of Mississippi where they plan to spend the winter months. Mrs. [illegible] Sjoberg returned to this city after a visit in Minneapolis. W. H. Frederick returned from a business trip to Clarksville, Iowa. Judge J. W. Willis of St. Paul gave the address at Elks memorial services in this city. A. E. Hankins, Soo yardmaster here, left for an extended stay in Kansas City.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

The deer hunting season for 1937, has come and gone. From the stand point of hunting weather it was ideal. The atmosphere was cold enough to protect the kill from spoiling, with snow on the ground to track and bag wounded animals.

But, the sins of man against nature never have and never will go unpunished. The slaughter of the "Fawns" last year, followed with its terrible reduction of the deer herd, found a depleted deer herd this year far beyond the expectation of the most ardent pessimist. We shudder to think about it, not alone to mention it. The deer were not there, they had disappeared from their sacred haunts, are in such reduced numbers that hunters in general cursed the head [illegible] of this senseless blunder of opening a season for the hunting of deer in Minnesota this year, after the terrific reduction, next to annihilation, given our deer last year.

We are at a loss to understand why the season was opened. One official excuse was given, that there was a shortage of feed for the deer this year in Minnesota. But, this was an empty excuse, because never before in the history of our state, has nature provided more feed for the deer, as well as other game. The heavy rains during the summer and fall months brot forth the most abundant crop of buds ever seen on the trees and underbrush of every description, while the native rose bushes were loaded and bending to the ground with the largest and reddest hips, while its [illegible] hues were coloring the landscape in every direction—natures feed to all game!

Our next legislature must take prompt steps to protect all our game from deer to fish, because history of late years has demonstrated that the present men in charge do not understand or care to protect Minnesota's greatest natural game asset known to man —our native deer!

Clearwater and Beltrami counties should not have been opened. Itasca county with more deer per square mile than any other section, outside the National Forest areas, remained closed. We salute you Itasca County Sportsmen! But, how did you do it?

We appeal to the sportsmanship and good citizenship of every man and woman in the counties in which deer still roam to make a solemn personal resolution that they will not kill another deer, no matter how easy and tempting the occasion may be, until the state is in position to correct this official blunder, and bring back the deer herd to such numbers and volume that hunting will be a pleasure to any man or woman who love the sport, and save the herd from permanent annihilation in many sections of our state. Farmers and businessmen should co-operate, and punish offending irresponsibles to the limit, and without mercy.

May we pray that the day will soon be here that our natural resources in game will not always be reckoned in terms of dollars!

Let the slogan be, more co-operation and conservation, and less politics and destruction!

TWO BROTHERS HAVE SIMILAR ACCIDENTS

Hills—Herb Nelson and his younger brother, George are very much in sympathy with each other, both of them being confined to their home here with their ankles in casts. Herb injured his ankle while working with a carpenter gang at a farm in this vicinity. Two men were working on a scaffold when the plank on which they were standing broke and both men fell to the ground, a drop of eight feet. Herb tore a ligament in his ankle and it was necessary to put it in a cast. The following day, Herb's brother, George, was carried home, having broken a bone in his ankle while playing with some boys after school. Now both brothers are sitting home, each with an ankle in a cast, and each doing his best to console the

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor The Times
Thief River Falls, Minn.

My attention has been called to an editorial in the Times for December 2 entitled "The Public Pays the Bill."

With a great deal of what you say I can agree. However, we think that the effect on business generally will be beneficial rather than harmful. After all, the railroads consume 21% of all of the bituminous coal mined in this country; 19% of all of the fuel oil produced, 17% of all of the iron and steel produced, and 20% of all the timber that is cut. They are the largest buyers in the capital goods market which is the one market that failed to respond to the various emergency remedies which have been applied at Washington. An industry whose purchases have formed a large a part of the national spending as the railroads may well be the "key" to the situation.

From another angle, most everybody recognizes that capital has been scurrying to cover, fearful of its safety, and skeptical about its being permitted to earn even a reasonable return. If regulation, as applied to the railroads, is to be recognized as effectively bankrupting them, there certainly is no encouragement for capital to expand in other industries in the face of the increased tendency to extend the scope of state and federal regulation to all industries.

After all the railroad business is not very much unlike your own. Your readers may not feel that they can afford the subscription price of your paper or your advertisers may not feel that they can afford to pay your advertising rates. Nevertheless, I do not think you would contend that the charge for your services should be based upon what your patrons feel they could pay. I think you would stand pretty strongly on the proposition that you were not going to run your paper at a loss. I do not think you would like to go to the city council or any other politically influenced regulatory body and leave it up to them as to how much you could charge, knowing as you did that they would have their eye on the popular thing to do rather than the right thing.

Nobody appreciates any more than the Great Northern does the desperate plight of agriculture nor have very many organizations contributed as much to putting agriculture on a sounder basis than has the Great Northern. Nevertheless, nothing is gained by ruining an industry that is as essential to agriculture as is railroad transportation, in order to help agriculture.

As you point out in your editorial most of the railroads' present difficulties are not all of their own making. Their increased costs are largely those for which the government itself is responsible. The railroads are affording a necessary, essential service, they are being run efficiently, and I think it will be a sorry day for the country as a whole when such an industry is told that they cannot charge enough for their services to meet expenses and provide a modest return on the investment involved.

In writing you as above I had no thought whatever of being critical but merely wished to present to you our point of view and two or three points raised by your editorial.

Cordially yours,
H. M. SIMS,
Executive Assistant.

Middle River, Minn. Dec. 5, 1937
Editor Thief River Falls Times:

As a reader of the Times I must compliment you upon editing a worthy community journal. I pay particular attention to your editorials and Topics of the Times column. The editorial of recent date with reference to your building boom of that season struck me as containing a lot of wisdom and common sense.

Our workers in the building trades must necessarily fit their terms of compensation for services upon so many factors and in line with the purchasing power of those individuals who desire to build their own homes or to invest in improved property for the use of other residents of your city. None of us are free and independent in a community; we are interdependent and there must be mutual consideration and fair play to make for true progress and the happiness we all have the right to pursue. There is no group or division of our economic life that is so pure, just and considerate as to be immune from the taint of exploitation of others and there is need for checks and balances everywhere to keep us on an even keel. To keep society on such even keel is the work of statesmen, the press, pulpit, bar, schools, corporations, unions and all of us as individuals giving and taking wisely and justly.

Your Civic and Commerce Association treated the members and friends of the Eastern Marshall County Protective Association yesterday with becoming hospitality and intelligent cooperation. There is no doubt but what the water conservation program and the sportsmen's program in the upper Thief River watershed is immoderate and destructive to the vital interests of the farmers and the whole communities in that large area. Vested property rights acquired by three decades of labor and hardship are not respected. We must remember that property rights are human rights just as much as the pay envelope is a human right. To secure these rights governments are instituted among men. When governments become corrupt from seizure by various pressure groups and fail to secure a just balance of such human rights we must right matters or face rebellion and revolution. Thank goodness we have the ballot and the courts in this nation to save us from violence. You people in Thief River Falls do not tolerate better factories or slaughter houses in your fine residence districts. They would be declared a public nuisance if located in such places although they are acceptable in suitable locations. To locate pestiferous mosquito marshes right up to the back yards of prosperous communities is equally intolerable; to dam drainage ditches and cause floods and waterlogged soils to ruin these farmers is like plugging your sewer system in Thief River Falls. Of course you would not take such a pot on either check. To raise a war chest to fight a governmental mistake and pay taxes to help the government at mistake and pay taxes to help the government fight yourself is not a pleasant experience.

Yours truly,
E. M. Evans.

FEAST MARKS 42 YEAR FRIENDSHIP

Redwood Falls.—Thanksgiving for a close friendship begun 42 years ago was in the hearts of Mayor and Mrs. J. F. Knudson of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sheffiel of Brookville when they celebrated the anniversary of their meeting at dinner in the Sheffield home on Thanksgiving day. Mrs. Knudson in 1895 was teaching school in Sleepy Eye and "keeping company" with her future husband when a group of eight young people decided to go to Springfield for a presentation at the opera house and for Thanksgiving dinner. On their way home in a bob sled they were lost in a snow storm and finally found their way to the Sheffield farm. Young Frank who lived there with his parents became well acquainted with the crowd, the young people being forced by the storm to stay overnight at the farm house. Since that day 42 years ago the families have enjoyed many Thanksgiving dinners together.

Sharing Christmas

by Jocile Webb Pearson

I AM a happy little tree. I stand beside the front entrance of a white cottage on a quiet street. Each Christmas time I bloom out in beautiful colored lights, and all who pass share my beauty and catch something of the joy of Christmas.

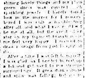
But I was not always happy like this. Once I lived in a great forest, surrounded by trees so tall I could only catch a glimpse of the blue sky above me, and I felt very small and lonely. I, too, wanted to be tall; to look out on the big world like the others and "feel" the sun shining through my branches. I would stretch out my limbs as far as I could, and send my roots deeper into the earth, but my progress was so slow I grew discouraged.

One day I saw a man and a boy coming through the forest. The man carried something over his shoulder and they seemed to be looking for something. Then the boy saw me and cried: "Look, father, there is just the tree we want." He ran over to me and fairly hugged me in his eagerness. The man looked me over. "Fine," he said. But when he began digging with the thing he had carried on his shoulder I began to tremble. I felt my roots snap one by one and soon I lay a tumbled heap on the ground. Life seemed over for me.

Next I was tied to a funny [illegible] thing on wheels, that sputtered and growled when the man and boy climbed in and we started off down a twisty little road that wound through the forest, then out on a big shining highway until we came to a wide driveway that led through a sloping lawn to a white cottage.

Here I was untied and [illegible] a large earthen jar filled with [illegible] and carried into the house [illegible] [illegible] corner of a [illegible] a sunny window. Oh the joy of [illegible] the sun on my branches. I began to feel less scared and to [illegible] about me.

In a big mirror opposite I could watch the man as he fastened me upright. Then he put a string of lights from my tip to my [illegible], whistling softly as he worked. Then



Two Little Faces Pressed Against the Window Pane.

I heard a door open at [illegible] feet a little boy and a [illegible] into the room crying [illegible] come quick, and see our Christmas tree." They clapped their [illegible] and danced about me. Soon [illegible] mother came with a box filled with shining lovely things and my [illegible] green dress was covered [illegible] sparkling jewels. I hardly dared look in the mirror for I remembered I was only a [illegible] tree after all, and what I [illegible] be me at all, but the great [illegible] star on my topmost branch made me feel very happy. I seemed to draw courage from just [illegible] it.

After a time I was left to myself. I was glad as I needed to rest and get used to my strange surroundings. It grew dark outside and snow was falling, but [illegible] my star shone and a quiet [illegible] came over me.

MARSHALL FARMERS TELL OF THE RECENT FLOOD SITUATION

the Mud Lake Project but we were ignored and steam rollered. It appears to us that when the people of the community object and feel that a project is going to cause damage and is going to be harmful to the community, they should be consulted and have some consideration.

The Thief Lake, and Mud Lake Projects as well as the one hundred or more dams "in" Beltrami County, will always be sources of irritation and trouble in rainy seasons. Why start something like this against the wishes of the people who have their homes there and who must live there?

The people of eastern Marshall County in common with the people of the entire northern Minnesota want drainage, so as to get rid of the water. In that way only, can they farm and produce crops. We spent over a million dollars to drain the swamps and lakes and get rid of the water. We do not want the swamps filled up with water again. No one can truthfully and sensibly say or claim that the Thief Lake and Mud Lake Projects or the water storage dams in Beltrami County are going to help the people who try to live and farm in that area. The result can only be detrimental to the farmers of this area, in rainy seasons. Twenty five years ago it was admitted by all that what we needed was drainage. Why reverse this policy now and try to restore the swamps, and allow lake against the protest of the people?

It may be a fine thing for the sportsmen to have places like Thief Lake and Mud Lake where they can hunt ducks for four or five days during the year. But the big taxpayers of northern Minnesota should remember that the [illegible] not going to be able to sell any [illegible], or clothing or groceries to the ducks. The ducks are not going to buy any lumber or building material. The ducks are not going to buy any gasoline, automobiles, or tractors.

It may be a fine thing for the Northern States Power Company, the Interstate Power Company and other power companies to [illegible] [illegible] swamps [illegible] to provide them with cheap water power, but it is not going to help the farmer and the small town business man.

The people of northern Minnesota [illegible] drainage and good roads have been the making of this part of the state. [illegible]

Christmas In The New Home

"THE first Christmas in our new home," Janice Wray announced [illegible] as she stepped across the threshold of Stewart's and her new home.

"Christmas in our new home," Stewart echoed, switching on the light.

"Oh, isn't it just grand!" exclaimed Janice.

"I'll say it is—but slow up—slow up, Janey! I've got about all my arms will hold, without taking you aboard," Stewart warned her as Janice attempted to throw her arms about him.

"Oh, keep quiet! You're just as excited as I am—so why pretend?" Janice answered with a toss of her head.

Stewart put his packages down and then with his arms around her he assured her, "You bet I am, Honey. I think it is wonderful! [illegible]" And just [illegible] they were so happy, they both laughed.

[illegible]

"[illegible]" agreed Janice, "[illegible] change my dress."

The tree must be neither too large nor too small. Some time [illegible] been consumed deciding just the proper size for a Christmas tree for two. They were to be alone this Christmas, the first Christmas in their [illegible], there was no doubt about that, for they had definitely decided that when they purchased the house. And now here they were ready to trim the [illegible] tree.

"[illegible] that star [illegible]" Janice said as Stewart placed it at the top of the tree.

"Yes. But I thought you had planned on something else," Stewart replied.

"I changed my mind," was all Janice said. "[illegible] a Christmas tree without a star at the top. They always had one on the tree at home."

"[illegible] red balls," she reminded Stewart.

"I changed my mind!" Both laughed at Stewart's echo of Janice's answer of a moment before.

"Wouldn't Bea love this [illegible]" Stewart picked up the large [illegible].

Deaths by Tuberculosis Register increase for State in Past 2 Years

The death rate from tuberculosis in Minnesota has been going up for two consecutive years. Attention to this increase is called in a bulletin issued by physicians of the Minnesota State Medical association's committee on public health education today.

The actual amount of the increase may seem, at first glance, to be unimportant. The fact that it is more this year than last and that, previous to 1934, the rate had been going down steadily, invests the situation with a grave significance, according to the doctors.

The death rate from tuberculosis in 1934 was 35.4. In 1935 it was [illegible]. In 1937 it has crept up a whole point to 36.5. A similar advance has been noted in 34 states, although, even in 1937, the rate is still comparatively low in Minnesota.

Students of tuberculosis lay the increase chiefly to the malnutrition and bad housing of the early years of the depression. In spite of concerted efforts on the part of Christmas Seal workers and health agencies, the hard years of the early 1930's are taking their toll as it required a period of years for that toll to show up on the register of deaths from tuberculosis.

There is a greater need than ever before for the Christmas Seal campaign to discover tuberculosis early, and to protect young children from infection, according to the physicians. They urge a generous purchase of Christmas Seals this year so that the improved modern methods can be brought to the control of the disease.

STANDARD OILS AHEAD IN LOCAL BOWLING LEAGUE

Crookston Man Bowls Perfect Game in Match There Sunday

As the local league bowling season entered its third week, the Standard Oil team had a firm grip on first place in the standings, having lost only one game out of nine played up to yesterday.

In last Wednesday's match, the Fitgers won two out of three from the G-Men, Emil Dostal, 187, and Richard Dablow, 192, being high men. Thursday evening the Gamble-Robinsons made it three straight from the Soo Cafe team, high scorers including Henry Waag, 173, and Wallace DuChamp, 174.

The G-Men Monday evening took two out of three from the Sorenson's Cafe team, Leonard Sanders, 185, and Albert Jaranson, 210, making the best scores. Tuesday night the Standard Oils won three in a row from the Soo Cafe team, Harold Burrell, 170, and Wallace DuChamp, 205, being high men.

Bowling at Crookston Sunday, the Grand theatre team of that city won a tournament from the Sorenson's Cafe bowlers by a score of 1776 to 2569. Ray Simpson of Crookston entered the bowlers hall of fame by rolling a perfect score in his second game, making 20 consecutive strikes including eight in the third game. Wallace DuChamp was high for the locals with a score of 236.

LIVELY VOTING IN NEARBY VILLAGE ELECTIONS DEC. 7

Alcid Morrissette Defeats A. H. Carlson for Mayor of Plummer

Varying degrees of interest were displayed in village elections in this section of the state Tuesday, depending on the local issues involved.

A total of 130 votes was cast in an unexpectedly lively election in St. Hilaire, those elected including Adolph Satterberg, president of the council; Mike Highland, Clifford Schantzen and Ordean Olson, councilmen for three, two and one year respectively; Peter Simonson, justice of the peace; and John W. Forsreen, constable.

Unusual interest also was displayed in the Plummer village election, a total of 147 votes being cast. Alcid Morrissette was elected president of the village council, defeating A. H. Carlson, incumbent, by a vote of 90 to 55. Louis Toulouse was unopposed for the office of trustee, and W. C. McCrady was elected treasurer over C. A. Kroeger by the close vote of 71 to 70.

In the Goodridge village election 62 votes were cast, those elected including Jay Payne, president of the council; Floyd Olson, councilman; Carl Christenson, assessor; Earl Mack and C. L. Noer, justices of the peace; and Eddie Halvorson and Guy McEnelly, constables.

Only 29 votes were cast in a quiet election in the village of Holt, those elected including H. O. Hanson, president of the council; Gilbert Sanoden, councilman for three years; Caroline Aspelin, treasurer; and Albert B. Anderson, assessor.

ELSBERG MAKES PLEA FOR CONTINUATION OF U. S. HIGHWAY AID

In 1916, state highway departments have been enabled to do long time planning, he explained. At the present time Minnesota's program for next year is complete and has been based entirely on the Hayden-Cartwright Act assurance that federal aid funds will be forthcoming.

Commitments to communities were made by him, Mr. Elsberg pointed out, in good faith and with no suspicion that a sudden move would come to drastically slash federal highway aid to the states.

Commissioner Elsberg said the President's desire for economy was obviously sincere, but he cited the injustice of the federal government diverting taxes paid by highway users to non-highway purposes to accomplish it. This would be in direct contradiction to the federal government's own road program policy, as several states have been punished severely for diverting highway taxes to other uses. In gasoline taxes and excises on motor vehicles, Minnesota road-users pay $8,200,000 a year into the federal treasury, Mr. Elsberg pointed out. If the entire federal aid program is continued for the next two years on its present basis, the government will be returning to the state only $5,500,000 the commissioner added.

Outstanding Cast at Falls Sunday in "You Can't Have Everything

One of the largest casts of featured entertainment specialists ever assembled for a motion picture appear in "You Can't Have Everything", the film offering at the Falls theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with a midnight prevue Saturday evening at 11:15. That stellar cast includes Alice Faye, the Ritz Brothers, Don Ameche, Charles Winninger, Louise Hovick, Rubinoff and his violin and Tony Martin.

Two experts in light comedy, William Powell and Myrna Loy, will be seen at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday in "Double Wedding", heralded as being funnier than "Thin Man". Other leading roles are filled by Florence Rice, John Beal, Jessie Ralph and Edgar Kennedy.

Rotarians Oppose Cut in Federal Highway Aid

The Rotary club at its weekly luncheon Tuesday noon in the Evelyn hotel adopted a resolution submitted by Paul Lundgren calling on Minnesota congressmen to oppose the recommendation of President Roosevelt that federal highway aid be reduced. Supt. Morris Bye presented a committee report urging that the club sponsor a Boy Scout troop, and after a discussion the matter was referred back to the committee for action. A. F. Berge and Police Chief A. B. Stenberg also spoke briefly.

CO. FARM BUREAU ANNUAL MEETING SET FOR DEC. 15

Business Session to Open at 11:00 A. M. in the Auditorium

The annual meeting of the Pennington County Farm Bureau Federation will be held in the Civic and Commerce room in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, December 15. The business meeting will start at eleven o'clock. The president, secretary and treasurer will all give their reports and officers and directors will be elected for the coming year.

The afternoon program will start at one o'clock at which time the main topic will be the talk by Skuli H. Rutford, extension specialist in agricultural conservation, on "The United States Tariff Policy, Reciprocal Trade Agreements and how They Effect the American Farmer."

Other speakers on the afternoon program are Robert Lund, secretary of the Production Credit Association; and L. A. Ferguson of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation. There will also be some musical numbers.

This meeting comes just at the close of the membership drive and all new members are encouraged to make a special effort to attend this meeting.

The program committee is composed of Hans Anton, S. E. Hunt, Howard E. Grow and C. H. Toomey. They have made a special effort to arrange a program that will be interesting as well as educational.

At the conclusion of the afternoon program a prize will be given away to some person that is registered. Every person present before eleven o'clock will be registered.

HOCKEY MEN TO PLAY PRE-SEASON GAME DEC. 16TH

Legion Post Is Seeking to Enroll 500 Boosters for Team

Nine teams composed largely of members of the American Legion will start out Friday in an effort to enroll 500 persons as hockey boosters for the coming season in which Thief River Falls will be represented in the States-Dominion league.

Every business establishment will be visited and everyone will be asked to purchase a booster button, which not only admits them to a preseason game on December 16 at the arena but signifies that they are willing to support in a small financial way the winter sports program sponsored for the first time by the local post last season and which proved so popular with a large majority of the citizens.

The purpose of the drive, according to a statement by Tom Lonson, Commander of the local post, "is to build a reserve fund to insure against possible losses. The season ended last year on an even basis with gate receipts just barely taking care of the expense of salaries, incidentals and rental for the arena. Adverse weather which could result in a decrease in attendance would put the sponsors in a position whereby they would be unable to continue to promote this exciting winter sport and we wish to guard against such a situation so that we may enjoy league hockey for many years to come."

Next Thursday's game while not being heralded as a rip-roaring event will give local enthusiasts an opportunity to see the new players in action for the first time and give the local players a chance to show what they can do as contenders for the privilege of being called on in a regular league session. Tremontin, Taylor, Craig, Clifton and Hasen the regulars will be in the game, perhaps pitted against each other, the Julien brothers who are now considered "home town boys" will play as will Parlist, Williams, Gulrud, Rustad, Lund and Olson. Connie Stanbridge will fill his position and a former Macalester hockey star, Hilding Peterson of the local school faculty will appear as a newcomer to the arena.

The booster button selling campaign is under the leadership of the Legion's post activities committee and the teams will include George Werstlein, Henry Melby, W. F. Dahlquist, W. L. Carlisle, M. R. Leverson, Alex Cloutier, Leonard Hanson, Harold Elde, Tom Lonson, Carl Kretzschmar, Tom Rowan, C. V. Whitchurch, W. G. Claffy, Morris Bye, Alvin Holzknecht, L. V. Johnson, A. F. Berge, A. R. Holbert, A. B. Stenberg and Harry Lund.

While it is hoped that all persons will be reached in the six day badge drive arrangements have been made for those overlooked to obtain buttons at the Rexall or P. H. Drug Store or the Rex and Palm Garden Cafes. Booster buttons will also be on sale in place of tickets at the arena box office the night of the game. A generous response from hockey enthusiasts is looked for by the committee in charge.

Mrs. Margaret McCrum, Well-Known Resident Since 1891, Passes

Mrs. Margaret McCrum, well-known resident of this community since 1891, passed away at her home in Smiley township Thursday of last week at the age of 74 years. Funeral rites were conducted by Rev. J. B. Smith from the Community church Saturday and interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. McCrum was born in Cressmore, Ont., Can., October 13, 1863, the daughter of Elijah and Frances Wilcox. In 1882 she was married to William J. McCrum, who preceded her in death in 1919. Shortly after their marriage, Mrs. McCrum and her husband moved to Minneapolis and lived there until 1891 when they came to this city. In 1909 they moved to the homestead in Smiley township where Mrs. McCrum has since resided.

Ten children were born to the McCrums including Mrs. H. A. Bragg of Washington, D. C., William and James of this city, Harold of Billings, Mont., Mrs. E. M. Noyer of Washington, D. C., Wesley of this city, Frand McCrum of McMinneville, Ore., Theodore, who died in infancy, and Donald of this city.

HIGHWAY PATROL ARRESTS 590 IN 30-DAY PERIOD

Total of 44 Persons Arrested on Charge of Drunken Driving

As the result of 590 arrests in October by the Highway patrol of the Minnesota Highway department, fines totaling $7,262.10 were imposed, it was revealed by the patrol's monthly report to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner.

For improper equipment, 140 drivers were arrested and 82 were apprehended after going through "stop" signs. Drunken driving accounted for 44 of the arrests, careless driving for 65, speeding for 64.

Revenue estimated at $1,526.05 was recovered for the state treasury during October by the license correction work of the patrol, bringing the total for 1937 to Nov. 1, to $212,247.08 in license fees collected, which otherwise would have been lost.

In addition the Highway patrol gave first aid to 20 injured persons and attended 155 accidents during the month. It helped 1,002 motorists by making minor adjustments and repairs on cars stalled on the highways, delivered gasoline to 166 automobiles and pulled 165 cars out of ditches. Traffic directions were given to 83,902 motorists.

During October 7,826 drivers were warned for infractions of the traffic code and illegal equipment tags were handed out to 1,645 persons.

INFANT SWALLOWS OPEN SAFETY PIN

Browerville.—Having swallowed an open safety pin a two-year-old child has met the unusual experience of suffering no ill consequence from the unfortunate incident. Paul, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Greip of Staples accidentally swallowed an open safety pin at his home one evening last week. He was rushed to physicians who took several X-ray pictures and found that an operation would not be necessary since the pin had not lodged in the baby's stomach. The pin was satisfactorily removed by means of a special diet and it is reported the child has fully recovered from the incident.

Deafmute Visitor Here; Has Been in 4500 Towns

After visiting more than 4500 cities in the course of his travels, Ralph K. Bradford, 37-year-old deafmute, arrived in Thief River Falls late last week. Collecting information which he plans to incorporate in a book, he has as his goal a 100,000 mile trip which he hopes to complete by 1940. While in this city he secured letters from a large number of city and county officials acknowledging his visit. His home is in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Congress Considering Repeal of the Present Levy of Gasoline Tax

Motorists of Minnesota are hopefully following news from the meetings of the House Ways and Means tax sub-committee in Washington, which is now studying the possibility of repealing or reducing the federal gasoline tax and other automotive excise levies, Joseph R. Schroeder, secretary of the Minnesota Petroleum Industries committee declared today.

According to the announcement made by Chairman Vinson of the House committee, investigation of $650,000,000 of miscellaneous and nuisance taxes, enacted in 1932 as temporary emergency tax measures, will be undertaken to ascertain the possibility of reducing or repealing some or all of these taxes, which have proved unpopular since their inception.

"Elimination of the federal excise taxes on automotive products would mean a saving of $7,908,000 to Minnesota motorists, a reduction of 28.2 per cent in the average motorist's annual $31.54 automotive tax bill," Mr. Schroeder said.

Asks Motorists to Avoid Hampering the Snowplow

With the season at hand when it will be necessary to call the snowplow into action to clear the city streets, Police Chief A. B. Stenberg today issued a request to local motorists to refrain from the practice of putting cars in dead storage on local streets, thus hampering the operation of the plow or making it necessary to haul the cars out of the way.

55,000 HUNTERS SOUGHT DEER IN RECENT SEASON

Game Department Asserts Half of Hunters Were Successful

At least one deer was shot for every two hunters who purchased big game licenses this year, according to preliminary estimates made last week by the state division of game and fish.

Approximately 55,000 deer hunting licenses were sold this fall. Early game reports received indicate that 65 per cent of the hunters reporting got their deer, but it is estimated that this figure will drop to about 50 per cent by the time tabulations are completed.

For the regular deer season in 1936, 70,000 big game licenses were sold, with an estimated 41,000 or 55 per cent of the hunters successful.

It is estimated that approximately 220,000 Minnesotans engaged in some form of hunting this year. About 284,000 small and big game licenses were sold in 1936. The drop this year is largely accounted for by shortening the pheasant season to three half days because of a reported scarcity of the birds.

Federal duck stamp sales showed a big rise this year, with incomplete reports from post office authorities indicating that a total of 100,000 may be reached as compared to a 1936 total of 73,000.

Small game licenses dropped from 214,000 in 1936 to 165,000 in 1937. The pheasant kill decreased from an estimated 1,324,000 in 1936 to 100,000 in 1937, the latter figure being a rough estimate only.

Middle River Man's Dogs Win State Field Trials

Lady Pritchette, a hunting dog raised by Richard Sjoberg of Middle River, won second place and a silver trophy in the recent field trials for setters and pointers conducted at Wyoming, Minnesota. First place was won by Tipperary Tip, owned by Tom Gibbons of St. Paul and raised by Sjoberg. Lady Pritchette last year was awarded first place in the event.

DO NOT TREAT YOURSELF WITH "HEARSAY"

Neighbors and friends are priceless possessions, and should be so regarded—but when it comes to treating yourself in case of illness, the advice of a neighbor or friend is not the safest plan. They mean well, of course, and simple little ailments and accidents about the house can often be treated casually with home remedies from the medicine chest.

Better to be Safe Than Sorry

However, when there is anything the matter with you, to experiment with yourself or treat your case with "hearsay," may be very expensive and dangerous.

There are many underlying causes for outward symptoms, discernible only to a Physician, after careful examination and analysis. Disease detected and treated in its first stages is so much easier to cure, and is less expensive to you physically and financially. Don't experiment on yourself!

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

PROWLER FIVE TROUNCES SQUAD FROM BEMIDJI

Local Team Overwhelms Teachers by Score of 41-28

The high scoring Prowler basketball machine nonchalantly ground out field goal after field goal to trounce the highly regarded Bemidji State Teachers College Reserves, 41 to 28 last Saturday evening in the high school gymnasium. The Prowlers showed excellent shooting form and played a smart all around game although their defense lacked the polish of the offense. The Teachers, on the other hand, displayed a bit erratic form on their shooting efforts and were lax in their efforts to snatch rebounds, but made a tough fight of it because of their ruggedness, plus a couple of genuine cagers in their lineup.

The game was exceedingly rough with a total of twelve personal fouls charged to Coach Jack Frost's Teachers. There was much body contact and the contest had a strong aspect of a football game.

The Leemen grabbed a quick lead in the very beginning and held it throughout the entire game. The Prowlers led 11 to 6 at quarter time and it mounted to 16 to 11 at the half intermission. Coach George Lee used a lot of Notre Dame football strategy during the second quarter by sending in a new, fresh quintet composed of Haug, Nicholson, Stadum, Quale, and R. Mickelson. The subs held the Reserves on even terms until the half.

The green and white clad Teachers went on a scoring spree in the third stanza to narrow the gap as the winners defense lapsed into sluggishness, but they trailed by a single point, 25 to 24 at the end.

Regaining their usual dash and bravado, the Lincolnites stepped away in the fourth quarter from the more matured Beavers, who appeared to accept the inevitable defeat with a [illegible]. Led by Lorentson [illegible] and Lee, the Prowlers [illegible] shot after shot to score [illegible] points and widen the lead. [illegible] Mickelson scored on a beautiful left handed hook [illegible] near the corner close to the end of the ball game for his only field goal.

The Prowlers were led to the second successive victory again by Don Lorentson, cocaptain who was scoring pacemaker for the game with thirteen counters. Clark Mickelson was second with ten points and was probably the most elusive cager on the court. Mel Haughom was the only regular failing to break into the scoring column, but played a splendid floor game, despite being handicapped by a bad cold. All of the Prowlers played excellent ball and this factor points to a powerful reserve force in addition to the five versatile regulars in the future. Louis Doty with ten points, and "Eagle-Eye" Eckstein, a fleet footed forward, with six were the leaders of the losing quint both on offense and defense.

The Concordia College Cobblers whipped the Bemidji Teachers College varsity five 42 to 39 in a hair raising, see-saw brawl which was listed as the main go of the evening following the Prowler-Reserve clash.

ELECTRICAL FEATS PRESENTED TO STUDENT BODY

Dr. White Presents 8,000 Years of Scientific Developments

Dr. White, intimate of Thomas Edison, began his program with a little humor which he kept up through the program. The equipment he used was worth $60,000. He showed us the progress made by man in the field of electricity. Primitive man began with lightning as his only source of fire. He had many various lamps from both before and after Christ's birth. All students have a good idea of the types of lamps used in the ages past. He also had a large 100,000 candle power bulb which would heat the auditorium to such an extent that none would wish to remain in there. On the contrary, he showed a 1-400 watt bulb which gave off 70,000 degrees of heat.

The General Electric Company for whom he worked had given him a Black Ray Lamp which brought out the real beauty of color. He showed us many beautiful clothes which he had spent years painting. The same were on exhibit at the Chicago World's Fair. Some were done worth nearly $1,000. He had robes and pictures which were also made very beautiful by the Black Ray Lamp. A bond placed on some kind of a plate and placed in the rays of this lamp left a print of itself.

He also showed us some of the wonders of radium which can be made to cure cancer. Twenty-five milligrams of radium is worth $[illegible].

He ended by complimenting the audience for the fine attention.

BAND NOTES

The Brass Sextet made its first public appearance last Friday night when they played at the Junior class play. The following members were presented before the play began: "The Rolling Sea" by Zamecnik, and "Jolly Hunters" by Zamecnik.

The Clarinet quartette played three numbers between the second and third acts of the play. They were "A Kerry Tune"—Irish, "Waltz—Brahms, and "Bourre"—Bach.

After the holidays the Home Economics classes will make fifteen new capes for the band. These new capes, like last years capes, will increase the number of uniforms to sixty-five. Additional caps will also be bought.

The band now has sixty members, and will increase this number slightly before spring.

The band will play twice this week for the basketball games with Roseau and Mahnomen.

It must be the week, the month or the season for class plays as we see by the Fertile High School paper, which we have received, that their Junior Class is going to present their play "Through the [illegible]

INTERVIEW

Name: Dr. Harry C. White

Married: Yes, to Daisy White

Hometown: Bound Brook, New Jersey

When did you first become interested in science?—After the World War in 1918 I had previously studied but had never liked it—hated it—until it dawned on me that it was a most wonderful thing.

Where did you study?—University of Pennsylvania, and Union College of Schenect, the College of Dr. Steinmetz.

Paintings?—I never studied art or color. I think that anybody with common sense should be able to know the right color combinations. No art teacher has told me that my color combinations are wrong.

Where did you obtain the lamps?—All over the world. The value of the lamps is $20,000.

Former scientific acquaintances—Dr. Steinmetz and Thos. A. Edison.

Acquaintance with Edison—Edison was very peculiar in that he was deaf. He was very nervous and irritable. He never realized his upset conditions until he was 82 years old. If you didn't understand the subject studies, he hollered at you, but never told the answer.

My Message to Student body—Not what we have, but the use we make of what we so happen to have.

Poor—Asset

Wealthy—Liability.

Endurance records seem to be quite the rage at the Arena of late. Didja hear the one about Hess and Horgan making the rounds for an hour and five minutes? Poor me is benched for an hour after one round.

Seems to me the gentleman who said "Gentlemen prefer blondes" was part right, anyhow, at least, where the International Falls boys are concerned.

Come on, Teachers all, we're waiting to hear that tale of woe about how our marks fall down when skating goes on in our spare time.

After putting fall down for the count, "Old Man Winter" has moved in on us from the north with his icy blasts, but has brought with him the annual basketball season to give us a bit of cheer to offset dreary aspect of winter. After witnessing the Prowlers in their first home contests on Tuesday we are soundly convinced that the basketball season is not only here, but that this season is expectedly to be another banner year for basketball in our progressive city.

The Prowlers are already being hailed by local fans as State Champs but, this attitude is hardly fair to Coach George Lee and his squad. It is not just a matter of waiting until state tournament time. There is the regular schedule, the district tournament and the regional tournament to hurdle before we can ever think of the Prowler chances in the state chase. A lot can happen in all that time and after all, luck plays a big part in many a basketball game. It does not always appear that the best team wins. With due recognition to last years wonder team, we must admit that luck played a part in their success. The fickle Lady Luck may not smile on the locals this year.

Another fact to remember is that every team, both great and small, will be "laying" for the Prowlers, seeking to "knock-off" the highly touted regional champs already, the pressure is on the locals and the tension will not be released until the Prowlers are no longer the team to beat. Can the boys withstand this pressure besides having to face the strongest challengers in the northwest, we cannot say; only time will tell.

The team is earnest and determined but they have everything to lose and little to gain, until and if, they reach the state tourney. Their road is not going to be as smooth and easy as you may be led to believe. Overconfidence is a dangerous thing.

So, fans, give the team a break, cheer them in victory but more than that, console and encourage them in defeat if it strikes, so that they may start anew with the confidence that you are behind them in victory or defeat.

TEACHERS TRAINING

If anyone were to visit the Teacher Training Department around four o'clock, he would perhaps see fourteen heads bent studiously over what appears to be the writing of important masterpieces. They may be rightly called masterpieces, although we, the members of the training department, call them "lesson plans". Last Tuesday we began the teaching of language and spelling in the fifth and sixth grades. With the aid of Miss Stapleton and the teachers of the various rooms, we feel we are accomplishing something in the various rooms. From the reports heard in the department, everyone seems to be enjoying the practice; and from the results on the papers handed in by the children, we are convinced that they have not suffered too severely under the temporary change.

On Wednesday before Thanksgiving, Miss Stapleton turned the afternoon over to her students during which they could do as they wished. They suggested having a party. Miss Nelson began the party by singing two beautiful numbers; "Shortnin' Bread" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny". We were all truly grateful to her for beginning our party and we hope she will sing for us again soon. The afternoon was spent in playing games. Miss Noen, Miss Ornquist and Miss Sanner sacrificed the playing of games for making taffy. We appreciated their efforts as the taffy was certainly good. However, we did have some trouble in pulling the taffy. It didn't require a specialist to tell that some of us were inexperienced. Miss Stapleton added nuts to our feast. Can you imagine hands all stuck up with taffy, cracking nuts? Four o'clock brought the end of a perfect day. As each member left the department, it was with a smiling face and a light heart.

Last week we were greatly honored by an invitation from Miss Viola Bredeson to observe a project on which she and her pupils have been working for several weeks. They had just completed an art project on the life of the Indian. From what we observed, we feel sure the children are receiving excellent training in art and public speaking.

We are all convinced that Miss Nelson has great patience. Last week she taught us a new primary song called "One, Two, Three". In reviewing the song she hummed the tune to see if we would recognize it. All faces seemed blank except one. Well, if one had remembered hearing it, she perhaps would have felt that she had accomplished something. However, when she did ask where this song had been heard before, she received the answer, "In church." We were also being taught to mark out time in music by marching. For quick time, we would run in step. We were all given a chance to illustrate the ordinary time and the quick time. One member of our group thought this step too plain so she added a little hop to it.

Friday afternoon was spent in admiring the pictures in the auditorium of the Knox School. We were told to pay particular attention to the landscape pictures as sometime in the spring we shall be given an opportunity to try our hand at landscape painting.

Plans are being made for Christmas program. Committees have been chosen to prepare for the program, decorations, and for the lunch. We are all looking forward to a good time.

The Junior Class gave their play on Friday night. Those who saw the play agree that they did very well in their presentation of 'Adam and Eva'.

PROWLING AROUND

One of the most important cogs in the Prowler cage machine is expected to be the slightly overlooked Clark Mickelson, the speedy ambidextrous forward who has a strangle hold on a regular post. Always high scorer, "Mick" is second in the individual scoring race and is expected to furnish more than his share of scoring for the season. He has a knack of getting in the open for shots although closely guarded and is thus probably the most dangerous Prowler scorer in the clutch. "Mick" is fourth in a line of brothers who have "made" Prowler athletic history and appears capable to uphold the family tradition. Clark seemed to be headed for a regular slot last year, but lost out to Nelson and Lorentson and thereafter it was a hit-and-miss proposition with the misses slightly predominating. He did, however, win a hectic over time game for the Prowlers at Warren single handed last year. Clark faces stiff competition for his post from Earl Nicholson and Clarence Haug but "Mick" should win out and go down as one of the finest players in Prowler history, and inasmuch as the present combination seems to have no peer, Coach Lee is not apt to break it up. As is characteristic of the whole team average, Clark's offensive work is further advanced than his defensive ability.

Clark's younger brother, Reuben a junior reserve guard or forward, is expected to furnish the Prowlers with a classy sub for Haughom and Lee. "Little Mick" is smart, always alert, and cool under fire and, all in all, is one of the most dependable players on the team. He ranks very, very close to the top in your columnists ranking of Prowler sharp shooters. His play is going to be much in evidence this year but he probably will not reach the peak of his prep career until next season.

'N we don't blame Mr. Peterson for being disillusioned about his fourth period English class. After bringing them some delicious chocolates to munch (just to get the spirit of the thing) they sat back and flatly refused to give any after-dinner speeches. Such gratitude, now really!

ADAM AND EVA TURNS OUT TO BE DECIDED SUCCESS

Much Praise Is Due to Cast and Miss Olson

The Juniors presented a preview of "Adam and Eva", their class play, Thursday afternoon. Lester Erickson was master of ceremonies. After the preview Loren Stadum gave a short talk encouraging the sale of tickets for the play.

A large audience assembled in the City Auditorium to see the play. The play opened showing Clifford Lanke playing the part of James King, a richman, and the father of Julie DeWitt, (by June Yatesund) and Eva King, the younger daughter, played by Joyce Bennes. His two daughters, Eva and Julie, also Aunt Abby "Rock" and Clinton DeWitt, husband of Julie, had all been sponging on Mr. King and running up big charge accounts and bills. Uncle Horace also has fun living in this household since the day he came to spend a week-end. Finally Mr. King becomes so depressed that he decides to change places with his business manager, Adam Smith (played by Ralph Gustafson) who longs for a home. Mr. King departs for the Amazon in South America leaving Adam as father and manager of the household.

Eva has two suitors, Dr. Jack DeLamater, played by John Fabrick, and Lord Andrew Gordon, by Earl Burrell, whom she becomes engaged to. Corenthia falls in love with Adam, but Adam and Eva eventually fall in love with each other. Mr. King comes home to find his family happy and living on a chicken farm in New Jersey and actually saving money as a result of Adam's telling the family that their father had gone broke.

After the second act Miss Olson was presented a gift and flowers of appreciation from the Junior class.

The three-act comedy was enjoyed by all.

PROWLERETTES' CORNER

Ah me—josies, m'dears! It seems ages since last I wrote you—much to tell, and little time, so don't be surprised at my efforts to curtail time and effort.

First—believe it or not—there are over thirty josie tumblers reporting on Monday nights. What's more—those who come the first time come also the second. Evidently nothing can frighten them away. They may pale at the idea of taking a high dive over the box, but "Do or Die" is the prevailing slogan. Oh they'll come along—those tumbleweeds!

Seems as if basketball takes high honors for most popular sport. Girl cagers who intend to do their own "courting"—with a ball—number twelve teams—with ten and more on each-figure it out, folks. Don't tell Big Josie that gym isn't used every minute (and wouldn't we just love having a new one! Hmm—wonder if that would be considered propoganda) Captains and their teams are as follows.

M. Simonson—Sizzlers

H. Arnes—Green Peppers

Howacter—Guinea Pigs

Stenberg—Basketeers

E. Tungseth—Tone Twisters

Douglas—Cagers

Helquist—Midgettes

Lorentson—Addettes

Quist—Slick Shooters

A. Thompson—Tailspin Tommies

Land—Tub-Huskies

N. Nelson—Hot Shots

The teams are well divided and we should have some swell competition. Each team plays another once and then—oh then comes class basketball.

With fame or otherwise to be gained on the auditorium hard wood—

Well—cheerio—goodbye—and don't forget this snow could mean skis! Good-bye—ski good luck—ski.

Forever—Big Josie.

SENIORS WHO'S WHO

She's a blonde, five feet two, eyes of blue. She aspires to be a private stenographer like Miss Abigail Bettyohn. I can't say that I've heard of her, but I think she looks quite pretty on her bosses' knee. She has no nickname and she wants one too—so what? She does not like little dicks—but she eats 6 or 7 at the time to be sociable. Her hobby is attending movies—whenever Loretta Young or Spencer Tracy are acting, or when such a movie as "Haytime" is showing. Her favorite music comes from such great musicians as Wayne King and Olaf Roisum as they both render "Remember Me". Bookkeeping is all she goes to school for I guess. Like most debutantes her pet peeve is a sponge or a quarter thieve or a kleptomaniac—such as Oden—(the perfect example). She's one Arline Prestabak.

He's tall, tan, and terrific and [illegible] and what a gift for the girls—at least certain girls. He has a nice speaking voice, and has tremendous football ability, which is incidentally his favorite sport. You can find him in solitude (?) at the local theaters whenever Joe Penner or Judy Garland are playing and his favorite movie thus far is "Life of the Party". We're living in a jazz-crazy world but he sticks to the Fairmont "Old Timers" as they render "Over the Waves". He enjoys skating northward on the river, but how he does hate to miss school. Like most boys he's always hungry and lists his favorite dish as chinaware. Personally I've never heard of it—course I've never been around. "Oh tish, don't be joshing", is his pet expression—quite effiminate I say. He's 160 pounds of bones and shanks thus he aspires to be nice and chubby like our own Mel Haughom. It is about time you all get in on this Floyd Melby—Flade to you guys that know him.

SPORT SHORTS

Coach Lee officiated in the Concordia-Bemidji Teachers tilt in Bemidji Saturday.

Milt Nesse, one of last year's Prowler cagers, was listed as a contender for a berth on the St. Olaf College basketball troupe.

The Prowlers were greatly impressed by the play of Collegians Larry Schneider, Art Ernst, Maynard Thompson, Jimmy Witham, et al. Saturday evening at Bemidji. The Prowlers had the distinction of sharing their dressing room with the winning Concordia Cobbers at Bemidji.

Don Lorentson is leading the Prowler scoring jamboree at present. He was high point man in the two first games.

Here's a note of warning to the Prowler "B" squad. Strandquist, a future opponent won its first three games, numbering Roseau and Newfolden among its victims. Alvarado, who gave the locals a couple of stubborn tussles last season, has an all veteran team returning including Joy Ready, one of the best players the Prowler "B" encountered last year.

The Bemidji Lumberjacks walloped the Cass Lake five 42 to 24 last Saturday and earlier whipped Coleraine 25 to 24. Captain Dick Olson scored seventeen points against Coleraine. He was the highest scorer in a single contest against the Leemen last year. The Resorters are reported as small but speedy. Their team is green but will develop into a powerful squad by the time they face the Prowlers.

Warren trounced East Grand Forks 29 to 6 recently. They are going to give the Prowlers plenty of worry especially in their own "cracker box" floor where the Ponies seem to hold a jinx on opposing teams.

The Junior Class of the Crookston high school will present their play, "Tweedles" on December 10. Here's luck to them!

INDIANS TO MEET LOCAL SQUAD ON FRIDAY, DEC. 10

Veteran Mahnomen Team to Test Prowler Strength

William G. Hoffman, who for 17 years has guided the basketball destinies of Mahnomen High School, will invade Thief River Falls with a lovely squad of Redskins, when the two teams clash here, tomorrow night.

This year's aggregation is practically identical to that which went down to a 29-25 defeat at the hands of the Prowlers last year. The squad is paced by Don Glass, an Indian forward, who was high scorer in last year's Prowler tilt.

Another familiar name on the Mahnomen roster is that of Clarence Bonn, whose ability as a hoopster of the first caliber is little inferior to any one. Mahnomen will also be remembered as the toughest Prowler grid adversary this fall, and its work in the hardwood this year indicates that the team that will take the floor Friday will give the Prowlers an equally well contested struggle.

The home team, however, together with past performances, and that fact that they will be playing on their own floor, seem to have a noticeable edge. With impressive wins over Greenbush and the Bemidji State Teachers College Reserves, the Leemen must get the nod. With two games already in the books, the Prowler shot makers are paced by Don Lorentson, fast breaking forward, who, to date, has amassed a total of 20 counters. The men from Mahnomen county will find considerable difficulty in piercing the defensive combination of Stadum, Caldis, and Lee. Preceding the Prowlers 1937 home debut, the "B" squad will get its first test under fire. They will meet the same Greenbush team that earlier lost to the Prowler regulars. With a team boasting a few, last years veterans, the Prowler reserves may be rated a slight favorite.

COL. LINDBERGH AND WIFE ARRIVE IN THIS COUNTRY

Are Visiting at Home of Mrs. Lindbergh's Mother in New Jersey

Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh are home from a two-year exile abroad but the guarded acres of the Morrow estate close by the rim of the Hudson river's palisades hold the secret of why they have come and how long they will stay.

The hero of American aviation and his wife, Anne, who has shared many notable flights with him, slipped unheralded into New York Sunday morning aboard the United States liner President Harding.

They had sailed from Southampton Nov. 27, under the incognito of "Mr. and Mrs. Gregory" for their first trip to their native land since they went to England in desperate search of the seclusion they felt they could not find here just 16 days short of two years ago.

A waiting car whisked them from the Manhattan dock to the 52-acre estate of Mrs. Dwight Morrow, Mrs. Lindbergh's 64-year-old mother, and the only word of authoritative status concerning their plans came from a ship's officer who said: "Their visit will be brief. They plan to return abroad immediately after Christmas."

SAVE PENNIES FOR BIG GAME LICENSE

Breckenridge.—Saving pennies for a year a local farm couple was able to buy two big game licenses this fall at the office of the county auditor. After the licenses had been made out the couple asked how much they cost and being informed that the price was $2.25 each, the man laid $4.50 worth of pennies on the counter. He informed the clerk that he and his wife had been saving the pennies during the last year.

FOOTPRINTS OF SERVICE

This is a reproduction of a picture taken in sub-zero temperature the morning after a severe snow storm showing footprints of a telephone operator leading to the telephone office. They are mute evidence of the "spirit of service" that is back of your telephone.

Blocked streets and highways seldom keep telephone employees from the job. If at all possible, they are at work ready to do their part in providing your telephone service.

The management of this Company greatly appreciates the fine "spirit of service" shown by employees and we feel sure that our customers do, also. Because of it, the Company is able to serve you much better than otherwise would be possible.

Employee devotion to the job of providing telephone service is essential to the carrying out of our policy to provide the best service at the lowest practicable charges. As a part of this policy, it is our obligation to employees to pay wages that are in all respects fair and just, to provide safe and agreeable working conditions, and to deal fairly with each individual and group.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Bona-fide farm leaders of the west hit out last week at a new "farm organization" which was set up in Chicago with no other apparent purpose than to mislead the public into believing that farmers oppose aims of organized labor.

No advance publicity was given to the meeting of unknown or deposed farm leaders who gave themselves the title Farmers National Committee, but a statement was released condemning the Black-Connery wages and hours bill now before Congress.

Signers of a statement questioning the new group's authority to speak for farmers and at the same time endorsing demands of organized labor were leaders of the Farmers Union and Farmers Holiday Association.

The statement, noting that big business groups are in the habit of setting up fake organizations to speak in the name of the "farmer," said that interests of the farmer and the worker are alike and that "by cooperation can they gain their ends." Any attempt to prevent unity of the groups was condemned.

Included on the statement were names of George A. Nelson of Wisconsin, chairman of the National Farmers Union board and national organizer for his group; Emil Loriks, president of the South Dakota Farmers Union and a member of the national board; Morris Erickson, secretary of the North Dakota Farmers Union and also a member of the national board.

Tom Cheek, president of the Oklahoma Farmers Union, Kenneth Hones, president of the Wisconsin Farmers Union; A. W. Ricker, editor of the Farmers Union Herald; Charles Egley, manager of the Farmers Union Livestock Exchange; John H. Bosch, president of the National Farmers Holiday Association, and Dale Kramer, national secretary of the same group.

Cold comfort is afforded the city dailies which are trying to use data in the Fiterman report, dealing with the state's financial structure, against the present administration in the report's two principal recommendations which advise a pay as you go policy and warn against further increasing the state's indebtedness.

It is interesting to note that the Governor already made these recommendations in his inaugural address as well as in his message to the special session. He said:

"Increased expenditures must be regarded as current expenditures and must be met by current revenues. It would be unfair to meet them through bond issues or through increasing the state's indebtedness." (Inaugural message).

"The other problem is to raise sufficient revenue to meet the current needs of government to balance the budget in fact as well as in name, so that we do not saddle upon future generations burdens which properly belong to us."

When papers become frantic they are apt to do some very strange things. It appears here, however, that they have taken hold of a hot potato.

Asking that Tom Mooney, labor leader convicted in connection with a Preparedness Day bomb outrage but since proven innocent "in the eyes of every decent man and woman not only in America but in the entire world" be granted a full pardon, Governor Benson, in an address in San Francisco last Sunday, declared:

"When certain people in powerful positions wanted Mooney in prison, wanted to get rid of him because he was what they termed a labor agitator—it was possible to start the machinery of government working with clock like precision to get him there. Now, however, that he has been proven innocent, it has been found impossible to start the machinery of government moving again with equal speed and precision to make him a free man.

"The mills of justice indeed grind slowly. But I want to say quite categorically that this is indeed a sad commentary not only upon our system of justice but upon some of our public officials. If [illegible] of those powerful people who sent Mooney to prison passed along the word that they wanted him out, it would not take many days before Tom Mooney would be with us again."

The Governor was the principal speaker at a Mooney mass meeting arranged by San Francisco labor and liberals.

On Saturday Governor Benson delivered an address before the annual convention of the Oregon Commonwealth Federation on the subject, "The Farmer-Labor Program for the Crisis".

"Our Farmer-Labor view of government," he said, "and of society, does not represent a new philosophy. It is merely Abraham Lincoln's philosophy of government of the people, for the people, and by the people carried into the conditions of our times. It is simply a renewed expression of the Declaration of Independence. We in the Farmer-Labor party hold that government and the laws exist for the people and not the people for the government and its laws."

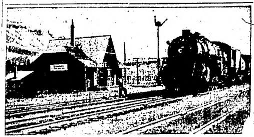
"I USED TO WORK A NIGHT SHIFT TOO, JIM... BUT NOT ANY MORE"
Happy Holm SAYS

REMEMBER how I used to work on the Dawn Patrol . . . going down at four a.m. to stoke up the fire? Now I sleep until seven (cause I've got a fuel that really holds a fire. Yessir, Ed, I've discovered the kind of coal we've all been looking for. . . and mighty fine, friendly service, too. Enjoy it yourself—by 'phoning your order today."

CENTRAL LUMBER CO.
W. W. Prichard, Manager



This isn't, perhaps, the way you pictured "the top of the Rocky Mountains," but it's the highest point on the main line of the Great Northern Railway—Marias Pass, elevation 5,213 feet. This low and direct route across the Rockies helps to make the Great Northern one of the most economically operated railroads in the country.

More Than a Mere Coincidence....?

You and others who pay the freight bills that provide your railway transportation, paid the Great Northern Railway an average of a little more than one cent for every ton of freight hauled one mile, during the year 1932.

That, of course, was five years ago. This year it will be only about 4/5ths of a cent.

You are likely to wonder how it happens that the Great Northern's average revenue for hauling a ton of freight one mile has dropped off one-fifth, particularly if you happen to be one of those who have not observed any reduction in your freight rates.

The explanation is simple:

• There has been a big increase in shipments of low value commodities (heavy and bulky), which are hauled at relatively low rates.

• There has not been a corresponding increase in shipments of the higher-value commodities (lighter and less bulky), which are hauled at relatively higher rates. Much of this revenue has been lost to other forms of transportation, which are favored by important advantages in taxation, legislation, regulation, and, more important still, are favored by both direct and hidden subsidies.

• To meet this unequal competition we have been obliged to lower many of our rates.

• Other rates have been reduced voluntarily to protect the markets of producers and industries located in our territory.

• Still other reductions have been required by federal and state regulatory bodies.

If the Great Northern had received the same average revenue this year that it did in 1932 for every ton of freight it hauled one mile, it would have collected $20,000,000 more from shippers than it will this year.

Meanwhile, wages have increased 18 per cent; taxes, 25 per cent; and the cost of fuel, materials and supplies, approximately 40 per cent.

It probably is more than a coincidence that the recent "recession" in business should have followed wide-spread recognition of an impending crisis in the railroad industry—an industry which —Consumes nearly a fourth of all the bituminous coal mined in this country;

—A fifth of all the fuel oil produced;

—A sixth of all the iron and steel produced;

—A fifth of all the timber that is cut;

—Pays about a million dollars a day in taxes;

—Pays out more than five million dollars a day in wages.

Two Homes Destroyed by Fire

The Melvin Nohre home was completely destroyed Wednesday afternoon by a fire which was believed to have started from children playing with matches. All the contents of the home were destroyed as the fire had gained such headway before it was discovered. The flames soon spread to and destroyed the adjoining building which belonged to Harry Ortloff of Red Lake Falls. This home has been occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hillgoss who are in Chicago at the present time. Nearly all of Mr. and Mrs. Hillgoss's belongings were removed before that home became ablaze. Mr. and Mrs. Nohre and sons Harry and Stanton are residing at the P. P. Helgeson home in Thief River Falls until further arrangements for a home can be made.

The people in the community have been very kind in making contributions to the Nohre family who suffered a great loss because of the fire.

The Successor to the Washing Machine Is Here—

WITH this thrilling announcement comes new leisure, new freedom from toil and new economy for women. The successor to the washing machine . . . the Bendix Automatic Home Laundry . . . is here!. Easily the most astonishing home appliance of the century. Certainly for women the greatest of all labor savers.

Imagine, if you can, a machine that does all the work of washing . . . automatically. That washes clothes, puts them through three separate fresh water rinses, whirls them damp-dry . . . with absolutely no attention from you.

After the controls are set for the washing period, soap and bluing added, you may leave the machine indefinitely . . . to do other housework, to shop, or play. When the washing is finished the Bendix shuts off automatically.

That is your new washday . . . with the Bendix Home Laundry. A free and workless washday!

A Christmas Reconciliation
Helen Waterman

MARY and John had quarreled—just before Christmas, too. The Christmas candy had burned, and then, in the excitement, each had blamed the other, making cruel retorts, until Mary fled to her bedroom in tears and John stalked off in the snowy night.

The Christmas candle beamed a welcome from the window as John started around the block again. He was cold, and sorry, but he mustn't go in too soon.

The tree, the holly, their little girl asleep in her crib and dreaming of Santa Claus—all were a mockery. Mary went into the living room and snapped on the radio, looking for a jazz band and forgetfulness. Instead there came the strains of "Silent Night"—"peace on earth, good will to men,"—"God bless us, every one"—"may nothing you dismay." Wasn't there anything on except Christmas programs? A click brought back the silence.

She opened the front door. Next time she would ask John to come in. Tell him she was sorry. Now that she stopped to think, she knew that he was sorry, too. Why let a few excited words that neither of them meant spoil their Christmas?

But John did not come. It was too cold to stand at the door any longer, but she sat at the window, with the curtain drawn aside, watching for him. An hour went by.

When at last she saw him coming the relief almost choked her. He was striding rapidly, carrying something in his arms. She opened the door for him and he handed his burden to her.

"Here, Mary, hold him. Careful, now. His leg's hurt. I'll get a box and we'll fix a bed."

Mary looked down at the warm bundle. It was a furry puppy. One leg was in splints. The puppy whimpered a little and licked her hand.

"But, John, where did you get him?"

"Accident. Over on Linden. Fell out of a passing car. I took him to a vet and had him fixed up. Thought he'd make a cute pet for Alice—" He stopped his work and straightened up. "I'm awfully sorry, Mary. I was a fool."

"It was my fault, John." Their eyes met in perfect understanding. How silly to quarrel. The silence was a more impressive reconciliation than words. Mary broke it nervously, for fear she would cry again. "There are some clean rags in the drawer. And we ought to get him something to eat. He can have this old bowl for his dish." She worked with one hand, cuddling the puppy. "Won't Alice be surprised? And what shall we name him?"

"Ought to have some connection with Christmas eve, don't you think? How about Scrooge, or Marlow?"

"Oh, no!"

"Good King Wenceslaus!"

"Such names for a poor innocent puppy! Maybe we had better see what Alice wants to call him in the morning." She put the puppy down with a saucer of warm milk. John came and put his arm around her, and they stood close together watching their pet lap greedily.

"We ought to call him Peacemaker, honey," said John. "If it hadn't been for him, I might have still been out there in the snow."

"Oh, John!" She held him close. "Weren't we silly? I was so worried when you didn't come. If anything had happened to you I could never have forgiven myself."

"Felt pretty rotten myself. Not my idea of the best way to spend Christmas eve."

"Of course! I forgot! We have so much left to do! The tree, and Alice's doll must be unpacked, and her stocking filled. What time is it?"

He looked at his watch. "Almost midnight."

"Not really!"

He nodded, and put his watch on the table. "Here, pooch," he said, "it's bedtime for you." He lifted the puppy into its bed, and turned back to his wife. "And as for you, milady," he said, "in about ten seconds I want a kiss for Christmas, and then we're going to pitch in together and clean up this mess, and trim the tree, and maybe even chance another batch of candy. OK?" Then, it's time, darling, to say Merry, Merry Christmas."

Tigers in South America

The South American tiger, called by the natives tigre, is the jaguar. There are no true tigers in South America.

GRYGLA

At the Grygla Lutheran Parsonage Wednesday evening, Dec. 1, Arne P. N. Nelson and Miss Josephine Peters were married by the Rev. S. T. Anderson. Mrs. S. T. Anderson presided at the piano. The couple was attended by Miss Sylvia Peters and John T. Nelson. The bride wore a beautiful gown of Navy blue crepe and the groom a best suit of blue serge.

This couple is very favorably known in the Grygla community and their many friends will be pleased to know that they are going to make their future home on the groom's farm.

Mrs. Wahl of Lakeville has been visiting at the home of Albert Lother for the past couple of weeks.

H. P. Sandberg and Albert J. Miller made a business trip to Bemidji on Thursday. They were accompanied on their trip by Mr. and Mrs. Bud Holbrook and Oscar Hagen.

N. K. Nelson a former early day settler here and his son-in-law, Oscar Cerney of Thief River Falls were visiting with old friends here last Wednesday. It is very many years since Mr. Nelson was here and he remarked and marveled at the wonderful improvement and the progress of this country.

H. E. Linn has been improving the interior of his building just west of the Fladeland garage and will occupy the quarters as the family residence.

Mrs. Geo. Rocky left on Wednesday for Fargo after visiting for a couple of weeks at the O. J. Johnson home. At Fargo Mrs. Rocky will visit with her daughter before going to her home at Wales, N. D.

Mrs. G. P. Armstrong returned to her home here on Monday from Bemidji where she visited with her sister Mrs. Smart.

Iverson were present and both gentlemen favored the assemblage with interesting talks. After the program the usual coffee and dance was participated in.

Miss Helen Moran returned to the village last week after spending the summer at Lake Kabetogama. It is rumored she will act as assistant at the telephone office due to the resignation of Mae Strupladen.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Sandberg from Hill City, visited with relatives here on Sunday and Monday. Gus advises that business in their town is pretty much on the up and up.

Gunder Grovum is the proud possessor of a new Oldsmobile and Harold Huck is sporting a new Terraplane.

Miss Ada Tolness project leader of Bemidji met with the local club leaders with reference to future work in this line.

A deal of some importance locally was consummated on Monday when Gunder Grovum sold his building, business and good will to Mr. Knut Boyum formerly of Lake Kabetogama. Gunder says that 12 long years have passed since he began to operate the business and that on account of the long hours feels as if he is entitled to a rest. Gunder has hundreds of friends here who regret his selling out. Just what his future plans will be are unknown altho it is expected that the Grovum family will continue to make Grygla their home for some time to come. For the new proprietor we can speak only of the best and with his business ability will continue to make the place as popular as it has been in the past. Mr. Boyum formerly operated a similar business at Lake Kabetogama so this trade is not new to him. He is a son in law of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Miller.

RIVER VALLEY

The Ladies aid at the O. T. Lunden home Thursday was well attended. The baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rodman was christened and given the name Fern JoAnn. BABY RESPONSIBLE FOR PRIZE STORY

Detroit Lakes.—If circumstantial evidence had not led parents of Darrell Thomas, the year-old-son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bergen of near Hawley, to believe he had swallowed a button, his mother might never have made the initial effort in story writing which won her a prize of $200. One day last winter a coat button, with which Darrel Thomas had been playing, mysteriously disappeared and it was feared the button had gone the way of everything that Darrell Thomas could get into his mouth. There was no sleep for Mrs. Bergen that night. As she watched the child, she remembered a long entertained urge to write. Immediately she dashed off a short story entitled, "You Said You'd Write." The story brought the $200 prize and is to appear in an early issue of the Country Home Magazine.

Ruth Rue Krellwitz and her son Melvin left Tuesday for Michigan to make their home with Mrs. Krellwitz's sister, Mrs. R. O. Bumgarner at Middleville.

Mrs. Roy Lambert of Detroit Lakes, a former resident of this city, will return to her home at Detroit Lakes today after visiting here with friends since Monday.

F. Elofson returned Monday from Minneapolis, where he visited with his brother Russell Elofson and family, and Litchfield, where he visited with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rayppy. He was gone a week.

Harold Snyder and Mr. Clark, who were formerly associated with the local Re-employment service and are now with the Minnesota Re-employment division at St. Paul, were in this city Tuesday.

Dr. James J. Swendson of St. Paul has announced the association with him of Dr. Charles W. Froats, formerly of this city. They will have offices at 1240 Lowry Medical Arts Bldg., St. Paul. Dr. Froats' practice will be limited to obstetrics and diseases of women.

Mmes. Wiley Ewing, Robert Kirkconnell, Ordean Olson and Leo Carpenter, all of St. Hilaire, visited with Mrs. Melvin Nohre at the P. P. Reierson home near the city Friday. Mrs. Nohre was severly burned when fire destroyed her home at St. Hilaire recently.

Mrs. F. M. Shanahan, in company with her brother Clarence Smith of Beach, N. D., and her brother-in-law Arthur Bartleson of this city, motored to Brainerd on Monday morning for a short visit at the home of Mrs. Shanahan's son-in-law and daughter Veronica, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Dostert. Mr. Smith and Mr. Bartleson will continue on to the cities to attend to matters of business, while Mrs. Shanahan expected to return to her home here Friday.

Mrs. John Hurley, accompanied by Miss Mary Margaret Cosgrove left by car Tuesday morning for the east, where they will spend the holidays at Mrs. Hurley's home in Hartford, Conn. Enroute they expect to stop in the twin cities, Chicago, Washington, D. C., and New York City. Mr. Hurley, who has been stationed here as construction superintendent with the Resettlement administration, will join them later. After the holidays the Hurleys will reside at Saginaw, Mich., and Miss Cosgrove will make her home with them.

A local item in the Times last week incorrectly stated that Mrs. C. T. Thompson visited at International Falls during the Thanksgiving holiday. Mrs. Thompson spent Thanksgiving and the following week-end at Duluth, with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Thompson and the twins. Ward Thompson, who teaches at the Net Lake school at Orr, went to Duluth to spend the holidays with his wife and the twins, who were taken to Duluth for medical attention following their birth. His sister, Miss Ruby Thompson, who teaches at Austin, also spent Thanksgiving there with them.

CALF IS BORN WITHOUT EYES

Chatfield.—A heifer calf born to a Guernsey cow belonging to John Hander of this vicinity was perfect in every respect save one—it had no eyes. This highly unusual animal freak possessed no semblance of eyes, although it did have two narrow slits in its forehead where the eyes should have been. Because a calf laboring under such an obvious handicap would never grow up to be a "contented cow," Mr. Hander disposed of it.

STATE WILL PAY UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS IN '38

Statement Explains Who Is to Get Benefits From New State Law

"When and how will Minnesota workers receive benefits under the Minnesota unemployment compensation law?"

The answer to this question is given by Frank T. Starkey, industrial commissioner in charge of the state's unemployment compensation division, in the following statements:

Claims for benefits by unemployed workers will be accepted beginning January 3, 1938. The first benefit payment possible under the law cannot be made until after the third week in 1938.

No worker will become automatically entitled to benefits merely upon proof that he is out of work. Certain definite eligibility conditions must be met by all workers before receiving benefits.

Benefits will be in the form of weekly checks ranging from a maximum of $15 down to approximately $6. A worker's benefit rate is 50 per cent of his usual fulltime weekly wage, but not exceeding $15 per week. In some instances, where the usual earnings of a worker are extremely low, benefits would be $6 per week or three-fourths of the usual fulltime weekly wage, whichever is less.

A worker who claims benefits because of unemployment on or after January 1, 1938, must comply with the following eligibility conditions:

He must register immediately at the Minnesota Employment Service office nearest to his home. (Employment Service offices will be opened throughout the state by January 3, 1938, and a list of the cities and towns in which they are to be located will be available at every covered employer's work place.)

He must file claim for benefits in the same office.

His claim must be substantiated by records at headquarters of the Minnesota unemployment compensation division, St. Paul.

If he files his claim before April 1, 1938, his record must show that he had earned 12 times his weekly benefit rate in nonexempted employment during the first nine months of 1937.

He must report once each week to the employment service office where he first registered and be able and willing to accept suitable work should it be found for him.

He must fulfill a two-weeks' waiting period beginning on the day he filed his claim before becoming entitled to a benefit check, which will be paid him once each week beginning with the third week of unemployment. No benefits can be paid for the two weeks' waiting period.

An eligible unemployed worker who files his claim before April 1, 1938, may receive as many as 16 weeks of benefits, provided the 16 checks do not total more than one-sixth of his total earnings during the first nine months of 1937. If one-sixth of his total earnings for the nine months was not as much as 16 times his benefit rate, he will receive benefit checks only in the amount of the one-sixth portion.

A worker who applies for benefits on or after April 1, 1938, must meet with the same eligibility conditions as outlined above, with the exception that he must have earned 16 times his benefit rate during a period of 12 months instead of nine months. After April 1, 1938, the period upon which the one-sixth of total earnings is based also is extended to at least 12 months.

Crippled Children and Disabled Adults to Get Free Christmas Radios

The Minnesota Association for Crippled Children and Disabled Adults will give between 300 and 400 reconditioned used radios to crippled shutins who cannot afford to buy a radio. The gift will be made before Christmas. The association asks for early suggestions and information from the general public so that all worthy cases in Minnesota can be taken care of.

If anyone in this community knows of a crippled shut-in who should have one of these radios, send a request direct to the association offices, 302 Hodgson Building, Minneapolis, giving the name and address of the child and the names of the parents. The applications for these gift radios will be checked by officials of the association and the distribution of the gifts at Christmas time will be under the supervision of the association. There are only two conditions to the gift. The person must be a shut-in, and the family unable to afford to purchase a radio. The reason for these conditions are very apparent.

This plan for bringing sunshine and good cheer during the holiday season to the crippled children of Minnesota was inaugurated last year by The Roycraft Company, Philco radio distributors for Minnesota. In co-operation with Philco radio dealers throughout the state, over 400 reconditioned radios were given to crippled shut-ins last Christmas.

The Larson Company, local Philco dealer, has offered to supply the reconditioned radios for this particular community.

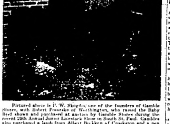
4-H BABY BEEF PURCHASED BY GAMBLE STORES



Pictured above is P. W. Skogmo, one of the founders of Gamble Stores, with Robert Posratke of Worthington, who raised the Baby Beef shown and purchased at auction by Gamble Stores during the recent 20th Annual Junior Livestock Show in South St. Paul. Gambles also purchased a lamb from Albert Bakken of Crookston and a pen of lambs from Ralph Ireland of Mankato. All boys are members of the Minnesota 4-H Club.

This is the third consecutive year in which Gamble Stores have actively participated in this 4-H show. Mr. Skogmo said, "Gamble Stores are glad to be able to help 4-H club boys and girls in their fine work by participating with enthusiastic bidding in the livestock sale which follows the awarding of championships. This gives these leading 4-H boys and girls a deserving premium over regular market prices. We sincerely hope that more and more individuals and firms in Minnesota will take part in the annual auction to encourage farm boys and girls to carry on the excellent job they are doing."

Red River Valley History

By Win V. Working

Forty Years Ago

Here we present a few news items of 40 years ago from The Press, then a Thief River Falls weekly newspaper, published by P. S. Ware. These items, we believe form an illuminative cross-section of life here in those days. Here is the first one (the date is Jan. 1, 1897):

"The outdoor sport enjoyed with much zest now is 'skeing' (this is the way the writer of the article spelled it.) A large number of our young men, and old ones, too, have purchased skeis and use them freely. The center of attraction—starting point is an old straw stack on Olson & Holen's farm west of town. The stack is covered with snow and forms an excellent place from which the operators of the skeis 'slide' with alarming swiftness. They pronounce it 'great fun' and the 'greatest sport on earth' but the spectators shake their heads and wonder (sic) how it is possible for a man to run all the chances of breaking his neck and call it commense (sic) sport', etc.".

We hasten to explain that the item above was not composed in the Press office but was clipped from the Argyle Banner. However, the orthographic errors might have been made by the type setter in the Press shop. Of course, type was set by hand in small town plants in those days.

The next item shows us that the emotions of the earlier residents here were nearer the surface, when such an offense as that cited below is committed these days the victims do not usually get so greatly worked up. Anyway, they do not get into print or so seriously excited over the matter.

"E. J. Masters (we read) was on the street last Saturday with blood in his eye looking for a forger. He said some miscreant had presented an order to his assistant clerk, with his (Mr. Masters') name signed to it and the unsuspecting clerk had given the fellow a sealed package of double distilled headaches. He said he didn't care so much for the value of the package as he did to get revenge, but was afraid the fellow would take an overdose and be beyond his vengeance before he could lay hands on him."

It seems that all the exciting things chronicled in this issue of The Press happened elsewhere. This incident, for example, took place at Fosston and was reported by the Fosston Thirteen Towns, still published there. In the third item the Warren Sheaf comes to the front with a farm relief story:

"A great deal of destitution is reported among the settlers in Roseau county and the legislature will be appealed to to furnish needed relief. During the past year or two there has been a large influx of settlers to this newly opened up portion of the state and owing to failure of crop they find themselves in very straightened circumstances. Many of the homesteaders have in former years found work in the harvest fields in the older settled portions of the valley but their earnings this year have been very scant.

"These settlers have gone on to the frontier to develop a rather inaccessible portion of the state and we believe the state should do something to relieve their distress."

That was not bad compared to what has occurred since. We all know what farm and town relief is now—and we all would prefer a more commendable means of sustenance, in the writer's opinion. But we must remember the old saying, "Beggers can't be choosers."

They were trying to figure out the fluctuations in the price of wheat then just as now. The Press says editorially in this 1897 issue:

"The Fertile Journal assigns the rise in the price of wheat to natural causes as follows: 'First and most important, a shortage in the wheat crop all over the world; second, a short rice crop in Asia; third, a short rye crop in Europe.' This explanation is slightly contradictory to the slush the free silver papers were dishing up just before election, claiming the rise of price to be an election scheme of Mark Hanna, et al."

The strange feature of this item is that elsewhere in the same issue the top wheat price, for No. 1 Hard, is quoted as 66 cents a bushel. If that was considered worthy of comment as the result of a rise, wheat certainly must have been in a slump.

The First State Bank's called statement also is an item of interest. Its resources were listed at $15,089.16 with loans and discounts at $25,691.83. C. L. Donner was president of the bank and L. Ellington and J. W. Wheeler attested the signature and report as directors.

The Red State store in Thief River Falls advertised men's overcoats at from $6 to $8. Electric Bitters were advertised as a cure for a great variety of ailments, virtually a panacea.

All that is known of Virginia Dare's career covers a few months of her infancy, but we thought Mr. Roosevelt made it rather plain she was no Republican.—Detroit News.

RIVER FALLS

Mrs. Carrie Hawley of Thief River Falls is visiting at the Frank Johnson home for some time.

Axel Johnson, Hans Hanson of St. Hilaire, Mrs. Otto Johnson and Joe Hange of Bemidji visited at the Frank Johnson home on Wednesday.

Joe Hange of Bemidji visited at the Otto Johnson home a few days last week.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson died Wednesday evening at a hospital in Thief River Falls. Left to mourn are the parents, two sisters, Sandra and Marjorie and a twin brother.

Doris Johnson accompanied her sister Mrs. Henry Hegstrom, to her home in Silverton over the week end.

RIVER FALLS ANNUAL 4-H CLUB MEETING HELD

The River Falls 4-H club annual meeting was held Saturday evening at the Herman Jepson home. The following program was given by the 4-H members and election of officers held: song by Edna and Delorie Omundson; reading by Donald Johnson; talk on "My Trip to the Livestock Show" by Raymond Bothman; reading by Edna Omundson; talk by the County Agent of Thief River Falls. The following officers were elected: Raymond Bothman, president; Betty Johnson, vice president; Donald Johnson, secretary-treasurer. Lunch was served by Mrs. Dave Johnson and Mrs. Herman Jepson.

LOOK the whole length of Motor Car Row, and you won't find a car anywhere that offers you what this stunning new Buick does.

No other car, for instance, has its DYNAFLASH engine, squeezing more useful power out of every drop of gasoline you burn.

No other car has TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING—or can match the smoothness-with-safety this new coil-spring rear suspension provides.

No other car combines such features as Silent Zone Body Mounting, Valve-in-Head efficiency, Torque-Tube Drive, Tiptoe Hydraulic Brakes, Knee-Action comfort and safety—in a package so big and handsome.

All that plainly says "Better buy Buick!" But just by way of completing the story, we'd like to point out this:

The Buick SPECIAL is the lowest-priced straight-eight of its size on the market. At least two sixes carry higher list prices, and others are priced so close that a dollar or two a week covers the difference.

Take the stunning four-door sedan shown here. It's sixteen and a half feet long, has 107 horsepower under its hood, and it's yours complete with standard accessories for only $1022, delivered at Flint, Mich. We don't think you'll find its match anywhere on Motor Car Row. We're sure you won't for the money!

CITE BENEFITS OF GRADE SETUP CHANGE

Net Tax Delinquency in District Is Fixed at 3.3 Per Cent

The matter of a new junior-senior high school building, construction of which at some future date is under consideration by the local board of education, was the subject of a detailed report submitted by Supt. Morris Bye at the December meeting of the board Monday evening. No action in the direction of an early start on the project was taken at the meeting.

In connection with his discussion Mr. Bye pointed out the financial advantage to the district of the 6-3-3 plan of organization of the grades as compared to the present 6-2-4 plan, the former arrangement calling for six elementary grades, three junior high and three senior high. Under this setup, he said, the local district last year would have received $5,120 in additional state aid after prorating.

Present inadequate accommodations in the Central building were cited, as well as the seriously overcrowded conditions existing in Lincoln high school, some of the rooms being reported as accommodating up to double the number for which there is adequate space.

"As we have brought out in our previous discussions of our building difficulties", Mr. Bye said in his report, "it is probable that the most economical way of providing adequate facilities for grades 7 to 12 is to build an addition to the present Lincoln building large enough to house all these grades in the one building. There is considerable economy in operation of one building instead of two, and one building for the junior-senior high school will avoid any unnecessary duplication of the more expensive rooms such as laboratories, home economics rooms, shop, gymnasium, music room and auditorium."

After raising the question of whether or not provision should be made for a junior college in the proposed building, Mr. Bye stated that the cost of a structure adequate to meet present and future needs is a matter of conjecture. He pointed out, however, that without increasing the present levy for school purposes, the district would have the proceeds of a three-mill building levy and the income tax receipts with which to meet payments on principal and interest. Receipts from these sources, he said, are adequate to meet the requirements of a $150,000 bond issue without being reflected in a higher tax rate.

Enrollment in the local schools at the end of the second six weeks period was reported at 1559, an increase of 85 over the corresponding period a year ago. The gain is divided as follows: Kindergarten, ten; grades, 54; and high school, 21.

Mr. Bye presented to the board encouraging figures on tax delinquency in the local district, showing that in 1937 delinquency in payments of current—1936—taxes was only 12.2 per cent, compared to 17.5 per cent in 1936, 18.7 per cent in 1935 and 22 per cent in 1934. Allowing for collections of delinquent taxes during 1937, the net delinquency was only 3.3 per cent.

The board was informed that a WPA hot lunch project for the grade pupils had been approved, providing for the assignment of three women as cooks at the Central, Knox and Northrop schools. In compliance with WPA regulations, children from families on direct relief will not be charged for the lunches, it was agreed.

30 Carloads Turkeys Sent out in December Marketing Campaign

There was a slight dropping off in the amount of turkeys assembled in Thief River Falls during December for shipment to eastern markets, a total of 30 carloads having left the city during the pre-Christmas season this year compared to 34 carloads in December, 1936 and 35 carloads in December, 1935. In addition to rail shipments, a considerable quantity of the holiday birds left by truck, according to reports from some local shippers.

Open House in New Building Saturday

The Minnesota Electric Welding company will make its bow to residents of this section Saturday when officers of the company will hold open house in spacious and attractive quarters in the large, new building recently completed on LaBree av. at Fourth St. Coffee will be served to visitors Saturday afternoon.

In charge of the shop and repair department will be Philip Hawkins, for the past ten years engaged in that line of business in this city, previous to which he operated a similar business in Grygla.

The sales department will be under the direction of Irving E. Quist, widely known to residents of this area. He served during the past year as government engineer on the Mud lake project, ending his service in that capacity Wednesday; and formerly was Marshall county highway engineer for a period of eight years. Other partners in the enterprise are Adolphson & Huset, well-known road contractors who will continue in that field of activity.

Lines to be handled by the company include Oliver farm equipment, Thor and Meadows washers and ironers and Clean-Easy milking machines, in addition to other popular brands of similar merchandise. Factory representatives will be present Saturday to give demonstrations of their products, and C. E. Meehan of this city, blockman for the Oliver company, is assisting with arrangements.

The new home of the company, erected at a cost of nearly $25,000 occupies a well-located site 75 feet wide and 100 feet deep, and is of substantial brick and tile construction. The structure, two stories in height in the front portion and with a basement 22 by 70 feet in dimensions, was designed by Henning & Rustad, local architects, with Stensgaard Brothers as general contractors. Fred Byram did the electrical work, the Peck Plumbing company supplied the boiler and Borry's garage the Iron Fireman stoker.

The front portion of the main floor of the building is occupied by a commodious showroom 22 by 48 feet and office quarters 22 by 23 feet in dimensions. The completely equipped shop immediately to the rear measures 50 by 75 feet, in back of which is a large space for warehouse purposes.

The basement, in addition to the heating plant, accommodates a washroom, toilet and shower for the men, a ladies' rest room, and space for parts storage. On the second floor are two modern apartments, one of which is occupied by the Hawkins family.

STORES OPEN NIGHTS STARTING ON MONDAY AND ENDING DEC. 23D

For the accommodation of last-minute shoppers and those who find it inconvenient to fill their holiday shopping needs during the daytime, Thief River Falls stores will remain open until 9 o'clock beginning next Monday evening, December 20, and continuing thru Thursday, December 23, it was announced today by A. M. Magnuson, chairman of the merchants committee of the Civic and Commerce association. All stores will close at 6 o'clock Christmas Eve, Friday, December 24.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC GROUPS IN PROGRAM FRIDAY

Public Is Invited to Attend Event in Auditorium at 2:30 o'Clock

Previous to the closing of the public schools of the city for the holidays, musical groups of the Lincoln and Central groups will present a Christmas concert in the municipal Auditorium Friday afternoon at 2:30, Supt. Morris Bye announced today, adding that the public is invited to attend.

Groups participating in the program include the Lincoln mixed chorus, junior band, seventh grade chorus, Central boys glee club, eighth grade chorus, Central girls glee club, Lincoln boys glee club, Lincoln mixed chorus, Lincoln high school band and the girls sextette and glee club. In addition Doris Ryan and Leroy Rupprecht will render two folk songs, and Hilding Peterson will give a recitation, "The Christ Child."

Miss Ruth E. Nelson will serve as director of vocal music assisted by Miss Esther Larson and Vincent Schneider, while Ronald G. Riggs will direct the instrumental numbers. On the Christmas program committee are Miss Agnes Tandberg, Miss Lois Thoreson, J. Arthur Johnson and C. W. Pope.

Citizens Depositors, Inc. Pay 4 Per Cent

At a meeting of the board of directors last week, a four per cent dividend was voted on common and preferred stock of Citizens Depositors, Inc., owners of the Citizens bank block. Dividend checks are now available to local stockholders at the office of Adolf Eklund, secretary-treasurer, at the court house. Rasmus Oen is president of the corporation, and Louis Herman is vice president.

DR ANDERSON, ROY OEN ADDRESS ROTARY CLUB

Dr. W. E. Anderson, a new member, gave an autobiographical talk at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club Tuesday noon in the Evelyn hotel, and Roy Oen gave his classification talk.

County Gets Further Flood Relief Grant

The State Executive council approved Wednesday an allocation of $50,000 from the calamity fund for livestock feed purchases in five northwestern Minnesota "flood" counties.

The action brought to $100,000 the state funds already apportioned the area, where heavy rains created flood conditions that destroyed crops in some instances. The expenditures are under the direction of Charles Ommodt, state commissioner of agriculture.

Ommodt asked for $100,000, which he said is the "absolute minimum" essential if the farmers are to be enabled to keep foundation cattle herds. The council, however, extended aid to the extent of $50,000 after an understanding that application for the remainder could be made later if necessary.

Ommodt accounted for disbursal of $47,500 of the earlier allotment as follows: Roseau county, $7,000 to 501 cases; Itasca, $2,000 to 179; Marshall, $12,000 to 319; Beltrami, $6,000 to 190; Pennington, $12,500 to 297, and Lake of the Woods, $8,000 to 464.

All of the "flood counties except Itasca have petitioned the department, Ommodt said, for feed purchase funds aggregating $136,500. Pennington asked $37,500; Lake of the Woods, $20,000; Beltrami, $18,000; Roseau, $21,000, and Marshall, $40,000.

The council voted the $50,000 despite objections voiced by several members to "the counties becoming too dependent upon the State Executive council for every little need." However, the motion made by State Auditor Stafford King carried unanimously.

In addition, the council instructed Ommodt and Herman Aufderheide, state relief administrator, to confer with Lloyd Nelson, Minnesota director of the Farm Security administration, over utilization of a balance of some $50,000 old rural rehabilitation funds, said to be available for use in the state.

With the intention that the money may be expended in the "flood" counties, the council instructed the pair to look into the cost of administering the funds. This item must be borne by the state.

Toboggan Slide Opens for Season Wednesday

Another popular winter sport is available to local residents as a result of the opening Wednesday of the municipal toboggan slide on the east side of the river. Operated under the supervision of the park board, the slide will have custodians on duty from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 at night weekdays, and from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 at night on holidays.

PAIR OF HOCKEY GAMES SET FOR THIS WEEK-END

Two Local Sextets to Show Their Stuff at Arena This Evening

EMERSON TO FURNISH OPPOSITION SUNDAY

Sunday Tilt Is Scheduled to Open at 2 o'Clock in Afternoon

Following an exhibition game this evening at 8 o'clock in the arena in which local players divided into two teams will show their ability on the ice, the Thief River Falls entry in the States-Dominion hockey league next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock will meet the fast Emerson sextet in the first scheduled league game of the season. As the local team has not yet had a chance to exhibit its wares, the outcome is a matter of guesswork, but a real battle is assured.

Hockey booster buttons, of which 600 have been sold to date and which also will be on sale at the arena this evening, will admit the wearer to tonight's exhibition game only, it was announced by Dr. A. R. Hulbert of the American Legion post activities committee, sponsor of the contest. In behalf of the post Dr. Hulbert extended thanks to the public for its wholehearted support of the button sale campaign, proceeds of which will be used for financing expenses in connection with the start of the hockey season.

The opposing teams this evening will be designated as the Whites and the Blues. Included in the lineup of the Whites are Tremontine, Goalie; Sampson and Gulrud, defense; Taylor, Stanbridge and Rube Julien, forwards; and Parbst, Williams and Lorentson, spares. The Blues team includes Olson or Tripp, goalie; Hanson, Snooks Julien and Clifton, forwards; Craig and Peterson, defense; and Poullet, Rustad and Lund, spares.

That the Thieves will have stiff competition in next Sunday's game is revealed by the fact that Emerson this week defeated the strong Cocoa Cola team from Winnipeg by score of 5 to 2 in an exhibition game. The Manitoba team includes a forward line composed of Winnipeg players of outstanding ability. The game Sunday is being called for 2 o'clock instead of 3, the usual hour, in order to permit the visiting team to make bus connection.

To fill in an open date on the local schedule, the team managers have arranged a game to be played in the arena Sunday afternoon, December 26, at 3 o'clock with the International Laboratories team, now leading the Winnipeg Commercial league. A star defense man on the Winnipeg aggregation is Wally Stanowski, 18 years old, who is an outstanding prospect for a berth with the New York Americans.

ANTON REELECTED CHAIRMAN OF SOIL CONSERVING UNIT

Alfred Longren Is Renamed Vice President at Meeting Thursday

The directors of the Pennington County Agricultural Conservation association held their annual meeting in Thief River Falls last Thursday and elected the following officers of county committee: Hans Anton, chairman; Alfred Longren, vice chairman; Ole Nesland, committeeman; E. H. Pomerenke, first alternate; Emil Larson, second alternate; S. E. Hunt, treasurer; and Howard E. Grow, secretary. These officers were all re-elected because of their faithful and unbiased work on past programs. Tom O'Leary, member of the state committee, talked about pending legislation and Selvin Erickson, fieldman for the state association, discussed the completion of the 1937 program.

Junior Chamber to Meet Tonight in Palm Garden

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular meeting this evening at 6:30 in the Palm Garden cafe, President Clarence Sande announced this morning. A report will be submitted on the organization's campaign to place lighted Christmas wreaths in homes in the city, approximately 250 having been sold to date by Boy Scouts engaged in the work.

PENNINGTON FARM BUREAU NAMES ITS DIRECTORS FOR '38

Annual Meeting of Federation Held Wednesday In This City

The Pennington County Farm Bureau federation held its annual meeting in the Civic and Commerce association room Wednesday. The business meeting was held in the forenoon, and directors for 1938 were elected.

The new directors are: E. H. Pomerenke, Cloverleaf; Hans Solberg, Star; Lloyd Johnson, Rocksbury; Patrick Culkins, Smiley; Clarence L. Peterson, Silverton; Mrs. Owen Weckwerth, River Falls; S. E. Hunt, Norden; Emil Larson, Bray; Will. E. McCrum, Smiley.

The board of directors will hold its organization meeting early in January. The board will elect president, vice president and secretary-treasurer from the group.

The highlight of the afternoon session was the talk by Skull Rutford on "U. S. Tariff Policies, Reciprocal Trade Agreements and How They Effect the American Farmer," and the talk by Robert Lund on "Credit."

Mr. Rutford showed how it is necessary to have some imports if we are to have exports. He pointed out the Canadian treaty in particular as to beef cattle, which is one of the products that is most vitally affected. The agreement reduces the tariff from three cents to two cents per pound, but under no circumstances could the imports be more than 1½% of all cattle over 700 pounds slaughtered in the U. S. In 1936 the import was about 150,000 head which is about one third the number that was imported in 1929 and 1930.

Mud Lake Project Shut Down for Winter Months

McGarry Brothers of Bain, Minn, contractors on the federal work being done in dyking and damming Mud Lake, have now closed down operations for this year due to too much frost, says the Holt Weekly News. The large drag line dredges quit work this week as the frost is in now about 16 inches. The work will be started again early next spring. The large crew of men and their families that have been connected with the job this summer are leaving for their respective homes this week.

Local Phone Company to Add to Facilities

Testifying to a constantly growing demand for telephone service in the Thief River Falls community, the Northwestern Bell Telephone company in January, 1938, will make an expenditure of $11,200 on new and replacement aerial and underground cable in the city, A. J. Rau, local manager, announced today.

This investment is in addition to approximately $38,500 spent by the company in the last two years in improving its local facilities. Projects carried out include replacing the switchboard, remodeling the offices, installation of a cable extension across the river and replacing and extending cables on the east side.

The project shortly to be open embraces the installation of 15,062 feet of additional underground and aerial cable, and 6902 feet of replacement cable.

As evidence of the need of expanded facilities, Mr. Rau cited the fact that from December 31, 1932, to November 30 of this year, the local exchange gained a total of 548 telephone outlets, an increase of 27.87 per cent for the five-year period. During the past eleven months the local system has added a net gain of 148 telephone outlets, an increase for the period of 11.31 per cent.

FUNERAL RITES HELD SATURDAY FOR P. H. WRIGHT

Had Been Resident of Kratka Community for Past 32 Years

Masonic services conducted by Rev. E. A. Cooke were held Saturday afternoon from the Community church for Pliny H. Wright, well-known and highly respected Pennington county pioneer, who died on Thursday morning of last week in a local hospital. The body was taken to St. Paul for interment.

Mr. Wright was born January 12, 1875, in Westfield, Vermont, where he made his home until 1905. In that year he came to Kratka township where he homesteaded and resided for the remaining 32 years of life. He was a member of Masonic Union lodge No. 16 of Troy, Vermont.

He was married to Helen Leslin, who preceded him in death in January, 1937. Surviving relatives include a sister Mrs. Ethel Seaver of Wolcott, Vermont, a brother Walter O. Wright of Honolulu, Hawaii, and several nieces and nephews.

A frequent contributor to the Times letter column over a period of ten years or more, Mr. Wright was widely known for his sound common sense as well as for his possession of a keen sense of humor.

Mercury Near Thawing Point During Past Week

A period of unusually mild winter weather has been enjoyed by residents of this section during the past week, the mercury some days rising to the thawing point. No snowfall occurred during the week, and conditions have been ideal for those intent on attending to their Christmas shopping needs, as has been attested by the crowded condition in local business places.

Local Postoffice Set to Handle Final Rush of Christmas Mailing

To aid in handling the peak load of mailing and deliveries during the Christmas rush beginning this week-end the services of three additional workers have been arranged for, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced today. They are Howard Holum, Gordon Johnson and Alv. Vistaunet, and they will be employed until holiday mailings have been disposed of. The local office, Mr. Anderson stated, will deliver to local homes before Christmas Day all mail received up to December 24, and, as in past years, the postoffice will be closed on Christmas Day.

CIVIC GROUP ASKS CONTINUATION OF FEDERAL ROAD AID

Holds That If Cut Is Made Taxes Should Also be Reduced

Followig a discussion by F. A. Rinkel of the cut in federal road aid proposed recently by President Roosevelt, the Civic and Commerce association at its meeting last Thursday adopted a resolution protesting the cut, and stipulating that, in the event a reduction is made, a proportional cut be made in the present federal gasoline tax.

Mr. Rinkel pointed out that the federal government last year collected approximately $327,000,000 from motor vehicle operators and that it expended for highway purposes only about $200,000,000.

A report was submitted at the meeting announcing that local merchants would not sponsor a Santa Claus day this year similar to the one staged previous to Christmas in 1936. A. F. Berge reported on the hockey booster button sale campaign which was to open the following day.

ALUMNI NIGHT AT CASS LAKE GAME FRIDAY EVENING

Prowlers Defeat Mahnomen Team Last Friday by 44-9 Score

Encouraged by a decisive defeat administered to Mahnomen on the Auditorium floor last Friday evening, Coach George Lee's Lincoln high school basketball team will meet Cass Lake here Friday evening, December 17 and will attempt to continue its unbroken string of victories. As a preliminary the Prowler II team will meet Alvarado.

The occasion has been designated as alumni night, with special features planned including a performance between the halves by H. W. Gabrielson's tumbling team, which last season gained widespread recognition. Musical selections also will be provided by the Lincoln school band. Principal W. G. Claffy announced that one adult or season ticket plus 15 cents will admit two persons to the games.

Interchanging two full teams with equal effectiveness, the Leemen smothered Mahnomen by the one sided score of 44 to 9. Leading scorers for the locals were Lee with ten points, Lorentson with nine and Cuddis with eight. The Prowler second team won a preliminary game from Greenbush by a score of 25-11.

Irene Dunne, Garbo at Local Theatres Sunday

"The Awful Truth", a romantic comedy starring Irene Dunne and Cary Grant will be the feature offering at the Falls theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with a midnight preview Saturday evening at 11:15. The supporting cast includes Ralph Bellamy, Alexander D'Arcy and Robert Allen, with Skippy, a wire-haired pup, playing a prominent role.

Co-starring Greta Garbo and the French star, Charles Boyer, "Conquest", based on a romantic episode in the life of Napoleon, will be shown at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday. Also included in the cast are Reginald Owen, Alan Marshal and Henry Stephenson.

COUNCIL HOLDS LONG SESSION TUESDAY NIGHT

Buys Total of 900 Feet of Fire Hose From Four Companies

CALL FOR NEW BIDS ON WATER & LIGHT TRUCK

Ordinance to Control Peddling Approved After Final Reading

A variety of business was transacted by the city council at a lengthy December session Tuesday night, the last regular meeting of the current year. The session was prolonged by a consideration of bids on fire hose.

After each of the salesmen present had described the merits of his product, the council voted to purchase lots of 200 feet of two and one-half inch hose from three companies, as follows: Bilateral Fire Hose company, $1.05 a foot; W. S. Nott company, $1.05; and B. F. Goodrich company, $1. Three hundred feet of one and one-half inch hose was bought from the Eureka Fire Hose company on its bid of 70 cents a foot.

Following a recent call for bids for a three-quarter ton truck for the water and light department, proposals from three local dealers were read at the meeting, following which all were rejected and it was voted to readvertise for bids on a half-ton truck.

A proposed ordinance modeled after the widely publicized Green River, Wyoming, ordinance, designed to control the activities of peddlers in the city, was given its third and final reading and adopted by a unanimous vote. Also adopted was a resolution opposing a cut in federal road aid unless a corresponding reduction is made in federal gasoline taxes. Action was taken at the request of F. A. Rinkel.

C. W. Pope of the Carnegie library board presented a request for council assistance in financing the installation of a new lighting system in the building, pointing out that the present facilities, installed when the library was erected more than twenty years ago, are inadequate. The council suggested that the library board finance the project, estimated to cost $225, out of its budget and indicated that if necessary at the end of the fiscal year, the city will reimburse the library fund for the expenditure.

H. M. Olson was present and asked the council to consider the matter of establishing a special rate for current used for window lighting by local stores, pointing out that the practice of keeping the windows lighted in the evening is not now general. The proposal was referred to the council light committee for consideration.

Building permits were approved for Charles Fiterman, covering the remodeling of a residence at an estimated cost of $1,500, and for Carl J. Larson, garage, $200.

Zion Luther League Presents Christmas Program Tonight

The Zion Luther league this evening will present a special Christmas musical program to which the public is cordially invited. A talk by Rev. E. L. Tungseth will supplement the evening's program, which will also include election of officers and receiving of new members into the society. The young people's organization will be the hosts. Every member is urged to attend.

Odin Hansons Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Odin Hanson were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Syvert Hanson, Martin, William, and Effie, Mr. and Mrs. Albin Hanson, Mrs. Elling Klemmetson and Mrs. Christine Reek at dinner Sunday. The afternoon was enjoyed informally, and in the late afternoon lunch was served.

Mmes. Carl Kretzschmar, H. A. Brumund Entertain

Among the larger social events occurring during this holiday season were the luncheons which Mrs. H. A. Brumund and Mrs. Carl Kretzschmar gave on Monday and Tuesday afternoons of this week in the main dining hall of the Palm Garden cafe.

The luncheons were at 1:30 o'clock and were followed by bridge. In one corner of the dining hall stood a lighted Christmas tree and centering each table were a group of traditional Christmas figures, miniature reindeer and sleigh driven by a doll Santa Claus. The luncheon menu also was symbolic of Christmas and was carried out in a color scheme of green, red and white, as were the room decorations.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Paul Lundgren, Mrs. Ralph McCain, Mrs. N. A. Holen, Mrs. Alvin Holzknecht, Mrs. I. G. Larsen and Mrs. John Arnold.

Violet M. Krannich Weds Charlie Anderson

The Mesdames A. B. McLaughlin, Robert Lund, Julien Provencher, W. R. Patterson, Ingvald Fossum, George Werstlein, H. A. Baumann, and E. M. Hammang feted Mrs. Anton Gulseth, whose marriage occurred recently, Friday afternoon. The party, decorations for which carried out a Yule motif, was in the form of a shower and was held at Mrs. McLaughlin's home. Needlework was the diversion and at five o'clock luncheon was served by the group feting Mrs. Gulseth, who presented her with a lovely shower gift.

Hiawatha Girl Scout Troop Will Have Christmas Party

The Girl scouts of the Hiawatha troop will hold their Christmas party next Wednesday afternoon at the home of their leader, Mrs. T. C. Peck. The girls have been sewing clothes for dolls which the American Legion auxiliary will distribute at Christmas time. The two scouts judged as doing the finest sewing will each be awarded a prize.

Riverside School Pupils Will present Program

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the Christmas program to be given next Thursday evening, Dec 23, by the pupils of Riverside school, District 54, at the Aubul school house. The program will begin at 8 p. m. Miss Bura Woolson, teacher, announced.

Parties Celebrating Approaching Holidays Given by Club Groups

The five organized groups of the Woman's club early this week celebrated Christmas in true holiday fashion as each group convened for an evening of festivities at homes beautifully decorated for the approaching Yuletide.

Electric lights arranged to resemble a Christmas tree was the outstanding feature of the party decorations at Mrs. W. G. Claffy's home where the Music group was entertained Monday evening. Clever stunts and games, piano selections by Mrs. Kenneth Lindberg and Mrs. Leon Mousley and refreshments comprised the evening's program.

Court bridge was the diversion at the Young Matrons' Christmas party Tuesday evening, the setting for which was the Log Cabin of the Palm Garden cafe. Miniature silver reindeer and sleighs centered each of the five tables. Hostesses were Mrs. Carl Kretzschmar and Mrs. Alv Vistaunet. Entertainment was arranged by Mrs. David Fast and Mrs. Charles Warner. Christmas gifts were exchanged among the members and bridge prizes were awarded. The group presented a going away gift to Mrs. Wesley Wheeler, a member of the club who is leaving the city after the holidays.

A group of sixth grade pupils entertained with Christmas singing at the Drama group's Christmas party held at Mrs. M. G. Peterson's home Tuesday evening. The program also included a reading by Mrs. H. S. Dahlen and various games and contests. The traditional lighted Christmas tree was a part of the decorative scheme.

A huge Christmas tree hung with all-silver trimmings and lighted with blue bulbs formed an impressive background for the Yuletide observance of the Penates group Tuesday evening at Mrs. R. S. Selover's home. Contests were the diversion of the evening which was climaxed with the opening of the Christmas gifts the members of the group exchanged among themselves. A lovely Christmas luncheon was served by Mrs. Selover. Mrs. Ed Johnson was chairman of the committee in charge of entertainment, assisted by Mrs. M. P. Erickson, Mrs. A. F. Janneck, and Mrs. Alf Berry.

Carrying out the true Christmas spirit, the members of the Current Events group brought their offerings of clothing and toys for the large Christmas box the group is preparing as a gift to a family in the flooded area of Pennington county, to the group's Christmas party at Mrs. M. A. Brattland's home Wednesday evening. The hours were enjoyed in competitive games and contests and lunch was served. Yule candles and ornamental electric lights decorated the rooms for the occasion.

Mrs. R. C. Suckerman Fetes Son Richard on 4th Birthday

Mrs. R. C. Suckerman entertained on Wednesday, December 8, for her small son Richard, the occasion being his fourth birthday anniversary. The afternoon was spent in playing games after which a lovely birthday luncheon was served. Covers were placed for Richard Suckerman, honor guest, Dixie Brown, Joan Freed, Barbara Jean Bishop, Sonia Meyer, Charles Freed, James Winjum and Merten Suckerman at a gaily decorated table. Each place was marked by crocheted nut baskets and small dolls attached to brightly colored balloons suspended above the table. A birthday cake with four lighted candles occupied the center of the table.

Gotshalls Hosts at Bridge

R. G. Gotshall and Frank Duncan won high and second high honors at the evening bridge party given Sunday evening by the Gotshalls at their home. Guests were the Messrs. and Mmes. Duncan, Oscar Monsebroten, Ole Engelstad, and C. K. Gesten, Miss Mary Warner and James Dryden.

Program Rehearsal

The Silverton church rehearsal for their Christmas program will take place at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Palmer Aaseby Honored on Birthday

In celebration of her birthday anniversary which occurred December 14, Mrs. Palmer Aaseby was feted at a surprise party Monday and entertained the members of her birthday club Tuesday. On both occasions, she was presented with gifts of beautiful glassware.

Mrs. Jake O'Hara and Mrs. Aaseby's mother, Mrs. C. E. Carlson were joint hostesses at the birthday surprise Monday afternoon at Mrs. O'Hara's home. Bingo was the diversion and luncheon, which included a birthday cake decorated in pink-and-white, was served by the hostesses. Honoring Mrs. Aaseby, in addition to the hostesses, were the Mesdames Harry Dahl, Ed Rupprecht, Donald Kolbo, Alvin Aaseby, Cy Thompson, Everett Thomas, Otto Geske, Lloyd VeVea, Ted Hornseth, Carl Taverass, Clair O'Hara, Iver Aaseby, and LeRoy Grosslie, and Miss Bertha Aaseby.

Covers were placed for the Messrs. and Mmes. Dave Christenson, A. B. Kriel, Jake O'Hara, C. E. Carlson, and Palmer Aaseby at the birthday dinner party given by the Palmer Aaseby's Tuesday evening. Dinner was served at seven o'clock and was followed by whist, prizes for which were won by Mrs. Christianson, Mr. Kriel, Mrs. O'Hara and Mr. Carlson.

Party Complimentary to Wesley Wheelers Given

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wheeler, who after the holidays will take up residence at Lakefield, were entertained by Mrs. Wheeler's sister, Mrs. Clarence Sande, and Mrs. Clair O'Hara Sunday evening. Present were the Messrs and Mmes. Wheeler, honor guests, Clair O'Hara, Clarence Sande, Harold Rasmussen, Alv. Vistaunet, Al Ulleberg, and Clifford Storholm.

Following a six o'clock supper served at the Sande home, the guests and their hostesses enjoyed an hour of skating at the arena, after which they returned to the Sande home and played bridge. Prizes for high scores were awarded to Mrs. Vistaunet and Mr. Storholm, and consolation prizes were presented to Mr. Vistaunet and Mrs. Wheeler. The Clair O'Haras presented the guests of honor with a going-away gift.

Mr. Wheeler will leave Sunday to take over his duties as manager of the Lakefield branch of the Land O'Lakes Creameries. He will return to this city Christmas Eve and after spending the holidays here the Wheelers expect to establish their residence at Lakefield. More entertaining, to take place during the holiday week, is being planned in their honor.

Growing With Your Child

University of Minnesota Institute of Child Welfare

THAT THUMB

In a letter to a magazine, a mother tells how she cured her little girl of sucking her thumb. On the thumb nail she painted a face, and tied a bow of narrow ribbon around the "neck". It worked. The device in this case happened to please and amuse the child, who was really anxious to get over the baby habit.

Would it always work? Would there be some cases in which a child would be made miserable by such a procedure? A lot, certainly, would depend on the child's make-up, on her imaginative reaction to the plan. Almost surely, in some instances, a child would feel humiliated by the attention that would be called to her habit. If other people in the family laughed at her, or made fun of her, such a scheme might actually make the habit worse instead of better.

For it is usually true that a child sucks its thumb when it is in need of solace or comfort. Feelings of shame or humiliation make the child more in need of solace than before, and so tend to strengthen the habit.

In dealing with such a problem, it is always necessary to keep in mind that the reason why the child resorts to the habit is the essential thing to find out. Unless that reason is done away with, any method of trying to put a stop to the thing would only make it more likely to continue. If a child sucks his thumb because he is tired, it is more important to try to keep him from getting so tired than it is to try to make him quit. If the thumb-sucking is the result of boredom and lack of companionship, the only thing that will really help matters is to arrange for the child to have some companionship—and that not the companionship of adults, but of other children who are of as nearly as possible the same level of ability and accomplishment as he.

Most of the means that are habitually tried, such as painting the fingers with bitter aloes or some other bad-tasting thing, putting cuffs on the elbows so that the baby can't get his hands into his mouth, or scolding continually because of the habit, don't serve the purpose, for they are not getting at the root of the trouble. If one can't analyze the situation, can't find any plausible reason for the occurrence of thumb-sucking, it is much better to ignore it, and hope it will pass away in time, than to fret and fume and worry about it. The effort that is wasted in such a way could much better be put into seeing that the child is busy and happy, so occupied with interesting things to do that there is little time for standing around, thumb in mouth. And don't forget that praise for good behavior will tend to keep a child in a happy, contented frame of mind, and that when in such a frame of mind, a child is much less in need of the solace of sucking.

Paint Brightens Toys

In the basement or the attic many of us will find old toys the children have discarded. Christmas is almost here and much joy can be brought into the lives of less fortunate youngsters if we get out these toys, give them a coat of gayly colored enamel and distribute them ourselves or turn them over to a social agency to be handed out to needy youngsters on St. Nick's day.

In England's Wassail Bowls

Brewed in England's Yuletide wassail bowls are baked apples, hot ale seasoned with spice, orange juice and rind and whipped eggs.

Mrs. Elling Klemmetson Honored on 76th Birthday

MARSHALL BOARD BACKS STAND OF FLOOD VICTIMS

Adopts Supporting Resolutions at Meeting Last Week

Resolutions adopted by the Marshall county board of commissioners at their December meeting last week support the position taken by farmers in the Thief Lake and Mud lake areas who are opposing the present program of water level restoration. After citing the history of the region and outlining the flood conditions that existed there last summer, the board resolved as follows:

"That we join with the owners and settlers in the area affected to protest against any and every invasion of their constitutional and legal rights.

"That we recommend that dams, spillways or other flood control devices be constructed so as to maintain impounded waters within the basin of Thief Lake proper and Mud Lake proper and the channels of Moose Lake proper, and that we object to the flooding of areas adjacent thereto.

"That we object to the construction and maintenance of a series of small dams throughout the drainage system of eastern Marshall County and western Beltrami County without proper flood control gates.

"That we recommend the State Land Use committee classify as agricultural lands all public and private lands in such area suitable for such use and encourage the development and use of the same as such.

"That we believe reservoirs for conservation of water supply for communities down the Red Lake river and Red river can be better established in those narrow and deep valleys adjacent to the centers of population than in the low areas in eastern Marshall county.

"That a copy of this resolution be sent to Governor Elmer A. Benson, Commissioner of Conservation Herman C. Wenzel, the chief of U. S. biological survey, our senators and representatives in Congress and to the members of the state legislature representing this area."

Local Independent Cage Team Planning Schedule for After the Holidays

The [illegible], local independent basketball team, has been holding practice sessions recently, and with a strong lineup give promise of duplicating the highly successful record of last year's quintet. The [illegible] includes four former college players, Kip Dahlen, Art Nyvold(?), E. W. Gabrielson, Vincent [illegible] and George Lee. Other available men are Paul Dahl, Carl [illegible] and Adrian [illegible]. The J. & B. drug store has equipped the team with attractive uniforms. Otto R. Stucy, 57, Resident Since 1905, Dies in Local Hospital

Otto R. Stucy, a resident of this community since 1905, passed away Thursday afternoon in a local hospital at the age of 57 years. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon from the Oak Park Lutheran church, Rev. B. O. Bjorgan of Goodridge officiating, and interment was made in the church cemetery.

Mr. Stucy was born May 18, 1880 in Janesville, where he grew to manhood and was married in 1905 to Agnes Kostelle. In the same year he came with his wife to this city, and one year later moved to Hickory township. There he homesteaded until 1910 when he moved to his present home in Deer Park township.

He is survived by his three daughters, Mrs. Carl Ewall of [illegible], Mrs. Walter Vetelson of Goodridge, and Ruth Stucy of Deer Park township; five sons, Melvin, Arthur, Kenneth, John and Harry, all of Deer Park township; two sisters, Mrs. Mike Petski and Mrs. Charles McCue of Waseca; two brothers, Fred of Webster and [illegible] of Hickory township. His wife and three [illegible] preceded him in death.

Executive Council Acts on Further Flood Relief in Response to Request

According to a letter received by Sen. E. L. Tungseth last week, the state executive council has appropriated $1,500.00 for the administration of federal grants for supplementary relief to farm families for the winter months.

The administration of these funds will be handled through the office of Burton Olson, district F. S. director, who will engage the necessary personnel to take care of the work. These relief funds are given through the federal rural rehabilitation service and will be granted only on the basis of actual need to such farm families, whose income because of flood damages is inadequate.

Senator Tungseth, together with County Commissioner O. M. Mandt of Pennington County and County Commissioner Arthur Sommers of Marshall county, were recently in St. Paul where they conferred with the State Executive Committee, Herman Aufderheide, SERA, and Lloyd Nelson, State F. S. head.

Otto Rehm Director of Farmers Union Company

Elected directors of the Farmers Union Livestock Commission Co. meeting in St. Paul Tuesday were: C. W. Slane of Steyenne, N. D.; Former Governor Ole Olson of New Rockford, N. D.; G. H. Keen of Dickinson, N. D.; Anton Nelson of Charlottsman, N. D.; Clarence Chamberlain of Wida, Mont.; Otto Rehm of Hazel; Dennis O'Leary of Campbell, Minn.; D. D. Kennedy of Amery, Wis., and Charles Deckhammer of Bruce, Wis.

Vehicles Transporting Pupils Must Bear Signs

That some school buses are operating without the required "school bus" signs in front and rear has been brought to the attention of officers of the highway patrol of the Minnesota highway department and patrolmen in all districts are being instructed to see that all school buses are safely and properly posted.

Under the rules and regulations promulgated by N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, and the state board of education, school buses are required to carry "school bus" signs both front and rear with lettering at least six inches high, seven-eighths of an inch wide and painted in black on an orange background. In the case of privately owned buses, however, under the school bus code, the letters should be removable or of the type that can be covered when the vehicle is being used for purposes other than transport of school children.

The public is also reminded by the Highway patrol that under the uniform traffic act, any vehicle meeting or overtaking a school bus which has stopped to take on or discharge pupils shall pass such a bus at a speed not over 10 miles an hour. This provision, obviously is to protect school children on the highways.

CHRISTMAS TRADITIONS

If your Christmas tree is a balsam—and that is the loveliest kind of all, both for appearance and for fragrance—then when you first light it a cheerful old superstition urges a glance at your shadow on the wall—if you dare. Should it appear headless you will not live to see another Christmas. Then, later, when the tree is burned, another tradition suggests keeping a partly burned stick to ward off lightning.

EIGHT SOURCES FOR ROAD FUNDS, SAYS TAX GROUP

Asserts No Highway Taxes Should be Levied on Real Estate

Eight different tax sources now supply money for road building purposes in Minnesota. Real Estate is still used as a base for providing much of the cost of road building and maintenance. The road money comes from automobile license fees, gasoline taxes, federal aid, county, township, village and city appropriations, as well as the one-mill state levy for road purposes, the Minnesota Taxpayers Association points out. The gas tax was raised an extra cent per gallon this year.

The one-mill state levy, known as the Dunn Act, enacted into law years ago, was the first entrance of the state into the road-building business, and at that time was a step forward for better roads in Minnesota. It is a levy on real estate and is charged against all real property in the state.

"Real estate, now overburdened with tax levies, should gradually be relieved of carrying highway costs, since gas taxes, auto license, and federal aids provide millions of dollars yearly for such road purposes, and ought to be able to take care of road charges. There has grown popular a well-known principle in regard to roads, that 'those who use the highways should pay for them.' The principle, however, has never been fully applied, since land is still a major source of revenue," says James P. McDonnell, president of the State Association.

"Real estate is called upon to finance so many other governmental services that it is about time that course is given relief from highway costs," McDonnell stated.

Kay's Selfish Christmas

by Martha Banning Thomas

Toby Barnes, just home from the office, stood regarding his wife with amusement. "You have the manner, Kay, of being about to leap up and wave a flag. What's happened?"

"I've just discovered something important about myself." Kay's short, light curls were becomingly haphazard. Her eyes were of an intense blue. She was slender and young and vivid. "I'm supremely selfish." She rose to her feet and gesticulated with both hands. "I want to be utterly, gloriously engrossed in ME!"

They both laughed. Then Kay ran forward and dragged her husband down into a wide, comfortable chair, squeezing in beside him.

"You're a perfectly grand guy," she smiled, "but this Christmas, my man, I'm going to be superbly selfish, as an experiment. Will you try it too, Toby?"

"All right," he agreed, "I'll take you on."

The next morning Kay tilted a pert gray hat on her curls, and walked imperiously to the shopping district. "I'm fed up with being poor, and scrimping and saving so I can be generous in mean, little ways. Today I . . . spend on myself!"

She felt guilty and ridiculous, and she turned her eyes away from a haberdasher's window where gentlemen's furnishings were invitingly displayed. Toby needed masses and masses of things. No, just this once she would spend with a bang all she had on something frivolous for herself. Toby had promised to do the same.

At noon she happened to notice a tall person standing by the next store window. He was absorbed in thought. Kay hardly breathed while the man suddenly plunged into the store door. She crept close to a sheltering pillar while she watched what happened inside.

She saw the man point to a woman's rich, quilted housecoat. She saw him pay for it, and leave, but without a package under his arm. Just the sort of housecoat for which she had yearned hopelessly.

She gasped in dismay. For one hot second she was possessed with anger. Toby wasn't playing fair. He had no right to make her feel ashamed and abject on Christmas morning!

When Toby's flapping overcoat was out of sight Kay slipped into the same shop, going straight to the counter her husband had left. "May I inquire," she asked crisply, "if that quilted housecoat just purchased, is to be delivered to Mrs. Toby Barnes?" She gave the house address. The clerk was startled into admitting the fact.

Kay threw up her chin. "I asked my husband, Mr. Barnes, to step in here today to buy that for me. I've changed my mind. May I exchange it for something else I prefer?"

The clerk weakly nodded.

Christmas eve found Kay a bit cryptic. Toby carelessly inquired if a package had been delivered that afternoon. Kay said yes; it was waiting in the closet. And it was, though not quite what Toby supposed.

Kay was excited as a child on Christmas morning. There were waffles for breakfast and especially good coffee. Afterwards Mrs. Toby Barnes shoved her tall husband into his big chair. "Sit there," she commanded him, and left the room.

"When is this fine exhibition of selfishness going to begin?" he shouted after her. "I want to see it in action!"

Kay returned with a large package elaborately wrapped. Toby looked pleased. "There you are," he said. "I'm sorry, Kay, to fall down in our agreement, but I knew you wanted the darned thing."

"There you are!" cried Kay hurling the box at him. "I simply will not let you squander your money on expensive things for me, Toby."

Toby opened the box, drawing forth a manly, well tailored dressing gown for a tall gentleman. "You know," muttered his wife in a small voice, "you haven't a thing to sit around in at home."

"So this," he raved, "is the great exhibition of selfishness! And where is your housecoat, I'd like to know?"

Kay, in a thin, quivering voice, begged him to be kind while she explained.

WORKERS TO GET UNEMPLOYMENT LAW AID IN 1938

Aimed to Give Protection to Willing Workers Without Jobs

Beginning January 1, 1938, the protection afforded Minnesota workers by the state unemployment compensation law will become a reality for approximately 450,000 men and women, it was pointed out today by Frank T. Starkey, industrial commissioner in charge of administering the law.

"From that date on", Commissioner Starkey stated, "the benefit provisions of the law will be effective, and workers unemployed at that time may begin the fulfillment of eligibility conditions for the receipt of weekly cash benefits during unemployment. For those employed there will always be the comforting knowledge that, should they become unemployed, they, too, may receive the protection against want which will be afforded them in the form of benefits.

"From that date on, willing and able workers without jobs will no longer be immediately forced onto relief rolls. Weekly benefit checks in proportion to their earnings while in covered employment will be sent such workers during periods of unemployment.

"The checks to unemployed Minnesota workers will serve as a 'cushion' for the trials of unemployment, as experience has shown in foreign nations, where unemployment insurance plans have been in effect for years, and in Wisconsin, the only state now paying benefits. The checks will help to keep the unemployed worker and his family in food and shelter while he seeks other work.

"And the worker will receive the checks with the full understanding that they represent the out-of-work insurance payments to him made possible by his employer's contributions into the Minnesota Unemployment Compensation Fund. The benefits will be his legal right, and will in no way be construed as relief or charity.

"Of course, benefit checks cannot and will not be given unemployed workers for indefinite periods. The rate and duration of benefits will depend upon each workers' individual earnings record, for it is upon the earnings of workers that employers are contributing into the fund. The maximum weekly benefit rate will be $15. The minimum will be approximately $6. The maximum duration of benefits will be 16 weeks in any one year."

Herd of Ten Caribou to be Placed This Winter in Beltrami Island Area

In an effort to forestall the extinction of the woodland caribou on the Red Lake Wildlife Refuge, a herd of ten of this species will be brought to Baudette next year to add to the dwindling band in the Beltrami Island reserve—the only ones remaining in the United States, says the Baudette Region.

W. T. Cox, regional forester biologist of the U. S. department of agriculture, stated this week that satisfactory progress is being made to obtain these animals. He is receiving the cooperation of the biological survey and other bureaus, and the active assistance of the Hudson's Bay Company, the Province of Saskatchewan and, of course, the state of Minnesota.

The wild animals are to be caught far to the north of Prince Albert in the deep snow during late February or March, and transported by team from the forest and swamp to the railroad. The caribou will be shipped to Baudette, and taken out forty miles to the enclosure being prepared for them, where they will join their companions with the protection that the caribou has long needed and seldom found.

Corn-on-the-Cob Is Not Ideal Dairy Cow Feed

"Corn on the cob", however tasty it may be to her, is not an economical feed for the dairy cow, all things considered, says H. R. Searles, extension dairyman, University Farm, St. Paul.

Ground feeds are from 10 to 25 per cent more efficient than ear corn for the producing cow. And although it is easier to feed broken ear corn and to turn cows into cornstalk pastures for forage, any savings in labor are offset by losses in milk production, warns Searles.

A ration of corn and stalks lacks variety and does not supply proteins necessary to the producing cow. Furthermore, points out Searles, corn is not the best supplement for corn silage and corn roughage. Other grains and supplementary feeds such as linseed oil meal, soybean oil meal cotton seed meal or corn gluten meal should be added to the farm ration to supply variety and protein. When no legumes are fed, the ration should contain from 20 to 25 per cent of the protein supplements. Higher production obtained more economically will be the result.

Equal parts of ground corn and oats fed with alfalfa hay will make a satisfactory farm ration, says Searles. Should oats be scarce, ground corn, or ground corn and cob, with alfalfa will also make good rations. Without alfalfa or some other legume hay, these rations will require one of the above mentioned protein supplements. Each cow should be fed individually, according to the amount of milk she is producing.

GETS BIBLE LOST 19 YEARS AGO IN FRANCE

Cokato.—A bible lost by a soldier 19 years ago in France during the world war has been recovered by Julius Richter, who lost a cloth bound copy of the New Testament when he was wounded during the St. Mihiel drive. He was taken to a hospital behind the lines and it was there that he discovered that the book, which he had always carried with him was gone. Recently he received a parcel and a letter from E. Head of London, a member of the Royal field artillery. Head wrote he had found the Bible among souvenirs he had gathered during the war. He said he picked it up in a Billet, "somewhere in France". Richter's address was found inside the cover and the bible mailed to Canby, Minnesota, Richter's home at the time he enlisted for service.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

TIME TO THINK OF BUILDING

At the school board meeting Monday night, Superintendent Bye submitted a report on school enrollment and building needs that deserves serious consideration in the community. While the tendency in most places is a gradual decrease in enrollment, our school population is increasing, there being eighty-five more pupils on the roll this year than a year ago. That increase, now spread quite evenly through the system, is going to add gradually to the congestion in the high school where facilities are already far short of requirements.

This problem would not be particularly serious if the situation could be corrected merely by adding a few more rooms to the present high school. Unfortunately the Central building has just about served its usefulness and needs to be replaced. In other words, when we build again we will have to provide sufficient room to handle a combined junior and senior high school and that will not be merely another repair and alteration job.

In his report Mr. Bye also suggests that while we are on the subject of new buildings it might be well to consider the possibility of a junior college, and includes for the consideration of the board a survey of junior college costs in other Minnesota communities. This is one thing that certainly should be given serious consideration as a possibility of the near future. There is a large territory in this corner of the state that is without college facilities and we believe that a two year college course would justify itself.

Add all of these needs together and we have a pretty sizeable building problem. Fortunately, Mr. Bye's report did not consist entirely of bad news. Financially, the district is in good condition. Indebtedness at the beginning of the new year will be less than a hundred thousand dollars. A substantial balance in the sinking fund will make it easy to meet the next big installment of our indebtedness which falls due in 1940 and which will reduce the district's debt to $64,000. Compare this condition with the nearly $300,000 the district owed only a few years ago and there is much to feel good about.

The report was encouraging too from the standpoint of tax collections. Tax delinquency in the district is now down to 12%, while only a few years ago nearly one-fourth of the property in the district was delinquent. Assessed valuation, too, is on the way up, new construction having more than offset the valuation losses resulting from homestead exemption.

So, all in all, our condition is good. It would be nice if we could coast along for a few years and get all of our old obligations out of the way before contracting new ones but that we probably will not be able to do. We are fortunate that the needs of a growing community are not forcing us to new high peaks of indebtedness. [illegible] are able to make the needed improvements and still keep our debt total down we have little reason to fear for the future.

THE RIGHT PATH BUT THE WRONG METHOD

President Roosevelt is on the right track when he urges the encouragement of new construction as a [illegible] of [illegible] importance in the [illegible] recovery [illegible]. Even at the depth of [illegible] there has been little fluctuation in the movement of consumable goods. [illegible] the new blockade has been, and is, in the [illegible] goods field. Get building activity [illegible] normal volume again and the depression would quickly vanish.

The idea, however, of encouraging construction by increasing the [illegible] does not appeal to us. [illegible] payment [illegible] only [illegible] per cent [illegible] ing up to $6,000 [illegible] the [illegible] we see it. No person, with only [illegible] rent, should be encouraged to [illegible] home, assuming a debt of $5,400 [illegible] efforts to stimulate construction [illegible] not encourage people to go in [illegible] their means. The average person [illegible] $600 to put into a home, should [illegible] beyond the $3,000 mark at the outside.

There are other factors, more [illegible] than the size of loans, that are [illegible] construction and several of these factors [illegible] of the government's making. [illegible] cially true in the field of construction for commercial purposes. Government has put business in the dog house. No one [illegible] will invest his savings in a venture that does not offer reasonable assurance of a fair return and the present attitude of government, state and national, certainly discourages commercial enterprise.

The homestead exemption law is an example of this in our own state. Designed with the idea of shifting the tax burden instead of reducing it, this law actually places a penalty on all types of commercial construction. The result is that money that normally would go into investment building as one example, now seeks a safe return in government tax exempt securities.

Anyone familiar with present government policies and practices could [illegible] long list of reasons why new capital is not being invested at the present time. [illegible] of these reasons lead back to government activities in one form or another. So, while we agree with President Roosevelt as to the need for construction, it strikes us that he could accomplish a great deal more in the encouragement of new construction if he would strive to correct some of the mistakes that have been made by the government itself, rather than by further encouraging unsound practices among individuals and by the various government units.

We are going to miss P. H. Wright. In spite of the fact that there were always plenty of things we could agree on, he never let that stand in the way of an argument. Here at the Times we had come to look upon him as a member of the staff. A few years ago his public opinion contributions to the paper were widely read and generally appreciated. He had strong opinions and wasn't backward about expressing them. Above all things, he hated sham and pretence and liked nothing better than to let the air out of an overdeveloped self-esteem. He always had a good word for those whom he believed merited praise. Our community is poorer because he has passed on.

When we were told last summer that a machine shop was to be built on LaBree Ave. at Fourth street, we didn't jump for joy. As a matter of fact we felt a little badly about it. That corner certainly was not a place for a machine shop. And we experienced all of this "feeling bad" because the machine shop that took form in our imagination was something entirely different from the building the builders had in mind. We know better now and are glad to offer our congratulations to the officers of the Minnesota Electric Welding Company on their fine new home. The building is a credit to the community and certainly can be classified as one of the major improvements in the business section in recent years.

THE TOWNSHIP IS MODERN
(Montevideo News)

Those who recommend that township government be abolished fail to give that lowly unit of administration the credit to which it is entitled for past and present performance.

The little old town hip is not a horse and buggy relic. It still functions effectively. As a matter of fact, it is assuming a piece of greater importance in [illegible] of local government. There is a direct [illegible] and back [illegible].

[illegible] of various kinds, [illegible] township committees to handle the [illegible] of new [illegible] regulatory laws, are [illegible] and they are economical in their personal handling of public funds.

In the changing picture of public administration it is the state that is being shoved aside. It Happened at the Capitol

Back from a speaking tour on the West Coast where he appeared on the same platform with Harry Bridges, CIO organizer of that section, Governor Elmer Benson returned to Minnesota this week to be the principal speaker at the State CIO Convention in Minneapolis. Critics of the Governor were prompt to point out that in leading an alleged Communist parade in New York some months ago, and his recent speaking tour of the West Coast, have made the Governor one of the nation's foremost friends of those who support communism. His appearance in Minneapolis was well received by the CIO delegates who held a three day convention there last week, where, among other things, resolutions were adopted to immediately begin organization work in new fields. The principal activities contemplated by the organization, according to their statement, will be in the flour milling, feed, and elevator industry. Here they intend to concentrate their efforts during the next few months.

Special Session Threatened

Back at his desk in the State Capitol, the Governor hinted that a special session of the legislature to appropriate more relief money may be needed because of a threatened curtailment of federal funds. He disclosed that he has invited to St. Paul for conference, Harry Hopkins, National Works Progress Administrator, who is now at Rochester for a physical examination.

Governor Benson indicated that he would like to discuss with Hopkins the reported intention of Congress to trim from $1,500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000, the relief appropriation for the fiscal year. [illegible] Minnesota has $9,[illegible] for direct relief this year and $2,[illegible] for next year, both legislative appropriations, the Governor said more money may be required for the fiscal year 1938. Should economic recovery fail, he explained, it will be up to the state and local government to absorb the slack.

Taxpayers Revolt

Indications that taxpayers of Minnesota are becoming more and more conscious of the burdens laid upon them by the government is evident in many parts of the state but was especially brought to the forefront at St. Cloud last week when 200 taxpayers of eight central Minnesota counties met and made plans to "study carefully" every proposal for an expenditure of tax money. Plans to block further tax increases and cut present tax figures were discussed at the meeting which was conducted by J. P. McDonnell of Buffalo, President of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

Township governments were urged to continue unimpaired in their operations because "they are economy minded."

The gathering favored balancing all budgets through reduction of costs by operating governmental units on a cash basis, by adopting proper accounting and auditing methods; by merging small school districts, and by withdrawing the practice of exempting public officials from payment of income taxes.

Relief work, formerly in the hands of local government should be returned to them, according to the consensus of opinion at the meeting. The reason advanced for this was that the local officials are more aware of purely local conditions and better acquainted with persons who "make a racket of relief."

The Deer Licenses

Indications point to another campaign issue that is likely to bob up in the state race next year with respect to the opening of the deer season this fall. Hunters who were up in the North Woods this fall seemed generally disgusted with the fact that the State Conservation Department made what they consider a grave error in opening the deer season. Wild life groups claim that the deer season just ended finds the deer herds in the state much reduced in number with the breeding stock for next year at the lowest point in the state's history. Practically all hunters report a shortage of deer in the North Woods and express fear that grave results are in store for the survivors of the herds this winter. The general feeling is that the deer were sacrificed in order that political office holders might obtain more money for their coffers from license fees.

Comment around the State Capitol this week centered principally on the trip of Governor Elmer Benson to the West Coast where he addressed meetings at Portland Oregon, and San Francisco. At Portland, Governor Benson advocated an increase of taxes on industry and said that industry must be taxed sufficiently to balance the budget. Outlining the progress of the Farmer Labor administration in Minnesota, the Governor stated that his administration was now working largely on immediate aims and issues but that ultimately "production for use must supplant production for private profits—that government should promote publicly owned industries to absorb the unemployed."

Critics of the governor were prompt to point out that Benson's advice to the Oregon audience on balancing the budget, devising a tax program for industry and the proper governmental handling of labor disputes was not well exemplified by his own administration and that of his party.

On the matter of balancing budgets, his critics point out that during the Farmer Labor regime in Minnesota since 1930 the state has achieved the third highest increase in bonded indebtedness in the entire nation. They also point out that during the period between 1930 and 1937 when eighteen states of the union were able to cut their bonded indebtedness, Minnesota increased its debts by twenty dollars per capita. On the matter of saddling still heavier tax burdens upon industry on a national scale, critics of the Governor pointed to the fact that industry in this state has been continually harrassed and curtailed by the present state administration.

Support of this criticism of the Governor is seen in the recently organized state-wide movement to retain and develop Minnesota industries. This local organization, which is known as the Inter-organization Committee for the Economic Development of Minnesota, met recently in Minneapolis with Mayor W. L. Nicholas of Fairmont presiding, and L. A. Rossman, Grand Rapids publisher in charge of a committee which has been making an intensive industrial study of the state.

Contained in the Rossman report are some very alarming figures. It is shown that in 1919 more than 115,600 wage earners were employed in manufacturing plants in Minnesota and in 1936 there were only 86,100; that in 1919 there were 6225 manufacturing establishments in Minnesota and in 1935 only 4,482—a loss of 1700 plants.

Mr. Rossman, in his report, also pointed out that scarcely more than half of the industrial employment in Minnesota is found in the three largest cities; 29% of this employment is found in Minneapolis, 10% in St. Paul, and 5% in Duluth. Outside the three large cities are 2000 plants employing 47% of the industrial workers.

The report stated that high taxes is one of the principal reasons in retarding and destroying economic welfare. Clearly indicated in the report was the fact that Minnesota during the past fifteen years has lost ground industrially and that what the state needs most of all just now is a favorable public sentiment toward industry that will attract and hold payrolls instead of driving them away.

"Sweetest Story Ever Told"

In 1851 Robert Morrison Stults resigned as musical instructor in the Long Branch, N. J., high school and moved to Baltimore, Md., where he opened a piano and sheet music business. For some time he had been obsessed with the idea of writing a popular sentimental ballad. Mme. Mirella, a comic opera star, was in search of such a song and Stults promised to write one for her. Going home one evening his wife, who had been reading "The Birds' Christmas Carol," remarked, "Well, that's the sweetest story ever!" He named and supplied the word "told" and in two hours the song was finished.

Corn in Fifteenth Century

In the Fifteenth century corn as a cultivated crop was grown over the two continents almost from the southern tip of Chile to the Arctic circle. Its culture was common in the North American Indians well into Canada. There were numerous varieties, some as good as any which have been developed since. Two or three great civilizations had been built up around the cereal—comparable to the civilizations of Egypt and Greece. [illegible] the rice civilization of China [illegible] had already started to decline. It was largely because of this that the first Europeans were able to colonize the New World.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

December 7, 1937

The Board of County Commissioners of Pennington County, Minnesota, met at the office of the County Auditor at 10:00 A. M. December 7, 1937.

Members present: Race, Hvidsten, Roy, Mulry and Mandt.

Members absent: None.

Minutes of meetings of November 2 and 18 were read and approved as read.

Moved by Commissioner Race and seconded by Commissioner Mulry that Pennington County will cooperate with the Minnesota State Employment Service to the same extent as the County has in the past cooperated with the National Reemployment Service. Carried.

Commissioner Mandt offered the following resolution, and moved its adoption.

BE IT RESOLVED by the Pennington County Board of County Commissioners at its regular meeting held on December 7, 1937, that it goes on record protesting the diversion of Federal Aid for highway purposes in the State of Minnesota as is now being carried on under the Hayden-Cartwright Act for the reason that we feel it wrong in principle to divert highway funds to other than highway purposes in so much as the road users of the State of Minnesota pay annually into the Federal Treasury more than eight million dollars ([illegible]) and receive back only five million five hundred thousand dollars ($5,500,000) of this money.

We further feel that a discontinuance of highway construction at this time will greatly increase the relief roll in Pennington County in the County's detriment.

[illegible]

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be sent to [illegible], Commissioner of Highways for the State of Minnesota, Senators Lundeen, Shipstead, and Congressmen [illegible].

Commissioner Race seconded the foregoing resolution and on being put to vote was duly carried.

[illegible]

WHEREAS the said project and the persons now and hereafter residing on or occupying the premises thereof, will be supplied with public or municipal services by the above named public taxing unit.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, that we do hereby authorize the Chairman of the County Board and the County Auditor of the said County of Pennington to make application and to request the United States Department of Agriculture, Farm Security Administration, to pay the said County of Pennington a sum of money in lieu of taxes.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that upon approval of the application and granting of the request, both above referred to, that we do hereby authorize the Chairman of the County Board and the County Auditor to enter into agreement between the United States of America and the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, for the purpose of receiving payments in lieu of taxes pursuant to the provisions of Section 2 of Public Law No. 845—74th Congress approved June 29, 1936.

The foregoing resolution was seconded by Commissioner Mandt and on being put to a vote was unanimously carried.

Two Little Dolls In Blue

ALICE A PALMER

"AREN'T the dolls beautiful?" exclaimed Joan to her mother, as she gazed upon the finished product of the "Two Little Dolls in Blue" which Dorothy May had ordered from Santa Claus.

"They are quite the loveliest I have ever seen," spoke mother. "I do believe that you have put your very heart and soul into their fashioning."

Joan had spent many days and nights too, stitching a loving bow she thought into each tiny garment. The dainty materials had been transformed into things of beauty. The dresses of pale blue silk with bonnets and slippers to match, had proclaimed them the "Two Little Dolls in Blue."

"Oh, won't Dot love them?" beamed Joan, as she again eyed the dolls from head to foot with a happy smile of complete satisfaction.

"I dare say this will be her happiest Christmas, one that she will never forget," said mother.

Christmas eve, with its bright lights and cheer, was in full progress and the two little dolls in blue were being fondled by one of the happiest little girls in the world.

Rocking in her own tiny chair Dorothy May began singing a lullaby to the dollies, wholly oblivious of the attendant surroundings. It was such an adorable sight that the others had stopped their celebrations and were beaming upon her with transformed emotion.

The spell was broken when Dorothy May suddenly stopped singing and called out, "What shall I name the two little dolls in blue?"

"Well," said Joan, smiling thoughtfully, "since they are dressed in blue and are two very important little ladies, why not call one Alice Blue and the other Elinor Blue?" And so the dolls were named.

On Christmas morning in another home around the corner, Bonny Jean awoke with the joy of the holiday and shouted, "Mother, did Santa come and did he bring me a big baby doll with curls and eyes that open and shut?"

"Yes, dearie, Santa came and brought you a very pretty doll."

Then spying it, seated beneath the tree dressed in scarlet finery, Bonny Jean clasped it to her breast. Upon close inspection, she soon learned that it was the same sort of doll she had always received, only with new features.

Just as she was about to burst into protest at her bitter disappointment there came a rap upon the door and a kindly neighbor was saying, "Merry Christmas!" Then with a happy smile—

"What is the matter, little girl? Hasn't Santa Claus come yet?"

"Oh yes, he came but he brought me the same old rag doll again. I thought sure it would be a real one this year, because I'm nine, you see."

"Oh, I am so sorry," said Dorothy May, with true feeling and thinking of the two beautiful dolls which Santa had left for her. Then with a happy Christmas thought, she whispered something very lovely to her mother.

They all went right over to the big house on the hill nestled under its burden of Christmas snow. Bonny Jean forgot all about the rag doll when she glimpsed the great tree through the holly wreaths in the window. But when she saw the two little dolls in blue sitting beneath it her joy was unbounded. She clapped her hands and danced with glee [illegible] the gayest [illegible].

"[illegible] are Alice Blue and Eleanor Blue," said the little mother, proudly.

"I want to give you one of them, Bonny Jean, which do you like?"

FEW HIGH SCORES MADE IN BOWLING LEAGUE THIS WEEK

Sorensons Cafe Team Crowds Standard Oils for First Place

Bowlers in the local league were active during the past week, but outstanding scores were few. The best score of the week was a 213 total turned in by Emil Dostal of the Fitger team Thursday evening in a series with the Hub Clothing, the former team taking two out of three.

Wednesday night of last week the Gamble Robinsons made it two out of three from the Thieves, Bill Munt, 149, and Lloyd Lund, 161, making the best scores. Monday night the G-Men took two out of three from the Gamble-Robinsons, high scores being made by Leonard Sanders, 168, and Henry Wang, 179. In another match Monday the Sorenson Cafe team won three straight from the Thieves, Albert Jaranson, 176, and Rube Jullen, 168, making the best scores.

The Soo Cafe team Tuesday evening made its entry into the winning column by taking three straight from the Fitgers, Bob Bredeson, 186, and Emil Dostal, 179, turning in the best scores.

League standings:

	W	L	Pct.
Standard Oil	8	1	.888
Sorensons Cafe	9	3	.750

COUNCIL ATTENDS TO VARIETY OF MATTERS AT TUESDAY SESSION

The fire department was granted the free use of the Auditorium for its annual dance to be held New Years Eve.

A hearing on assessments on sidewalk, curb and gutter construction on the east side of Crocker av. south from East Third st. was held. City Clerk P. G. Pederson was instructed to send each affected property owner a statement of the amount due, and if not paid the amount will be added to the taxes on the property to be paid over a period of several years with interest at the rate of six per cent. A hearing of assessments on a similar project on Kendall av. was ordered for the February 8, 1938, meeting of the council.

Police Chief A. B. Stenberg informed the council that a few stop signs installed on East First st. when the street was a part of Highway 59 are still in place, and suggested that they be removed since the street is no longer a trunk route. It was voted to have the signs removed.

City Attorney Theodore Quale was instructed to have ready for action at the next session of the council a deed transferring title to the local golf course back to the Thief River Falls Golf club. Title to the property had been transferred to the city several years ago as a means of qualifying for an extensive WPA improvement project, which now has been completed.

148 WARDENS ARE CHOSEN IN EXAMS HELD BY WENZEL

William Borchert of This City Is Listed Among Appointees

Appointment of 148 game wardens from an eligible list of 250 candidates certified by the chief examiner of the department was announced last week by Conservation Commissioner Herman C. Wenzel.

Mr. Wenzel stated that 106 of the former warden force of 137 were reappointed. Five former wardens failed to qualify in the competitive examinations, and seventeen received qualifying marks but were not reappointed. Nine former wardens will be given employment at state game refuges.

Under the new organization of game law enforcement, the state is divided into eighteen districts, each in charge of a warden supervisor. Supervisors in each district will be in charge of from six to ten wardens, depending on the district.

Edward McKeever, deputy director of the division of game and fish, will be in charge of all wardens. Martin O'Toole will continue as chief warden.

All future appointments to vacancies will be made from the list of those candidates who passed the civil service tests but were not appointed. Such candidates will remain on the eligible list for a period of not to exceed two years. Those named in Northwestern Minnesota include:

District 9. Harry L. Munger, Detroit Lakes; Robt. Streich, Moorhead; J. O. Lewis, Perham, Wm. Bahls, Ottertail; Merle Shields, Detroit Lakes; F. H. McArdle, Pelican Rapids; R. R. Holland, Fergus Falls; D. D. Centerwall, Breckenridge.

District 10. A. H. Schutz, Brainerd; Fred Heuer, Pine River; Ed. Watts, Crosby; E. J. Garrity, Aitkin; Elvin F. Brock, McGregor; A. P. Carlle, Brainerd; Ray Miller, Wadena.

District 11. Wm. H. Borchert, Thief River Falls; Paul N. Blide, Hallock; Axel Nelson, Roseau; W. D. Miller, Crookston; Martin K. Nelson, Fertile; Allan Brattland, Ada; Conrad M. Olson, Red Lake Falls; John Ross, Argyle.

District 12. Ernest M. Sharratt, Bemidji; H. L. Gordon, Roy Lake; A. M. Holt, Bagley; Chas. Masoner, Park Rapids; Walter Hensel, Kelliher; Paul Lisowski, Blackduck; Sidney Bolstad, Redby; Wm. Saari, Bemidji.

District 13. E. H. Frank, Baudette; Ed Pohrte, Baudette; Earl Montgomery, International Falls; W. E. O'Connor, Ray; J. C. Richards, Big Falls; V. L. Schleppegrell, Little Fork; Jos. E. Peterson, Manitou; Art Emme, Warroad.

Rites Saturday for Mrs. Helen Urdahl Who Dies Dec. 13th

Funeral rites will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Lutheran church at Goodridge for Mrs. Helen Urdahl, who died at her home in this city Monday at the age of 79 years. Rev. E. L. Tungseth will officiate at the rites and burial will be in the New Lutheran cemetery at Goodridge.

Mrs. Urdahl was born June 23, 1858 in Telemarken, Norway. At the age of 16 years she came to America, residing at Hanley Falls, where she was married on December 24, 1884 to Christen Urdahl. They made their home at Hanley Falls until 1906 when they moved to a homestead near Goodridge. In 1928 they moved to Highlanding and in July, 1935 came to this city to reside.

Surviving Mrs. Urdahl's death are her husband, one son Nicols of Goodridge, three daughters Mrs. E. M. Engen and Miss Carry Urdahl of this city, and Mrs. Ole Prestebak of Goodridge; four grand-children, two sisters Mrs. Anna Bruson of Cottonwood and Miss Anna Rowberg of Henley Falls, and one brother Evean Rowberg of Henley Falls. One son, one daughter, two brothers, and two sisters preceded her in death.

T. ARENS REPORTS ON RURAL CREDIT BUREAU FOR 1937

Conservator Says 28,000 Acres of Land Sold During Year

The department of rural credits has received more rentals in advance than any year in its history according to T. H. Arens, conservator. The total rental receipts for November, 1937 are $127,222.62; in November, 1936, the rental receipts were $69,703.07. The total rents collected for the eleven months of 1937 is $811,727.79 as compared with $611,655.90 the total of 1936. Mr. Arens believes the total rentals for 1937 may reach one million dollars. Not nearly as high per centage of total rentals in 1936 were paid in cash as for the present year.

In the opinion of Mr. Arens this is due to the better crops, and the good prices paid for cattle in late summer and early fall. The total receipts of the department for crop payment rent will be considerably larger this year because of the better crops.

According to this report the sales totaled approximately 28,000 acres of land sold to 122 purchasers for a total of $822,000. This is more than three times the number of sales of November, 1936, nearly three times the number of acres, and a large increase in total receipts. The increase in receipts is not as large in proportion to the number of farms sold due to the fact that many of the sales were in the northern part of the state this year where land is comparatively cheap. Over seventy per cent of the sales are made in the northern counties.

While sales have been made for the most part within the state, the Department of Rural Credits has been receiving inquiries from every part of the country. Over sixty per cent of the inquiries have been from other states. South Dakota leads followed by North Dakota, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin. A few of those are former owners. One former owner who has been living in Louisiana for the past four years has sent in an offer to repurchase his former Minnesota farm. Most outside buyers suggest cash purchases.

Here is "Mike" the three months old Shropshire lamb, born with only three legs. Nature neglected to provide the right front leg and Mike has to hobble around as best he can with only three supports. The freak lamb was born on the farm of Hank Krause, near Ormsby, Minn. His deformity excited the pity of Alice Mork, 12 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mork, who live on a neighboring farm. She took him home and raised him on a bottle. Consequently he is a great pet and spends most of his time in the yard around the house, and is a great favorite with the children.

Still Takes Special License to Cut Hair

It still takes a barber's license to cut hair, and those who think otherwise are apt to feel the full force of the law, according to an opinion of W. S. Ervin, attorney general.

The attorney general gave a decision to the state examining board of barbers following unauthorized news stories which indicated that beauty parlors might cut bangs, thin out hair and give neck clips without a barber's license.

As a result, several beauty shop operators have been haled into court and threatened fines or imprisonment for doing the above acts without a proper license.

When asked whether or not beauty operators were authorized by law to engage in such practice, Attorney General Ervin answered in the negative, quoting Section 5846-2 of Mason's Statutes.

LIFTING THE SHADOW OF DREAD
The discovery of Anti-Toxins, Serums and Vaccines is one of the accomplishments of Medical Science, of which all Doctors are proud, and for which they are profoundly thankful. These have helped to lift some of the dread, which parents endure during the infancy and early childhood of their youngsters.
It is almost criminal these days, for children to be left to the mercy of common but deadly diseases, such as diphtheria, smallpox and lock-jaw, with preventive measures easily available. Many deaths, grave illnesses and life-long after effects can be avoided by proper attention and timely immunization.
Consult your Doctor and protect your children against these drains on growth and development.

WINTER SHOWS AT CROOKSTON HELD FEBRUARY 7 TO 11

Board of Managers Announces Main Features of Program

Red River Valley Winter Shows will be held at Crookston during the week of February 7-11 and the board of managers has arranged the main features of the program. T. M. McCall, superintendent of the Northwest School and president of the board of managers of the Winter Shows states that Governor Elmer A. Benson has been invited to give an evening address. Homer L. Challeaux, Americanization chairman of the national committee of the American Legion and one other speaker of national reputation will be the other evening speakers. The Northwestern Minnesota Singers association concert will be augmented with outstanding soloists again this year.

Outstanding leaders in agriculture and home economics have been secured to bring the latest information to the men's and women's day meetings. More than 150 members of livestock and crops judging teams from agricultural schools of three states and farmers clubs, 4-H clubs and high school of Minnesota will compete for judging honors in the contests of February 7. Advance copies of premium lists in livestock, poultry, and farm crops will be mailed to prospective exhibitors before January 1.

The members of the board of managers of the Red River Valley Winter Shows and the organizations they represent include: T. M. McCall, president and superintendent of the Northwest School of Agriculture; H. A. Pflughoeft, district leader of 4-H clubs; E. W. Spring, treasurer of the board and secretary of the Red River Valley Development Association; A. A. Habedank, treasurer of the Red River Valley Livestock association; C. L. McNelly, district leader of county agents; C. M. Peack Red River Valley Dairymen's association; John Saugstad, business manager of the Red River Valley Winter Shows.

Will Install Crossing Signal East of Erskine

Despite the President's recommendations for eliminating federal highway aid to the states for the period from July 1, 1938 to July 1, 1939, highway construction was assured in seven counties in 1938 when N. W. Elsberg, Minnesota highway commissioner, this week awarded nine contracts for road projects costing $190,925.76 to be paid for partially out of funds available from this year's allotment.

The contracts provide for construction in Crow Wing, Swift, St. Louis, Polk, Stearns, Hennepin and Ramsey counties. The largest award was for 5.1 miles of grading and stabilized aggregate base on T. H. 33 in St. Louis county and went to Whitman and Borg, Bovey, for $69,317.45.

The awards include Polk County Grade crossing signal located east of Erskine on T. H. 2, to Griswold Signal Company, Minneapolis, for $6,700. Work to start Dec. 13.

1,950 PENNIES PAY FOR COAT

Marshall.—"Please lay the coat aside for me and I'll be back Monday with the cash!" said a woman shopping last Saturday in a local store. And what a piece of cash she brought back when she returned for the coat! It was 1,950 pieces of cash, in fact, for she paid the $19.50 with a sack containing 1,950 pennies. The manager of the store reported his cashier worked "far, far into the night" counting the money. The woman said she saved the pennies over a period of one year and three months.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Members of the Minnesota Farm Conference Board, which was set up by the Minnesota farm conference Oct. 4 to press for the program mapped out at the meeting, gathered in St. Paul this week to hear a report from M. W. Thatcher members of the board, who has been to Washington.

While the Minnesota plan—which would set a basic price on major farm products—is getting considerable attention in Washington, board members were told that Congress is still too conservative to enact such a program as Minnesota farmers want.

"Congress may change its tune the way farm prices are going now," John Nelson of Brookston, Chairman of the committee, said. Another member, J. O. Bjorklund of Henning, said that "if farm conditions get worse at the rate they have during the last 90 days, Congress is going to get more heat from the farmers of this county than it's looking for."

Meanwhile the farm committee board debated the advisability of sending a larger delegation to Washington in a last-minute effort to liberalize the measure before the national law making body.

After speaking on behalf of Tom Mooney before a huge San Francisco gathering numbering 12,000 people in the civic auditorium, Governor Benson paid a visit to the famous labor prisoner in his San Quentin jail cell, while on his recent California trip. The gathering was reported to be the largest ever held for Mooney.

Visibly shaken by the visit of Minnesota's governor, Mooney recited to Benson some of the history of his long struggle for freedom and for vindication. He expressed hope that his imprisonment would soon be terminated, as a result of renewed activity on his behalf in the national congress and in other quarters.

Benson delivered greetings to Mooney from the Minneapolis Board of Business Agents, the railroad brotherhoods, the Minneapolis building trades council, the moulders union (Mooney's own union) and the Labor Review. The Governor, while in California, was escorted by Herbert Resner, Young San Francisco lawyer who is secretary of the San Francisco Bay Area A. F. of L. committee for the freedom of Mooney and Billings.

Congressman John T. Bernard declared himself last week as "unalterably opposed to the proposed consolidation of the Duluth and Iron Range Railway with the Duluth, Missabe and Iron Range Railway."

The case is being argued before the Interstate Commerce Commission by Assistant Attorney-General Harry Oehler and Harold Atwood, railroad and warehouse commissioner, both opposing the merger. Oehler declared that the state would stand to lose $44,000 in taxes if the merger went through. The U. S. Steel Corp. owns both the Oliver Mining Co., and the Duluth, Missabe, and Iron Range road.

"If the time ever comes," Benson told a small gathering of friends some time ago, "when the daily press begins to say some complimentary things about me, you will have a reason to become suspicious." Thus far, there has been no occasion for suspicion.

Only God can make a tree, says the poem by Joyce Kilmer, but it's possible for man to help things along. And that's what the Conservation Commission is planning to do, according to announcement of Commissioner Wenzel to the joint legislative interim committee on forestry.

The commission's proposal, which has long had the backing of Dr. Raphael Zon, expert at the Lake States Experiment Station in Minneapolis, is that state nurseries should turn to the growing of all kinds of trees and shrubs. The law now limits them to the production of evergreens.

The farmer's woodlot, so necessary to him as a soil conservator and windbreak as well as a source of income, if cared for properly, would have a cheap source of replenishment. In the many sections where trees have been destroyed by drouth, farmers should welcome this proposal.

BERTHA WHO? ASKS A PUZZLED SISTER

Redwood Falls.—"Bertha who?" puzzled Mrs. C. L. Lynn, when she was unexpectedly approached by her sister whom she had not seen in two decades. The occasion was the happy reunion which occurred last week in Redwood Falls of two sisters who had not seen each other in 20 years. Mrs. Arthur Weiss of Chicago, California arrived here unexpectedly to visit Mrs. C. L. Lynn. Not finding Mrs. Lynn at home, the guest went to town where she met her sister. "Aren't you Catherine?" the one sister inquired a little doubtfully. "Yes", answered Mrs. Lynn, "but I don't believe I know you." "Why I'm Bertha," announced the other and a puzzled woman wondered which "Bertha".

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

DECEMBER 17 IS DESIGNATED AS ALUMNI NIGHT

Special Reduced Prices Given to Alumni

As an incentive to increase gate receipts at the Prowler-Cass Lake basketball encounter, a plan has been devised by which alumni attendance is particularly solicited. This game has been designated as "Alumni Night." The distinct feature of this occasion is the sharp cut in both adult and student admissions. A special section of the bleacher (the N. E. part) will be reserved for past graduates of Lincoln High School. The admission rates are as follows:

1 adult ticket and 15c admits two adults.

1 student admission and 10c admits two students.

The price of admission for children will be 10c.

It is altogether fitting that this particular game has been selected for this event. The Lakers have always furnished the Prowlers first class competition. In the other half of the double feature, the Prowler "B" squad is slated to meet a strong Alvarado team. During the intermission between halves of the main go, the highly publicized tumbling team under the supervision of H. W. Gabrielson will make its 1937 debut before the home fans. The Lincoln High School band will perform throughout the evening under the leadership of R. G. Riggs.

Let's turn out 100% for the occasion so that we may merit its adoption. It isn't often we have a chance to participate in something like this. Let's back it to the fullest extent.

SPORT SHORTS

Did you know that Mr. Bye was a star athlete at Concordia College? Did you know that Mr. Peterson was a star hockey artist at Macalester last year? Did you know Mr. Gabrielson was a Minnesota state diving champ while at Gustavus Adolphus? No, neither did I.

Frosh-Soph. Party Is Held Thursday

The annual Freshman-Sophomore Party was this year given by the Sophomore Class as an outcome of the Freshman-Sophomore football game held earlier this fall. A program was presented at the beginning of the evening which consisted of a Movie Production and a Radio program. An amplifying system was used for announcing. Such stars as Mae West, Shirley Temple, Zasu Pitts, Eleanor Powell, Greta Garbo and Robert Taylor played in the Production. After the program the gym was used for games and relays. Some of the teachers took part in the games. Such relays as having teachers carry full glasses of water across the room and winding thread from one spool to another. All took part in chewing string to get a lump of sugar, peanut relays and also other circle games. Later on in the evening hot dogs and pop were served.

PROWLING AROUND

Here's a tip to the boy student of Lincoln high. If you're wondering what to do after school why not witness the daily practice sessions of Mr. Gabrielson's stellar tumbling troupe in the gym. Under his guidance, the present squad is shaping up to closely rival last year's widely heralded team which gave exhibitions in our own city, Crookston and Ada. Work is being done on the mats, the parallel bars, the high bar and on a "horse" which was secured recently. The team will give their first public appearance tomorrow evening at the basketball game. All local sports enthusiasts might take the tip to good advantage by watching the tumblers in their daily grind.

Although it is definitely out of his class, your sport columnist has selected an All-American football team which appears to be the current pastime of all members of his overly rated clan. Preference was given to seniors to those who starred over a three year period, those on high ranking teams facing stern schedules, and as closely as possible representatives evenly divided according to the sections of the country. In some positions, the choices depending on this season's play, were practically ties but because of one or more of the previously listed factors, the final choices resulted. Here's your columnists All American eleven for 1937.

E Ray King, Minnesota
E Charles Sweeney, Notre Dame
T Vic Markov, Washington "U"
T Tony Matisi, Pittsburgh
G Joe Routt, Texas A. & M.
G LeRoy Monsky, Alabama
C Alex Wojciechowicz, Fordham
QB Clint Frank, Yale
HB Byron White, Colorado
HB Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh
FB Sam Chapman, California

Those who believed a mediocre Prowler "B" squad would take the floor in their first appearance last Friday were pleasantly surprised with the form shown by the reserves. Two soph forwards Loren Jung and Wayne Bredeson were scoring leaders with nine and eight points respectively and played fine all-around ball. Perry Pederson and "Red" Eide were the spark plugs of the teams and should compare favorably with any member of opposing teams in the future. Leonard Furuseth, another soph, is as tough as a whalebone, shows a lot of fight and with a bit more practice [illegible] make it very interesting for other squad members. The Prowler "[illegible] outlook is not as [illegible] formerly [illegible] a minute [illegible] its undefeated rec[illegible] have compiled an individual player record for five games. The player, positions, field goals, free throws, personal fouls and total points are listed from left to right. The regulars are starred at the left.

Poking at High-Ups

We all like to think we're outstanding in our own little world but are we? The following is a list of those who in the opinion of "yours truly" are outstanding in various respects in old L. H. S. Please, anyone, don't feel offended because everyone can't be included [illegible] all [illegible]

Gordon Holte—The politest kid in school—naturally he's a Senior.

Jimmy Borreson—The most bombastic sophomore in these parts.

Ardith Schultz—The rarest of cases when a freshmen actually seems grown up.

Paul Senstad—The most study-crazy fella ever born.

Alverda "Tubba" Lund—The most picked on "little" she male of all.

Ted Helle—The biggest word user in high school—of course he's a senior.

Mel Haugham—The most professional school skipper known to us kids.

Erling Mellby—The minutest guy with the hat of the hour (?)

Joyce Bennes—The most practiced of flirts.

Floyd Melby—The smoothest layer on of flattering remarks.

Mary Mayer-Oakes—The gal what has the most horrible time trying to be aloof from the ice at the arena.

Cliff Oleson—The victim of a gruesome plot in which he was forced to trip ter [illegible] stumbles the light fantastic.

That's all for now, people, but we warn you it's one of those "to be concluded," style of say all things.

Pomeroy Hill, Fargo football ace, formerly of the Prowlers, was named on the third all-State team of North Dakota recently. Jean LaMarre, regular Grafton center, who played fullback against the Prowlers, was also named to the third team.

Christmas: the season of peace and good will. And war clouds darken the face of the earth while we bask in what may be the sunset of peace. The news of today is read by our parents with a deep feeling of apprehension. The whining roar of bombers, the staccato rattle of machine guns, the thundering rumble of cannon, are oceans away, but already they ask hesitatingly, "Will our boys have to go? Will they be used as cannon fodder for unscrupulous messengers of death?"

There are roads that will lead us to war, and there are roads that will lead us to peace. Can we avoid war? It is not enough to hate war and love peace. If we are to keep the road of peace we must keep alive the desire for peace and insist that the leaders of our nation remember the woes of the great war and attend to their own business and theirs only in the future. Today, we as members of the youth of America, can do little more than keep alive and stimulate this desire for peace, but this will tend to influence favorably our power in the future and destroy our false illusions of the glory of war.

Of importance to us in the interests of peace and our influence on those smaller than we, should be the announcement of a prominent department store in the large American city forbidding the sale in that store of any toys symbolizing war or military activities of all kinds. As such toys become a part of the boy's life he becomes attached to them; he honors, worships and glorifies war, and such childish emotions are not easily quelled as he grows to youth and manhood. What a boon it would be to the future welfare of America if all other stores would follow the high ideals of this one! It cheers us to hear that the toy pack this Christmas backs our nation's neutrality policy. Less than one per cent of the playthings are miniatures of military equipment. The G-men, the engineer, cowboy, cartoon celebrities and Hollywood stars are replacing soldiers as the nation's playroom heroes. Parlor games based on crime solving, business sports and chance outnumber battle strategy games 1000 to 1. We wish that even that ratio might be further increased toward the elimination of such detrimental take our places very soon. War is take our places very soon. War is not a plaything. Let us not have a plaything as the symbol of war.

Also, let us remember in this Yuletide season that it is not merely a season of the exchange of gifts, family reunions, the pomp of Santa Claus, the Christmas tree, decorations and fun for all. This interpretation is not altogether wrong for the season and the day itself, was meant as a day of great joy and celebration. However, let us not forget, above all else, that the real reason of this celebration is the birth of the humble babe in the lowly stable manger under the shining star of Bethlehem almost two thousand years ago. We are to celebrate the birth of the Christ child, the savior of the world. May that shining star be a light to guide and lead you on the road of peace, happiness and good will as it led the three wise men of old. It is more than just a Christmas hope that we recall and live by the eternal hope of the first Christmas with its soul stirring message, "Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace, good will toward all men." It is a hope for eternity.

And with all those sincere thoughts still uppermost in our minds, we wish to join an innumerable throng in wishing every one of you a very merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year.

PROWLERETTES' CORNER

A good day to you, folks, and the merriest Merry Christmas with gobs of good health, zip, and vibrant energy in your Santa stocking to last you the coming year. Which reminds me—a new year is in the offing, is it not? Well—that gives me the note on which to end my mental meanderings—So—

Posture work goes on, and with a right good will. The student teachers are very exacting, and if general physical set-ups are not improved, they will hardly be at fault. The horse is finally broken in—thank heaven, not down. Josies now have an idea of the proper approach, mount, and dismount on said horse leather. Warning: do not attempt this on a real dobbin, girrule—await further instructions.

Though basketball practices were off schedule last week, most of the girls reported and there were some really speedy games. The practice game scores do not count at this time, but after every team has played each team once we will terminate the thing with a grande finale— ("tournament", in our langwidge.) And after that [illegible] after that, my dears, comes [illegible]uditorium thrill again. Mmm. Polish up the ball handling—watch your footwork and timing of shots. Yes—and say, josies, try a few long shots and some "hooks" once in awhile.

Tumblers still hold out and sometake a lot of punishment. For instance, those with double "optics" Joanie knows.

Crumbs from the noon-day table: Ping-pong artists and shuffle-board followers—to say nothing of volley-ball enthusiasts, over-run the gym at noons nowadays. Bag—it really is a great thing—and such nice people—so I heard.

BAND NOTES

A part of the Christmas program to be given tomorrow by the Lincoln High students will be a concert by the high school band. They will present the following pieces: "Cotton Pickers' Song", "Mystic Knights Overture," "Londondary Air," and "Beneath the Holly" a melody of Christmas hymns.

The Junior band will also play for this program. This will be their first public appearance and we know that they will give a fine performance.

Last Friday night the band played at the basketball game between Mahnomen and Thief River Falls. With the absence of Mr. Riggs, the band played very well without a director.

Last Monday night the brass sextette played a short concert at the Trinity Lutheran Church. They played "Hunters Song", "The Rolling Sea," and "Beneath the Holly".

SEEN DONE

No wonder we fall asleep in all our classes and stagger around the halls with our eyes half-shut. In case you haven't guessed it, it's the result of that new organization, the Skater's Union.

From the looks of things, L. H. students are proving themselves rather extensive travelers. Enid O. just returned from a little jaunt to Florida, and Floyd M. leaves for good old Los Angeles Saturday.

Didja see the new suit Mr. Riggs was flashing about? Can't imagine why he'd want one just now, canoe?

Selling class play tickets is profitable business for some people (A. L.) and rather hard on the pocketbook for others (C. L.). Just imagine taking her to every show for a week—and at the Falls too—and to lunch at the Palm Garden—all as a result of a bet which Lunke lost.

"Tiny little foot-prints all upon our feet"—and it's true, too. After the Masonic party, everyone had to stop and rest their "dogs" at a local cafe. Maybe it's a good excuse, but some feet are nothing to make fun of!

Things have come to a fine point when certain alumni have to refrain from attending "hops" because too many young frosh and sophomores might be there. Hang your heads, Carl and Don.

Christmas comes but once a year and when it comes it brings all the college kids home. Oh boy, lots of boys and girls go to college. Hot spit!

Now we Seniors know we're grown up—imagine, the time has come when we even get invited to the Alumni party—Just feel those gray hairs pop in amongst our other beautiful locks. Oh dear, never thought this time would come.

Last minute warning to Senior boys—Boys that go to the Sons of Norway Hall instead of skating are due for a big surprise from more than one source!

Flagstad of Roseau is almost becoming a member of the Prowler squad. He has officiated in four out of the five contest the Prowlers have played in to date. Coincidentally, his officiating has met with distinct approval with fans, coaches and players alike.

MAHNOMEN FALLS TO STRONG LOCAL SQUAD BY 44-9

Locals Prove to be Too Strong for Indians

Coach George Lee's rampaging Prowlers climbed up one more step on the ladder toward a perfect record, when they successfully turned back everything the Mahnomen Indians had to offer, here Friday night.

Every hope of victory the Redskins might have harbored was dispelled when Roy Lee, diminutive co-captain of the local quint, went on a scoring spree and found the hoop for exactly ten counters. Lee not only provided a spark for the Prowler offensive "Putsch", but also proved to be a veritable bulwark on defense, foiling many of Mahnomen's potential scoring thrusts. His work was closely followed by the play of Don Lorentson, a consistent high scorer, who garnered nine tallies to boost his total of 39. Space does not permit mention of the very creditable work of Caldis, who closely followed the leaders with eight points and Stadum, who hooped five of his attempts for six markers, and the sparkling work of Clark Mickelson, Mel Haugham, et al.

The encounter began fast with Lee and Lorentson collaborating on the scoring end. It was in this period that the boys from down Mahnomen way accounted for their only two baskets from the floor. This scoring was supplemented by a converted gift shot.

The remaining stanzas only accentuated the Prowlers defensive power, setting down the visitors with no field goals. This time was characterized by the number of personal fouls committed by the Mahnomen County outfit.

Don Glass, a boy of Indian parentage, stood out for the visitors, amazing the audience with a fine display of floor technique. Captain Bonn also did fine work, supplying three of his team's nine points.

Preceding the Prowler-Mahnomen tussle, the Lincoln "B" squad saw their first scheduled 1937 action, when they set back a fighting Greenbush five, 35-11. Loren Jung led the reserve hoopsters by bagging nine points. He was closely followed by Bredeson with eight. The defensive combination of Eide and Furuseth proved very effective, limiting the visitors to but three baskets from the floor.

Intramural Season Progressing Rapidly

Last week the intramural season progressed with four more games. The first of these, Bombers vs. Gophers, proved to be an unexpected turn when the Gophers squeezed out a 14-13 victory over the Bombers. Loren Jung and Glen Carlson each scored seven points. Jung was high point man for the Gophers, and Carlson for the Bombers.

The Bombers, because of this defeat, gave way from their position as highest rated team, and now the Alley Cats have copped this title. The Alley Cats have lost only one of their four games that they have played so far.

The No Stars bowed to the Hawkeyes in another unexpected upset. It seems the No Stars just didn't click that night, and the Hawkeyes walked away with them in a 25-18 victory. Cliff Oleson scored 15 points for the Hawkeyes and Lunke led his team in scoring with 8.

Following these games the Alley Cats turned the tables on "Wally" Tunberg's Rebels by the decisive score of 26-18. Tunberg scored six points for his team and the Alley Cats' high point man this time was Jack Hess who scored eleven points.

Next the No Stars atoned for their former defeat earlier in the week by trouncing on the Cornhuskers and snatching a hard earned victory, the score being 29-21. The Cornhuskers now have a new man added to their team who was also high point man with 18 points making him also high point man of the week. That person is Lynn Booren. Lunke was high point man for his team, the NoStars, having scored 15 points.

The scores of all the players have been added up to determine the five highest scorers for the entire intramural season up to this point. The highest scorer is Wallace Tunberg, captain of the Rebels, who scored 33 points. The other four with their scores are Robert Kielty, 31; Cliff Oleson, 31; Glen Carlson, 27; Loren Jung, 26.

CHORUS

The names of the members of Mixed Chorus are the following:

Sopranos: Ardith Burrell, Ardith Thompson, Dorothy Lang, Betty Jane Franks, Mae Anderson, Helen Haraldson, Viola Jorgenson, Lillian Amundson, Ellen Lindblom, Lois Jordahl, Doris Mosleth, Camille Ausland, Leona Bratland, Mary Alice Biedermann, Thelma Skaar, Edna Ellison, Carol Hicks, Lorraine Thomas, Lauel Thomas, Laurel Myrin, Joan Dahlquist.

Altos: Eileen Rolland, Ann Hilyer, Myrtle Mosbeck, Dorothy Green, Norma Jean Looker, Katherine Granum, Marie Storhaug, Beatrice Pederson, Mae Wilson, Barbara Jacobson, Bernice Halvorson, Marjorie Hellquist, Evelyn Stokke.

Tenors: Robert Smith, Erling Mellby, Ellsworth Jorgenson, Howard Janneck, Arthur Burringrud, William Claffy, Jimmy Skarstad.

Basses: Ralph Gustafson, Charles Gustafson, Donald Nelson, Clifford Vigness, Paul Senstad, Wesley Burrell, Stanley Newlann, Lawrence Swanson, Gordon Reierson.

All the singing groups are working very hard to make the coming Christmas program a success.

Participating in the program will be the following—Boys and Girls Glee Club of the Central and Lincoln High Schools; the seventh and eighth grade choirs; the mixed chorus of the high school and the Junior and Senior bands.

The Mixed Chorus will sing "Cherubim", "Today There is Ringing," and "Vigil."

The Girls Glee Club will sing "Silent Night, Holy Night."

The intramural race is hotter than any in many years as all of the teams have felt the axe and even the lowly teams have tasted victory.

CASS LAKE SLATED TO MEET LINCOLN QUINTET DEC. 17

Two Games to be Played in Auditorium Friday Evening

Last week we made the statement that the Prowlers would be put to their first real test when opposed by Mahnomen. We know now this was not true after watching the Prowlers run away with the Indians with a score of 44 to 9. In the five games played thus far the local cagers have encountered no really strong opposition, the closest contest being with the Bemidji State Teachers College Reserves which the Leemen won 41 to 28.

However, tomorrow evening Cass Lake will invade Thief River Falls and will undoubtedly be seeking revenge for the defeat they suffered last year in the final game of the regional tournament; that defeat at the hands of the Prowlers. Since Cass Lake was one of the outstanding teams in region eight last season it will be interesting to see just how much opposition they will furnish tomorrow evening.

Although we will not say that the game with Cass Lake will be another first real test for the Locals we do think it will be a test in another fashion. This is it. The Panthers have played the two teams which, at the present time, will give the boys in Blue and Gold their toughest district and regional competition. Those two teams are Warren and Bemidji, respectively. Bemidji won in an early season game 42 to 24 and Warren will meet them tonight. By comparing the scores after Friday nights game we will have a slight inkling as to how the locals rate in both the district and region.

Another feature of the game will be the initial performance of Coach Gabrielson's tumblers. Last season this aggregation made a big hit with both the public and student and Mr. Gabrielson reports that this years squad will at least equal, if not outdo, that memorable organization.

AGRICULTURE NOTES

Mr. Harrison and a group of agriculture students had the pleasure of motoring to East Grand Forks in one of the school buses last Saturday. The group visited the huge American Crystal Sugar Company in East Grand Forks commonly known as the sugar beet factory. A member of the office force there directed the jaunt through the mill and thus the visit was highly educational as well as entertaining. The group spent a large portion of the afternoon visiting the KFJM radio broadcasting studios in Grand Forks, visiting various stores, attending to Christmas shopping, etc.

The students who made the trip were Harry Oen, Karl Sandberg, John Lillevold, Ted Helle, Kenneth Ose, Ernest Grindeland, Elmo Magnuson, Bert Vigen, Oscar Vigen, Emil Heiran, LaVerne Engelstad, Robert Althoff, and Glen Anderson.

Keeping up with future Prowler opponents: Warren whipped Larimore 20-19, Crookston fell before Ada 20-16, Bemidji tripped East Grand Forks 41-11, and Cass Lake 42-24.

TELLS OF PLANS TO GIVE HELP TO TENANT FARMERS

Only Limited Amount of Aid Reported Available Now, Howard Says

Oliver H. Howard, rehabilitation supervisor for the Farm Security administration of the U. S. department of agriculture in Marshall and Pennington counties has received an announcement listing the names of the newly appointed state FSA advisory committee and explaining the new federal program to aid farm tenants.

The state committee appointed by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, to assist in carrying out the tenant land purchase program in Minnesota is as follows:

A. M. Ettesvold, farmer, Morris, Chairman; Frank W. Peck, Director of Agricultural Extension, St. Paul; A. M. Landby, farmer, Swift; Alfred Bergland, farmer Albert Lea; Oscar Olson, farmer, Swift; Alfred Bergland, farmer Albert Lea; Oscar Olson, farmer, Truman; Martin Olson, farmer and member board of regents, University of Minnesota, Clitherall; Theodore Arens, conservator rural credits department, St. Paul; Victor E. Lawson, publisher Willmar Tribune; and M. W. Thatcher, Farmers' National Grain corporation, St. Paul.

Lloyd L. Nelson, state director of the Farm Security administration in Minnesota will serve as executive secretary of the state committee, Mr. Howard said.

The state committee will aid the secretary of agriculture to make the administration of the program of loans to deserving farm tenants as effective as the funds available will permit. An allocation of $158,000 for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1938 has been made for Region II of the FSA, which includes Wisconsin, Michigan, and Minnesota.

The first duty of the state committee will be to assist the secretary of agriculture in the selection of four counties in which tenant purchase loans will be made during this fiscal year. They will also act as advisory bodies to the FSA.

Farm population and the prevalence of tenancy will be the principal criteria used in determining counties for loan purposes. It is planned to make no less than five loans and no more than ten in each county selected.

The state committee will not pass upon applications for individual loans made by tenants in the counties chosen. County committees, consisting of three farmers, to be named later by the secretary of agriculture, will have the major responsibility in the selection and approval of applicants. No applications will be accepted from tenants in counties not chosen to participate in this year's tenant purchase program. When the counties have been selected, the names will be made public.

Royalty will visit many young folks in the community in the form of a Princess Elizabeth doll, one of the new styles that will fit many Christmas trees in this community. Each year the kiddies become more fortunate, for dollies and toys, like other modern things march on. This is the time of the year that the children get that pushed in pugilistic nose, but it's from pressing it against toy windows, not from fighting.

Population of State Is Estimated at 2,652,000

Minnesota has reached a population of 2,652,000, a gain of 17,000 in the year ended July 1, 1937, it was reported this week by the census bureau in Washington. The state still remains nineteenth in population ranking, the gain not having affected its position. North Dakota had a population of 706,000 a gain of 3,000 for the year; South Dakota, 692,000 no change, and Montana 539,000, a gain of 8,000.

As Little Santa Claus Canary Was a Success

WITH Christmas so near and no money for a gift for Nedda Langley, his sweetheart and inspiration for composing, and now this cold rainy day, Carl Woods felt very low spirited.

Then he saw the little bird outside the window. He opened the window—the bird flew in and perched on the piano where it seemed quite at home. Standing by the piano wondering what to do with his visitor, Carl let his fingers wander over the keys. "Tweet tweet" the bird said and then began to sing lustily. Intensely interested, Carl continued playing and as long as he played the bird sang.

Suddenly realizing he was playing something he had never heard before, Carl began making note of what he had been playing. Growing chilled, he arose to close the window he had left open. To his surprise, the bird was gone, nor could it be found in the room. He couldn't remember when he had last heard it singing. Where could it be?

Looking across the court of the apartment building he noticed in the window opposite, a bird cage, and a canary was hopping around on the window sill. Although the window was closed now, it must have been open earlier and the bird had taken advantage of its freedom.

Whether it was the same bird that had visited Carl, he and Nedda always felt it was and called it "Little Santa Claus" for it had brought happiness and prosperity, for Carl's composition was accepted and an advance payment made.—Blanche Tanner Dillin.

"The Cooky Lady" and Tim's Christmas Letter

PATSY liked to take her doll out in the sunny kitchen and watch Ann, the cook, roll out the cooky dough and cut round moons; then put them in a long pan ready for the oven. When they came out all smelly and warm Ann would put some on a paper plate for Patsy to eat. Ann had the nicest dimples when she smiled, and Patsy would smile right back at her and say: "Thank you, Cooky lady."

Sometimes there were brown cookies and fruity ones, too, but the red and green candied ones that Ann made for Christmas were the very best of all. Patsy adored Ann. Through the seven short years of her life she had been her constant companion. Mother was just the lovely lady who was always busy with her clubs and going places, and Daddy was too busy at the office to be bothered much, but there was always Ann.

Patsy liked the nice postman, Tim, who came to see Ann and sometimes they all went to the movies together. Tim could play "pretend" almost as good as Ann. But once she heard him call Ann his best girl, and say: "Some day you're going to cook for me." After that she did not like him so well. Things seemed all wrong, and Santa hadn't answered her letter, and it was only two days till Christmas. She had said "Please write soon," and that had been days ago. He must help quick, or it would be too late. Several times a day she would go to the mailbox and stand on tiptoe to look in for fear her letter had been overlooked.

"Here, Tim," said one of the office clerks, "is another of the kid letters to Santa Claus; guess this one's up to you." Printed in a childish scrawl on the envelope, Tim read: "Santa Claus, care of Tim." He drew out the folded paper. It read: "Dear Santa, please bring Tim another best girl cause Ann has to cook for us."

"Your friend, Patsy Reynolds."

Tim stared, then chuckled: "Santa, old boy, you're up against it this time."—Jocile Webb Pearson.

CHARM OF CHRISTMAS

THE chief charm of Christmas is its simplicity. It is a festival that appeals to everyone, because everyone can understand it. A genuine fellowship pervades our common life—a fellowship whose source is our common share in the gift of the world's greatest Life which was given to the whole world.

The Birth of Christ

The time draws near the birth of Christ,
The moon is hid, the night is still,
The Christmas bells from hill to hill
Answer each other in the mist.

Dear Friends:

The method we use in computing the cost of a funeral is simple in its operation.

Each item of merchandise or service required is listed. There is a definite established price for each item. The prices on our merchandise are marked in plain figures, so that all may see. There are no deviations.

The total cost is thus computed, and depends entirely upon your selection and your service requirements.

WINTER TERM AT N. W. SCHOOL WILL OPEN JANUARY 3D

New High Attendance Record Anticipated by Supt. McCall

The winter term at the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston opens with registration day Monday, January 3. Superintendent T. M. McCall states that the increased interest in vocational training in agriculture, home economics and business training will result in at least twenty per cent increase in attendance over the all-time high record of 1936. With the record of enrollment 440 for the fall term, a new record near the 500 mark is expected for the winter term.

A large amount of new equipment in home economics, agriculture engineering, advanced business and general agricultural courses together with visual education equipment has modernized the work of all departments. J. W. Milnar, registrar and chairman of the housing committee states that dormitory facilities at the school supplemented by supervised dormitory accommodations in Crookston will be adequate to care for the increased enrollment.

The enrollment figures of students by counties released by Registrar J. W. Milnar show students from eighteen counties of Minnesota and three counties of North Dakota.

Polk county leads the list with 154 students with Kittson and Marshall tying for second place with 44 students each, followed in order with Norman 27, Lake of the Woods 24, Roseau 23, Becker and Pennington 21 each. Counties with less than twenty students include Ottertail, Mahnomen, Clearwater, Red Lake, Clay, Beltrami, Mill Lac, Todd, Grant and St. Louis. Traill, Scott and Grand Forks counties of North Dakota are represented by one student for each county.

Do your Christmas shopping early

According to reports from Augsburg College, the Minneapolis school attended by Rachel Anderson, Lydia Lackrem, Doris Moe and Erling Tungseth, a new dormitory, pictured above, will be built on the school campus during the summer of 1938. Increased student enrolment in recent years has necessitated this construction program at Augsburg. Memorial Hall will cost $125,000. Furnishing lodging for 100 men, it will also include an office for the Dean of Men, a lounge, and a dining hall. If the plans mature the building will be completed by the opening of the coming school year.

State Safety Council Ends Its Dependency on Minnesota Government

Divorcement of the Minnesota Safety council from its financial tie-up with the state government, returning to its former status as the state branch of the National Safety Council, was announced following a meeting of the advisory committee of that organization last week. Formal action was taken whereby the safety body resumed activities as the Minnesota safety council, after serving as the advisory committee of the public safety work conducted thru the State Relief Administration for the past four years. Hereafter, the council will be financed entirely by volunteer contributions. Duluth has been delegated to raise $1,500, Minneapolis, $3,500 and St. Paul $2,500 of the budget of $10,000 on which the council will finance its activities. The remainder will be raised in other parts of the state. Members of the advisory committee receive no remuneration for their services and pay their own expenses in attending meetings and have volunteered to raise $1,000 of the budget among themselves.

The resolution also provided for former officers of the Minnesota safety council to resume their places. Frank W. Matson, of St. Paul, has been president since formation of the council in 1928, and retains that office. Julius A. Schmahl is treasurer. A. V. Rohweder becomes chairman of the executive committee. The annual meeting will be held in January.

H. Amundson Renamed Mayor of Newfolden

Eighty-nine voters cast their ballots at the annual Newfolden village election held last week. Halbert Amundson was reelected as mayor for another year. Norman Johnson was elected as councilman to succeed S. O. Lee, who refused the nomination. Dr. George L. Johnson was elected as justice of the peace to succeed A. O. Gudim who also refused to be a candidate for reelection. P. J. Anderson was elected as constable.

ITASCA PARK DRAWS FROM MANY LANDS

Tourists from the Hawaiian Islands, Prince Edward Island, Mexico, several Canadian provinces, and even far away Burma, visited Itasca State Park during the past summer, according to Harold W. Lathrop, director of the division of state parks. An average of 5,000 tourists visited the park each week for some time prior to September 1, the count taken by CCC boys working on park improvement reveals.

Plummer Team Wins Two Straight

The Plummer Independent team took the Bagley team to camp last week by a big score. The Plummer boys just had too much power and experience for the Bagley team. Plummer dominated the game throughout and gave Bagley no chance to close up the game. For Plummer Helmer Langlie and Ed Langlie played good ball.

The Independent basketball squad proved too strong for the Red Lake Falls' team Wednesday night and defeated them by a score of 59 to 18. Red Lake's defense just could not cope with Plummer's offense thus accounting for the 59 points.

School Notes

The annual Christmas Program will be given Friday afternoon at the Municipal Auditorium. The pupils will present the following program: Welcome address, Donna Rosberg and Russell Johnson. Jumping Jack Drill, first and second grades. "Silent Night", "Noel", "The Sleigh", High School Glee Club. Mechanical Doll March, fourth, fifth and sixth grades. Tableaux, "The Tale of the Fir Tree". Carols, Junior High Glee Club. Three Wise Men, LeRoy Norby, Martin Lokell, Laurel [illegible], Readers, [illegible] Rosberg. Mary, Eileen Howard. Star [illegible], Dorothy Nelson. Special Feature, third and fourth grades. Everybody is welcome to come.

Wednesday evening the Plummer PTA held its monthly meeting. Because of bad weather only a small crowd attended. The program was as follows: Community singing, directed by Miss Gjestal and accompanied by Miss Aker. "Sour Milk Turns to Sweet", playlet, Donna Hoads and Arline Norby; Duet, "Eyes of the Past", Verna Ferrell and Ceceena Enderle; "The Belated Wedding Gift" written by Donna [illegible] and read by Miss Gjestal. Selections "Noel", "We Three Kings", Junior High Glee Club directed by Miss Ferrell.

After the business meeting lunch was served by Mrs. E. L. [illegible].

Mrs. Paul LaVoie, Mrs. [illegible] Langlie, Mrs. [illegible] and Mrs. M. Karlstad.

Plummer High school took another defeat at the hands of the [illegible] reserves. Too much reserve power along with too much size kept Plummer out of the running most of the time. Consensus of opinion, however, gave Plummer quite a "break" in that it was a smooth passing and smooth working team. Floor work was good with much faking but shots just would not roll in.

The Grade Honor Roll is as follows: eighth grade [illegible] grade: Tillie Hage, Mildred Sorenson, Margaret Bruggeman, fifth grade Arlene Norby, Donna Healy, fourth grade Cecile Hoyland, Theresa Mack, Violet Pitche, Betty [illegible], Vella Medchill, third grade Doris Gerardy, Jack Lendeux and second grade Lorraine Wickstrom.

JOB OFFICES TO SERVE THIS AREA TO OPEN JAN. 3D

Unemployed Workers Urged to Register; Service Free to All

Bemidji will be the headquarters for District No. 1 of the Minnesota State Employment Service, it was announced today by Frank T. Starkey, industrial commission member in charge of the service, which will function with the Minnesota unemployment compensation division. State headquarters will be in the Shubert Building, St. Paul.

The Bemidji office will be open by January 3, 1938. The office will serve as district office for branch offices to be opened by the same date at Crookston and Thief River Falls.

Principal function of the offices will be to register and seek work for unemployed workers. The service will be free to both workers and employers. In addition, the offices will be staffed with representatives of the unemployment compensation division, who will accept claims from unemployed workers for benefits under the Minnesota unemployment compensation law.

The Bemidji district and branch offices will serve the following counties: Beltrami, Clearwater, Hubbard, Cass, Polk, Norman, Mahnomen, Pennington, Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau.

"All persons unemployed on or after January 3, 1938, should register immediately at the Minnesota State Employment Service office nearest to their homes," Commissioner Starkey urged. "To assure prompt payment of benefits to eligible unemployed workers it is also necessary that unemployed workers immediately file their claims for benefits in the same offices."

Eligible unemployed workers, with earnings records in covered employment during 1937, will receive benefits ranging from $15 to approximately $6 per week. No benefits can be paid for the first two weeks during 1938 — these constitute a waiting period required by law. No benefits can be paid for unemployment before January 1, 1938.

Few President's Faces Used

November Was Second High Month for Loss of Drivers Licenses

With 163 driver's licenses taken away, November was the second highest month in total revocations in the history of the drivers license division of the Minnesota Highway department, a report presented to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, by Gil Carmichael, division director, revealed.

Interesting details of the report were that of the 163 revocations, 157 were for drunken driving, and that only three women lost their licenses. Suspensions also favored the women, and showed that only two were ordered out of a total of 79 for the month. Total suspensions for the month of November, 1936, were 53.

Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis were the leading counties in revocations, with 34 in Hennepin county, 26 in St. Louis and 25 in Ramsey. The next highest was Ottertail, with five. One foreign license was revoked. The same counties also lead in the totals for the year 1937, to November 30, with Hennepin having 292, Ramsey 203, and St. Louis 178; Mower was next with 30. Of the remaining counties, there were only four that had no revocations at all. They were Clearwater, Hubbard, Murray and Red Lake.

Comparatively, the largest group to have their licenses taken away were motorists between the ages of 25 and 30, in which group 211 drivers lost their permits. But the largest, figuratively speaking, were those between 40 and 50, with 203 licenses revoked. And, although the total was not large, taking into consideration the small percentage of drivers in the class between 15 and 20, the 55 revocations in this class indicate a high percentage of carelessness in drivers of that age.

Revocations for the year to November 30, totaled 1305, and of this, 1280 were for drunken driving. And here figures explode the myth which contends that women are less capable drivers than men, for during the same period this year, only 12 women have lost their licenses.

Suspensions for the year, to date, totaled 676. Of these, 389 were for reckless driving, 85 for unsatisfied judgment, 70 for financial responsibility and 40 for incompetency. The rest were for minor violations. Again the class between 15 and 20 ran high, being second with 133. First were those between 20 and 25, with 156 of their licenses suspended.

Smallpox Increasing in Minnesota, Medical Association Declares

When there is an epidemic of small pox, people hurry to the doctor to be vaccinated; but when the fright wears off they are likely to forget all about the need for constant protection.

This fact is emphasized by physicians, members of the Minnesota State Medical association committee on public health education today because state board of health reports show that small pox rates are creeping up again in Minnesota. At the same time, vaccination rates have been dropping in many parts of the state.

So few cases of this disfiguring disease have been seen lately that parents appear to have forgotten their own terror at the epidemics that once flourished of the disease. The result is, according to the physicians, that vaccination is often neglected for the children and the disease is on the upgrade again in Minnesota.

Last year there were 397 cases. The total has increased to 547 so far in 1937. Of these, 50 were reported in the month of November.

There is only one way to prevent another major epidemic of the disease and that, according to the bulletin, is to vaccinate every unprotected person promptly. Babies should be vaccinated before they have completed the first year of life.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Working

CHRISTMAS IN EARLY DAYS

For weeks and, in fact, for months supplies have been shipped in this section for the Christmas trade. Minnesota is a great Christmas state. The fact that we still are much closer to nature than the people of most other states, that we have the evergreens and snow so intimately linked to Christmas in this clime and that we have racial backgrounds linked to Christmas observance for centuries make the season a most important and delightful one in this region.

But we wish to present here a few facts about Christmas supplies in Minnesota and Christmas observance in pioneer days. We think we can best do it by telling you what took place up at Pembina just across the Red river in North Dakota and just a short distance from the Canadian boundary line. Recently we talked with Judge W. J. Kneeshaw, still a district judge at 83 years, who went to Pembina in 1873 as a representative of a Winnipeg firm.

The venerable jurist recalled that there were 10 whites families there in 1873 besides the officers and men at the Pembina fort about three miles to the south and the half dozen or so customs men. Since there were no railroads in the valley then or any where in the northern part of the region except the line built to Crookston in 1872 and abandoned in 1873, the year of the panic, by the way, all supplies went to Pembina by steamboat or overland.

Of course, steamboat traffic ended long before the Christmas season began and overland traffic with oxen was difficult and infrequent after the first of December, so the supplies had to be transported earlier. Now we know that most of the Christmas goods are purchased by stores from factories and jobbers in summer in order that shipments may be made in good season for the Christmas trade. But back in the early 70's early traffic for the same purpose was necessary because of travel conditions. After snow came oxen could make little headway on the trails and dogs were substituted but they could not carry heavy loads. So the goods sent out from St. Paul and Minneapolis, the great supply centers even then, were transported in the fall.

Metis, or mixed bloods, acted as aids to Santa Claus and brought the few gifts ordered and the candy, nuts, oranges, apples, etc., as well as Yuletide food supplies including turkeys in their oxcarts in October and November. This picture is consistent with the average conception of pioneer conditions, but history is stippled with exceptions, anachronisms and surprises.

Judge Kneeshaw tells us that mixed, hard candy was part of the Christmas freight and that the few children at old Pembina hung up their stockings which were duly filled with this candy, raisins, nuts, oranges and apples—much as is done today. Of course, Santa Claus came down the chimneys. Incidentally, most of the homes were log cabins and board shacks heated by Red River stoves, large, oblong affairs of cast iron in which wood was burned. There were, however, a few fireplaces in the homes of mixed bloods, built into a corner of the room.

Christmas trees were brought in from the Minnesota side and were decorated after a fashion but not nearly as prettily and pretentiously as today, to be sure. Most of the Pembina residents were British, Canadian and American and they had brought their Christmas customs with them. Later when Scandinavian and German settlers came in more delightful Yule customs and practices were introduced.

It happened at Pembina that ennui was averted to some extent by those accustomed formerly to social activity by the dances and parties staged at Fort Pembina. The officers gave more or less formal balls and the enlisted men plain dances. The outsiders could attend which ever they preferred.

Judge Kneeshaw operated a store for a Winnipeg firm and bought lots of furs, mostly mink, muskrat, fox and wolf pelts. He didn't sell much in the way of Christmas supplies, he recalled. Buffalo hams and humps could be procured although the buffalo herds were all much farther west in the early 70's in the Little Missouri river country. Venison was plentiful and so were wild ducks and geese but the whites apparently did not care for the high bush cranberries which grew nearby and had the low-bush kind, the kind we eat, shipped in.

Bells rang at old Pembina at Christmas time. There was a Catholic church and the bells in its tower, said to have been hung at Pembina in 1818, now is in the museum there. Then there was a school bell in the little log school where the Protestants worshipped. Their minister was the Rev. John Scott, a Presbyterian, who lived over the line at Dufferin post, near Emerson, Man., and was known as "Father" Scott.

1,000-Year-Old Play

Hampshire mummers still perform a play which is said to be 1,000 years old and for which there is no written script. The mummers are farm laborers who wear costumes made of colored wallpaper. They give the play at Christmas time.—Pearson's London Weekly.

State WPA Quota for December Now Filled; Total Reaches 35,000

WPA employment in Minnesota has reached 35,000, the quota limit for December, and no new assignments can be made until after January 1, said a statement issued this week by Victor Christgau, state administrator, after his return from a regional conference in Chicago.

"If more persons are to be employed as a result of the current business recession," he said, "it will depend on legislation effecting funds available for WPA. We are now operating under the 1937 Emergency Relief Act, passed last June. This contemplated an employment load smaller than had been carried in 1936, and appropriated funds sufficient to carry such a program to July 1, 1938. Now we are being asked to provide employment for a materially larger number of persons. Obviously, we do not have the funds with which to meet these new demands."

The legislation passed six months ago and before the current increase in unemployment, prescribed that there should be no deficiency appropriation; that no more than the money allocated should be spent. If additional funds became available, WPA will be able to quickly expand its employment, as the Minnesota administration has a reserve of projects that can be put into immediate operation.

FARMER CUTS HAY DURING DECEMBER

Detroit Lakes — One Becker county farmer has decided to make hay while the sun shines. A report reached Detroit Lakes recently that Maynard Aneson, Lake Eunice township farmer, was out in the field Tuesday, November 30 and Wednesday, December 1, cutting and stacking hay. It has been a long time, if ever, since farmers in the county have been able to get out in their fields at a period when the ground is ordinarily covered with snow. Another report received here states that the balmy weather of early December played tricks also with Detroit Lake. Persons have been attracted by loud, lion-like roars which arose from the lake. The sounds came intermittently at five minute intervals, but no theory was advanced to explain them.

Dealing With Evil

It is apparently an incurable instinct of human nature to avoid root causes and deal only with the surface symptoms of an evil.

"March of Minn." Honors Litchfield Area Sunday

Litchfield and her sister cities in the heart of Minnesota's dairy country will be honored in the third "March of Minnesota" broadcast Sunday, December 19 at 6:30 p. m. The program will be heard over Station WCCO, Minneapolis.

An incident from the early days of Litchfield will be dramatized as well as some of the outstanding present day events. The orchestra of 85 members of the Minneapolis Symphony, under the direction of Daniele Amfitheatrof, has arranged a program of stirring music and Cedric Adams will interview four Litchfield people over a special broadcast wire. This part of the program will come from the community hall in Litchfield.

The "March of Minnesota" broadcasts will continue each Sunday presenting a cavalcade of the state pointing out how every person is dependent upon his neighbor for the progress of Minnesota.

A Christmas Awakening

by Katherine Edelman

"WITH Christmas drawing near, why can't we get together and make plans—" Robert Dutton read no further. With calm deliberation, he put the heavily scrawled letter back into its envelope.

"Always the impractical Hal," he said slowly. "No wonder he never gets anywhere."

A list of appointments waited upon his desk. Visits from two of the most important men in town; a delegation about a right-of-way through a tract of land he had just purchased; a reminder of a talk he had promised to make at a luncheon. Important things, he thought, things Hal would never be called upon to do.

Hastily he went through his mail. A square envelope in a familiar hand caught his eye. He opened it a little curiously. What could Miss Denby be writing him about? His long fingers drew out an artistic Christmas card. A conservative wish and an old Christmas carol printed in English letters. That was all, except the signature, "Eleanor Denby."

A flush stained his face, an undefinable something sent the blood singing through his veins. "Eleanor," he said softly; "a beautiful name; how queer that I never heard it before."

Then, as if resenting his weakness and sentiment, he dug into his mail again. But try as he would, he could not concentrate on the things that had meant everything to him before. Something had happened to Robert Dutton; a Christmas greeting from a secretary whom he had scarcely noticed left him visibly unsettled.

Christmas memories surged through his heart. He was back in the old home again. Everybody was rushing around in circles. He saw the big tree in the corner of the parlor; the kitchen table piled high with good things to eat. And Mother and Dad, with happiness beaming upon their faces.

He picked up Hal's letter again. After all, maybe his kid brother wasn't so crazy? The thought was pushing through his mind that maybe it was he who lacked real sense.

"We're Going to Forget Business for Today," He Said.

This time he read the letter in a different mood. "Let's give Dad and Mother the surprise of their lives. Let's go down and make one grand Christmas for them. You can turn everything over to someone else for a week—anyone can handle things like that—there's nothing personal or precious about them."

"Nothing personal or precious about them!" He turned the words over in his mind. Hal was right. Someone else could handle the things that had seemed so terribly important. A few hours of confusion, perhaps; then things would go on as before. The world would forget him in a day.

His fingers reached for the pen upon his desk. "Dear Hal," he began, "I heartily agree with your proposal that we get together and make plans to give Dad and Mother the biggest surprise and the grandest Christmas ever—" He was smiling broadly, almost laughing aloud, as he finished the letter with a flourish.

Five minutes later Miss Denby entered his private office to find a new Robert Dutton. She almost dropped her book in surprise at the expression upon his face, and the new way in which he greeted her.

"I'm ready to begin, Mr. Dutton," she began nervously, when he made no motion to start the routine of the day.

"We're going to forget business for today, Miss Denby, and go Christmas shopping, that is, if you want to help me out." He fumbled with his tie as he spoke, noticing for the first time the soft curving of her white neck. "Your Christmas card," he went on "wrought some miracle. I've found out that business and making money isn't everything in life. They're both fine in their way, but there are other things, too; precious things that I've been overlooking." He came closer to her side and looked hard into her eyes. "For instance, going shopping with a good looking and adorable secretary."

Epizootic, Disease Among Animals

Epizootic means an outbreak of disease among animals, just as epidemic means an outbreak of disease among people.

ST HILAIRE

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Christmas party of the St. Hilaire Women's Club was held Thursday evening, December 9. Hostesses were: Mrs. W. J. Jande, Wendell Corbett and Miss Bernice Anderson. As the club rooms were recently destroyed by fire the affair was held at the home of Mrs. F. Biskey. An original skit entitled "A Visit to Santa Claus' Toy Shop" was put on by Mesdames Robert Kirkconnel and Hans Sande, acting the parts of "Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus". The toys being impersonated by the club members. Miss Henrietta Bonhoff received the prize for the best representation of a modern "Santa Claus" was appropriately dressed and "Mrs. Santa Claus" was attired in her mother's black-velvet dress with jet and ruching trimmings which was over seventy-five years old. The decorations consisted of a lighted fire place with stockings and candles, and the long tables were also trimmed with Christmas favors and tapers. A midnight lunch was served to about twenty members. Christmas carols were sung between the acts of the play and Miss Agnes Haugen read the script.

BLOSSOM UPHOLDS MINNESOTA STATUS

Waseca.— Southern Minnesota hurled a flaming torch of defiance into the face of southern California last week when Bob Bartlett plucked a dandelion in his front yard and exhibited the blossom here. This yellow posy, reminiscent of the thousands which bloom in rapturous profusion on Waseca lawns during the summer months was picked Wednesday, November 26. Bob found the dandelion to be quite a compensation after having read a letter concerning the rose-blanketed mountains and valleys of California.

Todd Co. Wins National Honors from Farm Bureau

The Todd County Farm Bureau ranked second from the top in the 1937 membership building contest conducted by 1,600 County Farm Bureaus, according to announcement made on Dec. 14 by the American Farm Bureau Federation. Announcement of the award and presentation of a trophy was made at the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation, held in Chicago Dec. 13-16. The award was made because of a membership gain of 1073 farm families over their previous year's enrollment of 324. The 1937 enrollment of 1,397 paid-up members will be substantially exceeded in 1938, according to Frank Schluender, president of the Todd County Farm Bureau. The 1938 membership campaign is now under way, and 1,509 farm families had joined on Dec. 15. Officers anticipate an enrollment of 1,700 or 1,800 before the year ends.

TWELVE LOST HATS YET TO BE FOUND

Glencoe—Hatters in Glencoe—those firms which retail hats—must have profited a fortnight ago by supplying customers with new headgear to replace hats lost on the streets here. A three-line advertisement appearing in the local newspaper stated that a hat had been found on a street in this city, brought inquiry from 12 persons who had lost a hat and in one instance two hats were lost, making a total of 13 men who reached home minus their headgear. One of those unfortunate enough to lose his hat had the good fortune to recover it through the advertisement, leaving 12 persons yet to cover the headgear they lost.

Christmas Poinsettias Popular Holiday Plant

THE brilliant street lights of a large city were flickering into the cozy front apartment of the Malory sisters. They were sitting alone on Christmas eve enjoying their snow white tree gleaming under its burden of blue electric bulbs in true modern fashion.

"Oh, dear," sighed Lois, "doesn't Christmas always remind you of poinsettias?"

"Sure does," replied her sister, wistfully. "How could we ever forget them? Remember how mother used to send us out in the sleigh to deliver those scarlet beauties to our friends, every Christmas? Those were the good old days!"

"Wasn't it fun, though? I can just see the dear old home simply loaded down with the 'Christmas stars' as we used to call them."

At this very moment several blocks down the street the telephone was ringing profusely in one of the busiest florist shops on the avenue. An order was being placed for the largest and very best poinsettia plant in stock. It was to be delivered to the Misses Lois and Mae Malory, on Rugby street.

Just fifteen minutes later the door bell at this residence rang and a messenger delivered the gift beautifully wrapped and tied in Christmas colors.

"Oh, Lois, come quick!" shouted Mae. "A gift from the home town. What can it be?"

"Why, it's a pot of poinsettias—one mass of crimson stars! Who could have sent it?"

When they discovered the card, it was more puzzling than ever, for the only inscription upon it was, "Poinsettias For Christmas."—Alice B. Palmer.

Sweethearts' Reunion Under Mistletoe Twig

BETTY JANE dressed carefully, wondering if college had changed Bill much. It was grand having him home for the holidays. The doorbell rang

"Christmas gift," cried Bill, handing her a gayly-wrapped package, and taking her in his arms. Betty Jane drew back. She wasn't sure she liked this Bill so well—he seemed so sure of himself. She remembered Bill as humble, wooing for her favors.

"Come say hello to the folks," Betty Jane invited, "and see the tree and smell turkey."

They went, hand in hand. "I suppose you've met a lot of girls at college," she hazarded. "Tell me about them."

"Well, there's just one I'm really crazy about," Bill answered. "All the fellows think she's swell. Her picture's on my dresser, and whenever I'm in doubt, I talk things over with her."

"How grand," said Betty Jane in a tight little voice. They came to the mistletoe. How different from last year, when she was just learning to love him!

"I have her picture on my watch, too," Bill went on, his eyes twinkling brighter than the silver star atop the tree.

"You used to carry mine there," Betty Jane observed, and managed somehow to laugh lightly.

"And still do," said Bill, exhibiting it. "All the fellows are jealous of the girl I left behind me. There isn't a girl in all the world, let alone college, like you, Betty Jane. And by the way, don't you know that a pretty girl should always stop when she comes to mistletoe?"—Helen Waterman.

82 YEARS AGO—

James Oliver cast the first Oliver Chilled Plow. The production of the Oliver plant has grown until more than one thousand plow combinations are found in the complete line. The progress of the Oliver Plow division, as shown in design and construction of better tillage tools, marks it still the leader of the agricultural manufacturing industries.

52 YEARS AGO—

John Nichols with David Shepard established the Nichols & Shepard Co. which has subsequently been a leader in the development of Threshing Machinery.

34 YEARS AGO—

Five of the leading seeding machine companies combined to form the American Seeding Machinery Co. which is now one of the divisions of Oliver.

36 YEARS AGO—

Charles Hart and Charles Parr completed the first Hart Parr tractor and Webster added the word TRACTOR to the dictionary. The Hart-Parr Co. was recognized as the largest exclusive tractor manufacturer in the world in 1929 when the consolidation with Oliver was consumated.

Announcing the "70" of '38

IT HAS EVERYTHING—
IT DOES EVERYTHING—
IT'S A BEAUTY

Thirty-six years ago—Hart-Parr, now the Tractor Division of Oliver, founded the tractor industry—coined the word "tractor." Two years ago—the Oliver Row Crop "70" appeared as a new tractor—new in its 6-cylinder power—new in its use of automotive advances—new in its streamlined appearance. The "70" was more than a new tractor; it was then, as the "70" of 1938 is today—a new idea—a host of new ideas in farm power.

TWO YEARS of unremitting research, two years of field work, two years of constant improvement passed. "70's", by the tens of thousands, in the hands of America's farmers, enabled one man to do more work, more easily, than one man ever did before.

TODAY, there flashes across the land the "70" of '38, a handsomer, smoother tractor than any ever built before. Its Six-Cylinder Engine pours constant overlapping power to the Tip Toe Wheels, smoothly, quietly, efficiently. The "70" HC is powered by a high compression engine for gasoline—the "70" KD is powered by a different engine for kerosene or distillate.

The "70" makes modern use of modern motor fuels.

OLIVER KNOWS, as every automotive engineer knows, that any one engine can only get average performance from both high and low grades of fuel, and fails to get full power from either.

SEE THE OLIVER "70", the tractor that has everything: 6-cylinder power, self-starter, engine operated implement power lift, electric lights, Tip Toe Wheels, mounted tools in plain sight—everything that enables one man to do more work, more easily than before.

DRIVE THE OLIVER "70", the tractor that does everything. From the comfort of its spring-and-hammock seat you plow, list, disc, plant or cultivate more acres, more easily than one man ever did before.

See an OLIVER "70" Before You Buy

Drive the "70"—Inquire—Test—Compare. We'll be glad to demonstrate. Come in today and make us prove that the "70" of 1938 is the finest farm power in the field today.

HIGHWAY JOB ON 59 TO COST $123,340 TOTAL

Strom Construction Co. of Moorhead Is Awarded Project

WORK IS SLATED TO BEGIN MAY 1, 1938

Highway 59 Committee Gets Promise of More Work at Early Date

The contract for construction of Highway 59 from Thief River Falls southeast to the Pennington county line was awarded Friday by the state highway department to the Strom Construction company of Moorhead on its low bid of $123,340.

Word of the award was brought to the city by F. A. Rinkel, chairman of the road committee, and Paul Lundgren, secretary, of the Civic and Commerce association, who conferred last week with Highway commissioner N. W. Elsberg relative to other projected improvements of the highway requested by the Minnesota division of the U. S. Highway 59 association.

Eleven bids were submitted on the project, which is slightly more than ten miles in length, and involves 316,000 cubic yards of excavation and graveling. The lowest bid submitted by local contractors was that of H. P. Lund & Sons, which was $14,000 higher than that of the Strom company. May 1, 1938, is stipulated as the date for starting construction work.

In their conference with Mr. Elsberg, the committee from the Highway 59 association was assured that the remaining section of the highway south to Erskine will be rebuilt at an early date provided that federal highway aid to the state is continued on the present basis.

Mr. Elsberg also was reported as favorably inclined toward the early construction of the section of Highway 59 from Noyes on the Canadian border southeast to Orleans, and he informed the committee that the project had been referred back to the district engineer for a further checkup.

Mr. Elsberg stated that the six-mile section from Worthington south to the Iowa line would be improved during the coming year as the result of a cooperative arrangement between the highway department and the Nobles county board.

CONGRESS WINDS UP SPECIAL TERM WITH LITTLE DONE

None of President's Bills Was Finally Enacted in Session

The United States senate passed the housing bill, 66-4, Tuesday, the house sent it to conference and, with these things done, congress gladly concluded its special session and began thinking about Christmas.

Some of the departing members Republicans particularly, were calling it "the goose-egg session," because, although much preparatory work was done, not one of the Roosevelt bills it was called upon to consider was finally enacted.

The wage and hour bill, rejected by the house, was reposing in a labor committee pigeon-hole, the farm and housing bills, approved by both branches in different form, were in the conference stage, government reorganization and regional planning had received no more than committee consideration.

Warden Quist Shifted to Redwood Falls Post

Walter H. Quist, for some years engaged as game warden in this section, received word during the past week of his appointment to the post of warden with headquarters in Redwood Falls, Redwood county. He will leave with his family next week to establish his home in Redwood Falls.

FIREMEN RESPOND TO ALARM MONDAY NOON

The fire department responded Monday noon to a call from the Morris Olson home at 615 Dewey av., where a chimney fire developed. No damage resulted from the blaze.

Winnipeg Hockey Team Here Sunday

Following a 2-2 tie game with Emerson in the arena Sunday, in which both teams displayed a speedy brand of hockey before a crowd of 800 fans, the Thief River Falls entry in the States-Dominion league will engage during the holidays in a series of three non-league contests against powerful opponents from Winnipeg and Minneapolis.

In the first of the series of games to be played in the arena, the local sextet Sunday afternoon, December 26, at 3 o'clock, will meet the Winnipeg Laboratories team, which is now leading the Commercial league in Winnipeg and is expected to represent that city in the Allen Cup playoff for the Canadian amateur championship. A fine demonstration of the king of winter sports is assured.

Two contests have been arranged for the New Years week-end with the fast Flour City-Stott team of Minneapolis furnishing the opposition for Thief River Falls. The first game will be played Saturday evening, January 1, at 8:30, and the second on Sunday afternoon, January 2, at 2 o'clock. The Minneapolis team includes five University of Minnesota hockey stars of last year, who won the Big Ten Title. The coach is Phil LaBatte, member of the American Olympic team of two years ago.

Last Sunday's game with Emerson was a nip-and-tuck battle all the way thru, ending in a 2-2 stalemate after an extra period had been played. Beaulieu of Emerson scored first after five minutes of play, followed five minutes later by a counter by Craig of the locals. A score made by Thief River Falls in the third period was ruled out by Referee Linden due to the fact that a local player was inside the goal crease ahead of the puck.

In the overtime period Craig scored for the locals after five minutes of play, after which Emerson put on a five-man offense and Bobby Bain scored with two minutes to play, tieing the game at 2-2. Two penalties were scored against Emerson in the first period and one in the second, while Thief River Falls incurred two in the first period and three in the second.

Craig, Sampson and Tremontine, local defense players, turned in an excellent performance, Craig and Sampson being powerful both on offense and defense. The forward lines were satisfactory, altho the passing attack has not reached the effective point that it will attain by the first of the year.

Hallock is now leading the league by virtue of a 2 to 1 victory over Roseau last Sunday.

A gallery of 500 fans witnessed the exhibition game by local players that opened the local season last Thursday, the final score being 5 to 4. The players performed in a manner that gave promise of a good showing in later contests.

Junior Chamber Places 350 Christmas Wreaths

A total of 350 Christmas wreaths were placed in local homes by Boy Scouts before supplies ran out, and many more could have been sold had they been available, it was announced last Thursday evening at a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the campaign. The next session of the organization will be held Thursday evening, January 6, at which time preparations will get under way for the ice show to be held in the arena in February.

PROWLERS MEET JAYBEE QUINTET NEXT WEDNESDAY

High School Team Registers Sixth Win, Defeating Cass Lake 48-18

After taking a weak Cass Lake basketball team in its stride last Friday, registering its sixth consecutive victory with a score of 48 to 18, the Lincoln high school quintet next Wednesday, December 29, will face stiffer opposition when its meets the Jaybees, local independent team.

Low admission fees have been set for the game, which will be played on the Auditorium floor starting at 8 o'clock. The Jaybees will include in their lineup such well-known high school and college stars as Rip Dahlow, Art Myrom, Scotty Cameron, Paul Dahl, Carl Lee, Ade Lorentson and others. Vic Jung and Milton Nesse will do the refereeing.

Coach George Lee's Prowlers had an easy time against Cass Lake, leading all thru the game and interchanging two complete lineups. Lorentson led the scoring for the locals with a total of 14 points, followed by Lee with nine, Caldis eight, Haughom six, and Mickelson and Quale with four each.

Augustana Lutheran Church Congregation Buys LaBree av. Site

The congregation of Augustana Lutheran church at a meeting last week voted to purchase a 100-foot frontage at 421 LaBree av. N. as a future site of the church structure, it was announced by the Rev. Charles W. Erickson, pastor. The property is now occupied by a residence used as a nurses' home, which later will be moved to face on Fifth st. and it is planned to use the structure eventually for a church parsonage. The church is now located on Horace av. N. near Fourth st.

Mercury Has Ups and Downs Here This Week

Northwestern Minnesota experienced a wide variety of winter weather this week, the mercury reaching a low point around the 12 below zero mark Monday morning, and then rising to the thawing point by midnight. A short-lived blizzard developed late in the afternoon, but little snow accompanied it, and traffic was hampered only while the storm was at its height. Snow melted Tuesday with mild temperatures prevailing, but by Wednesday morning the mercury had again dropped below the zero mark.

ELKS WILL MEET TONIGHT FOR LAST TIME THIS YEAR

The final meeting of the local Elks lodge for the current year will be held in the lodge rooms this evening, C. J. Warner, exalted ruler, announced this morning.

21,000 Greeting Cards Leave Postoffice in Day

The Thief River Falls postoffice staff has been rushed to capacity this week to handle the influx of Christmas parcels, letters and greeting cards, the peak having apparently been reached Tuesday when the canceling machines recorded a total of more than 21,000 greeting cards sent out by local residents. In addition 200 insured parcels were forwarded Tuesday, no record having been kept of uninsured packages.

Wm. H. Borchert Named District Game Warden Supervisor by Wenzel

Herman Wenzel, state conservation commissioner Saturday announced appointment of 18 district game warden supervisors, each of whom will be responsible for from six to 10 wardens. Headquarters for the districts will be located at forest ranger stations, game farms, fish hatcheries or other department buildings wherever possible. Included in the list of supervisors named are William H. Borchert, Thief River Falls, District 11; Ernest M. Sharrett, Bemidji, District 12, and E. H. Frank, Baudette, District 13.

Verner Nelson Sends Greetings From Texas

In a letter to the Times from McAllen, Texas, where they are spending the winter, the Verner Nelson family sends Christmas greetings to their friends in this locality. Mr. Nelson writes that vegetable crops down there are progressing nicely, and that the citrus crop is maturing. Minnesota, he says, is well represented in the influx of tourists, who find it difficult to get housing accommodations.

REPUBLICANS REORGANIZE AT STATE SESSION

New Party Setup Is Created at Meeting Thursday in St. Paul

'RANK AND FILE' ARE PLACED IN CONTROL

New State Officers Slated for Election During January, 1938

Minnesota Republicans Thursday adopted a party constitution placing control of state machinery in the rank and file instead of in candidates nominated at primary elections and then voted overwhelmingly for reorganization through election of new state officers and executive committee within 40 days.

Present at the meeting to represent Pennington county were Mrs. Abbie Wasgren, Mrs. J. N. Nesse, Richard Mabey and Frank Hardisty. The session was held in St. Paul.

Under action of an enthusiastic committee of 700 delegates the party's county chairmen and chairwomen in 87 counties will meet before January 26 to elect new state officers and a state executive committee to run the party until after a spring indorsing convention when another election will be held.

Adoption of the new constitution was a foregone conclusion and the big fight of the convention was over the question of whether it should take effect immediately, with an election of new state officers within 40 days, or whether the election of new state officers should be postponed until after the June primary in 1938 and nominees selected then given a voice in selection of officers.

The constitution committee, headed by Joseph W. Finley of St. Paul, voted 16 to 3 in favor of immediate reorganization, but three members submitted a minority proposing postponement of election of new officers until after the June primary next year. Signing the minority report were Oscar R. Knutson, Warren; Frank Claque, Redwood Falls, and George D. Erickson, New Ulm.

A motion to adopt the minority report was defeated overwhelmingly on a standing vote of the delegates. There was no official count. The convention then adopted the constitution with only a few scattered dissenting votes.

Party conventions will be held biennially in election years to adopt party platforms and indorse candidates with district conventions to indorse congressional candidates.

The state authority of the party will be the state central committee, consisting of all the county chairmen and chairwomen. Large counties will have additional members. State officers of the party will be elected by the state central committee (the nominee for governor now names the state chairman.)

William M. Parker of Sauk Centre, present state chairman, said he probably will call a meeting of the new state central committee to elect new state officers for the latter part of January.

The convention adopted only one resolution, calling for appointment by the state executive committee of a committee to begin immediately assembling data to be used in drafting a party platform for 1938.

LINCOLN SCHOOL ALUMNI REUNION SET FOR TUESDAY

Former Students Will Hold Annual Get-Together at Sons of Norway Hall

Graduates and former students of Lincoln high school from near and far will assemble at the Sons of Norway hall next Tuesday evening, December 28, for their annual reunion, Don Olson, vice president of the alumni association, announced this week.

The affair will get under way at 9 o'clock, with dancing to the music of Everett Perrin's orchestra scheduled to be the chief feature of the evening. In addition there will be refreshments and favors, and a brief business session will be conducted in the course of the evening.

Officers of the alumni group, in addition to Mr. Olson, include Art Nelson, president; Vic Jung, secretary; and Richard Mabey, treasurer.

49th Annual Firemen's Ball at the Auditorium Set for Friday, Dec. 31

Community Prepared for Christmas Observance

Family Gatherings and Special Services in Churches to Mark Occasion

MANY YULE BASKETS TO BE DISTRIBUTED

Early Morning Services in Several Churches on Christmas Day

With family groups assembling from distant points, and with appropriate special services planned in virtually all churches, citizens of Thief River Falls, in common with those of other communities thruout the world, today are making last-minute preparations for the observance of the Christmas holidays.

Scores of needy families will receive holiday cheer in the form of baskets of food and toys supplied thru the agency of the Salvation Army, local churches and the Legion auxiliary. Envoy E. W. Bailey of the Salvation Army announced that his organization will provide sixty families with baskets of food, and that 300 children of the community will be remembered with toys donated by local residents.

Jul-Otta services will be conducted early Christmas morning in the Augustana Lutheran church at 6 o'clock and at the Swedish Mission church at 6:30. The Community church will hold candlelight services Christmas morning at 7 o'clock with special music.

Zion Lutheran church will conduct services in the English language Christmas morning at 9 o'clock, and in the Norwegian language at 10:30, while the church's Christmas tree program is set for next Sunday evening at 7:30.

St. Johns Lutheran church will hold services Friday, Christmas Eve, at 7:30, with English services Christmas morning at 10:30. Services in the Scandinavian Evangelical Free church are set for Christmas morning at 11 o'clock, while the Sunday school program will be held next Monday evening at 7:45. Members of the Sunday Bible school of Augustana church will hold their program Sunday evening at 7:30.

The Community church Christmas program, including songs, recitations and tableaus, is scheduled for next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, while the Swedish Mission church Sunday school will hold its program next Tuesday evening, December 28, at 7:30. The Salvation Army Christmas program is set for Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, at which time toys and candy will be given to the children.

40 MEN AT WORK ON COUNTY-WIDE WPA HIGHWAY PROJECT

Twenty More Men Will be Employed on Fair Grounds Next Week

County-wide improvements to the roads in Pennington county were started early last week by a crew of approximately 40 WPA workmen who were assigned by transfer from other projects in the vicinity, including the Resettlement project. Plans call for the graveling, grading and brushing of various county-aid roads. The project was approved for operation by Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator, to be carried on as relief labor and funds are available with a $24,830 limit on labor funds. Equipment and materials will be furnished by the county board.

Improvements to the Pennington county fairgrounds will be started December 28 when a crew of approximately 20 WPA workers will be transferred from other projects, according to an announcement made today by J. B. Kovarik, district WPA director. The schedule of work covers, at this time, only repairs to the buildings already on the grounds, with new structures to be built later as plans are approved.

The operation of the project was approved by Victor Christgau, with the understanding that it would be carried on as relief labor and funds become available, a $6,702 limit having been set on labor expenditures by the federal government. The Pennington County Agricultural Society, as sponsor of the work, has allotted $2,159 for materials and items other than labor.

Crew of Eighteen Men Is Now Engaged in Ice Harvest for O'Hara Co.

The O'Hara Fuel & Ice company last Friday started its annual ice harvest with a crew of 18 men, two teams and a power saw engaged in the work. Operations are under way on Red Lake river opposite the Tindolph park swimming pool, and the ice sheet is now 21 inches thick. The work of filling the company's ice houses will continue until next February, after which cutting will be done for other parties, Ed O'Hara announced.

Announce Junior Hockey Schedule for Holidays in Winter Sports Arena

The schedule of junior hockey sessions in the arena for the holidays was announced today by A. M. Campbell to take effect Friday morning. Fifth and sixth grade boys from all schools will play Friday, Monday and Wednesday between the hours of 8:30 and 11 o'clock in the morning. Stores Will Close at 6 Friday Evening and Stay Closed Christmas Day

Following an extremely busy holiday season, proprietors and employes of local stores will get a respite beginning Friday evening, Christmas Eve, at 6 o'clock and continuing until Monday morning. Next week the stores will follow the same schedule, closing Friday evening, New Years Eve, at 6 o'clock and remaining closed all day Saturday New Years Day. A. M. Magnuson, chairman of the merchants committee of the Civic and Commerce association, announced that during the months of January and February the stores will close Saturday evenings at 8 o'clock.

FRANK B. KELLOGG, PEACE ADVOCATE, DIES IN ST. PAUL

Former Secretary of State and Ambassador to Great Britain

Frank B. Kellogg, who served as World court judge, ambassador to Great Britain, United States senator and secretary of state, died at his home in St. Paul Tuesday evening. He would have been 81 years old Wednesday.

Mr. Kellogg, noted as a staunch worker for world peace, had been in failing health for more than a year. His illness became critical early in November, when he was stricken with cerebral thrombosis.

He rallied several times, but pneumonia complicated his condition last Saturday night and caused a turn for the worse. He lapsed into a coma then and regained consciousness for only short periods thereafter.

Co-author of the Kellogg-Briand pact—a pledge of 64 nations of the world not to settle disputes by wars—Mr. Kellogg was winner of the Nobel prize in 1929.

In 1916 he entered politics. He was elected to the United States senate, serving a six-year term. In 1922, Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Labor nominee, defeated him for re-election and he went back to private law practice.

President Calvin Coolidge named him as ambassador to the court of St. James in 1924. He was in London a year. When Charles Evans Hughes, after service in the Harding-Coolidge cabinet, went back to private law practice, Mr. Kellogg was named secretary of state.

Big Audience Enjoys Yule Concert Friday

A large gathering of local citizens assembled in the Auditorium last Friday afternoon to enjoy a Christmas concert ably presented by musical groups from the Lincoln high and Central schools. Ronald G. Riggs directed the instrumental numbers, while vocal selections were presented under the direction of Miss Ruth E. Nelson, assisted by Miss Esther Larson and Vincent Schneider. The young musicians displayed marked proficiency in their renditions.

Welding Company Formal Opening Attracts Many

Approximately 1000 persons inspected the attractive premises of the Minnesota Electric Welding company Saturday on the occasion of the formal opening of the new local enterprise. Demonstrations of various implements were given during the day by factory representatives. A substantial attendance prize was awarded to Louis A. Meyer.

Children Guests at Free Movie at Avalon Friday

Children of the Thief River Falls community will be guests at the Baehr Operated Theatres at a free holiday movie show at the Avalon Friday morning at 10 o'clock, Bud Bush, manager of the local theatres announced today. In addition to a Laurel and Hardy comedy, several short features will be presented.

90 PCT. OF COUNTY CATTLE GET BANGS TEST, AGENT SAYS

Total of 15,306 Cattle Have Been Tested up to the Present Time

The testing of cattle in Pennington county for Bang's disease is nearing completion, County Agent Howard Grow said today. There have been 15,906 cattle in the county already tested and there remain to be tested about 1700 head.

With over 90 per cent of the cattle tested in the county on a voluntary basis and with about four per cent of the cattle tested reacting to the test, a special effort should be made by all cattle owners to get their neighbors to test their cattle now while the veterinarians are in the county to take care of the work.

Astaire, Leslie Howard at Theatres Here Sunday

Love, lyrics and laughter are combined in Fred Astaire's new starring role with George Burns and Gracie Allen in "A Damsel in Distress", which will be shown at the Falls theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with a midnight prevue Saturday evening at 11:15. Included in the cast of the film, which is based on a story of English life by P. G. Wodehouse, are Joan Fontaine, Montagu Love and Constance Collier.

The offering at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday will be "It's Love I'm After", co-starring Leslie Howard and Bette Davis, and featuring Olivia de Haviland, Patric Knowles, Eric Blore and others. The picture tells of the rivalry between Howard, a matinee idol, and Bette Davis, his leading lady.

Journey to Bethlehem Not Like Today's Travel

ACCUSTOMED to our swift and modern transportation, it is difficult to visualize the hardships of that journey from Nazareth to Bethlehem, or the great fatigue and weariness suffered by Mary and Joseph. Consternation filled their hearts at the decree of Caesar; yet there was nothing to do but obey the summons. They must make the long, tiresome journey, and at once!

No shining motor car waited outside their gate; no silver-winged plane stood throbbing in a nearby field; not even the meanest ox-cart was available. While others rode by in gorgeous caravans, a patient little donkey was their only means of transportation. We can imagine the tall and bearded Joseph leading the animal along, glancing back every now and then with words of cheer and encouragement for Mary, or pointing out some landmark along the way.

Behind them now was the Sea of Galilee and Mt. Tabor. Through the plain of Estraleon they labored; then came the rough and uneven trail through Samaria, where even the sure-footed donkey stumbled at times. To the west, the Jordan ran its course, to empty farther south into the Dead sea. Along their way they passed many places whose names would be known and revered around the world in the dim future . . . Did Mary have a vision as she went by that one day the Son whom she was about to bear would go up and down this country preaching a new Gospel of love and peace and hope for man, and that His birth would be held in happy and blessed remembrance by all the peoples of the earth until time would be no more?—Katherine Edelman.

First Christmas Carol When Christ Was Born

CHRISTMAS is the time when men are drawn together in a great unity. Much of this may be attributed to our response to familiar songs, sung year after year to commemorate the advent of a little Child on earth. The first Christmas carol ever heard, we like to believe, came over the field of Bethlehem, when Christ was born—"Glory be to God on high, and on earth, peace, good will toward men."

But it was 1,200 years later that St. Francis of Assisi and his brothers took up the singing in public of carols at Christmas to combat the unbelief of their time. With lighted tapers they went about the streets of the small Italian village pouring out their hearts in songs of praise. In the 600 years since then the singing of Christmas carols has gone around the world. Wherever Christianity is known carol singing follows.

The simple vision of a mother lulling her babe to sleep gives Christmas music its strength. Some sing as a tribute to their religious faith, others as a custom they enjoy. But whatever the reason, the important thing is that more and more people do it. From such widely different sources as churches, theaters, schools, clubs, radio stations, come the words of "Away in a Manger," "Silent Night," "Joy to the World," "Little Town of Bethlehem," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," and "Come All Ye Faithful," sung by soloists, choirs, choruses or the voices of school children. So each year new joy is expressed through old channels. — Frances Grinstead.

Island Natives Prepared

On the Gilbert islands in the South Pacific, a native rarely goes into battle without having two thick mats tied to his body, one in front to protect him from the hostile tribe and the other in back to protect him from his wife, who stands in the rear and hurls rocks at the enemy. —Collier's Weekly.

A Sign in the Sky Was A Christmas Time Cross

"WELL, Ratty, we'll be handing ourselves a grand present by this time tomorrow."

"Yah, I don't hanker after the job. Somebody in this home-town of mine might get wise to me."

"Scared? You been away ten years doing time. You're out now, and free. No one ain't going to see you. You can lift plenty from that house you been telling about. You know every inch of it, by your say."

"Sure I do. I lived in it for nearly twenty years."

The man beside him in the speeding car whistled. "Never knew that."

"You keep your trap shut, Slinky."

Clouds swept across the moon, now revealing it round and bright, now hiding it.

"Stormy," said Slinky, "all the better for us."

They entered a broad village street. Elms lined either side.

"Right pretty, ain't it?" snarled Slinky. "But too neighborly for my blood."

"Hey," cried Ratty stopping the car. "Look at the moon shining up there behind the church steeple!"

A cross of light streamed from four corners. "Nothing but moon dogs."

"Shut up, you. I'm telling you something. I'm not robbing the house I was born in. I'm tough . . . but not that tough."

"You crawling dirty rat!"

"And I'm going to church on Christmas morning like I used to with my, my," he hesitated, "with my folks. We got decent clothes. I'm going. That there," he pointed at the streaming light, "well, for just a minute I felt like I used to feel when I lived here as a boy. I'm going, and so are you. We can say Merry Christmas then, for once, without faking it. That cross," his voice was husky, "shows me up for just what I am . . . a rat. You and me, Slinky, are going to be decent tomorrow." — Martha Banning Thomas.

Columbus Parked in Jamaica

When Christopher Columbus discovered the tropical island of Jamaica on May 3, 1494, he christened it "Santiago." Later it was called "Yamayca." On his second voyage on June 24, 1503, he was forced to beach his ships, which had been bored full of holes by mutinous crews. The explorer had to remain over a year in the cove where he had sought shelter and which has since been known as Don Christopher's cove. He had to depend upon the generosity of the natives for food until aid arrived from Spain on June 28, 1504.

HAPPY CHRISTMAS

When you read the news of the world on Christmas morning you may wonder a little if "peace on earth, good will toward men" isn't a forlorn hope. Most of the news flashes will tell of war and crime and disaster and it will be easy to conclude that centuries of preaching of the ideal of Christmas has had but little effect on human practices.

This may be true, but don't worry too much about it. This world of ours is a wicked old world, and we all know it, but it doesn't do much good to scold. Fortunately for you, whatever the Japs may do over in China isn't going to be charged up against you as one of your errors. And if your neighbor across the street isn't as righteous as he ought to be, try to forget it. The chances are he wouldn't improve even if he knew he were annoying you.

It might not be out of order, however, when you read about the mean things others are doing, to check over your own practices and try to figure out where you might be falling a little short of the Christmas ideal. Maybe you have a little personal war of your own that could just as well be called off. There might be a place where a kind word from you would add a lot to somebody's happiness. In a small way, perhaps thoughtlessly, you may be causing some person far more trouble than the war in Asia will ever cause him. If all of the people in the whole world could be induced to give a little more thought to their own shortcomings and less thought to the shortcomings of others, we probably would make rapid progress toward the goal we all seek, "peace on earth, good will toward men." It would be an interesting experiment.

And so we wish you a happy Christmas. If it's a merry one too, that's all right with us. But in our wish we are going to place the emphasis on happiness. Being merry gets tiresome. Happiness never bores. We prefer a happy world to a merry one. So we wish you happiness. Santa Claus can't bring it to you and you won't find it in your Christmas stocking. All the wealth in the world won't buy it for you. One way to get it is to give it to others. So help yourself to a big load of it. Happy Christmas.

WASTE CREATES NOTHING

(Long Prairie Leader)

The Saturday Evening Post has an interesting article on the bankruptcy of the province of New Foundland, Canada. Politicians of the new deal variety have been in charge of the government and have been trying out their ideas.

Huge bond issues were sold to raise funds for "public works" to relieve unemployment and the projects were made so attractive that private enterprise could not compete. Workers left jobs to go to work for the government at short hours and easy pay. Mounting taxes found industry hamstrung and unable to pay. The bonds defaulted, the work stopped and New Foundland with disaster threatening and more hardships for the people than they had faced during the acute depression years, finally petitioned the British government to do the unheard of thing of appointing a receiver in bankruptcy for the island government.

This has been done and the island is now being governed by a hard boiled commission that is cutting out the nonsense and getting things down to earth. It is going to be a long hard pull for the islanders and will take years to pay the debts and get the country back again to sanity.

There is a lesson for the United States in the New Foundland experience. The island has been doing exactly what the politicians are doing in this country. When the tragic show down comes here in America, the collapse will be greater because the amounts involved will be far more.

Waste creates nothing. Every dollar spent eventually must be paid. The payments can come from but one source—the labor and sweat of the people who work.

FISH SCARCITY AND WINTER FISHING

(Morris Tribune)

The conservation department has finally done the necessary thing and ordered that winter fishing be stopped. Conservationists have long urged that this step was absolutely necessary if Minnesota lakes were to have fish to be fished, but for some unexplained reason, the conservation department would not listen until the evidence became irrefutable that winter fishing was a senseless crime against the finny tribe.

Attempts have been made to interest the legislature in prohibiting winter fishing, but legislators just would not listen.

The reason that winter fishing is such a crime is that at that season the female is getting ready for the spawning season, is full of eggs and naturally has a most voracious appetite. She strikes at any bait or lure that looks like a meal, and as a result, the greater part of the fish caught in the winter are females. This latter fact has been demonstrated time and again when winter catches have been examined.

Now comes the next step in the story. When lakes are seined in the spring to obtain the breeding stock to supply the state fish hatcheries, it has been found that the males outnumber the females sometimes as much as ten to one, where there should be about an even balance of the sexes. On account of the scarcity of female pike, for instance, the hatcheries have not been able to obtain sufficient eggs to operate to capacity, nor have the hatcheries been able to meet the demand for restocking the lakes.

Little wonder that fishing has been getting poorer and poorer.

Therefore the new regulation prohibiting winter fishing is attacking the fish scarcity at its source.

SECRETIVE LINDBERGH

(Detroit News)

It can be argued that the Lindberghs' visit to this country has no value, intrinsically, as news, that they bring no message, that nothing is changed by their presence, and that their wish to spend the holidays with the Morrows is of as much moment as any well-known American's decision to visit relatives.

The colonel continues to be news because of his remarkable efforts to escape it. The dark glasses, the incognito, the disembarking from ships by back ways, are a challenge to the general curiosity, and particularly that of people who are paid to know what hysterics are about. It is the nature of people, not here alone but everywhere. They say that only a feeling that their children are safer in England has kept the Lindberghs there. There have been intimations that the Kent retreat has afforded them less privacy than the British tradition of tenderness for the feelings of the individual has led them to expect.

It is too late to change any particular of a nature as fixed as the colonel's, and no one would have it different, but in it lies a reason for much of his distress. If there were no "mystery trips" to unannounced destinations, no elaborate precautions to avoid all recognition, no dramatizing of resentment toward a world that has been both singularly kind and cruel to him, and instead of a willingness to be unmysterious, if only for a while, and to let the crowd see a little more than the back of his head, it would soon take him at his own news valuation. Hundreds of matters of importance to all of us press for the attention of the public. If the colonel distracts it, it is possibly because of his extraordinary efforts not to do so.

PROGRESS WITH BRAKES

(Morris Tribune)

The doctors are busy on the Republican party and call for a new statement of principles. If the Republican party adopted a set of principles materially different from the last two national platforms, it would cease to be the Republican party.

Those principles did not win them, but have the approval of 17 million voters, and if the party should now abandon those principles, there would be a new party formed to press them. The party cannot alter them without moving to the old Democratic principles in one direction or into the collectivism of the New Deal in the other direction.

The principles of the Republican party are not reactionary, and they are not socialistic, they represent adherence to the fundamentals with sane and sound progress. The country has wanted that kind of governmental philosophy most of the time, and will again, when the party finds just the right kind of leadership to present them.

The Republican party has given the country most of its sane progress during the past three quarters of a century. Just now it finds itself in opposition to a party that hasn't any brakes, and that puts it in a false light. It is naturally a party of progress, but it still believes in brakes and believes in using them.

There is plenty of evidence that the country is becoming a bit fearful of journeying along without brakes and therefore it is the poorest time in the world for the Republican party to compete for public favor by advertising that hereafter it will run without brakes.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Minnesota officials, led by Governor Benson, and Minnesota congressmen were up in arms last week to prevent the cancellation of federal aid to the state highway program. The fight began when President Roosevelt wrote Congress recently, urging cancellation of federal highway aid, which would have crippled Minnesota's highway program and wiped out employment for about 10,000 men. The regular federal funds are already authorized for next year, and their cancellation would bring disastrous results to the state highway building program.

Governor Benson, in a telegram to President Roosevelt, pointed out "Proposed cancellation of [illegible] allotments already authorized to Minnesota would mean virtual cessation of a state highway program for which Minnesota has already issued [illegible] to provide state funds for matching. Protests have been pouring in from [illegible] county boards of commissioners, and other groups in every section of my state. Cancellation will mean wholesale [illegible], gross injustice to millions of motorists, wasteful deterioration of trunk highway surfaces, and an enormous increase of unemployment."

Immediate results of Governor Benson's and Minnesota Congressmen's request to the federal W. P. A. for more jobs for Minnesota's employables have been an increase of several thousand W. P. A. positions [illegible] the larger cities and the [illegible] Iron Range, the Chicago office of the W. P. A. has announced.

The Governor, following conferences with city and state relief administrators, had asked for [illegible] on W. P. A. by January 1, [illegible] taken from [illegible] rolls. Relief needs have risen sharply during the past few weeks, the conference revealed, and the W. P. A. jobs just made available will be of at least partial aid in stemming the threat of a serious relief crisis for Minnesota.

In order to combat the threat of another depression and to lay plans for more [illegible] beneficial use of state resources, a new state planning board has been named by Governor Benson. Purposes of the board, as outlined by the Governor, are to "apply human intelligence to the problem of the development, utilization, and conservation of the natural and human resources of the state, to the end that the paradox of poverty in the midst of plenty shall not longer plague our citizens."

Named to the board, which is headed by Dr. [illegible], of the University of Minnesota, are: Jay Hormel, president of Hormel Packing Co., Austin for commerce; Dr. Raphael Zon, director federal forestry service, St. Paul, for conservation; Charles Egley, Farmers Union Livestock Commission, So. St. Paul, for cooperatives; Dr. Harl Douglass, University of Minnesota, for education; Harold Langland, for engineering; John Brandt, for farming; Prof. William Anderson, for government; T. E. Cunningham, for labor; Mrs. Anna Olson, for public welfare, and Andrew Hawkins, for veterans. W. R. [illegible], director of employment of the Minnesota W. P. A. has been named board secretary.

Minnesota's Ninth District Farmer-Labor Congressman R. T. Buckler roused the national house of representatives this week with a ringing attack on speculators who rob the market against American farmers.

"I happen to come from one of the most fertile parts of the United States, the Red River Valley of Minnesota," Buckler said. "We produce as much wealth as any other section of the United States. But after producing great wealth for 60 years we find today that we have very little of it left."

Trial of the state's $775,000 lawsuit against five subsidiaries of the United States Steel Company was scheduled to start this week in St. Louis county district court. Attorney General William S. Ervin is directing the case for the state to collect income taxes, including interest and penalties, from the Oliver Iron Mining Co., the Duluth, Missabe and Northern Railway Co., the Duluth and Iron Range Railroad Co., the Spirit Lake Transfer Railway Co., and the Proctor Water and Light Co.

The state claims income tax [illegible] from these companies [illegible] the interest and penalties will approximate [illegible].

Lee of Highlanding left to spend the winter months on the West Coast. J. O. [illegible] left for the state of Washington, planning to remain away for several months. Miss Alpha Bishop arrived from Chicago Heights, Ill., to spend the holidays.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From News-Press, Dec. 20, 1917

The local unit of Woodmen of the World elected O. A. Naplin as head of the lodge. Charles [illegible] resigned as night patrolman to accept a position as [illegible]. The Mattson store at Hazel was destroyed in a fire Wednesday night. Ed Aubol was elected president of the Pennington county farm bureau federation at its first organization meeting. After a brief visit here Miss Esther Stebbins returned to Rochester where she is teaching school. Mrs. R. W. Belcher is leaving for [illegible] to remain there several months. Mrs. H. A. Permanent Scale Pits Will Appear on State Highways Next Spring

By spring, users of Minnesota highways entering the Twin City area will notice little houses along the road that were not there before and will see the freight trucks that ply our highways turning into and stopping in front of these small buildings.

These structures will be pit scale houses for sheltering truck weighing trucks and they will be the first permanent weighing stations established along the Minnesota highways, as a part of the drive to prevent unnecessary breaking down of highway surfaces.

Awards for four of these wooden pit scale houses were announced this week by N. W. Elsberg, Minnesota highway commissioner, for a sum totaling $4,761.60. William Murphy and Son of St. Paul won all four contracts through low bids and will erect the stations on T. H. 10 four miles south of Elk River, on T. H. 61 four miles east of Scanlon, on T. H. 169, 5½ miles northeast of Shakopee and on T. H. 218 two miles south of Rosemount.

For six months after their completion, the stations will be manned by employes of the state wide highway planning board under R. J. Short, state manager. For that period, records will be kept of the [illegible] tonnage passing over our highways exclusively, rather than attempting additional enforcement of load limits. The statistics obtained will be used in the board's planning of future road programs in the state.

Following the board's use of the stations, however, they will be taken over by the highway patrol and used to keep track of loads and gross axle weight of the truck system. At present the highway patrol is checking on axle weights by portable scales, 24 being available for operation at present. Despite the occupancy of the permanent weighing pits by the patrol, the portable scales will continue to be used throughout the state.

By keeping the weight of freight trucks down to the limit prescribed by law, highway engineers estimate that hundreds of thousands of dollars in road maintenance and construction costs are saved annually. Vehicles with too great loads can pound thousands of dollars worth of road to pieces in a short time, Commissioner Elsberg pointed out, while moderate weights can be carried on hard surfaced highways with no damage.

F. W. Peck Resigns as State Extension Chief

Frank W. Peck, director of agricultural extension and vice director of the experiment station in the University of Minnesota college of agriculture, resigned Friday to accept the presidency of the St. Paul Federal Land bank.

Peck, who has been connected with the university since his graduation in 1912, has served as agricultural extension director since July, 1921. The resignation will be effective February 1.

In 1933 he served on the federal farm board under Henry Morgenthau Jr., receiving a one year leave of absence from the university. He will succeed Roy A. Nelson, who resigned.

Nelson's resignation, he said, was prompted entirely by personal reasons and the strain of four years of strenuous work, during which the land bank made 17,000 loans for an aggregate sum of $140,000,000.

$130,000 in Dist. WPA Paid out for Christmas

Checks totaling approximately $130,000 are being issued as pre-Christmas wages to WPA and NYA workers in the Detroit Lakes district area, according to an announcement today from the St. Paul office of Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator. This amount is considerably in excess of the average for a payroll period as a result of prescheduling of project operations by the Detroit Lakes office of J. H. [illegible], district director, so that security wage earners might receive as much as possible before the holiday. This arrangement resulted in all projects putting in the maximum number of hours for December prior to the Christmas week. The estimated total earnings of all workers in the state during December is [illegible].

ASK THAT RELIEF BE RETURNED TO LOCAL DISTRICTS

Central State Conference Demands Closer Check on Public Costs

All units of government were urged to study carefully every proposal for expenditure of tax money in resolutions passed at a Central Minnesota Conference held at St Cloud last Wednesday attended by more than 200 taxpayers from 12 counties. The purpose of the conference, sponsored by the Minnesota Taxpayers association, was to provide a free open expression for the central counties on the tax problem and to prepare a program for legislative consideration.

Relief work, formerly in the hands of local governments, should again be placed under local supervision, according to the concensus, because local officials are more aware of purely local conditions and acquainted with those who are entitled to relief and those who make a "racket of relief".

The gathering favored the balancing of all budgets and the reduction of costs by operating governmental units on a cash basis; by adopting proper accounting and auditing methods; by merging small school districts; and by withdrawing the practice of exempting public officials from payment of income taxes.

Economy should be stressed all along the line, the resolutions declared. The resolutions committee was composed by J. A. Kraus, president Benton County Taxpayers association; E. A. Murphy, secretary of the Stearns County group; Edwin Odegard, of Mille Lacs County Taxpayers association; and George A. Etsell, president of the Todd County Tax association.

"A tax crisis is iminent of debt burdens are pyramided continually as in recent years," George Odell, president of the Stearns County Taxpayers association declared in welcoming the conferees.

Discussion returned many times to the problem of the farmer in meeting his taxes. "No man could stay in business six months under conditions imposed on the present day farmer," declared J. J. Stumvoll, of the Sherburne County group.

"Townships are economy-minded and should continue unimpaired in their operations. All units of government should be on a cash basis," declared James F. McDonnell, of Buffalo, president of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association, in stressing the necessity for vigorous action.

Mrs. Mathilda Thompson Passed Away Saturday At Age of 71 Years

Mrs. Mathilda Thompson passed away Saturday morning at her home at 623 Dewey Avenue North in this city at the age of 71 years. Funeral rites were held Wednesday afternoon, services at the Erickson and Lund chapel at 1 p. m. being followed by last rites at Silver Creek Lutheran church and burial in the Silver Creek cemetery. Rev. T. C. L. Hanson of Holt and Rev. E. O. Sabo of Mavie conducted the services.

Mrs. Thompson was born July 26, 1866, in Fillmore county. In 1878 she moved from Fillmore county to Brooten, where she was married on November 2, 1885, to Colbjorn Thompson. In 1901 she and her husband moved to Beltrami county and in 1922 to Agder township where Mrs. Thompson resided until Oct, 1936. At that time she came to make her home in this city.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Nora Williams and Mrs. Clara Swan, both of Pontiac, Mich., Mrs. Josephine Aga of St. Paul, and Mrs. Mary Johnson of Minneapolis, two sons Palmer of this city and Olaf of Crookston; and four sisters, Mrs. Ida Haalson, Mrs. Netta Haalson, and Mrs. Ella Herbrandson, all of Brooten, and Mrs. Lena Delloer of Grand Rapids, Mich.; also four grandchildren. Her husband preceded her in death in 1930.

Evangelist Discusses Christian Light Sunday

"The Saviour came into this world of ours in all its gross darkness as the real light of the world. As this earth on which we live has no light in itself, but must receive its light from the sun, so man has no light in himself, but must receive his light from Christ. And as the earth does not absorb the light which it receives from the sun, but reflects it, so man must reflect the light that Christ sheds upon him. This is in harmony with the words of Christ: 'Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works, and glorify your father which is in heaven.'" So declared Evangelist Gullbrandson in his lecture on "Jesus as the light of the world" last Sunday night in the former Methodist church. The interesting program for next Sunday night is announced on the church page of this paper.

Corn was a good crop this year. Here is part of the corn picked from 38 acres on the farm of E. F. McDumont, residing six miles southwest of Barnesville. This is a typical scene on many farms thruout the state where farmers were pressed for means to store the big crop which the past summer yielded.

Last Rites Conducted for Martin Hanson, 86, Pioneer of River Falls

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Swedish Mission church at St. Hilaire for Martin Hanson, pioneer settler in River Falls township, who died Thursday, December 16 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Stuart Richards, at Sault Ste Marie, Ont., Can.

Mr. Hanson was born in Halsingland, Sweden, May 5th, 1851 and was 86 years, 7 months old at the time of his death. He came to St. Hilaire in 1881 and resided on his farm south of that village until 1919 when he and Mrs. Hanson went to Kenora, Ont. Mrs. Hanson died in 1932. Mr. Hanson resided in Sault Ste Marie since July of this year.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. B. J. McCullough of Portage La Prairie, Manitoba; Mrs. Stuart Richards of Sault Ste Marie, and by two sons, James of Toronto, Can., and Peter of St. Paul. He also is survived by two sisters in Sweden.

Drive Sanely to Enjoy a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, Elsberg

"Don't ruin a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year for yourself, your family or your neighbor by a needless automobile accident during the holidays."

So counsels N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, in a public reminder that in later December and early January in Minnesota icy surfaces and poorer vision are generally encountered.

"Consider that during the Christmas season almost every motorist you meet on the highway has a family and friends awaiting his arrival at home," Commissioner Elsberg said, "and consider, too, that this means heavy travel by holiday-bound traffic at a time when roads and weather are far from their best. Extra caution is needed as, regardless of Christmas or New Years, death and injury take no holiday and a time of family reunion and general festivity can be turned into tragedy and sorrow by one heedless moment at the wheel of your car."

In the past, Commissioner Elsberg pointed out, the holiday season has been marked by increased traffic fatalities. In 1935, 27 persons were killed and in 1936, 22 died as the result of accidents. Excessive speed, driving on the wrong side of the road, driving while drunk and illegal passing accounted for 61 per cent of the holiday season traffic deaths in the last two years, highway records revealed.

Commissioner Elsberg also said that he was gratified at the sharp decrease this year in requests for the placement of Christmas trees and other festive decorations on trunk highways. He said it indicated that safety consciousness is growing and that the public is becoming aware that obstructions such as Christmas trees at intersections only make for accidents by creating hazards and by attracting children to dangerous scenes.

Crookston Sports Arena Construction Under Way

Between 18 and 20 per cent of the total construction involved in Crookston's $66,000 municipal winter sports building is completed and work is progressing on schedule, Alden Halseth, WPA engineer reported today. Sixty two men, including supervisory help, are now working on the building, but the staff may be reduced after the holidays to start other projects.

MAYOR CANDIDATE VOTES ARE TIES

Annandale. Votes for two mayor candidates in the recent village elections were tied. When judges and clerks of the South Haven election board counted the votes they found that the two candidates for mayor had an equal number of friends, as each one received 41 votes. The candidates were J. G. Lies and A. Kersten and the ties were to be settled at a meeting of the council.

Rites Held Wednesday for Mrs. Ida C. Lloyd

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at the Grygla church, Rev. S. T. Anderson of Grygla officiating, for Mrs. Ida Charlotte Lloyd of Grygla who died at her home Monday at the age of 78 years. Interment was made at Ada Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Lloyd was born in Sweden January 4, 1859. In 1880 she came with her husband Olaf M. Lloyd to America, settling on a farm near Watertown. Later she moved to Stocklantin, Wisc., and in 1901 moved to Ada. She came to Gatzke in 1907 and seven years later, in 1914 moved to Grygla, where she has since resided.

Surviving relatives are two sons Albert M. of Grygla and Walter, also of Grygla; two daughters, Mrs. C. M. Lunde of Grygla and Mrs. Tony Legross of Ada; and 12 grandchildren. One brother, one sister, and her husband preceded her in death.

132 Mill Tax Rate Is Fixed for Crookston

Crookston taxpayers will pay next year at a slightly lower mill rate for all purposes than that assessed in 1936.

Total rate in the city, exclusive of the fifth ward, for all purposes is 132 mills this year, four mills less than the 1936 rate of 136 mills. In the fifth ward, where the rate varies because of the difference in school districts, the rate for 1937 is 141 mills, ten mills less than the 151 levied in 1936.

These rates, announced by Polk County Auditor Henry Welte are those which apply to all personal property and to real estate property of non-homestead classification. For real estate of homestead classification, up to the first $1,000 of true and full value, the millage rate will be 2.53 less than the general rate. This is a reduction affected in the state tax by the elimination of all state taxes, except those for debt retirement, from homestead property.

Light Plant in Bagley Makes Gift to Patrons

A more equitable method of distributing the annual Christmas gift made by the Bagley water and light commission will be in effect this year, according to H. E. Hanson superintendent of the commission.

A five per cent rebate on the entire year's total will be given to electric light and power users only in the form of a check which will be given to patrons Jan. 1 with their December statements. These "dividend" checks may be used toward the payment of the December bills.

Actually the refund will amount to practically the same as it has during the last four years when a rebate of one-half the December bill was made. The entire amount to be rebated by the water and light commission to electric and power users comes to about $1,000.

WOMAN HEROINE IN EMERGENCY

Grand Rapids.—Confronted by a sudden emergency, Mrs. Chester Maddy proved herself a heroine when she saved the life of one small child and perhaps the lives of two more youngsters. Mrs. Maddy lives just beyond the ice house near Crystal lake. Happening to glance out of her window, she saw three small tots playing on the ice and wandering dangerously near a hole where ice had been cut and taken out and water was in sight. She opened the door and set out to warn the children, only to see one of them, Jerry Beckfelt, three years old, plunge into the open water, which is very deep at that point. Mrs. Maddy ran as quickly as possible to the scene, reaching for the boy as he went down for the second time. Little Jerry's companions, three and two years old, were screaming in fright, the older one standing on ice less than an inch thick. Coaxing them off the ice, the woman rushed into her home with the three children where she administered first aid.

Mrs. Christine Johnson, Resident of Community Since 1883, Succumbs

Mrs. Christine Johnson, a resident of this vicinity since 1883, passed away at her home at 715 Eighth Street E. Saturday at the age of 77 years.

Mrs. Johnson was born February 9, 1860 in Sweden, emigrating to the United States in 1883. Since that time she has made her home in this vicinity, residing first near St. Hilaire later making her home at Crookston where she was married in 1884 to Bernt Johnson. Ten years later, in 1894, she came with her family to this community and lived on a farm north of this city. In the spring of 1920 she moved to this city where she has since made her home.

Surviving her death are her husband, three sons Olaf of Kalispell, Mont., Andrew and Ludvig of Goodridge; four daughters Mrs. A. J. Barrett of Crookston, Mrs. E. A. Sanders of Grand Forks, Mrs. Annie Hawkins of St. Paul, and Mrs. Anton Lian of Duluth; 21 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren. Two brothers and one sister preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the chapel of the Larson funeral home, Rev. E. L. Tungseth officiating, and interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Hand Signals in Winter Needed for Road Safety

Because car windows are usually kept closed in cold weather a high percentage of drivers abandon the use of hand signals, but the effort of rolling down a window and giving the proper signal may save a life or prevent a costly and painful accident, W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer of the Minnesota highway department, reminds drivers.

"Because of road conditions, driving signals are even more vital a safety measure in the winter than in other seasons," the safety director said, "and the work of opening a window, plus the discomfort of a little cold air in the car, certainly is a low price for preventing a broken neck or ruined car, which otherwise might result from one's failure to let the traffic behind know your driving intentions."

State Game Wardens Attend Training School

Fish rearing ponds will be established throughout the state in cooperation with sportsmen's groups, 4-H clubs and other organizations, according to instructions given state game wardens by Conservation Commissioner Herman C. Wenzel at their three-day school last week.

Wardens attending the school studied some twenty subjects, including first aid and artificial respiration, lake surveys and research, Minnesota waterfowl, game and fish propogation, interpretation of game laws, water resources, the integration of forestry with game and fish work, as well as others.

"Work under the reorganization plan", it was announced, "broadens the wardens' field of activity and makes them subject, as conservation officers, to all the activities of the department.

General field work, other than that of a special nature, is being coordinated to the end that all conservation employes will work as a unit to a common end."

Always 34 Degrees

It can be truthfully said that Mammoth cave in Kentucky breathes only once a year. In the summer the air outside the cave is warmer than the air within. These conditions are reversed in the winter months. Cool air rushes out of the cave in the summer and into it in the winter. It matters not what the temperature outside the cave, the temperature inside always remains at 34 degrees.

Minnesota Farm Bureau Meets in St. Paul Jan. 17

Seventy-seven county farm bureaus will be officially represented at the nineteenth annual convention of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, to be held in St. Paul January 17-19, says F. W. White, state president. This is the greatest number of county organizations ever affiliated with the state federation, last year's former high mark being seventy-three. Within these seventy-seven county organizations are nearly 1,200 township farm bureau units. It is at these township unit meetings that the farm bureau program is evolved. The township units, assembling in annual county conventions, adopt resolutions which are brought before the state convention to form the state program, officers explain.

Winger Co-op. Creamery Was Robbed Last Week

Burglars last Wednesday night looted the Winger Farmers Cooperative Creamery of 208 pounds of butter and 24 pounds of cheese. Entrance to the creamery was made through the basement, it was reported by the creamery operator who notified Polk county sheriffs officers of the theft when discovered the following morning.

Butter stolen was in one-pound prints and cheese was in cartons.

Led to the Boer War

When England seized the Cape of Good Hope in 1795 the Boers moved north, founded the Transvaal and the Orange Free State. A century later, gold was discovered there and the English moved in again. This led to the Boer war.

Minnesota Movie Shows Job Risk Law Procedure

"Your Job Insurance," a short motion picture describing how unemployed workers may receive benefits under the Minnesota Unemployment Compensation Law, now is being shown at theaters throughout the state. This was announced today by Frank T. Starkey, Industrial Commissioner in charge of the unemployment compensation division, which, together with the Social Security Board, had the picture made especially for Minnesota. The film features scenes of the state capitol, showing Governor Elmer A. Benson and Emery C. Nelson, director of the unemployment compensation division, preparing the division for the payment of benefits, which begins in January, 1938.

WAGE AND HOURS BILL IS HALTED IN LOWER HOUSE

Small Prospect Is Seen for Favorable Action for Many Months

The combined house votes of southern Democrats and northern Republicans disrupted President Roosevelt's special session program Friday night by sending back to committee the bill to establish minimum wage and maximum hour requirements for interstate industry.

The vote, 216 to 198, brought the career of that battle-scarred measure to an abrupt halt and evoked a triumphant roar of applause from southern bloc, members of which anxiously kept tab of the balloting as it progressed.

Technically, the measure was sent back to the labor committee for such revisions as would bring it in line with the views of the house, but actually, there were few who doubted the bill was dead for many months to come.

GRYGLA WOMAN AWARDED FREE TRIP TO "U" FARM

Mrs. Alfred Rasmussen of the Grygla community will be given a free trip to University Farm for short course week, January 17-21 plus free lodging, Beltrami County Agent M. B. Taylor announced Friday when her letter on "Why I cannot afford to miss Farm and Home Week" was judged the best in the county.

LIST AWARDS AT N. W. SCHOOL AS FALL TERM ENDS

Students Honored for Various School Activities at Crookston

Northwestern Minnesota counties shared in student honors conferred at the annual midwinter awards assembly at the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston Saturday. Superintendent T. M. McCall and staff members announced the awards. The highest honor, a silver trophy, given for the best all-round work in boys' summer projects was won by Henry Becker of Mahnomen, a senior student, for his work in collecting and identifying weed seeds. The silver trophy for girls' summer project work was awarded Myrtle Hanson of Twin Valley for her outstanding achievements in all home economics projects. Albert Adler of Mahnomen won the Red River Valley Dairymen's Association plaque for the best work in the Dairy Herd management project; Ralph Hvidsten of Stephen won the O. A. Flaat plaque for the best work in the potato project. The Archie Lee plaque for outstanding work in the tractor project was won by Maurice Stassing of Beltrami.

Harry Ward of Duluth won the votes of his teammates and was elected captain of the 1938 Aggie football team. The top honor in football, the "most valuable player" award, an honor "A" sweater donated by the Ruettell Company, was won by Woodrow Evans of Gully, the captain of the 1937 football team.

Three scholarships of $50.00 each, donated by Sears, Roebuck and company of Chicago for outstanding scholarship and ability among freshmen boys, were awarded to Edward McMillan of Mahnomen; Tilford Slettvedt, Okkee, and Dayton Jacobson of Pelican Rapids.

Scenes in the night clubs these winter nights are reported pretty disorderly, when some stewed quince meets a fried peach and wants to do the big apple.—New York Sun.

Indians and New Years Day

It is an interesting fact that the Indians of America, known to anthropologists as Red Indians, were quick to adopt New Years Day customs from the whites. They took to this observance of the advent of a new year much more readily than to Christmas, which to pagan Indians today means little and there are far more pagans among the tribes than most readers perhaps realize. Anyway, both the Chippewa and Sioux, tribes known here in the early years joined in the New Years festivities at an early date. Perhaps it was the fact that liquor then played a prominent part in the celebration. It still does, by the way, but it is now largely confined to whoopee in hotels, restaurants, clubs and other places instead of homes.

But we know that the Indians joined in the New Years fetes in the first years of settlement in Minnesota. One authority writes with disgust of determination of drunken braves to kiss the white men following a custom then apparently in vogue in Europe, probably adapted from the French, where they still do it, by the way.

When the whites settled other parts of the northwest the Indians continued to join the festivities marking the dawn of a new year. They did not pay much attention to the new year themselves, giving most of their attention in a chronological way to the months. But they evidently found the universal jollification among the whites on the frontier, the noise-making always associated with the welcoming of a new year and the drinking much to their liking.

While we may accept much of this interest as due simply to a desire for drink and diversion we also may attribute some of it to the Indian's inherent interest in time and means of measuring it. The Indian was an excellent judge of the time of day by the sun, but, of course, did not divide the day in hours and minutes, etc. Most tribes including the Chippewa and Sioux named the different periods of the day according to what was usually done then just as they named the months for the activities that marked them.

But there was some sort of influence that time held for the Indians of frontier days here—something that serves as an unusual fact of history and we certainly may attribute part of their interest in New Years day celebrations among the whites to this fact.

But another attraction of New Years day for the Indians was the fact that considerable eating was done on such occasions. It may seem strange to some of us but the truth is that many whites did not have Christmas feasts. The British were fairly strong for it and Britishers or people of British descent were numerous here in the first years of settlement and the Scandinavians followed this practice as did the Germans to a considerable extent. Yet there were enough among the whites on the frontier who did not "go in for" this sort of thing to make it less popular with the Indians than New Years day. In fact, in those early years New Years day was celebrated more extensively than Christmas as well as more intensively for the very good reason that our strongly religious forbears considered feasting and merry-making an inappropriate way to observe the birthday anniversary of Christ. But with New Years day it was different and as late as the 80's it was considered all right to get "woozy" on this day although too much drinking and brawling were, of course, not tolerated by society generally then.

Since those days the Indians, especially the mixed bloods, have adopted the customs of the whites quite generally. This is evident at the Turtle Mountain Chippewa reservation in North Dakota, the Sioux reservation at Fort Totten in the same state and at the Red Lake Chippewa reservation in northern Minnesota. For generations Indian children have been taught virtually the same things white children learned and among them the holiday customs. Only the reactionary fullbloods cling to the old customs and even they do not frown on the observance of Christmas and New Years day by the children.

But it is only fair that these customs should be adopted by the Indians, for few if any, are original with us. History records that most of the customs we have were adopted from other peoples and even other religions if we may call them religions (according to Webster's dictionary paganism really is a religion) and some of our most prominent customs came from pagan rites. So we should not begrudge our red skinned brothers and sisters their acquisitions in this way.

Unfortunately, we got off to a bad start with the Indians from a religious standpoint. The traders and other whites closest to them defrauded the Indians and caused them to look askance on most of the white man's offerings.

2,000 DEER FOUND MAKING HOMES IN ITASCA PARK AREA

Herds Face Shortage of Feed in Park, CCC Survey Reveals

That deer in Itasca Park are still living in tenement conditions is the conclusion of a series of "deer counts" recently completed by CCC boys under the guidance of federal game management experts.

On the basis of counts made both before and after the deer season, it is estimated that there are approximately 2,000 deer in the park, or an average of about [illegible] deer per square mile.

This is nearly three times as many deer as game managers estimate the park should support under normal conditions. [illegible] deer per square mile would be regarded as an ideal proportion if Itasca had not been over browsed for years by hungry bucks and does.

This year, three counts were taken before the season and three after. In order to save fair samples of the terrain, the counts were taken in a heavily timbered section, a second growth popple section, and a lake and swamp section.

The technique of counting deer has been carefully worked out by game managers, so that there is only a remote possibility of counting more than once.

When the deer in a given section of land are to be counted, the section is surrounded on all four sides by a crew of about 100 men. "Counters" are stationed on three sides of the square at strategic intervals and so that each man can see the counter on either side of his post.

"Drivers" are stationed at regular intervals along the fourth side of the section and work across the entire section. Four string lines are stretched at quarter mile intervals across the entire section in the direction of the driving lines so that the drivers do not deviate from their course, and halfway between the string lines are blazed lines for the same purpose.

The lines are prepared in advance of the date for taking the count so that normal deer conditions will exist when the count is made.

As soon as the drivers begin moving across the section the deer begin running in various directions. But the counters, stationed on three sides of the section, count only the deer that cross the section boundary. A deer that is seen by a counter but which does not cross the section line is not counted. Only the counter who finally sees the deer cross the line and go out of the section may count it. Counters on one side all face in the same direction and count only deer which leave the space between them and the next counter in line.

The drivers count only the deer that break back through the line, and which would not therefore be seen by the counters.

[illegible] emphasized that Itasca Park conditions are by no means typical of the state as a whole and are not used in drawing conclusions as to the deer population in the rest of the state.

Roseau County Slayer Given Life Sentence by Judge M. Brattland

Judge M. A. Brattland Friday sentenced John Klym to life imprisonment for the slaying of [illegible] Mondzuk, farmer, living in Sandown community, 10 miles west of here.

Klym, charged with first degree murder, heard a district court jury return a verdict of guilty in the second degree after deliberating nearly three hours.

Mondzuk was shot and fatally wounded while in a field the latter part of June when he and Klym quarreled over ownership of a small quantity of hay Klym had cut.

Klym shot Mondzuk through the [illegible]. Taken to the hospital Mondzuk died a short time afterward of shock and loss of blood.

The slaying occurred approximately 75 feet on the United States side of the Canadian border.

STATE FARMERS PARTICIPATE IN CHICAGO SESSION

American Farm Bureau Federation Reelects All Officers

Fifty-six Minnesota farm people, meeting with more than 1,500 farmers from other states, re-elected all officers and re-affirmed previous policies at the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation, held in Chicago Dec. 13-15. F. W. White, Marshall, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, continues as a member of the executive board of the national farm federation. The convention, attended by delegates from forty State Farm Bureaus, urged adoption of permanent agricultural legislation which would insure parity prices through adequate control of farm surpluses. President E. A. O'Neal, in his annual address, expressed the fear that the 1938 farm bill in its present form would not meet the needs of agriculture. He differed with Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, one of the speakers, whose advocacy of huge supplies of farm produce held in the "ever normal granary" drew the fire of the farm leader.

Maintaining their historic stand for reduction in excessive industrial tariffs and for tariff protection of American farm produce, the farm bureau delegates reiterated their recommendations for development of new domestic and foreign markets for American farm produce. Other resolutions asked for monetary reform and for tax reduction.

Meeting new challenges to the organization's objective of parity prices the farm delegates flatly opposed the train length bill, and the 6 hour day sought by railway employees, because the transportation cost of farm produce would reach higher than farm produce can stand. Opposition to legislation that would increase the present disparity between farm prices and industrial wages through increasing wages above parity levels and further restricting industrial production through shorter work weeks was voiced unanimously.

Another resolution, aimed at present relief activities, urged return of control over relief to the states and subdivisions, at the earliest opportunity. "The wage scale for those on relief should not be such as to make relief work a career but rather to encourage a return to private employment," the convention declared. Violent and coercive methods of organizing labor unions were denounced. Exemption of farm labor from the provisions of the National Labor Relations act and similar legislation was asked.

The opening resolution, the first of 21 adopted, urged less reliance on the government and more individual initiative. If artificial stimuli and controls are to continue for American business and American labor, however, equivalent stimuli and controls must be accorded American agriculture, the resolution asserted.

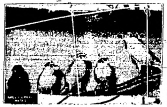
University Gets Grant for Study of Movies in the Educational Field

A three year experimental program to produce better movies in the field of education will begin at the University of Minnesota February 1, 1938, following receipt last week by the Regents of a grant of $[illegible] from the General Education Board.

The project is part of the three year study of the American Council on Education which is endeavoring to evaluate and generally improve the current output of moving pictures for classroom use. The General Education Board, supported by Rockefeller funds, is financing the project under supervision of the Council's committee on motion pictures in education.

It has been felt among leading educators that educational movies have failed to keep pace with the latest trends in the field of motion pictures. Consequently, children would rather look at the latest Hollywood production rather than a film designed to aid in teaching them useful subjects.

The experiment at the University of Minnesota will be an attempt to adapt the latest Hollywood techniques for educational films to bring them up to a professional standard that will make them more attractive to students.



The postmaster's office at Minneapolis was all a-twitter last week over a violation of postal rules and the twittering of five canary birds didn't help. Although regulations forbid mailing live birds, the canaries came blithely in from Bell Rapids, S. D., parcel post, directed to a Snelling avenue address. The local office delivered them. Only exception to the bird-mailing ban is day-old-chicks.

It Happened at the Capitol

Political news of the week was the complete reorganization of the Republican party in Minnesota which held an enthusiastic convention in St. Paul last week and decisively voted adoption of a new constitution which was designed to control the party from the bottom up instead of from the top down.

The attendance exceeded expectations and crowded the convention hall with representation from all of the 87 counties of the state, notwithstanding icy roads and wintry weather conditions.

Temper of the delegates to the convention and their desire for party action was plainly shown when they voted 600 to 50 to put the constitution into effect as quickly as possible and called for reorganization of the party within 40 days.

Also evident at the convention was the realization manifested among most of the delegates that their campaign against the Farmer Labor administration leaders cannot be confined to mere name calling but must be based on intelligent study of the actions of the present administration and the presentation of a sound constructive program to take its place.

Under the new constitution the government of the party will henceforth rest in the hands of the county chairmen and county chairwomen who will constitute the State Central Committee. They will meet during the month of January to elect the state officers of the party. It was emphasized that this would give the rural counties a greater voice in party control.

Observers saw in the action of the convention the beginnings of a revitalized party that would direct a strong campaign against the present state administration.

Many of the younger men and women of the state were present at the convention but they were joined in the move to reorganize by many of the older members of the party.

Keynote Speakers

Mrs. John K. Daniels, Republican State Chairwoman set the tone of the convention in her keynote address, which opened the gathering. She asserted that the G. O. P. should abandon the ostrich and return to the elephant as its symbol. She said that "Republican women are not misled into thinking the election is in the bag for them just because the Farmer-Labor party has muffed the ball in their present administration.

"I do not believe we can possibly win by merely capitalizing their mistakes," she said, "We can make use of them, but we are going to have to produce something besides and it must be produced now, for after all campaigns are won between elections and not the last 30 days before we go to the polls".

Ernest F. Jacobson, keynoter, declared, "It is a matter of some concern to all of us when we realize that this policy or lack of policies of the Farmer Labor Party is causing industry after industry to leave the state. We see the surrounding states beckoning with an eager hand for these industries which are being driven from out our midst." He also asserted that the people of Minnesota were calling on the Republican party for leadership to remove the present state administration.

Severe criticism of Governor Benson was voiced by Representative Roy E. Dunn of Pelican Rapids, National Committeeman, who referred to the governor as a "Charlie McCarthy" who is serving his first and also his last term.

Mrs. Chris Carlson of Blue Earth, National Committeewoman, also spoke briefly to the convention.

New Democratic Split

A new split in the Democratic party broke into the open Saturday night when Joseph Wolf, former Democratic National Committeeman, urged Minnesota Democrats not to support the Jackson Day dinner to raise party funds. Wolf said, "I oppose, as a principle the method being foisted on the people to dig up $25.00 to pay a deficit. I ask them to ignore the call of swivel chair Washington leaders and stuffed shirt New Yorkers who are attempting to use this undemocratic method of erasing the deficit."

The dinner is being sponsored by the National Democratic Party and by George Jansen, Minnesota Democratic Finance Director, and Judge John F. D. Meighen, State Chairman, both of whom worked with Wolf in the last primary campaign. Observers predicted that there would be more fireworks in this new split of the old "regular" faction, which arose since Wolf was deprived of his patronage power. They also pointed out that Wolf never had criticized money raising dinners when he was handling the funds.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

A recent news report in your paper stated that T. H. Arens, Conservator of the Rural Credit Department, Mr. Gaarenstrom, its attorney and Mr. Kent Holen of the Sales Department were in the city attending a hearing in the Chambers before the District Judge. I am sure that were the circumstances noted, it would have aroused considerable interest because it has a much deeper significance. It is really a test as to whether under the new law a former owner has any rights to repurchase his former farm if there are other outside bidders who offer cash for the same. If this is to be the sense that is to be read into the law, a former owner has very little chance to buy in his farm if there is a contesting cash bidder. It came before the Court on a petition for a hearing on the sale. The Court apparently claimed that it did not have jurisdiction over the petition in question. Mr. Gaarenstrom dismissed the hearing on his own motion. Mr. Leonard Erickson of Fergus Falls, Minn., and H. O. Chommie of this city were the attorneys for Tom H. Bjerke. Mr. Bjerke has lived on this farm which has been in the family for about 30 years. For the last years, he has rented it from the Rural Credit Department. Recently an offer in cash by a client of the Resettlement Division was made while Mr. Bjerke made a higher offer on the crop payment plan. The offer of Mr. Bjerke was promptly rejected by the Bureau. Mr. Bjerke is President of the Minnesota Farmers' Legislative Councils which pushed for equitable Rural Credit Liquidation laws and which resulted in a reduction of interest from 5½% to 4%. The Bureau is trying to make a test case of this and the attorneys for Mr. Bjerke are preparing to defend the interests of Mr. Bjerke. If it comes up in the local Court again, it will be a trial that should be of very great interest to Rural Credit Farmers over a wide area. It is true such a trial may clarify the monstrously ambiguous and contradictory law which passed but at the same it is a very sorry situation for Mr. Bjerke at whose expense such a test must be made.

PAYS FOR TIE STOLEN EIGHT YEARS AGO

Pipestone.—Payment for a twenty-five cent necktie stolen eight years ago was received last week by a local clothing store from a man who had been bothered by a guilty conscience ever since the theft occurred. The tie was stolen when the man purchased a suit at the clothier's and the theft went unnoticed at the time. Returning to Pipestone last week, following a long absence, the man entered the store and paid for the tie.

Growing With Your Child

Too Much Responsibility

"Mother, can I go skating?" fourteen year old Helen asked. "No, I have to go on an errand, and I want you to stay with the children. You know I can't leave them alone, they're sure to get into trouble with Henry."

Paul and Mary are eight and nine, Henry is thirteen, just enough older to enjoy teasing his little sisters. Reluctantly, Helen told the girls that she couldn't go, and with a somewhat sulky face sat down with a book.

"Now Helen," cautioned her mother, "Don't stick your nose so far into that book that you forget all about the children." "All right," assented Helen absently. For a while quiet reigned. Paul and Mary were busy coloring and cutting out paper dolls. Then Henry burst upon the scene. With all the enthusiasm of a bear for honey, he made for the cooky-jar. "Mom home?" he wanted to know. Paul and Mary, their things spread out on the dining-room table, paid no attention.

"Hey, why cantcha answer?" he inquired belligerently, approaching the table. "Mother's at the store," volunteered Mary, pursing her lips as she cut around a particularly involved bit. Things were too quiet for Henry. He grabbed a pair of scissors saying, "Aw, lemme show you how to do that."

In another second, the two were scuffling. Henry, holding a paper doll just out of Mary's reach, was taunting her with "Why don't you take it, if you want it? Here—take it!" then snatching it away.

Book in hand, Helen appeared. "What's up now?" she demanded. "Can't you let the girls alone, Henry? You always make trouble! Now clear out!" giving him a shove to make her words more emphatic.

"Trouble-maker yourself! What are you butting in for?" sneered Henry.

"Well I guess mother made me stay home to look after the kids—that's what right I have to boss you!" Helen retorted.

"He's torn this doll!" sobbed Mary. "I should think you'd be ashamed of yourself," screamed Helen. Then the door opened and their mother appeared.

"Now what's all this rumpus about?" she inquired. What do you mean jumping on your brother that way?"

"But you told me to look after the girls," shrieked Helen. "Henry always tries to tease them, and you know it. It's his fault the whole thing started."

"What's wrong with this picture? One of the main sources of the trouble lies in the mother's request that Helen take upon herself the responsibility of managing Henry. She is too little older than he for him not to feel resentful of her "bossing." He would actually have been less likely to get into trouble if his mother had put him in charge of the younger children, not in the sense of ordering them about, but only with an eye to their safety. Helen probably criticises many of his ways, as it is, without the authority her mother has placed in her hands.

What, after all, could Helen do if Henry did behave badly? The mother should realize that a fourteen year old couldn't possibly make him do as she wished. Her authority is only nominal.

Many parents assume that the oldest child is the natural guardian over younger ones. Guardian, yes, but not disciplinarian. The two are often confused, and in that confusion arises resentment between brothers and sisters.

Wouldn't it have been as well if the mother had let Helen go skating and had said nothing to Henry, other than that she was going out? All children squabble more or less—it's part of their education in getting along with other people. But all children need not build up jealousies and resentment because of authority unwisely delegated.

SEVEN "FAIRMONTS" LOCATED IN STATES

Fairmont. If any local residents' Christmas presents get lost in the mail it might be because they have been sent to some other Fairmont. Records of the post office department show there are seven cities or villages in the United States named Fairmont; there are nine others named Fairmount Springs. Fairmonts are listed in Minnesota, West Virginia, California, Nebraska, North Carolina, Oklahoma and South Carolina. Of all these cities and villages, Fairmont, Minnesota is second largest with a population of 5,521.

2,000 DEER FOUND MAKING HOMES IN ITASCA PARK AREA

Herds Face Shortage of Feed In Park, CCC Survey Reveals

That deer in Itasca Park are still living in tenement conditions is the conclusion of a series of "deer counts" recently completed by CCC boys under the guidance of federal game management experts.

On the basis of counts made both before and after the deer season, it is estimated that there are now approximately 2,000 deer in the park, or an average of about 15 deer per square mile.

This is nearly three times as many deer as game managers estimate the park should support under normal conditions. Nineteen deer per square mile would be regarded as an ideal proportion if Itasca had not been over browsed for years by hungry bucks and does.

This year, three counts were taken before the season and three after. In order to have fair samples of the terrain, the counts were taken in a heavily timbered section, a second growth popple section, and a lake and swamp section.

The technique of counting deer has been carefully worked out by game managers, so that there is only a remote possibility of counting more than once.

When the deer in a given section of land are to be counted, the section is surrounded on all four sides by a crew of about 100 men. "Counters" are stationed on three sides of the square at strategic intervals and so that each man can see the counter on either side of his post.

"Drivers" are stationed at regular intervals along the fourth side of the section and work across the entire section. Four string lines are stretched at quarter mile intervals across the entire section in the direction of the driving line, so that the drivers do not deviate from their course, and halfway between the string lines are blazed lines for the same purpose.

The lines are prepared in advance of the date for taking the count so that normal deer conditions will exist when the count is made.

As soon as the drivers begin moving across the section the deer begin running in various directions. But the counters, stationed on three sides of the section, count only those deer that cross the section boundaries. A deer that is seen by a counter but which does not cross the section line is not counted. Only the counter who finally sees the deer cross the line and go out of the section may count it. Counters on one side all face in the same direction and count only deer which leave the space between them and the next counter in line.

The drivers count only the deer that break back through the line, and which would not therefore be seen by the counters.

Erdahl emphasized that Itasca Park conditions are by no means typical of the state as a whole and are not used in drawing conclusions as to the deer population in the rest of the state.

STATE FARMERS PARTICIPATE IN CHICAGO SESSION

American Farm Bureau Federation Reelects All Officers

Fifty six Minnesota farm people, meeting with more than 1,500 farmers from other states, reelected all officers and re-affirmed previous policies at the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation, held in Chicago Dec. 13-15. P. W. White, Marshall, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, continues as a member of the executive board of the national farm federation. The convention, attended by delegates from forty State Farm Bureaus, urged adoption of permanent agricultural legislation which would assure parity prices through adequate control of farm surpluses. President E. A. O'Neal, in his annual address, expressed the fear that the 1938 farm bill in its present form would not meet the needs of agriculture. He differed with Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, one of the speakers, whose advocacy of huge supplies of farm produce held in the "ever normal granary" drew the fire of the farm leader.

Maintaining their historic stand for reduction in excessive industrial tariffs and for tariff protection of American farm produce, the farm bureau delegates reiterated their recommendations for development of new domestic and foreign markets for American farm produce. Other resolutions asked for monetary reform and for tax reduction.

Meeting new challenges to the organization's objective of parity prices the farm delegates flatly opposed the train length bill, and the 6 hour day sought by railway employees, because the transportation cost on farm produce is already higher than farm produce can stand. Opposition to legislation that would increase the present disparity between farm prices and industrial wages through increasing wages above parity levels and further restricting industrial production through shorter work weeks was voiced unanimously.

Another resolution, aimed at present relief activities, urged return of control over relief to the states and subdivisions, at the earliest opportunity. "The wage scale for those on relief should not be such as to make relief work a career but rather to encourage a return to private employment," the convention declared. Violent and coercive methods of organizing labor unions were denounced. Exemption of farm labor from the provisions of the National Labor Relations act and similar legislation was asked.

The opening resolution, the first of 21 adopted, urged less reliance on the government and more individual initiative. If artificial stimuli and controls are to continue for American business and American labor, however, equivalent stimuli and controls must be accorded American agriculture, the resolution asserted.

Roseau County Slayer Given Life Sentence by Judge M. Brattland

Judge M. A. Brattland Friday sentenced John Klym to life imprisonment for the slaying of G. Mondzuk, farmer, living in Sundown community, 10 miles west of here.

Klym, charged with first degree murder, heard a district court jury return a verdict of guilty in the second degree after deliberating nearly three hours.

Mondzuk was shot and fatally wounded while in a field the latter part of June when he and Klym quarreled over ownership of a small quantity of hay Klym had cut.

Klym shot Mondzuk through the leg. Taken to the hospital Mondzuk died a short time afterward of shock and loss of blood.

The slaying occurred approximately 75 feet on the United States side of the Canadian border.

University Gets Grant for Study of Movies in the Educational Field

A three year experimental program to produce better movies in the field of education will begin at the University of Minnesota February 1, 1938, following receipt last week by the Regents of a grant of $122,260 from the General Education Board.

The project is part of the three year study of the American Council on Education which is endeavoring to evaluate and generally improve the current output of moving pictures for classroom use. The General Education Board, supported by Rockefeller funds, is financing the project under supervision of the Council's committee on motion pictures in education.

It has been felt among leading educators that educational movies have failed to keep pace with the latest trends in the field of motion pictures. Consequently children would rather look at the latest Hollywood production rather than a film designed to aid in teaching them useful subjects.

The experiment at the University of Minnesota will be an attempt to adapt the latest Hollywood techniques for educational films, bringing them up to a professional level that will make them more attractive to students.

The postmaster's office at Minneapolis was all a-twitter last week over a violation of postal rules and the twittering of five canary birds didn't help. Although regulations forbid mailing live birds, the canaries came blithely in from Dell Rapids, S. D., parcel post, directed to a Snelling avenue address. The local office delivered them. Only exception to the bird-mailing ban is day-old-chicks.

It Happened at the Capitol

Political news of the week was the complete reorganization of the Republican party in Minnesota which held an enthusiastic convention in St. Paul last week and decisively voted adoption of a new constitution which was designed to control the party from the bottom up instead of from the top down.

The attendance exceeded expectations and crowded the convention hall with representation from all of the 87 counties of the state, notwithstanding icy roads and wintry weather conditions.

Temper of the delegates to the convention and their desire for party action was plainly shown when they voted 600 to 50 to put the constitution into effect as quickly as possible and called for reorganization of the party within 40 days.

Also evident at the convention was the realization manifested among most of the delegates that their campaign against the Farmer Labor administration leaders cannot be confined to mere name calling but must be based on intelligent study of the actions of the present administration and the presentation of a sound constructive program to take its place.

Under the new constitution the government of the party will henceforth rest in the hands of the county chairmen and county chairwomen who will constitute the State Central Committee. They will meet during the month of January to elect the state officers of the party. It was emphasized that this would give the rural counties a greater voice in party control.

Observers saw in the action of the convention the beginnings of a revitalized party that would direct a strong campaign against the present state administration.

Many of the younger men and women of the state were present at the convention but they were joined in the move to reorganize by many of the older members of the party.

Keynote Speakers

Mrs. John K. Daniels, Republican State Chairwoman set the tone of the convention in her keynote address, which opened the gathering. She asserted that the G. O. P. should abandon the ostrich and return to the elephant as its symbol. She said that "Republican women are not misled into thinking the election is in the bag for them just because the Farmer-Labor party has muffed the ball in their present administration.

"I do not believe we can possibly win by merely capitalizing their mistakes," she said, "We can make use of them, but we are going to have to produce something besides and it must be produced now, for after all campaigns are won between elections and not the last 30 days before we go to the polls".

Ernest F. Jacobson, keynoter, declared, "It is a matter of some concern to all of us when we realize that this policy or lack of policies of the Farmer-Labor Party is causing industry after industry to leave the state. We are the surrounding states beckoning with an eager hand for these industries which are being driven from out our midst." He also asserted that the people of Minnesota were calling on the Republican party for leadership to remove the present state administration.

Severe criticism of Governor Benson was voiced by Representative Roy E. Dunn of Pelican Rapids, National Committeeman, who referred to the governor as a "Charlie McCarthy" who is serving his first and also his last term.

Mrs. Chris Carlson of Blue Earth, National Committeewoman, also spoke briefly to the convention.

New Democratic Split

A new split in the Democratic party broke into the open Saturday night when Joseph Wolf, former Democratic National Committeeman, urged Minnesota Democrats not to support the Jackson Day dinner to raise party funds. Wolf said, "I oppose as a principle the method being foisted on the people to dig up $25.00 to pay a deficit. I ask them to ignore the call of swivel chair Washington leaders and stuffed shirt New Yorkers who are attempting to use this un-democratic method of erasing the deficit."

The dinner is being sponsored by the National Democratic Party and by George Jansen, Minnesota Democratic Finance Director, and Judge John F. D. Meighen, State Chairman, both of whom worked with Wolf in the last primary campaign. Observers predicted that there would be more fireworks in this new split of the old "regular" faction, which arose since Wolf was deprived of his patronage power. They also pointed out that Wolf never had criticized money raising dinners when he was handling the funds.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

A recent news report in your paper stated that T. H. Arens, Conservator of the Rural Credit Department, Mr. Gaarenstrom, its attorney and Mr. Kent Holen of the Sales Department were in the city attending a hearing in the Chambers before the District Judge. I am sure that were the circumstances noted, it would have aroused considerable interest because it has a much deeper significance. It is really a test as to whether under the new law a former owner has any rights to repurchase his former farm if there are other outside bidders who offer cash for the same. If this is to be the sense that is to be read into the law, a former owner has very little chance to buy in his farm if there is a contesting cash bidder. It came before the Court on a petition for a hearing on the sale. The Court apparently claimed that it did not have jurisdiction over the petition in question. Mr. Gaarenstrom dismissed the hearing on his own motion. Mr. Leonard Erickson of Fergus Falls, Minn., and H. O. Chommie of this city were the attorneys for Tom H. Bjerke. Mr. Bjerke has lived on this farm which has been in the family for about 30 years. For the last years, he has rented it from the Rural Credit Department. Recently an offer in cash by a client of the Resettlement Division was made while Mr. Bjerke made a higher offer on the crop payment plan. The offer of Mr. Bjerke was promptly rejected by the Bureau. Mr. Bjerke is President of the Minnesota Farmers Legislative Councils which pushed for equitable Rural Credit Liquidation laws and which resulted in a reduction of interest from 5½% to 4%. The Bureau is trying to make a test case of this and the attorneys for Mr. Bjerke are preparing to defend the interests of Mr. Bjerke. If it comes up in the local Court again, it will be a trial that should be of very great interest to Rural Credit Farmers over a wide area. It is true such a trial may clarify the monstrously ambiguous and contradictory law which passed but at the same it is a very sorry situation for Mr Bjerke at whose expense such a test must be made.

PAYS FOR TIE STOLEN EIGHT YEARS AGO

Pipestone — Payment for a twenty five cent necktie stolen eight years ago was received last week by a local clothing store from a man who had been bothered by a guilty conscience ever since the theft occurred. The tie was stolen when the man purchased a suit at the clothier's and the theft went unnoticed at the time. Returning to Pipestone last week, following a long absence, the man entered the store and paid for the tie.

Growing With Your Child

Too Much Responsibility

"Mother, can I go skating?" fourteen year old Helen asked. "No, I have to go on an errand, and I want you to stay with the children. You know I can't leave them alone, they're sure to get into trouble with Henry."

Paul and Mary are eight and nine, Henry is thirteen, just enough older to enjoy teasing his little sisters. Reluctantly, Helen told the girls that she couldn't go, and with a somewhat sulky face sat down with a book.

"Now Helen," cautioned her mother, "Don't stick your nose so far into that book that you forget all about the children." "All right," assented Helen absently. For a while quiet reigned. Paul and Mary were busy coloring and cutting out paper dolls. Then Henry burst upon the scene. With all the enthusiasm of a bear for honey, he made for the cooky-jar. "Mom—home?" he wanted to know. Paul and Mary, their things spread out on the dining-room table, paid no attention.

"Hey, why cantcha answer?" he inquired belligerently, approaching the table. "Mother's at the store," volunteered Mary, pursing her lips as she cut around a particularly involved bit. Things were too quiet for Henry. He grabbed a pair of scissors saying, "Aw, lemme show you how to do that."

In another second, the two were scuffling. Henry, holding a paper doll just out of Mary's reach, was taunting her with "Why don't you take it, if you want it? Here—take it!" then snatching it away.

Book in hand, Helen appeared. "What's up now? she demanded. "Can't you let the girls alone, Henry? You always make trouble! Now clear out!" giving him a shove to make her words more emphatic.

"Trouble-maker yourself! What are you butting in for?" sneered Henry.

"Well I guess mother made me stay home to look after the kids—that's what right I have to boss you!" Helen retorted.

"He's torn this doll!" sobbed Mary. "I should think you'd be ashamed of yourself," screamed Helen. Then the door opened and their mother appeared.

"Now what's all this rumpus about" she inquired. What do you mean jumping on your brother that way?"

"But you told me to look after the girls," shrieked Helen. "Henry always tries to tease them, and you know it. It's his fault the whole thing started."

"What's wrong with this picture? One of the main sources of the trouble lies in the mother's request that Helen take upon herself the responsibility of managing Henry. She is too little older than he for him not to feel resentful of her "bossing." He would actually have been less likely to get into trouble if his mother had put him in charge of the younger children, not in the sense of ordering them about, but only with an eye to their safety. Helen probably criticises many of his ways, as it is, without the authority her mother has placed in her hands.

What, after all, could Helen do if Henry did behave badly? The mother should realize that a fourteen year old couldn't possibly make him do as she wished. Her authority is only nominal.

Many parents assume that the oldest child is the natural guardian over younger ones. Guardian, yes, but not disciplinarian. The two are often confused, and in that confusion arises resentment between brothers and sisters.

Wouldn't it have been as well if the mother had let Helen go skating and had said nothing to Henry, other than that she was going out? All children squabble more or less—it's part of their education in getting along with other people. But all children need not build up jealousies and resentment because of authority unwisely delegated.

SEVEN "FAIRMONTS" LOCATED IN STATES

Fairmont. If any local residents' Christmas presents get lost in the mail it might be because they have been sent to some other Fairmont. Records of the post-office department show there are seven cities or villages in the United States named Fairmont, there are nine others named Fairmount Springs. Fairmonts are listed in Minnesota, West Virginia, California, Nebraska, North Carolina, Oklahoma and South Carolina. Of all these cities and villages, Fairmont, Minnesota is second largest with a population of 5,521.

Christmas brings to us an appreciation of those friendships and memories which make life worth living. And so we extend to you at this Holiday Season our cordial greetings and wish for you both health and happiness throughout the whole New Year.

Doctors Advise Extra Attention to Sniffles During Holiday Season

Colds and sore throats never declare a moratorium for Christmas. For that reason the public health education committee of the Minnesota State Medical association today recommends extra precautions so as to avoid spoiling the holidays with sniffles and worse.

No sure preventive can be offered, the doctors say; but unlucky victims who "feel a cold coming on" can drop their activities for a day or two, stay home in bed. And thus give themselves the benefit of the best known aid for nipping colds in the bud.

Many other cold preventives are being tried, according to the bulletin. They range from vaccines and serums to drug preparations. They have their uses in special cases but none are universally successful.

Only one tried and proven measure can be recommended to everybody without exception; that is to stay warm and quiet in bed. Drinking an extra amount of water, fruit juices and other liquids also helps.

If the cold should prove to be a preliminary to some more serious ailment, staying in bed is a necessary first step in treatment. If not, a day in bed will hasten recovery, assist in preventing possible bad after effects of neglected colds and protect others from infection.

NO MEETINGS OF C. & C. SLATED DURING HOLIDAYS

HAS ORDER FOR SANTA'S PANTS

Frazee.—Believed to have snagged his trousers on Frazee chimneys last Christmas eve, Santa Claus, that jolly old gent, has ordered a new pair of pants to be especially made at the local tailor shop. He was expected to sport them on his visit to this village on the Saturday before Christmas. Of course, Mrs. Claus patched the torn places in the old suit which was all right for Santa to wear at home and in his workshop at the North Pole. However, they looked pretty tough for dress-up daytime wear and Old Saint Nick decided he had better have a brand new pair of breeches when he comes to town.

SECOND SET TWINS IN ELEVEN MONTHS

Lakefield.—Suspicious that the mother cow has not heard of the administration's limitation of production problem, Arthur Kubnau, resident of this village, has a Swiss Jersey which has given birth to two sets of twin calves during the last eleven months. Kubnau was surprised to find the cow had presented him with two big, strong healthy male calves, just eleven months and one day after having given birth to twin heifer calves. The twins are believed to be a record in production.

IT'S Christmas TIME!

FRIENDSHIP in business, as well as in our personal lives, makes life sweeter, more wholesome, more thoroughly enjoyable.

While we give voice to words of thanks and appreciation regularly thruout the year, there comes a time when such expressions are much more significant---and that time is Christmas time.

It is then that we view the old year in retrospect. It is then that we realize how empty, how colorless, how barren life would be without its friendships. It is then that we realize how very much we rely upon our customers, whose friendship makes possible our fuller enjoyment of life.

So to you, our customers and friends, we say "Thank you" this Christmas time. We wish you all the peace and joy a Merry Chistmas can bring, and a New Year of Happiness and Prosperity.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

Volume 27 Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, Thursday, Dec. 30, 1937 Number 52

MINNEAPOLIS SIX IS COMING THIS WEEK-END

Visitors Will Meet Thieves Saturday Evening and Sunday Afternoon

LOCALS LOSE MONDAY TO EMERSON 3 TO 1

Crowd of 600 Sees Sunday's Contest With Winnipeg Aggregation

Following last Sunday's thrilling contest on the arena rink in which the Thief River Falls hockey team lost 5-3 to the speedy International Laboratories sextet of Winnipeg, the Thieves journeyed to Emerson Monday night and took the short end of a nip-and-tuck battle by a score of 3 to 1.

Hockey fans of this community will enjoy another outstanding demonstration of the sport this week-end when the Flour City-Stott team of Minneapolis comes to the arena for a two-game series. The first contest is scheduled for Saturday evening, New Year's Day at 8:30, and the second for Sunday afternoon, January 2, at 2 o'clock.

The Minneapolis aggregation, which has made an excellent showing in arena amateur hockey league play, is made up of stars of last year's University of Minnesota hockey team which defeated many outstanding college outfits including Princeton and the University of Wisconsin.

Emerson opened the scoring in Monday night's game on a solo by Skinner, following which Snooks Julien and Clifton combined to tie the game at the start of the second period. Emerson again took the lead later in the period, and then the Thieves sent the whole team down against their opponents' goal in an effort to gain a tie, but Skinner again broke away to score the last counter, the game ending 3-1.

The game was very fast and cleanly fought, the outcome being in doubt up to the end. Emerson has bolstered its lineup since playing at the arena here, and the Thieves also are fast rounding into shape, particularly the second line. Art Derrick, now local defense man, is expected to arrive in time to participate in the games this week-end.

Nearly 600 fans witnessed Sunday's hard-fought battle with the Winnipeg team, Stanowski, 18-year old player on the visiting team being the outstanding star. He is slated to join up with the Montreal professional league team after the first of the year.

Stanowski soloed to score shortly after the opening of the first period, after which Craig counted for the Thieves. The locals made their last two tallies in the second period on plays from Sampson to Clifton and from Snooks Julien to Hassan. After making their second score late in the first period, the Winnipeg team counted in the second and twice more in the third, giving it a 5-3 victory. No penalties were imposed during the first two periods, while in the third the Thieves incurred two and Winnipeg one.

TAX RATES LISTED FOR SUBDIVISONS OF PENNINGTON CO.

County Treasurer's Office Preparing to Receive '37 Tax Payments

With the announcement this week of the complete tabulation of 1937 tax rates for Pennington county, which will form the base for tax payments by county property owners during the coming year, County Treasurer John Gullingsrud will be prepared to receive tax payments beginning next Monday, January 3.

To determine the total tax rate, the school district rate, together with the township, village or city rate, is added to the county rate of 39 mills and the state rate of ten mills. The rate for city purposes in Thief River Falls is 28.15 mills, while the rate for local purposes is 21 mills in St. Hilaire and 73.20 in Goodridge.

Township rates vary from a low of three mills in Polk Centre and four mills in Bray to a high mark of 25 mills in Mayfield and 19 mills in Rickory. School district rates range from as low as one mill in Districts 75 and 44 to as high as 56 mills on platted property in District 8 and 46 mills on platted property in District 102.

Huge Yule Volume at the Postoffice

Despite the fact that the volume of business handled thru the Thief River Falls postoffice during the holiday mailing rush established what is believed to set an all-time record, the heavy incoming and outgoing mail was disposed of promptly and efficiently with no congestion resulting.

During the ten-day period from December 15 to 24 a total of 83,907 letters and greeting cards passed thru the cancelling machines in the local office. The movement reached its peak December 21 when 21,031 pieces of mail passed thru the machines, closely followed by 15,912 pieces December 20, 15,632 pieces December 22 and 10,287 December 23.

A total of 1281 insured parcels were received during the period, compared to 1110 in the corresponding period of 1936, while sales of stamps for parcels aggregated $788.48 compared to $701 last year. Stamp sales in general were fully ten per cent above those for the holiday season in 1936, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced.

The largest number of insured parcels received in any one day was 253 on December 20, followed by 231 December 21. Stamp sales for packages reached a high mark of $195.65 December 21.

ASSAILANT FELLS HARRY FRY IN BOLD ROBBERY ATTEMPT

Was Struck by Attacker Near Garage at Home Early Friday Morning

Local police are still searching for clues as to the identity of the attacker who last Friday at 2 o'clock in the morning struck and knocked down Harry Fry, proprietor of the Club cigar store, just after he had put his car in the garage at the rear of his home on Knight av. N. and was walking toward the house.

Coming up from behind, his assailant struck him on the forehead with a two-foot length of three-quarter-inch iron water pipe. Altho knocked to the ground, Mr. Fry rose to his feet at once, whereupon the man fled down the alley, escaping being hit by three shots from a revolver Mr. Fry was carrying from his car into the house.

Police arrived at the scene immediately and trailed the man's footprints in the snow west to the fair grounds, then south and back east to Highway 32 where the trail was lost. The man, who had been standing between the garage and an adjoining building awaiting the arrival of Mr. Fry, is believed to have hoped to make away with the day's receipts from the cigar store.

Firemen Respond to 3 Alarms During the Week

The fire department responded to three alarms this week, none of the fires causing damage of any consequence. The first call came Sunday evening from the residence of Henry Louze at 115 Arnold av. S., where a chimney fire developed. Tuesday afternoon the firemen extinguished a blaze in a partition that caught from a stovepipe at 211 East Second st., while Tuesday evening another chimney fire was put out at the home of John Jordahl at 105 Conley av. S.

Mercury Falls Far Below Zero Christmas Morning

This community experienced the lowest temperatures of the winter early Christmas morning when the mercury dropped to the vicinity of 25 below zero, but the cold spell moderated considerably later in the day. The mercury slumped well under the zero mark again Tuesday morning, but Wednesday was comparatively mild. No snow of any consequence fell during the week in this locality.

Stores Close Friday at 6 for Double Holiday

As was announced last week, Thief River Falls stores will close Friday evening at 6 o'clock and will remain closed all day Saturday, New Year's Day. Patrons are asked to bear the double holiday in mind in making their week-end purchases. Beginning the following Saturday, January 8, and continuing thru February, local stores will close Saturday evenings at 6 o'clock.

MASONS, EASTERN STARS TO INSTALL OFFICERS MONDAY

Elective and Appointive Officers to Assume New Positions

Recently elected officers of the local Masonic lodge and Eastern Star chapter will be inducted into their new posts next Monday evening, January 3, when joint installation rites will be conducted in the lodge rooms. Andrew Anderson will serve as installing officer for the Masons, while Mrs. V. D. Borry will act for the Eastern Star. In addition to the Star officers announced in the Times last week, the following elective and appointive officers of the Masonic lodge will assume their posts: Ronald G. Kinghorn, worshipful master; L. G. Larson, senior warden; S. C. Severson, junior warden; J. Fabrick, secretary; Adolf Eklund, treasurer; Arthur Rambeck, senior deacon; R. W. Woolhouse, junior deacon; A. B. Stenberg, senior steward; C. V. Whitchurch, junior steward; Rev. E. A. Cooke, chaplain; Harry Seaverson, tiler; and H. Dan Bjorkman, marshal.

SALVATION ARMY SPREADS HOLIDAY CHEER IN REGION

Supplies Turkey Dinners on Christmas Day for 360 Persons

Many families were made happy at Christmas time thru the activities of the Salvation Army, Envoy E. W. Bailey revealed this week, announcing that he drove nearly 400 miles to supply turkey dinners for 360 needy persons in and near Thief River Falls and in five Northwest counties in which the local agency operates.

In addition, Mr. Bailey stated, the Army supplied 21 baskets of fruits and dainties to homes and hospitals, and distributed 250 reconditioned toys along with a substantial amount of warm clothing.

"We take this way," said Mr. Bailey, "of saying 'Thank you' to everyone who helped and supported us in this work by their contributions."

Shoplifter Is Bound Over to District Court

Jack Ryan, also using the name of Thomas Cassidy and other aliases, at a session in municipal court Tuesday waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over to district court on a charge of second degree grand larceny, his bond being set at $500. Ryan was picked up by police Thursday with wrist watches, clothing and a dressed chicken in his possession alleged to have been stolen from local business places. Last April he served 15 days in the local jail on a vagrancy charge.

CONGRESS SET TO COMMENCE WINTER TERM

Definite Cleavage Is Seen Between Conservatives and Liberals

ARGUE AS TO BLAME FOR BUSINESS SLUMP

All Members of Lower House Up for Reelection Next Fall

Washington's busy prediction makers are saying that concern about the business situation is likely to result in a showdown between the conservative and liberal elements of congress, regardless of party affiliations, at the coming session.

To those who followed the developments of the special session, it was obvious that the current economic recession had served to stiffen the attitude of the conservatively disposed and make them more than ever ready to assert their independence.

At the same time, it was equally apparent that the supporters of administration methods were inclined to absolve the administration of responsibility for the slump blame business itself, and urge an unabated continuation of Roosevelt policies.

With such questions as taxes, anti-monopoly legislation and, perhaps, the wage-hour bill coming up in the session beginning next week, it seemed inevitable that 1938 would produce the sharpest clash yet between the liberal and conservative camps.

If three votes, generally considered tests of strength during the special session, may be taken as criteria, the conservative Democrats, by combining their power with the Republicans, can muster very nearly as many votes as the supporters of the administration.

The entire membership of the house and one-third of the senate will be up for re-election next fall. If the president's measures should fail at the coming session, some of Mr. Roosevelt's supporters expect the party organization to seek the defeat of recalcitrant Democrats in the coming party primaries.

Paralleling the battle between the conservatives and liberals for control of congress, is an equally intense struggle between the two groups for control of the Democratic party and the privilege of naming its 1940 presidential candidate and writing its 1940 platform.

At the annual reunion of the Lincoln High School Alumni association held Tuesday evening at the Sons of Norway hall, Roy Oen was elected president for the coming year, succeeding Arthur Nelson. Other officers named include Jack Booren, vice president; Donald Hermanson, secretary; and James Nesse, treasurer. The reunion was a highly successful affair, 165 former Lincoln students being in attendance. Aside from the brief business session, the evening was devoted to dancing, and lunch was served at midnight.

FATAL ACCIDENT MARS CHRISTMAS TRIP TO PLUMMER

Local Young Women Passengers in Car That Hits Indian

A Christmas holiday trip to their parental home in Plummer was marred for the Misses Agnes and Myrtle Hanson, employed in this city, when, being driven to Plummer Christmas Eve by their brother, Lloyd Hanson, their car struck and fatally injured James Sayres, Indian from the Red Lake agency, walking along the highway a mile north of the village.

Sayres, with two companions, was walking on the right side of the highway, some distance in from the shoulder, when a car with one dazzling light came from the south, obscuring the pedestrians from the vision of Mr. Hanson, and making it impossible for him to turn out far enough to avoid hitting one of the men.

Dr. J. A. Roy, Red Lake county coroner, and Sheriff Carl Kankel visited the scene and interviewed the participants in the unfortunate mishap, indicating that there was no negligence on the part of the driver. No formal inquest has been conducted.

Rifle Club to Conduct Annual Meeting Jan. 5

The annual meeting of the Thief River Rifle club will be held in the Civic and Commerce association rooms Wednesday evening, January 5, at 8 o'clock, it was announced today by A. J. Borry, secretary. The election of officers will be the principal business to come before the meeting, in addition to which there will be entertainment and lunch.

One of Many Barns Moved out of Mud Lake Reserve

Above is shown one of the large number of farm buildings moved out from the Mud lake game reserve, taken over by the federal government, to new sites in the Holt and Thief River Falls communities. The barn in the picture, shown as it was about to pass over a bridge on Thief River, was being moved seven miles from the Ole Larson farm in the reserve to Mr. Larson's new farm four miles east of Holt. The structure rode on four four-wheel trucks and was pulled by a caterpillar tractor, the job being under the direction of Halvor Moe, assisted by Ralph Meyers and Arnold Bay. Testifying to the difficulties surmounted in connection with the project, it was necessary to plank thru eighty rods of peat bog and to cut a path thru 150 yards of poplar trees and brush. A period of three weeks was required to move the barn to its new site.

POWER PLANT HAS BIGGER BILLINGS IN 1937 THAN '36

Billings for First Eleven Months Aggregate $105,339

With a heavy increase in electric current consumed in Thief River Falls homes and business places this year, light department billings for the first eleven months of 1937 exceed those of the corresponding period last year despite the rate reduction that was put into effect September 1, 1936, according to records in the office of City Clerk P. G. Pederson.

For this year to November 30 billings aggregated $105,339.86, compared to $102,963.54 for the same period in 1936. Last year's receipts included $3,222.25 in meter rentals, which charge has been eliminated this year.

November, 1937, billings included $8,533.66 for lighting and $2,[illegible] for power, the corresponding figures for 1936 being $7,426.72 and $2,161.67.

CAMPBELL READY TO ISSUE '38 TAGS FOR AUTOMOBILES

License Fees to be Slightly Higher on New Cars Next Year

Beginning next Monday, January 3, Alex Campbell, deputy registrar of motor vehicles in this city, will start issuing 1938 license plates to motorists in this section. February 15 will be the deadline for obtaining licenses without the payment of a penalty.

Because of increased automobile prices, Minnesota car licenses will be slightly higher this year, Secretary of State Mike Holm said Monday.

The license fee is computed on the basic price of new models each year, and the ratio of difference in cost compared with the preceding year is applied to all models, old and new. Minimum license fees are $5 for light and $7.50 for heavy automobiles.

Approximately 850,000 cars were licensed last year at a cost to motorists of $9,000,000.

Check Forger Is Bound Over to District Court

Waiving preliminary hearing in municipal court Tuesday, Everett Matthews of Humboldt, Minnesota, was bound over to district court on a forgery charge. He is accused of having forged the name of Tom Christo on four checks aggregating $35. Police stated that when apprehended Matthews had in his possession other similar checks already filled out.

Two Civic Groups Will Resume Sessions Jan. 6

Following the holiday recess two local civic groups will resume sessions next Thursday, January 6. The Civic and Commerce association will hold an evening meeting in the club rooms at 6:30, at which time activities for the coming year will be discussed. The Junior Chamber of Commerce will meet at the same hour in the Palm Garden cafe, President Clarence Sande announced.

WILL OBSERVE NEW YEARS EVE IN VARIED WAYS

Watch Night Services to be Conducted in Many Churches

FIREMEN'S BALL SET FOR THE AUDITORIUM

Elks Lodge and Golf Club Arrange Dancing Parties for Occasion

Residents of the Thief River Falls community will have the opportunity to observe the arrival of the new year of 1938 Friday evening at midnight in a variety of manners, according to their individual tastes. Many will spend the evening at their own fireside, while others will attend watch night services scheduled in many churches, and still others more festive-minded will attend one of several dances planned in the community Friday evening.

Selections by a group of twenty members of the Woman's club chorus will feature watch night services in the Community church, the program to get under way at 8:30 also including a social hour and the serving of a potluck lunch.

Talks and songs will be presented at similar services in the Swedish Mission church beginning at 10 o'clock Friday evening, while at the Augustana Lutheran church the services beginning at 9 o'clock in the evening will be sponsored by the Luther league. The program includes a pageant among other features, and lunch will be served. The Baptist church services also will commence at 9 o'clock Friday evening.

Watch night services will be conducted at Zion Lutheran church Friday evening, beginning at 9 o'clock, under the sponsorship of the Luther league. A program will be presented and lunch will be served.

The largest of the local dances arranged to celebrate the arrival of the new year will be the forty-ninth annual Firemen's Ball to be staged at the Auditorium in accordance with a time-honored custom. Both old and new-time music will be provided by Oscar Stenegaard and his original WDAY Barn Dance orchestra.

The annual New Year's party sponsored by the Elks lodge will be held at the Sons of Norway hall, and the usual large attendance is anticipated. The Rhythm Kings orchestra will supply music for the occasion, the party getting under way at 10 o'clock. Refreshments will be served in the course of the evening.

Thief River Falls golf club members and their friends will attend a dance in the Evelyn hotel New Year's Eve. Dancing will get under way at 10 o'clock following the serving of a buffet supper.

Sportsmen's Club Will Meet Tuesday Evening

The Pennington County Sportsmen's club will hold its next regular meeting Tuesday evening January 4, at 8 o'clock in the Civic and Commerce association rooms, L. J. Kalsher, secretary, announced today. The principal business slated to come before the meeting will be a discussion of projected activities of the organization during the coming year.

Prowlers and Jaybees Clash Wednesday Night

As the Times was going to press Wednesday evening, Coach George Lee's Lincoln high school basketball team was meeting the Jaybees, local independent quintet on the Auditorium floor in what promised to be a highly interesting contest. The Prowlers had their full strength in the lineup, and the Jaybee squad was fortified by the addition of several former high school stars who were in the city for the holidays.

Unemployment Insurance Taxes to Rise Next Year

Unemployment insurance will cost employers more after New Year day. The tax on payrolls will increase from 2 per cent in 1937 to 3 per cent in 1938, social security board officials said Monday in Washington. This is the final increase in the payroll tax, and 3 per cent will be standard rate of employers' contributions in future years. Estimated 1937 receipts were $900,000,000.

Lufkin of Crookston, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nohre of Holt, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Sorenson and family of Newfolden and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sorenson and family of Newfolden.

Stella Halvorson and Alfred Bitzer Wed at Pretty House Ceremony

Miss Stella Halvorson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Halvorson of this city, and Alfred Bitzer of Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bitzer of Williams, were united in marriage Sunday, December 19, at a pretty house wedding at the home of the bride's parents.

The vows were spoken before an improvised altar of blue and white in a setting of ferns and Christmas cactus. Rev. F. C. Schmidt of Warroad read the service at 3 p. m. Attendants were Miss Dagny Halvorson, sister of the bride, bridesmaid, Miss LaVern Bitzer of Williams, sister of the groom, maid-of-honor; and Roy Bitzer of Williams and William Halvorson, brothers of the groom and bride, respectively, who served as groomsmen.

The bridal party descended the stairs and proceeded to the altar to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin played by Mrs. Helmer Kolberg. The maid-of-honor, who wore a silk frock of ashes of roses, was the first of the bridal party to enter, followed by the bridesmaid, who was attired in a frock of black silk trimmed with blue. Both carried tiny bouquets of sweet peas centered with a single rose. The bride entered on the arm of her father and was given in marriage by him. Her ensemble consisted of a blue velvet afternoon frock complemented by black accessories. In her hair she wore a spray of lilies of the valley, similar to the one worn by her mother as a bride, and she carried a bouquet of sweet peas and white roses.

Just before the speaking of the vows a trio composed of Misses Bernice Halvorson, Mabel Bitzer of Williams, and CleAnn Sand of Grand Forks sang "I Love You Truly." A reception for the 35 relatives witnessing the ceremony followed the service. A three-tiered wedding cake decorated in blue and white graced the buffet from which refreshments were served. The bride and bridegroom left on a brief trip to Grand Forks, returning here on Wednesday of last week. After the holidays they will be at home on the groom's farm at Williams.

The bride was graduated from Lincoln high school with the class of 1931 and from the local teacher training department in the following year and since that time has taught in schools in this vicinity. Her husband attended high school at Williams.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Carlson of Grand Forks, Bonnie Grondahl of East Grand Forks, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bitzer and Willard, Earl, Leslie, and Lillian Bitzer, and Michael Morley, all of Williams, Stanley Wick of Grand Forks, and Mrs. F. C. Schmidt of Warroad.

Wesley Wheelers Feted During Holiday Week-End

Prior to his return to Lakefield after spending the week-end here, Wesley Wheeler and Mrs. Wheeler were honored at a three-course breakfast-luncheon at the Harold Rasmussen home Sunday morning. Hostesses were Mrs. Rasmussen and Mrs. Al Ulleberg.

Candelabra holding Christmas candles, a centerpiece of fruit, and holly made festive table decorations harmonizing with the Christmas decorations in the rooms for the holiday season. Each guest chose his own place at the table, each cover being designated with a small Christmas wrapped gift box one of which contained a number for which a prize was awarded, the prize going to Clarence Sande. Covers were placed for the Messrs. and Mmes. Wheeler, honor guests, Clair O'Hara, Clarence Sande, Alv Vistaunet, Clifford Storholm, Clarence Oseid of Bemidji, Al Ulleberg, and Harold Rasmussen.

After the "brunch" which was served at 10:30 o'clock, bridge was played, at which prizes were won by Mr. Oseid and Mrs. Wheeler for high scores, and Mr. Sande and Mrs. O'Hara for second high scores. At 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon the hostesses served refreshments before the guests separated, the ladies attending the theatre while the gentlemen witnessed the hockey game.

Fern Barnett's Pupils Have Christmas Parties

During the week preceding Christmas, Miss Fern Barnett's music pupils enjoyed parties given in observance of the holidays.

On Saturday evening, December 18, The Young Musician's club at its regular meeting heard reports on the Boyhood of Chopin given by Lorraine Holum, and on Ruth Slenczynski, famous child pianist, given by Ruth Fossum, worked on music scrap books, and sang Christmas carols, for which piano accompaniment was played by Ruth Fossum and JoAnn Holmes. Contests were also a part of the evening's program, JoAnn Holmes winning the prize. Lunch was served by Lorraine Holum and Donna May Twete.

Miss Barnett entertained her entire group of pupils at a Christmas party on Thursday of last week. Carol singing, for which piano accompaniment was furnished by Bernard Knudsen and Ruth Fossum, was followed by games and contests, for which prizes were awarded to Robert Olson and Donna May Twete. A lovely lunch was served by Mrs. I. S. Barnett, assisted by Miss Bernice Berge. Covers were placed at a table appropriately decorated for Christmas, with a chocolate Santa Claus placed for each cover. The evening was climaxed by the distribution of gifts by LeRoy Thompson, who served as Santa Claus. Present were Lorraine Holum, Bernard Knudson, Robert Thompson, Carol Melby, Grace Dahlen, Joyce Voldness, Robert Melby, Janice Swanson, Robert Olson, Dolores Voldness, Dolores Olson, Donna May Twete, Ruth Fossum, LeRoy Thompson, Carol Sponheim, JoAnn Holmes, and Joyce Kierk.

Growing With Your Child

Family Celebrations

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Family celebrations can be a beautiful and absorbing tradition in childhood, their familiar rites looked forward to and planned for beforehand and laughed about for weeks afterward. But when children are old enough to want to try their wings alone, the old customs may seem trite and empty if they do not grow to fit changing needs. Better to work out a new plan, than to risk having what should be joyous occasions turned into boresome routines, with only the "must" of duty to bind them together.

The period during which children are growing out of their dependence on their families to furnish entertainment and good times for them is a hard one for parents. After having for long, devoted years built up habits of life in which thoughts of their children always come first, it is like trying to get along without an arm or leg to do without a child who has been so close as to seem like an appendage. Thousands and thousands of women each year are doing their best to reconstruct the pattern of their lives, disrupted and torn by the exodus of their children from home. They are joked about for flocking to hear lectures on "Art in the Attic" or "Men against the Moon," but who can blame them for turning to the first thing that offers when the absorbing interests of a lifetime are suddenly snatched from their hands?

There are three things that it seems to me are important for mothers of adolescent children to consider, with relation to the exacting and arduous career of motherhood. First of all, jolts like the ones suffered when children calmly assume it is quite all right for them to leave the family celebration for a party with their friends will be fewer and less painful if they keep their minds fixed on the fact that it is highly desirable that children should learn to get along without their families. That child is fortunate whose mother's love has not been so exacting and absorbing that he must constantly turn to his home for sustenance and nourishment, after he is of an age when life's demands make it necessary for him to be footloose. The business man who called at his mother's home every day, for a half hour during which she stroked his head and listened to his troubles, is an extreme example of the maladjustment caused by unwise love and devotion.

Another thing that such mothers must do is to realize that family life today is of necessity a very different thing from the home life which they remember, and unconsciously try to reproduce. Meeting changing family needs in a world so rapidly on the move as the one we live in today means that the older members of the family must be wide awake indeed if they are to make sensible, sane adjustment.

Last, each mother must remember that she is a person, with needs and rights of her own. If she becomes so much engrossed with the pressing affairs of her children and their needs as to forget this, she will be short-sighted. For nothing forms a more solid basis for really enduring family enjoyment than continued flexibility, growth and change, and the mother who becomes overly concerned with making her children happy is unlikely to have much time left for mental stimulation.

TEN LAYER CAKE AT ANNIVERSARY

St. Peter.—A cake ten layers deep, 30 inches high, 18 inches across with gold and white marble cakestuff and frosting was the piece de resistance at the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Davis here recently. It was made by their daughter, Mrs. Jay Beach. Among its ingredients were included 145 eggs, 15 pounds of sugar and two cans cream of tartar.

William Lyon Phelps Presents "Ten Best" Book Lists for 1937

What are the "ten best" fiction and non-fiction books for 1937? William Lyon Phelps, author and long-time professor of literature at Yale University, presents his selections in the Rotarian Magazine for January:

Fiction: Mighty Fortress, by Le Grand Cannon, Jr.; Northwest Passage, by Kenneth Roberts; Emma, by Louis Paul; The Devil and Daniel Webster, by Stephen Vincent Benet; Swords in the Dawn, by John Beaty; Ezekiel, by Elvira Garner; John Cornelius, by Sir Hugh Walpole; Light Woman, by Zona Gale; The Missing Miniature or The Adventures of a Sensitive Butcher, by Erich Kastner; Rumbin Galleries, Booth Tarkington.

Non-Fiction: Look Eleven Years Younger, by Gelett Burgess; Life with Mother, by Clarence Day; Showman, by William A. Brady; Present Indicative, by Noel Coward; Pushkin, by E. J. Simmons; Bulwark of the Republic, by Burton J. Hendrick; The Goncourt Journals, translated and edited by Lewis Galantiere; The Rest of My Life, by Carolyn Wells; Pages From An Oxford Diary, by Paul Elmer More; The Cruise of the Joseph Conrad, by Alan Villiers.

FARMERS MAKE OWN SNOW PLOW

Sleepy Eye.—Two men, farming in the Morgan community, have solved the problem of removing snow drifts from their private driveways and from the highways near their farm by making their own snowplow. They have perfected a rotary snow plow to use on a farm tractor and recently demonstrated the ease with which the machine throws the snow forty or more feet off the road.

Dear Friends,
The close of the year 1937 finds us in the spirit of greatest gratitude. The staunch loyalty of our many friends during the past year causes us to be thankful and appreciative.
It is customary at this time of the year to look ahead to a brighter, happier New Year. But we would be most ungrateful if we didn't look back at 1937 and then express our appreciation to you for your patronage.
We hope that this feeling of friendliness will carry on for years to come, and take this opportunity to extend to you the best wishes of the season. May the New Year bring you health, happiness and prosperity that we would wish to see you enjoy.

WISE NEW YEAR

Another year has run its course. Measured in terms of the life span of an individual, a year is a long period of time. The average individual lives through only about sixty of them and we are getting to the point now where we would just as soon see them slow up a little. These new years are coming at us a little too fast and we are beginning to realize that we haven't so many more of them to look forward to. For this reason we are going to be just a little more cool in our reception of the New Year Friday night than we were on such occasions a decade or two ago. As a matter of fact, our celebration is going to be more in the nature of a farewell party for old 1937. Frankly, in spite of all his faults, we don't like to see the old fellow go.

And now that we have confided a secret regret that another year has passed, perhaps it would be proper, and certainly seasonable, to consider the coming of the new year from a more cheerful standpoint. After all, it means a fresh start. The old mistakes are buried in the past and 1938 brings us an opportunity to start from scratch with a clean sheet to write on again. That in itself certainly justifies a hearty welcome for the new arrival.

The problems 1938 will bring to us will not differ much from those with which we were confronted in 1937. The circumstances may vary a little but, by and large, the details will be about the same. In most instances the new year will bring us a new chance to figure out the right answers to those questions we answered wrong in the years that have passed.

Along this line, as nearly as we can figure it out, most of our own troubles in the past have been due to our own foolishness. If we had acted more wisely we would have had less trouble. This having been true in the past it probably will also be true in the future. In 1938 we will try to act more wisely, knowing that we then will have less trouble. If we act more wisely we are sure we will have better health, greater happiness and more prosperity.

Believing that what is true for us is also true for others, we are going to assume that a large portion of the troubles of all people are due to their own foolishness, and that, therefore, if people were less foolish they would have less trouble and, incidentally, more happiness. And believing this, we are going to make our happy new year wish an indirect wish this year. Instead of wishing that the new year will bring you health, happiness and prosperity, we are going to wish that the new year will bring you greater wisdom.

So that's all we can do for you this year in the line of good wishes, we wish you greater wisdom. To one and all, sincerely we wish it, Wise New Year.

The world is getting along in years and each year brings some contribution to the sum total of human achievement, but there still remain a lot of things to be done. The master minds tell us nothing is really impossible but so far we have had little encouragement to believe that we will live long enough to see them grow a second crop of hair or a third crop of teeth.

What a happy world this world would be if all the wishes for happiness that are exchanged at this season of the year would really come true.

Three cheers for Ole Legvold and his gang for getting all of the old, unsightly line poles off the streets in the business section during the old year. The last of them are going down this week. Which reminds us, incidentally, that there is no more direct current for sale in the city. The changeover to alternating current has been completed. It has been an expensive operation for the city and for a few individual power users but now that it has been done everybody feels good about it.

THEY PREFER THE ICE?
(New York Times)

Four Soviet meteorologists on their drifting ice floe ask to be let alone for some time yet. It was intimated not long ago that the ice raft was beginning to crack up and that planes might be employed to take them off. A radio message now says there are times when the four scientists are a bit nervous, but they prefer to stick it out until they have completed their observations.

Is it cruel to suggest that ever since the purging began in Soviet Russia about a year ago it is much safer for official Russians abroad to stay where they are? The four men on the floe might prefer to take a chance on the ice liquidating under them than on being liquidated in quicker fashion at home. People may ask why anyone should want to liquidate a group of harmless meteorologists and radio operators. But they have just begun to purge the astronomers in Soviet Russia, and a weather man would conceivably be more dangerous than a stargazer. For example, the Soviet ice floe at the present moment may be a couple of degrees of latitude and longitude away from the prescribed location in the official plan, and that would make the navigators guilty of deviation from the party line.

When peaceful picketing degenerated into acts of violence, threats of personal punishment, etc., at Moorhead, city and county officials acted quickly and vigorously to suppress disorder and protect the lives and property of law abiding citizens by throwing offenders into the county jail. In this the authorities were supported by an overwhelming public sentiment as they should be. In other places there has been a sad lack of both sentiment and action, and public interests have materially suffered thereby.—Detroit Lakes Record.

THE POCKETBOOK APPEAL
(Cincinnati Enquirer)

In addition to being dangerous, fast driving is a waste of money. This approach—the pocketbook appeal—to the habitual speeder is being undertaken by a large insurance company in a recently issued booklet, "Are You Paying a Speed Tax?"

Some of the facts created in the booklet may surprise those who never stopped to figure the cost of fast driving; gasoline mileage, for instance, may be halved by excessive speed. "A popular car which can be driven for 20 miles on a gallon of gasoline at 20 miles per hour will use up a gallon in traveling less than 11 miles at a speed of 70 miles per hour. The maintenance of a constant speed of around 25 miles per hour where possible, with the driver timing his speed to conform with the traffic lights to avoid stops, has demonstrated a saving of nearly a third in gasoline costs in city driving.

The booklet also points out that lubricant begins to burn up excessively at speeds beyond 50 miles per hour. Comprehensive tests disclosed that, on an average, a car driven at 55 miles per hour uses nearly seven times as much oil as it does when operated at 30. Greater speeds also impose a sizable "speed tax" upon brakes, tires and the mechanism of a car, the booklet points out.

The moral it suggests is: Stop saving seconds—and losing money!

THE MOONEY CASE
(Long Prairie Leader)

Tom Mooney, who seems to be again in the public eye, was convicted in 1917 of throwing a bomb into a San Francisco preparedness parade. Ten people were killed and more than one hundred injured, some so seriously that they were crippled for life. In the face of the greatest obstacles, the people of San Francisco secured his conviction and he has been in jail since.

Radicals, both in this country and in Europe, have sought to make a martyr out of Mooney and for more than 15 years have staged demonstrations and raised funds in his behalf. It is reliably stated that more than a quarter million dollars have been raised by the "Mooney Defense Fund." One of the most bitter demonstrations was staged in front of the United States Embassy in Leningrad, Russia, a few years ago by Communists who demanded Mooney's release.

His case has been reviewed a number of times by California courts and in response to demand by radical groups has been reviewed by every California governor since 1920. In each case the judgment of the courts and the governors has been that evidence justified the verdict.

In recent years numerous persons connected with the prosecution and conviction, including some of the jurors, have expressed themselves to the effect that the evidence upon which Mooney was convicted was insufficient but it is also stated that fear of assassination prompted some of the statements. It is one of the confusing crime cases of the generation and probably the people of California, who are more familiar with it than others, can handle it.

DRIVING AND ALCOHOL
(Appleton Press)

Twelve husky Detroit truck drivers joined with scientists recently to demonstrate that even the best of drivers can't properly judge traffic conditions when under the influence of alcohol.

The test, made upon the American Automobile association's equipment before and after the drivers had emptied a few cases of beer and enjoyed several rounds of highballs, satisfied scientists and traffic experts that even the most experienced drivers suffer a loss in efficiency of 21 per cent when under the influence.

Nine of the trained drivers, all chosen for outstanding safety records in the operation of commercial vehicles, drank freely throughout the progress of the tests. The other three, cold sober, were the only ones showing a satisfactory record at the conclusion of the experiment.

The truck operators took their first tests at noon. A "drivometer" indicated the drivers' powers of observation and ability to manipulate. A second device tested the reaction time on brakes, accelerator and horn in answer to given stimuli. Other equipment tested muscular control and judgment of distance; a final test showed the amount of alcohol in the subject's system.

Following the first tests, the human "guinea pigs" were allowed to drink varying amounts of alcohol. Final experiments, to demonstrate loss of efficiency due to the drinking, were made early in the evening.

Most obvious failure of the drivers who imbibed was in the judgment of distance, which dropped from 29 per cent to 80 per cent, and showed for the nine drinkers an average slump of 45 per cent. Loss of efficiency in reaction time ranged from 10 to 30 per cent, the drop in observation powers [illegible] to 30 per cent, the efficiency curve in mechanical manipulation lowered from 10 to 20 per cent, and the alertness of the drivers dropped an average of 10 per cent.

"The results were not surprising," said LaVerne Johnson, driver test operator for the A.A.A. "We expected a great loss in efficiency, of course, but these tests provide a dramatic way of putting the facts before the public."

"This is just one little step forward," predicted an officer of the Detroit Safety Council. "Some day in the near future we should have tests that will stand up in court that will determine a driver's fitness to operate a motor vehicle."

The "well tested" truck drivers had little to say upon completion of the experiments. Those who had "given their all" in the interests of science had to be escorted home by friends.

If the experimenters wish to extend their field of investigation, a call for volunteers to be tested would bring a generous response.

ONE DAY IN FIVE
(Minneapolis Journal)

Are you working for yourself today, or for the government? If the report made to the United States Chamber of Commerce is well founded, one dollar in every five of the national income will go next year for national, state or local taxes. The total tax bill is estimated at 13½ billions which is 17,500 million dollars.

The worker on a five day week, at that rate, will be working one day on each week to meet the various tax bills, direct and indirect. Local taxes vary greatly, and are heavier in the cities. Hence in Minneapolis taxes may take considerably more than 20 per cent of income.

What is to be done about it? This 20 per cent rate, the business organization says, is a danger signal. Strange to say, the report cannot see any remedy save economy.

Economy is an oldfashioned word. It always has been regarded as a virtue. Of late, it has been honored too often in the breach, rather than in the observance. The big effort has been to find something more to tax, to raise more spending money by any means, however devious. That taxation may amount to such figures that the law of diminishing returns will apply is beginning to be apparent now, even to the most enthusiastic spenders.

Some thought is being given to revision of the tax structure that will give employers a chance to make jobs. And it is about time.

We Americans can't be bothered now with helping to save other countries. The year 1938 is upon us around a couple of [illegible] for the quadrennial saving of our own country.—Omaha World Herald.

Detroit Lakes Host to 32,303 Resort Visitors

Tourists and vacationers numbering 32,303 visited Detroit Lakes during the 1937 resort season, it was revealed today by Dan Nelson, secretary of the Civic and Commerce association, in an announcement preceding complete annual reports.

This year's total number of visitors has shown an increase of 12 per cent over the 1936 figure when 28,763 tourists were estimated to have spent their outings at lakes in the Detroit Lakes area.

Minnesota led in the number of visitors with 9,579. Other leaders are as follows: Minnesota, [illegible]; North Dakota, [illegible]; Illinois, 1,262; Iowa, 1,250; South Dakota, 973; Wisconsin, 716; Nebraska, 625; Missouri, 417; Saskatchewan, 405; Ontario, 192, and Montana, 146.

Every state in the union was represented in the tourist registration.

It Happened at the Capitol
(Edited by Victor A. Johnston)

The threat of another special session of the legislature came up again this week when Governor Benson stated, "It looks like it might be necessary" to have a special legislative session for appropriation of additional relief money. This session, if it comes, will probably be shortly after the first of February when the governor returns from a thirty day vacation trip in California.

Just how another special session of the legislature will be received in the rural sections remains to be seen, but many observers feel that people in the rural districts are strongly opposed to the additional expense of a special session, not only because of the actual cost of the session itself, but because it is a [illegible] without appropriating more money for one thing or another. Further trouble for [illegible] predicted for the early part of the New Year when Hjalmar Petersen will go on the air to announce his candidacy against Benson for the party's gubernatorial nomination. The slogan of the Petersen campaign, it is said, will be "Oust Benson", and a bitter inter-party fight is anticipated. Activity along this line has already been started with 350 employees of the railroad and warehouse commission having already refused to contribute their "percentages" each month to the Farmer Labor campaign fund." This fund will total several thousand dollars, and it is said will be used for the support of Harold E. Atwood, Petersen's appointee on the commission, who is up for election next year.

Work on Statue of Liberty

The work on the Statue of Liberty was begun in 1874, and in 1876 the hand bearing the torch was completed in Paris, and sent to America, the complete statue being finished in 1883. The task required the aid of 60 men for 10 years. When completed, the various sections were conveyed across the Atlantic in a man-of-war. The erection of the statue was slow and difficult, the sections being hoisted as required by a derrick from a great platform running at [illegible] of the pedestal.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

RESOLUTION

At a regular meeting of the City Council held December 14, 1937, Alderman [illegible] seconded by Alderman Kingbeck introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption.

BE IT RESOLVED, By the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, that,

WHEREAS, The City Council ordered to be constructed on Kendall Avenue, fronting on Lots [illegible] to Forty eight (48) to (84), both inclusive, [illegible] of Red Lake Rapids, a sidewalk, curb, and gutter, and on Taft street, between Kendall Avenue North, and Tindolph Avenue North, certain curbs and gutters, which improvements were ordered to be constructed by resolution duly adopted by the City Council on the 14th day of September, 1937, and,

WHEREAS, Such improvements were not constructed by the owners of the property abutting on said streets and were not fully done and completed within the time and in the manner prescribed by said resolution, and,

WHEREAS, The City Council having duly determined and ordered the said improvements to be fully completed and the work and the entire expense thereof to be paid for out of the general revenue funds of said City, and,

WHEREAS, The said sidewalk, curbs and gutters were duly completed by Albert Larson under contract with the City and the engineer in charge of said improvements having filed with the City Clerk his certificate of the completion of said improvements and having filed a tabulation of the cost of such improvements and the estimated benefit to the several tracts or parcels of land abutting upon said Kendall Avenue and said Taft street where said sidewalks, curbs, and gutters, were constructed.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, That the City Council meets in the Council Room of the City of Thief River Falls, County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of February, 1938, at [illegible] o'clock in the afternoon of said day the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, will hear testimony of all persons interested or affected, and will ascertain the amount of benefits to property fronting said Kendall Avenue and said Taft street as aforesaid and further that the resolution shall be duly [illegible] on or before the 29th day of December [illegible] to the owners of all lots, pieces of land, and parcels of ground fronting the said Kendall Avenue and Taft street as aforesaid and whose names duly appear [illegible] their respective holdings in the said resolution adopted September 14, 1937.

ADVENTUROUS CAT RIDES 2 MILES ON BRAKE RODS

Luverne.—Since an adventurous cat rode two miles on the brake rods of an automobile, F. J. Norton who previously had six cats of his own, now has an extra cat on his hands. The tabby is the heroine of a most unusual cat yarn, attaching herself to the Nortons while they were shopping. Miss May Norton, daughter of F. J. Norton, had parked her car in front of a grocery store. When she returned she heard a faint "meow" but thought nothing of it and drove down the street to pick up her father. He, too, heard the meowing and looked all around the car but could not find the cat. After having driven two miles the Nortons again heard a "meow", but this time so loud and woeful that they stopped to investigate. Crawling under the car, Mr. Norton found the tabby almost frozen riding on the brake rod.

FAMILY BIBLE IN USE 3 CENTURIES

Isle. A massive Norwegian Bible, its pages yellowed by time, is one of the heirlooms cherished by Mrs. Mary Malone, pioneer resident of Isle. It has been handed down from one generation to another, and its leather binding and wooden covers were scuffed and torn from three centuries of use. Mrs. Malone states that the book, then nearly 200 years old, came into the possession of her great grandfather in 1810. In 1855 it was willed to her grandfather, in 1881 her parents received it, and several years ago it passed into her hands. Each successive transfer is indicated on a fly leaf in the book. Printed entirely in Norwegian, the Bible measures 5½x9 inches, and its 1561 pages make it more than five inches thick. It was made in Bergen, Norway. Mrs. Malone also has a Norwegian hymnal that is more than 50 years old.

Model for Scott's "Ivanhoe"

Rebecca Gratz, educator and philanthropist of Philadelphia, who was born in 1781 and died in 1869, was the person on whom Sir Walter Scott modeled his Rebecca in "Ivanhoe." Nevertheless, the two never met. Rebecca Gratz was the companion of Washington Irving's fiancee, Matilda Hoffman, who died before their wedding day. Irving described Rebecca Gratz to Scott while he was a guest of Scott's at Abbotsford in England after Scott told him of his plan for "Ivanhoe." When Scott wrote his novel Irving's description of Rebecca Gratz was used for the beautiful Jewish Rebecca of the novel.

HIGHWAY TRAFFIC VIOLATORS FEWER DURING NOVEMBER

427 Arrests Made During the Month, 163 Less than In October

In November, the highway patrol of the Minnesota highway department made 427 arrests, 163 less than in October, and N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, was inclined to regard the decline, in line with the trend since August, as indicative of a growing traffic law and safety consciousness on the part of users of Minnesota highways.

Commissioner Elsberg was hopeful that the intensive careful and lawful driving campaign being made by the safety division of the highway department and by other agencies is beginning to show results.

During the month of November, according to the highway patrol's report, assistance was given 3,275 motorists and of this number 1,035 of the "good deeds" consisted in making minor adjustments or repairs on vehicles stalled on trunk highways. During the same period, the patrol attended 75 accidents and gave first aid to four motorists.

The report for the month revealed that 6,856 violators had been warned for improper parking, improper lights, driving in the wrong lane, excessive speed and other similar offenses where infringements were not too flagrant.

Illegal equipment tags were handed out to 2,732 drivers who were thus forced immediately to wheel into the nearest garage and adjust the parts of their equipage which endangered other users of the roads. As usual, "dead" rear lights lead the list with 843 "must repair" tags given out for that carelessness.

The 427 arrests during November resulted in $6,140.50 in fines imposed by local governmental units, bringing the total in fines resulting from patrol arrests to $93,812.76 for the year to Dec. 1.

For the month, according to the report, the patrolmen were instrumental in license corrections which placed $4,681.76 in revenue, otherwise lost, in the state treasury. License correction collections totaling $216,928.84 for the year to Dec. 1, have been collected, the report estimates.

Drunken driving arrests by the patrol tied with speeding in third place with 47 each during November. Improper equipment led with 115 arrests being made, while going through "stop" signs sent 51 into the courts.

During the month the patrolmen traveled 373,650 miles in 21,959 hours of duty.

John H. Anderson of Viking Died Dec. 22nd

John H. Anderson, for 31 years a resident of Viking, passed away on Wednesday of last week in a local hospital at the age of 79 years.

Mr. Anderson was born in Sweden on December 16, 1858, coming to America in 1879. He settled on a farm near New Richland, Minn., and lived there until 1906, when he came to Viking to make his home for the rest of his life. He had never married. A brother August of Sweden survives his death.

Funeral rites were held at the Mission church at Viking Tuesday, Rev. J. H. Bowman of Viking officiating, and burial was in the Viking cemetery.

F. W. PECK

Frank W. Peck, who will become president of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul on February 1, when the resignation of Roy A. Nelson becomes effective, will bring to this position a broad acquaintance with cooperatives and the Farm Credit Administration.

From April 1933 to January 1936 he was co-operative bank commissioner supervising the Central Bank for Cooperatives in Washington and the 12 regional banks for cooperatives, including that at St. Paul, which has approved over $19,000,000 in loans to farmers' cooperative associations in the past 4 years.

Mr. Peck goes to the presidency of the land bank directly from the University of Minnesota where he was director of agricultural extension and vice director of the agricultural experiment station. For the past 25 years he has been in close touch with farmers and with farm conditions and is well acquainted throughout the Northwest.

Alden Benteen Osse, 11, Dies in Local Hospital

Alden Benteen Osse, 11-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Osse of Middle River, passed away in a local hospital last Thursday. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon from the Young and Larson funeral home at Middle River, Rev. V. T. Bjorklund of this city officiating, and interment was made in the Thief Lake cemetery. The boy was born April 10, 1926 at Buchanan, N. D. He is survived by his parents, two brothers Thomas and Levi and one sister Hazel, all living at home; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor of Middle River; 7 uncles and 6 aunts.

Karlstad State Bank Opens Doors Last Week

The former State Bank of Strandquist last week was transferred to Karlstad, where it opened its doors as the Karlstad State bank. A thoroughly modern building to accommodate the new institution, designed by Knute A. Henning, local architect, is now completed except for finishing touches on the interior.

UNIVERSITY MEN DEDICATE NEW BUSINESS UNIT

Named Vincent Hall in Honor of Former President of "Minnesota U"

Named "Vincent Hall," after former president George E. Vincent, the new social science building under construction at the University of Minnesota was dedicated by the board of regents and administrative officers recently.

The new building, for which funds were provided by the Legislature, will house the school of business administration as its principal unit. It was named after Minnesota's third president who served from 1911 to 1917, and who was, incidentally, the only past president for which a campus building had not been named. Dr. Vincent also was chiefly interested in the social sciences, making them a life study.

Preceding the cornerstone ceremony, Regent Fred B. Snyder paid tribute to the 135 regents who have administered the institution since its beginning and to the various legislatures and governors who have helped make possible the University's progress.

"While it is true the University is only a part of the State," said regent Snyder, "it is a most important part. It is sometimes called the arm of the State. It is more than that. To me it seems to be the very heart of the State through which flows the life stream of ennobled understanding, in order that youth may be instructed, the truth in all things found out, and the welfare of the people safeguarded."

Brother of S. Brandvold Dies at Wallace, Idaho

Adolph Brandvold, brother of Samuel Brandvold of this city and a former resident of Rocksbury township, passed away December 19 at Wallace, Idaho. Funeral rites were conducted December 22 at Wallace.

Mr. Brandvold was born in 1885 in Calumet, Mich. He came to Rocksbury in 1889 and lived on a farm there until 1908 after which he farmed in Montana until 1917. In that year he went to Idaho where he was employed in the silver mines. He was 52 years of age at the time of his death. He had never married.

Surviving relatives are his four sisters, Mrs. Jens Nelson of Tacoma, Wash., Mrs. Fred Soderberg of St. Hilaire, Mrs. Peter Becker of Pemidji, and Philip Becker of Bemidji; and two brothers John R. of Homer, Alaska and Samuel of this city.

Man Pays $35 Penalty for Reckless Driving

After narrowly escaping collisions with several vehicles on East Second st. last Thursday, Carl T. Olson of the Gatzke community was taken into custody by the police. Brought before Judge Lincoln Arnold in municipal court Friday on a charge of reckless driving, he paid a fine of $35.

Miller to Replace Peck as Chief of Extension

Resignation of F. W. Peck as director of the Minnesota agricultural extension service and vice director of the Experiment Station, and the appointment of P. E. Miller, superintendent of the West Central School and Experiment Station, Morris, as his successor in the extension post, brings minor changes in University of Minnesota personnel. Director Peck will leave his University post February 1, 1938, to become president of the St. Paul Federal Land Bank. He will succeed Roy A. Nelson, president since 1933, who resigned. The St. Paul bank is in the seventh Federal Land Bank district, which includes the states of Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota. When Director Peck leaves his present post, an association of [illegible] years with the University will be culminated.

State Democrats to Dine in St. Paul January 8th

Hundreds of Minnesota Democrats will gather in Saint Paul January 8, for the Jackson Day dinner, and hear over a coast to coast network the voice of President Roosevelt, speaking from the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, D. C. The dinner in Saint Paul will be addressed by Congressman Maury Maverick, colorful representative from Texas, and nationally prominent Democratic spokesman.

The mother instinct came out in eight year old Betty Jane Provance as she attended the Minneapolis Salvation Army Christmas party this week. She found herself among the thousands of toys distributed to more than 3000 of the city's under privileged children, and had an eye for nothing but the dolls.

Rites Friday for Mrs. Carrie Stengelsen, New Solum Township Pioneer

Funeral rites will be conducted at 2 p. m. Friday for Mrs. Carrie Stengelsen, pioneer resident of New Solum township, who passed away Tuesday at her home. Rev. E. L. Tungseth will officiate at the services which will be held from the Rindal church, and burial will be in the Rindal church cemetery.

Mrs. Stengelsen was born in Hol, Hallingdal, Norway, on March 20, 1865, being at the time of her death 72 years of age. She emigrated to the United States at the age of 16 years and made her home at Stoughton, Wis., for about a year. She then moved to Calumet, Mich., where she was married to Peter Stengelsen on April 15, 1887. Two years later, in 1889, she and her husband moved to their present home in New Solum township, where Mrs. Stengelsen spent the remaining 48 years of her life.

She is survived by her husband, four sons Edwin of Detroit, Mich., Lawrence of Duluth, Henry of Memphis, Tenn., and Albert of Chicago; two daughters, Anna residing at home and Mrs. Everet Evans (Laura Stengelsen) of Angus; 8 grandchildren, 2 great-grandchildren; two brothers, Erling Loverud of Stoughton, Wis., and Louis Loverud of Fairfax. Preceding her in death were a daughter, Mrs. Peter Sporsvold and two children who died in infancy.

Evangelist Discusses the History of Iceland

"Iceland is not a land covered with eternal ice and snow as the name seems to indicate. It is a land with a grand nature. A Swedish Viking residing in Norway heard of that country, fitted out his ship and sailed for Iceland. He was the first one to determine that it was an island. The country was then named after [illegible] Island. The next visit was made by Norwegians who spent a winter on the west coast of Iceland. From a mountain the captain saw one day the ice floes drifting down toward the shores and they named the country "Iceland" which name it has retained ever since." So stated Evangelist Gudbrandson in his lecture on Iceland last Sunday night in the former Methodist church. The speaker told many interesting experiences from his travels and sojourn in Iceland. The next Sunday night program is announced on the church page of this issue.

East Grand Forks Beet Sugar Factory to Cease Operations January 5th

Manufacture of sugar will be finished about January 5 at the East Grand Forks factory of the American Crystal Sugar Co.

When the plant closes, it will have completed handling the largest beet crop ever harvested in the Red River valley, after one of the factory's longest manufacturing runs.

Meanwhile, plans have been made for the start of another season, with field men called by J. B. Bingham, area manager, to meet January 3 at the East Side factory to arrange for signing farmers to 1938 beet contracts. Signups will start shortly afterward.

A high daily beet slicing average has been maintained much of the time since the plant opened September 17. Until recently, the slicing averaged better than 1,900 tons a day, falling off slightly later because of frost in the beets piled in the factory yard.

From an acreage of about 25,000 valley growers harvested more than 250,000 tons of beets, with upwards of 200,000 tons handled at the East Side plant.

Approximately 500 men have been employed at the factory during the manufacturing season to handle the cargo of thousands of railroad cars and beet trucks that dumped loads in the factory yard following the harvest.

Soo Receipts for Eleven Months Ahead of 1936

Total November revenues for the Soo Line railway were less than the same month last year, but the total for the first 11 months of 1937 was ahead of 1936, said A. E. Hancock, comptroller, in Minneapolis. Revenue totaled $13,912,749.9 for the 11 months to November 30, 1937, compared with $13,061,098.20 for the 11 months in 1936.

TRAFFIC MANAGER ON SOO APPOINTED TO G. N. POSITION

Frank R. Newman Resigns as Vice President of the Soo Line

Appointment of Frank R. Newman of Minneapolis as traffic vice president of the Great Northern railway was announced today by W. P. Kenney, president. The appointment is effective January 1. Mr. Newman, who leaves the traffic vice presidency of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie railway, succeeds Harry H. Brown of St. Paul, whose recent retirement was necessitated by illness.

Mr. Newman was born in Evanston, Ill. He is 54 years old, and was educated in Evanston public schools and in Northwestern University. He began his railway career in 1905 with the Wabash road, and became a traveling freight agent for the Michigan Central from 1906 to 1915. He later was advanced to assistant commercial agent in Chicago. After a year as chief clerk to the traffic manager, Mr. Newman was promoted to assistant general freight agent in Buffalo in 1918. In 1920 he went to Detroit in the same capacity.

In 1922 he became general traffic manager of the Soo Line in Minneapolis, and three years later was appointed vice president in charge of traffic. Mr. Newman lives in Minneapolis.

CAN'T BELIEVE HIS OWN EYES

Red Wing.—Even though Bert Sylvander and Wally Boije have the evidence to prove their fish story in any court of the land one old gentleman, after silently looking at the exhibition for 15 minutes, said "I don't believe it." The specimen, a great northern pike tipping the scales at 24 pounds and two ounces and measuring 43 inches in length was caught recently by the two fishermen at Clear lake. This young whale is one of several record size northerners taken from the lake, "exceeding" by approximately two pounds the 22-pound monster speared a few years ago. Both Sylvander and Boije sank their spears into the 24-pounder as it swam into sight. Their combined efforts were required to bring it onto the ice.

FIRST JOB LAW BENEFITS WEEK BEGINS JAN. 17

Unemployed Workers Must First Fulfil Waiting Period

The week of Jan. 17 to 24, 1938, will be the first for which a benefit check can be issued to an unemployed worker under the Minnesota unemployment compensation law.

The week, which will be the third in 1938, will be the first possible week of compensable unemployment. The first two weeks of any worker's unemployment during 1938 constitute a waiting period which the law requires of unemployed workers claiming benefits. No benefits are possible under the law for the waiting period weeks.

This was pointed out by Frank T. Starkey, industrial commissioner in charge of the unemployment compensation division, which now is completing arrangements for the handling of benefit claims. Both registration of unemployed workers and filing of claims will be handled in Minnesota state employment service offices to be open in 39 cities and towns throughout the state by Jan. 3.

Commissioner Starkey emphasized that no unemployment during 1937 can be used to fulfill the waiting period. Two full weeks of unemployment must be completed during 1938 to meet the waiting period requirement. Benefit checks then will be paid to eligible unemployed workers at the end of the third week, with the third week being the first for which benefits will be payable.

The commissioner stressed that necessary office procedure will make it impossible for eligible unemployed workers to receive benefit checks immediately upon the conclusion of benefit weeks. Time must be allowed for issuance and mailing of checks, which will be sent directly to the homes of workers.

Unemployed workers were urged by Commissioner Starkey to register and file claims promptly, going to the state employment office nearest to their homes. For information concerning the law or locations of employment offices, workers are asked to inquire of the unemployment compensation division, Shubert building, St. Paul.

75% OF DOCTORS
DIE FROM EXHAUSTION
The average Doctor is a good example of what his patients shouldn't do, in the way of burning up energy faster than it can be replaced by nature.
Directly, or indirectly, in the case of 75% of the Doctors who die each year, plain exhaustion is the cause. Depletion from over-work, worry and lack of rest induces heart trouble, kidney disorders, acute gastric conditions.
The physical and mental demand on a Doctor with a busy practice, would appall the average business man. He simply would not be able to understand why the Doctor does not systematize his practice better and insure himself a more healthfully rounded out routine.
However, the patient can often help, by being on time to appointments, telephoning only when necessary, calling at night only in cases of emergency—and co-operating with the Doctor's treatment.
Usually when it is necessary for you to wait on a Doctor, someone has been late to an appointment, or some unexpected emergency has arisen.

400 Students at N. W. School Participate in Interclass Song Event

In what was considered the best interclass song contest held at the Northwest School in twenty-one years of competition, the advanced class under the baton of Verne Dahlgren, Kennedy, won first place in a very close contest on Saturday evening, December 18. The senior class, under the direction of Robert Nelson, of Fergus Falls, won second place, followed in order by the freshmen and junior classes.

The interclass song contest at the Northwest School is unique in that the entire class participates and every student in the four organized classes gets the benefits of faculty instruction and the two or more weeks of intensive practice involved in the preparation for the contest. Four hundred students participated in the event.

Sponsored by the Northwest School's music department, consisting of Miss Elvira Bierhauer, Miss Marion Nelson, and Miss Grace Warne, the contest is intended to give every student enrolled an opportunity to take part. Each class selected a student director and student accompanist.

Miss Grace Warne, of the music staff, presided at the contest and announced the placings.

Judges were members of the Northwest School staff not serving as class advisers and not in the music department. The class winning first place in the contest was awarded the C. G. Selvig contest trophy, which was awarded for the first time in 1925. Senior classes in the past have captured first place in the contest ten times, the Advanced have won eight times, and the Juniors took first place twice. In the 1936 contest, the Advanced class took first place.

Physicians Point out 3 Encouraging Facts as to Cancer Status

There are cheerful aspects to the cancer problem. These are the aspects that members of the committee on public health education of the Minnesota State Medical association emphasize in their bulletin on the subject today.

The first is that cancer is the only degenerative disease of middle life and old age that can be cured. Diseases of the heart and circulatory system can be controlled, but they are never really cured. If a cancerous growth is discovered early, before it grows to such a size that it is impossible to remove it successfully and before any malignant cells from the growth have escaped through the blood stream to set up new growths in other parts of the body, it can be completely and permanently cured.

Reliable figures show that approximately 50 per cent of all cancers can be cured if they are removed in time or properly treated by X rays and radium.

The second is that cancer does not, as a general rule, develop suddenly in previously normal tissue. Nearly always it develops slowly in tissues that are already affected by inflammation and disease. Many cancers can be avoided altogether by avoidance of unclean, inflamed or diseased conditions on the surface and in the internal organs of the body.

The third fact cited in the bulletin is that cancer cannot be transferred from one person to another. It is in no wise "catching."

Highway Department Confirms T. H. 59 Job

Season's Greetings
An Open Letter to THE J. C. PENNEY COMPANY
and Mr. H. E. Nelson, Manager
An Open, Heartfelt and Unanimous Expression of Appreciation from Penney Employees of Thief River Falls!
GENTLEMEN:
We [illegible] recall what a happy lot we were twelve months ago when the J. C. Penney Co. declared substantial Christmas Bonuses for all its employees and trust us we have never since forgotten!
Now, in the midst of the holiday season, and while [illegible] have permitted ourselves to expect it [illegible] CHRISTMAS BONUS on Dec. 24th, 1937.
We want you to know how keenly we feel the distinction we enjoy in being affiliated with so great an organization in which [illegible] heart beats.
Realizing that the real test of our appreciation for this FAIR TREATMENT can best be made by the improved services we can render to the J. C. Penney Co. and its hundreds of Thief River Falls and surrounding community customer-friends in the future [illegible] We here PLEDGE that WE SHALL DO OUR VERY BEST!
Because we feel this responsibility so keenly, we wish to say so publicly. Therefore, without your knowledge or consent, we've written and published this open letter. It expresses what we feel in our hearts—The affection and cordial good will on our part toward you, The J. C. Penney Company.
Heartiest Season's Greetings and Thank You!

Happy NEW YEAR
We wouldn't attempt to forecast the new year . . . except in this respect: you can depend on Lieberman's during 1938 just as you have in the past! That, and Happy New Year, is what we wanted to say on New Year's Day.
LIEBERMAN'S

HAPPY NEW YEAR 1938
SEASON'S GREETINGS
As another year draws to a close we are reminded once again of the many favors we have received not only during the past twelve months but during the entire forty-nine years of our business in Thief River Falls.
Our appreciation is sincere, and our warmest thanks go out to the people of the community in which we have prospered. We are especially grateful for the kind consideration that was extended to us following the fire which destroyed our building and forced the only interruption in the service of our store during forty-nine years. The increased patronage we have enjoyed since entering our new building has proven to us that the community as a whole really wanted this pioneer store to resume business. Of course, this has been a source of great satisfaction to us.
Equally sincere is our wish that each of you will receive full measure of the joy of the season and the happiness and prosperity of the New Year.

THE YEAR Old and New

By Philander Johnson
in the Washington Star

HAPPY NEW YEAR comes to view.
I'll say "Happy Old Year!" too.
Since a share of happiness
Lies in memories we possess.

Old year, we cannot forget
Duties that were bravely met,
Nor the courage that was taught
When the hours with doubt were fraught.

Old year, 'mid the shades of guile
You have offered many a smile,
Like the sunshine, clear and warm,
That must conquer every storm.

Be the future what it may,
Pioneers have shown the way.
Happy New Year comes to view—
I'll say "Happy Old Year!" too.

Annie's Christmas Bonus Was for One Good Idea

CHRISTMAS bonuses were always given in accordance to the value of suggestions written out and finally accepted at the offices of John Stone and company, and Lee Anne Foster wondered, disgustedly, why she had thought of such suggestions after other girls had already thought them up or why she couldn't think up something unusual enough to earn her special attention with the firm. There were only five more days until the yearly list of bonus recipients would be announced.

That evening, back in her own room, seated at her desk, she sat staring at the wall. She fidgeted with her pencil, almost praying for inspiration—what could she suggest to be done in the office or in the business that would increase either efficiency or business? Her eyes were staring straight into a huge pot of four-leaf clovers that she had brought back from the country when she had visited her parents on the farm during last vacation.

"The Four Leaf Clover Line"—why—why not? She jotted down the idea as it all came tumbling through her mind—in the manufacturing end of the business, create a breakfast nook or kitchen line all with four leaf clover motif, giving a cook book with its cover simply plastered with actual four leaf clovers, shellacked—a line especially to attract the newly wed trade. "Why, I could furnish the four leaf clovers for the first few books and maybe Mr. Stone would put a four leaf clover under the seal of that new style wedding certificate he gives free to each bridal pair of customers—who knows!"

Lucky for Stone and company but just as lucky for Lee Anne, for as the Christmas day bonus for her suggestion was handed to her, she also received the first such contract ever known—for all the four-leaf clovers she could grow within the next year.—Luella B. Lyons

Unwrapping Christmas Annual Family Program

YULETIDE has come around again and it is time to take Christmas from its year-long wrappings.

At our house we have a wardrobe trunk in one of whose drawers repose all year the Christmas tree ornaments, some table decorations, napkins and favors left from the children's party, bright papers and ribbons salvaged from the last-minute rush to wrap and mail or [illegible] from Aunt Louise's gift package, which is always an odd [illegible]

Through Easter, Fourth of July, Halloween, Thanksgiving, they have lain forlorn and unwanted, these remnants of Christmas. But now we open the drawer with as lively excitement as if we had never seen its contents. "Mother, did you know we still had the big silver star?" "Were there enough icicles to trim the whole tree?" "Where did these bluebird ornaments come from?"

The light circuit doesn't work—and sister, who has just come from her schoolroom, must dash downtown before the stores close for new bulbs. Then everybody hangs over big brother's shoulder while he patiently determines which of the old bulbs have faded. When the whole set flashes on we all feel like Thomas Edison discovering the marvels of light.

There are even a few unused Christmas cards for a starter on the big list. The baby finds a tin horn, and the hilarious fun that will carry on until Christmas morning has begun. Somewhere in this jumble of familiar things we have unwrapped Christmas. And the best Christmas present of all is Christmas itself!—Frances Grinstead

MAN LOST 23 YEARS NOW DEAD IN CRASH

Litchfield.—It was 23 years ago that Mrs. Swan Nelson's youngest brother, Charles Wilson, 49, was last heard of by any member of his family. Last week Mrs. Nelson received notice that her brother had been killed October 21 in an auto accident near Littlefield, Texas. An attorney, in search of birth and parental data, had inquired by mail at Howard Lake, the family's home when Wilson disappeared. Piecing together the story of the man most of his folks thought dead, they discovered that, upon leaving his wife and children in Los Angeles 23 years ago, he had married again. After the auto crash, Wilson's second wife, who was not seriously injured, had returned to her Arizona home.

St. Paul Winter Carnival Will Feature Ice Palace

Gayety and merriment will reign supreme in Saint Paul during the period January 29 through February 6 when the 1938 Saint Paul Winter Carnival will be presented. Hundreds of thousands of persons from throughout the state, the northwest and the nation are expected to join in activities. Features of the carnival will include a gigantic ice palace, a mammoth parade, national sports events, skating, skiing, tobogganing, fireworks displays, and the world's greatest ice show. The grand parade this year will be presented on the opening day, January 29, at 2 P. M.

Christmas Is Birthday of the Prince of Peace

THE sound of a children's quarrel broke the Christmas afternoon quiet. Mrs. Steele put aside the bits of tissue and ribbon she had been collecting, and called her three sons to her.

"Boys!" she said. "I have one more Christmas gift for you!" They gathered around her in excited anticipation. "It was the very first gift mentioned when the Christ Child was born—"

"Gold, mother?" asked the eldest eagerly.

"No, Franklin. Something far more precious. Peace. 'Peace on earth,' remember? Good will is seldom forgotten at Christmas but peace has often is."

"But how can you give us peace?" cried the second in disappointment.

"I can't be sure so. No person alone can guarantee peace, but everyone can help. Right now I can show three boys how foolish it is to quarrel."

"How, Mother?"

"Franklin, you are stronger than your brothers. You could take their toys. But suppose then they join together to take yours? In the end all the toys will be broken, and you will have quarreled for nothing."

"But suppose they take mine first?"

"Wouldn't it be better to agree to all play together and all enjoy them than to fight?"

"Is that the way with nations, too?"

"Exactly. Wars leave everyone worse off than before."

"[illegible] don't people want peace [illegible]?"

"[illegible] When everyone [illegible] peace does [illegible] Christmas will really mean the birthday of the Prince of Peace. [illegible] 'Peace on earth good will [illegible].'"—Helen Waterman.

A Nice Christmas Gift, Thought Happy Marilyn

ALTHOUGH he lived across the hall, their acquaintance had been only a bowing one until he had reminded her that morning in the elevator there were only three days more until Christmas. A welcome announcement for any employee in Baxter's store, she thought.

She hadn't known his name until his sister spoke to Marilyn March just as she was putting her key into her door that evening. Mrs. Hunt, Wade Kendall's sister, as she introduced herself, was having difficulty with some decorations. Would Marilyn help her? Marilyn did, in spite of preferring to rest after her day's work at Baxter's. Wade came while they were working with the decorations, and the conversation turned to what plans each had for Christmas day. Mrs. Hunt would be with the Kendalls for the family reunion. Wade would not be though because business prevented. Marilyn had no place, so Wade suggested they spend the day together.

Christmas day, Wade learned that Marilyn had been forced to give up her music instruction and was employed otherwise. He had guessed that he said. The music he used to hear her carry, he noticed the silver bells in her now. Too, he had seen her in Baxter's and he had told his sister that anyone who could rise above disappointment and keep as cheerful and friendly as Marilyn was doing was a [illegible] worth knowing.

That was the best gift she had received. She told him. She hoped to be an inspiration always. His eyes and lips told her she would.—Winnie Tanzer Dilla.

FATHER AND SON DIE IN ONE DAY

Grand Rapids.—Two deaths in the same family occurred in the space of a day when Michael Butts, 78, died on December 12, and a son, James Pearley Butts, 55, died on December 11. Both the men had made their home south of Warba. The older Butts died of old age and complications and the son of a combination of ailments with which he had suffered for several years. Both lived at the same place, the younger man's wife having died some years ago. Funeral services were held on the same day from the school at Warba.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Governor Benson has asked the University board of regents to right a war-time wrong by vindicating Professor William A. Schaper, former head of the department of political science, now connected with the University of Oklahoma. The Governor asks that action of the former board dismissing Professor Schaper during the period of war-time hysteria be rescinded and that Professor Schaper be invited to return to the university. Formal action by the regents will be taken at their next meeting in January.

It is now twenty years since Professor Schaper, one of the outstanding men in the country in the field of political science, was called, without warning, before the University board of regents and there confronted with the charge that he was pro-German and disloyal. Lawyers skilled in the law subjected this honorable professor to a severe grueling; did not give him the opportunity to obtain counsel, which is accorded a common criminal; failed to confront him with his accusers and decided, because they "did not like his attitude," to dismiss him in disgrace from the university and to ruin an already brilliant career.

Professor Schaper, it appears (and this he freely admitted to the regents), had opposed the entrance of the United States into the world war. As Governor Benson points out, he had a right to that opinion, and many good Americans today believe that he was correct in that point of view. But Professor Schaper was always loyal to his country, told his students "to comply with the law" after war was declared, and went about his tasks as any other good American.

Joining the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission in presenting evidence against a further increase in freight rates on agricultural commodities is the North Dakota commission. The action was agreed on at a joint conference between the states, at which it was decided to ask Montana to join.

"It is my opinion," Commissioner Harold Atwood declared, "that since the interests of North Dakota, Montana, and Minnesota are identical, our position will be greatly strengthened by consolidating our efforts." The argument will be presented before the I. C. C. in January.

Typical of the campaign now being waged by Twin City daily newspapers to hurt the cause of labor and the liberal political movement was the story last week that two Minneapolis firms are planning to move their plants to Illinois to avoid "labor costs" and taxes. The tale was promptly and vigorously branded untrue by the officials of the two concerns themselves.

Not only did the daily press stories deliberately distort the reasons for the removals, but actual figures and necessary data was incorrectly given in order to make the story sound more sensational. The president of one firm declared: "Labor costs have absolutely nothing to do with our expanding operations in Illinois. As a matter of fact, union labor scales in our industry are higher in Illinois than in Minnesota. Our plant has already been sub-leased by another firm which I understand will maintain the same production which we are now transferring to Chicago."

Northern Minnesota farmers had something to be thankful for this Christmas, after the state executive council appropriated $50,000 for flood relief for needy farmers in Pennington, Marshall, Lake of the Woods, Beltrami, Itasca, and Roseau counties.

Following an investigation authorized by Governor Benson into the extent of damage incurred by heavy rains last August, the relief was extended from a special "calamity" fund. Commissioner of Agriculture Charles Ommodt has appointed Walter Johnson of New York Mills, a dairy farmer, to take active charge of distribution.

"Our purpose is to save foundation herds of dairy farmers," said Benson. "It will be cheaper for the state to save these herds than to make permanent relief clients out of farmers."

PARISHIONERS GIVE PASTOR A NEW AUTO

Benson.—Several hundred persons from the four churches served by the Rev. H. E. Jorgensen gathering at a local church presented the scene of a happy birthday party when they extended felicitations and gave him a 1938 deluxe sedan. The gift and the party came as a complete surprise to Mr. Jorgenson. Perfect secrecy covered the plans and not until a few minutes before he was ushered into the church for the program was the pastor aware of what was taking place. Two of his parishioners took him for a ride in the new car, one of the men assuming the attitude of a salesman trying to sell a car. The real purpose of the ride was suspected by Mr. Jorgensen only when the three arrived at the church, the scene of the evening's festivities. The pastor, deeply moved by the good will manifested toward him and his family by the parishioners, expressed his gratitude in an appropriate talk during the course of a program which was presented.

NINE GEESE TIP SCALES AT 145

Breckenridge.—When the price of corn dropped Wenzel Tehle, prominent farmer of the Brushvale community, began to feed his corn to his geese. Last week he sold nine of the birds which after having been dressed had a total weight of 145 pounds. This makes an average of 16 pounds per bird, but one of the geese weighed 24 pounds.

"Happy Holm" SAYS:

"I SEE YOU'VE got here: 'I resolve I will not make life miserable for my family by cussing at the furnace any more'. And you're right—it isn't necessary. Just call Central Lumber Company, and get coal that doesn't let the fire go out—doesn't smoke up the house, or choke the furnace with ashes, or cost you a lot of money. Turn over a new leaf by ordering 'Central' coal today!"

CONGRESS GETS F. R. MESSAGE OPENS SESSION

Favorable Reaction Noted to Opening Address of President

SEE END OF SESSION NOT LATER THAN MAY

Roosevelt Predicts Further Decrease in Budget Shortage

Leaders in both houses gave evidence of a determination to get down to work in earnest Monday after President Roosevelt had delivered his message to congress.

There were optimistic predictions of a comparatively short and productive session.

Democratic leaders praised the President's message, but some Democratic critics of the administration and some Republican spokesmen were cool toward it.

Senate Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky praised it while Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, called it "pleasingly conciliatory in comparison with some of the recent utterances by some administration officials."

Senator Nye, Republican, of North Dakota, said it "would have been better if there had been some specific recommendation for a way to help us get away from the direct WPA dole."

House Minority Leader Snell said the message was "more conciliatory than I expected," while Representative Taber, Republican, of New York, asserted, "The President seems to be bound to make the depression complete."

Barkley said prospects for enactment of Mr. Roosevelt's program were "bright." He predicted the senate would dispose of the controversial antilynching bill in a week. It is ticketed for consideration January 6.

Barkley, Vice President Garner, Speaker Bankhead and House Leader Rayburn had called at the White House before noon to go over his message with Mr. Roosevelt.

Bankhead told newsmen he hoped congress would complete its work by April 15. Barkley predicted adjournment by May.

President Roosevelt in his message to congress Monday:

Noted a troubled and tense world situation which he said made it necessary that the nation be "adequately strong in self-defense."

Reported that the budget which would be submitted this week for the next fiscal year would not show a balance between income and outgo but would reveal "a further decrease in the deficit."

Called for wage and hour legislation as "a problem which is definitely before this congress for action."

Expressed the hope that conference committees working out a crop control bill would confine the cost to what is now being paid for that purpose—$500,000,000 annually.

And, proffered advice on the writing of a tax bill: No decrease in the total revenues to be collected, a watchfulness against opportunities for tax evasion, and a "change" in provisions which have been "proven to work a definite hardship."

PROWLERS FACE HARD BATTLE AT WARREN FRIDAY

To Compete With Strongest Contenders for Honors in District

The Lincoln high school basketball team will journey to Warren Friday evening to meet its most formidable district foe, Coach Lysaker's surprising Pony quint. Coach George Lee's Prowlers have due respect for the fact that Warren has had in the past a high percentage of wins when playing on its own floor.

The fast Warren five has a trio of veterans as the spearhead of its attack, including Freeman Hauge, a high scoring center who came to Warren from Northwood, N. D.; Bob Wilson; and Reuben Carlson, who was very effective against the Prowlers last year.

The Prowlers will be at full strength, and the usual starting combination of Lorentson, C. Mickelson, Caldis, Lee and Haugthom is expected to be on duty at the opening of the game. The Warren and Prowler reserves will compete in a preliminary game.

Flood Victims Seek Removal of Willard

A widely attended meeting at Grygla Monday of the Eastern Marshall County Protective league seeking relief from the situation that caused disastrous floods in that area last summer, adopted a series of resolutions, one of them embracing a demand for the removal from office of E. V. Willard, chief engineer of the state department of conservation.

"Dams constructed in this area under his administration," the resolution reads, "indicate gross incompetency, since the practice of putting in dams without consent and consideration of the people affected, is contrary to the spirit and principles of democracy; and the putting in of the dam at the west end of Thief lake without controls as specified by judicial decree, establishes incompetency."

A second resolution objects strongly to the dams constructed in Judicial Ditch 11 and its laterals, comprising a total length of 429 miles, by the game and fish department, the fire prevention department and the farm security administration. It charges that the dams prevent the natural flow of flood waters and cause them to spread over large areas of productive lands.

The resolution demands an unimpeded outlet for flood waters around Mud lake; the removal without delay of all dams constructed in the system by the conservation department; and that the dams be not rebuilt until adequate provision has been made for carrying off flood waters.

In a third resolution the league demands that controls be placed in the dam at the west end of Thief lake in accordance with the district court decree establishing the dam; that the dam be lowered at least three feet to relieve damage by water; that the Haroldson dam at the east end of Thief lake be completely removed; and that all dams in Judicial Ditch 21 and its laterals be removed on the ground that they destroy, in whole or in part, the effectiveness of the drainage system.

The resolutions are signed by A. C. McMillin, president of the league, and Ole J. Eastby, secretary.

Thie[illegible] Falls Wins 2d Pla[illegible] Division on Traffic [illegible] Record

The city of Thief [illegible] second place in 1937 in state-wide traffic safety contest sponsored by the Minnesota public safety committee, Police Chief A. B. Stenberg was informed this week. This city is included in the classification of towns with a population of from 3,000 to 5,000, St. Peter winning first place in the division. There were no deaths or serious injuries from traffic mishaps in Thief River Falls during the year, giving the community a clean slate. Last year the city ranked fourth.

ZION LUTHERAN CHURCH CONDUCTS ANNUAL MEETING

Reports Submitted Showing Highly Successful Past Year

The Zion Lutheran church congregation of this city held its annual meeting Monday evening, Rev. E. L. Tungseth, pastor, presiding. From the reports of the pastor and other officers, it appeared that the church had enjoyed a successful year in 1937. A large number of new members were received, and after all current expenses had been taken care of funds were available for application on indebtedness.

Officers elected include E. O. Iverson, secretary; Oscar Vigness, E. O. Iverson and Alfred Haugen, trustees; Mrs. Otto Parbst and Oscar Ostmoe, deacons; Mrs. Minnie Kirby, Sunday school superintendent; William Gilbertson, vice superintendent; Miss Helen Newbury, organist; S. Bergland, H. Grindeland, Clifford Vigness and Oscar Vignes, ushers; and H. M. Grendahl, T. J. Reierson and Oscar Vignes, Boy Scout committee.

Preliminary plans were made for entertaining the annual conference of the Lutheran Free church which will be held in Thief River Falls the second week in June and which is expected to attract 500 or more delegates.

Reverend Tungseth was given a month's leave of absence beginning the middle of this month. He will submit to a minor operation, and then, after a rest period, will make a trip to the west coast. He has served the congregation uninterruptedly since August, 1926, as well as the First Lutheran church of Goodridge, Rindal Lutheran church, Rosewood; and the Norden Lutheran church.

Farm Bureau Directors Select Officers Today

The board of directors of the Pennington county farm bureau association will meet in Thief River Falls today for the purpose of electing officers of the organization for the coming year. Official delegates to the annual state meeting in St. Paul January 18 to 20 will also be selected. The new board of directors are: S. E. Hunt, E. H. Pomerenke, Clarence Peterson, Hans Solberg, W. E. McCrum, Patrick Culkins, Mrs. Owen Weckwerth, Lloyd Johnson and Emil Larson.

Crew of WPA Workers Busy on Fair Grounds

A crew of WPA workers is engaged this week in digging a drainage ditch on the fair grounds west from the livestock buildings to the big ditch at the west end of the property. Other workers are repairing the floor in the agricultural building and installing a new roof on the structure.

$108,315 Expended by WPA in Pennington Co.

Pennington county's participation in total WPA expenditures in the state has been $108,315, not including sponsor contributions, it was stated this week by the office of Victor Christgau, state administration. Total expenditures in District No. 7, of which this county is a part, were $5,410,658, according to the Detroit Lakes office of J. H. Kovarik, district director.

SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSETS INCREASE $75,216.60 IN '37

Dividend of 3½ Per Cent Is Paid to Shareholders at Year-End

Resources of the First Federal Savings and Loan association of Thief River Falls increased from $114,666.42 on December 31, 1936, to $189,883.02 at the end of 1937, an increase of $75,216.60, it is revealed in a statement issued this week by Stanton R. Dahlen, secretary-treasurer.

First mortgage loans in effect at the end of the year aggregated $177,479.87, and loans made during the past year aggregated $96,201, while dividends paid during the year amounted to $1,637.69. A dividend of three and one half per cent was paid to shareholders at the end of the year.

The shareholders' interest in the institution at the end of the year totaled $156,589.83, while advances from the federal home loan bank system amounted to $20,000.

Officers of the association include Paul A. Lundgren, president and counsel; Dr. O. F. Mellby, vice president; Mr. Dahlen, secretary-treasurer; and A. E. Mattson and W. W. Prichard, directors. The annual meeting will be held Wednesday, January 19.

Alex Campbell's Office Busy Issuing Licenses

The new year opened with brisk business for Alex Campbell, deputy registrar of motor vehicles in this city, who on Monday, the first business day of 1938, issued 70 sets of license plates, the first set going to Ed. Singer of Goodridge. The deadline for obtaining plates without the imposition of a penalty is February 15.

JUNIOR CHAMBER WILL CONVENE THIS EVENING

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its first meeting of the new year this evening at 6:30 in the Palm Garden cafe, President Clarence Sande announced this morning.

ROSEAU SEXTET MEETS LOCALS IN CITY SUNDAY

Lineup of Visiting Team Is Strengthened by Outside Players

THIEVES TAKE TWO FROM MILL CITY TEAM

Aggregation Shows up Well Against Flour City-Stott Team

With a team reported to be one of the best in the history of the community, the Roseau hockey sextet will meet the Thief River Falls entry in the States-Dominion league in the arena Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Roseau aggregation includes in its lineup Almquist of last year's St. Paul professional team as goalie, together with Bob Ben and Merle Alley on defense and Coach Bjork, Savoy of Winnipeg, and Robert de Paul, brother of Walter dePaul, as well as the usual fine local Roseau talent.

The Thieves took both ends of a double-header last week-end from the Flour City-Stott team of Minneapolis, winning the first Saturday night by a score of 4 to 0 and the second Sunday afternoon 4-1.

Taylor accounted for two of the tallies in the first game, others being made on plays from Clifton to Hassan and Snooks Julien to Hassan. In the second contest scores resulted from plays by Taylor to Rube Julien and Sampson to Stanbridge and two by Julien to Stanbridge.

Earl Tripp, junior player, substituted in Sunday's tilt for Goalie Tremontin, who received a cut over the eye preceding the game, and he performed very well. The power line, consisting of Rube Julien, Stanbridge and Taylor, clicked in Sunday's game, and will be a threat to the opposition from now on. The pony line composed of Hassan, Snooks Julien and Clifton also gave a good account of itself.

Craig, Sampson, Lund and Tremontin of the local defense proved highly effective against the Minneapolis team, which could not penetrate the territory of the home team.

League standings follow:

	W	L	T	Pts
Emerson	2	0	1	[illegible]
Hallock	1	0	0	2
T. R. Falls	0	1	1	1

The arena management today issued a reminder to local fans to dress warmly before coming to the arena, so that they may enjoy the games in comfort.

HALLOCK DEFEATS LOCAL SEXTET IN HARDFOUGHT TILT

Thieves Lead Opponents up to Within 4 Minutes of End of Game

After leading 2 to 1 until a few minutes before the end of the final period, the Thief River Falls hockey team lost to Hallock in the latter town Wednesday evening by a score of 4 to 3 after an overtime period.

Kern of Hallock started the scoring in the second period, followed by a tally for the Thieves on a play from Rube Julien to Sampson. Early in the third period Stanbridge scored for the locals, and then with four minutes to play Alexander of Hallock counted to tie the score. In the overtime period the locals tallied on a shot from Hassan to Stanbridge, and Kern counted twice for Hallock to cinch the victory.

Three penalties were scored against each team in the contest, which was hardfought and highly interesting for the large crowd of spectators all the way thru. A big delegation of local fans accompanied the team to Hallock, and Mayor W. W. Prichard participated in ceremonies in connection with the presentation of last year's league championship trophy to the Hallock team.

School Board Inspects New Buildings Tuesday

In preparation for the time when it will be necessary to construct a new high school building in Thief River Falls, the local board of education, accompanied by Supt. Morris Bye, Tuesday inspected a school building recently completed at Moorhead and a new addition to the high school building at East Grand Forks.

Civic and Commerce Group Plans Evening Session Today, 6:30

Departing from the usual custom of sessions Thursday noon, an evening dinner meeting of the Civic and Commerce association has been scheduled for this evening at 6:30 in the club rooms, it was announced this morning by Secretary Paul Lundgren, who asked for a full attendance of members in order that the group may discuss the coming year's activities of the association. Several musical selections are being arranged for so that the piano recently purchased from the Elks lodge may be given a tryout.

MUNICIPAL COURT PAID $2,102 FINES TO CITY LAST YEAR

Amount Nearly Double That Turned Over During Previous Year

The local municipal court paid into the city treasury in 1937 a total of $2,102.60 in fines, costs and fees, Judge Lincoln Arnold announced today, adding that the corresponding figure for 1936 was $1,201.10. The increase, he said, resulted for the most part from more violations and heavier fines in connection with drunken and reckless driving.

In addition to fines paid to the city, the court paid $370.35 to Pennington county in fines under state statutes, and $368.50 to the State of Minnesota in connection with arrests made by state highway patrolmen.

A total of 292 cases came up for consideration during the year, including 227 criminal actions and 65 civil cases. There were 81 convictions on charges of intoxication, a slight decrease compared to the preceding year.

The court convicted 39 persons for reckless driving and ten for drunken driving, the number of violations being more than double that of 1936. Eight drivers' licenses were permanently revoked, and 18 were suspended for periods ranging from 30 days to nine months.

SCORES IMPROVE IN LOCAL BOWLING LEAGUE THIS WEEK

Three Teams Tied for First Place in League Play This Week

High scores showed considerable improvement in the local bowling league during the past week as the season's play advanced. Bowling December 27 the Filgers took three straight from the Thieves, Morris Jaranson, 199, and Lloyd Lund, 195, being high men. The following night the Soo Cafe team made it two out of three from Sorenson's Cafe, with best scores turned in by Wallace DuChamp, 210, and Jesse DuChamp, 186.

The Gamble-Robinsons last Thursday evening captured three games in a row from the Hub Clothing team, Henry Waag, 189, and Wayne Burgess, 151, taking top honors. The Soo Cafe team Monday night rolled for three straight wins over the G-Men, high scores being made by Don Olson, 191, and Richard Dablow, 180. Tuesday the Filgers won two out of three from the Standard Oil team, best scores being Emil Dostal, 199, and Paul Multenbach, 176.

League standings follow:

	W	L	Pct.
Standard Oil	12	6	.666
Gamble-Robinson	10	5	.666
Sorensons	10	5	.666
Filgers	9	9	.500
Soo Cafe	8	10	.444
Hub Clothing	6	9	.400
G-Men	7	11	.388
Thieves	4	11	.266

$5,000 in Taxes Paid First Day of New Year

The new year opened briskly in the office of County Treasurer John Gullingsrud, with total tax collections Monday of more than $5,000, including $1,102.56 in current taxes. First to pay real estate taxes were W. J. LaBree, John M. Skog and the Union State bank, while those making first payments of personal property taxes were Ole Omundson, Christ Person and the Union State bank.

Soo Line Seeking Reorganization

The Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie railroad petitioned the interstate commerce commission Monday for permission to reorganize under section 77 of the bankruptcy act.

The commission was advised a petition also was being filed in the district court of the United States, district of Minnesota, fourth division.

The carrier said it had obligations due and payable in excess of $32,000,000. It declared it had no funds to meet these obligations and had no means of borrowing.

It declared other obligations falling due before next March 1 were in excess of $15,000,000, while on July 1, 1938, a total of $71,147,000 of first consolidated 5 per cent bonds would mature.

C. T. Jaffray, chairman of the Soo Line, Monday in Minneapolis issued the following statement:

"At a meeting of the directors of the Soo road, held Wednesday, December 29, it was decided that in the face of our very heavy maturities early next year and the severe decline in current business we should apply to the court to take charge of the property under the bankruptcy act.

"Up to 1930 the Soo was able to earn its fixed charges with a fair margin; but practically seven crop failures in its heavily producing territory and the great increase in the costs of labor, taxes and material changed the situation and only through the financial assistance of the Canadian Pacific have we been able to carry on during the past seven years.

"For almost 50 years the Soo has been closely interwoven with the prosperity of the northwest and particularly of Minneapolis. Under the jurisdiction of the court, until such time as the reorganization plans can be brought about, I hope our friends will still feel that the Soo is a Minneapolis property and will always be that.

"There will be no change in its operation or in that of the Wisconsin Central Railway. All the old employees will be at their posts and I am sure they will hope, as I do, for a continuation of the business which has been ours during these long trying years.—C. T. Jaffray, chairman."

GRIEBSTEIN AGAIN NAMED PRESIDENT OF CITY COUNCIL

Personnel of Governing Body Remains Unchanged for Coming Year

Emil Griebstein was elected president and H. W. Kinghorn vice president of the city council at its organization meeting Tuesday evening. The personnel of the governing body was unchanged in the municipal election last November, the members including H. W. Kinghorn and Carl Christofferson, aldermen-at-large; Mr. Griebstein, first ward; S. Salveson, second ward; John Baker, third ward; and P. O. Myhrum, fourth ward.

Appointments to major city offices approved at the session include those of P. G. Pederson, city clerk, Theodore Quale, city attorney; Ole Legvold, superintendent of the water and light department; and T. M. Thronson, assessor. Mayor W. W. Prichard announced that he would reappoint Police Chief A. B. Stenberg and the three regular patrolmen, being well satisfied with their work. Action also was taken to call for bids on city depositories and official city paper.

Completing unfinished business left over from last year, the council authorized payment for parcels of ground in the Auditorium block not previously paid for, in the aggregate amount of $1,820.

C. H. Jung Is Elected President of the Local Rifle Club Wednesday

C. H. Jung was elected president of the Thief River Rifle club at its twelfth annual meeting held Wednesday evening in the Civic and Commerce rooms. Other officers named include Carl Hoyle, vice president; C. V. Whitchurch, secretary; John Lind, treasurer; and Carl Wennberg, executive officer. Activities of the past year were reviewed and plans made for the coming year, following which motion pictures dealing with the manufacture of sporting ammunition were presented. Wins L. O' L. Promotion

B. O. NORBY

B. O. NORBY GIVEN SUPERVISOR POST WITH LAND O'LAKES

C. C. Brahs Succeeds Him as Manager of Local Co-op. Poultry Plant

B. O. Norby, manager of the Thief River Falls poultry plant of Land O'Lakes Creameries since its establishment nine years ago, January 1 assumed the post of supervisor of branch plants with headquarters in Minneapolis, John Brandt, president of the huge cooperative enterprise, announced. The organization has three branch plants, and handles the products of two other units.

Succeeding Mr. Norby as manager of the Thief River Falls branch is C. C. Brahs, who came from Minneapolis four years ago to assume the position of manager of the hatchery operated in connection with the plant, which during his tenure of office has developed a large volume of business thruout a wide area.

Previous to his connection with Land O'Lakes, Mr. Norby served for four years as manager of a cooperative poultry and egg association with headquarters in this city.

Mr. Norby stated this week that while he will work out of the Minneapolis office, his family will remain in this city for the present at least, and that he will continue for the time being to fulfill his duties as president of the Thief River Falls board of education.

FIRE LOSSES HIT $1,533 LOW MARK DURING PAST YEAR

Fire Department Responded to 59 Calls in Past Twelve Months

Losses by fire in Thief River Falls aggregated only $1,533 in 1937, setting a new low for recent years, H. L. Schuster, secretary of the local fire department, revealed in a tabulation completed this week. The total compares with approximately $160,000 for 1936, when the disastrous Oen Mercantile company fire made up most of the amount, and with $4,265 in 1935.

The department responded to 59 calls during the year, compared to 71 the previous year. Of the total number 25 were chimney blazes in which no damage resulted.

The largest loss in 1937 was sustained June 6 when fire damaged the J. & B. service station on Main av. at First st. The second biggest loss, estimated at $500, occurred December 29 at the Ira Nicholson home at 411 Duluth av. N. Twenty calls were answered in the morning and 39 in the afternoon and evening.

Corn Palace Will be Razed During January

The city's famed corn palace erected last October in front of the arena in connection with the fall festival, will be dismantled this month by the Civic and Commerce association, sponsor of the project, it was announced this week. Bids on the ear corn used in the [illegible] are being received by [illegible], secretary of the association.

PAUL ROY AGAIN NAMED HEAD OF COUNTY BOARD

Elected Chairman for Fourth Term; Mandt Is Vice Chairman

TIMES DESIGNATED AS OFFICIAL PAPER

B. W. Umland County Surveyor; Dr. O. F. Mellby Health Officer

For the fourth successive year Paul Roy of St. Hilaire Tuesday was elected chairman of the Pennington county board at its organization meeting, which was still in progress yesterday. O. M. Mandt was renamed vice chairman.

Appointments made by the board for the coming year include those of Bert W. Umland as county surveyor succeeding his father, the late B. F. Umland; Dr. L. R. Twete, county livestock inspector; Dr. O. F. Mellby, county health officer; and Dr. Mellby and Commissioners Alf Bredeson and W. H. Mulry, county board of health.

Oscar Gunstad of St. Hilaire was reappointed as a member of the Oakland Park sanatorium commission. No changes were made in salaries of county officials and employes under the jurisdiction of the board, and the sum of $125 was appropriated toward the support of the Red River Valley Winter Shows to be staged in Crookston in February.

The Thief River Falls Times was designated as the official county paper to publish the financial statement, delinquent tax list and board proceedings. The St. Hilaire Spectator was designated as the paper to carry the second publication of the financial statement.

Commissioners Roy, Mandt and Frank Race will serve during the year as the standing committee on roads, while Commissioners Bredeson and Mulry will comprise the bridges and culvert committee. Roy and Mandt serve on the extension committee.

The board at its session designated a new county-aid road, No. 48, to proceed for a distance of about 17 miles east and west thru North, Silverton and Cloverleaf townships.

POSTAL RECEIPTS IN LOCAL OFFICE ATTAIN NEW HIGH

Aggregate $39,296 Compared to $35,696 Total in Previous Year

Registering a gain of $3,600 or ten per cent over the preceding year, receipts at the local postoffice in 1937 aggregated $39,296.38 compared to $35,696.72 in 1936, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced today. That gains have been consistent in recent years is revealed by the fact that receipts were $34,165.00 in 1935, $30,881.77 in 1934 and $28,061.82 in 1933.

Receipts by three-months periods for 1936 and 1937 were as follows:

	1937	1936
March	$ 8,900.15	$ 7,817.81
June	9,378.98	8,075.78
September	8,703.18	8,243.03
December	12,314.07	11,560.10
	$39,296.38	$35,696.72

Postal savings in the postoffice declined slightly from $805,472 on December 31, 1936, to $780,050 at the end of the year just ended, but this small shrinkage was more than offset by the sale thru the local office during the year of savings bonds with a cash value of $57,751.25 and a maturity value of more than $75,000.

County Leaflet Lists Best Farm Practices

A leaflet has been published by the Pennington county extension service based on recommendations made by nineteen Pennington county farmers in cooperation with W. A. Peters, extension specialist in agricultural conservation at University Farm and Howard E. Grow county agent. The leaflet gives useful information on crop rotations, amount of feed produced per acre and many other interesting facts. Anyone interested in obtaining one may do so by calling at the county agent's office.

Drum Corps Makes Plans For Appearance at Farm Crop Shows at Crookston

At its regular January meeting, the local drum corps was entertained at a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. J. N. Nesse, who was assisted as hostess by Mrs. Leo't and Ennson. After the supper, which was served at 6:30 o'clock, plans for the coming year were discussed and committees appointed.

Plans were made for the corps' impending attendance at the Farm Crop Shows at Crookston in the Crookston Armory on February 8, which has been designated as Legion Day, at which the corps and the Ninth District Legion band have been invited to be present. The principal guest speaker for the occasion will be Homer Chaillaux of Indianapolis, Ind., National Americanism chairman for the legion and auxiliary, and other state and national officers of the legion and auxiliary will also be present. The local corps and members of the band will leave this city on the afternoon of Feb. 8 to be guests of the Winter Shows at dinner and appear on the evening program.

The corps Monday evening also discussed the obtaining of a music instructor and drill master for the corps and the receiving of new members, which is taking place at the present time.

Ralph Foster, Jr. Honored On 9th Birthday Anniversary

Mrs. Ralph Foster was hostess last Saturday at a theatre party in honor of her son Ralph, Jr., who celebrated his ninth birthday anniversary December 31. Guests were Ralph Foster, Jr., guest of honor, Donald Sandum, Arlene Robinson, Barbara Fast, Mary Ann Wetch, and Jerry Wetch. After attending the matinee, the guests were served a lovely birthday luncheon at the Foster home, a decorated birthday cake with nine lighted candles being the feature of the luncheon. Holiday trimmings provided the party decorations. Ralph was presented with lovely gifts from the other guests present.

Stanton Dahlens Hosts At New Year's Day Dinner

Marriage of Mildred Egenes and Martin A. Alby Is Solemnized

The marriage of Miss Mildred Egenes, daughter of Mrs. Hanna Egenes, to Martin A. Alby of this city was solemnized at 6 p. m. Wednesday, Dec. 29, at a house wedding at the home of the bride's mother, Rev. R. M. Fjelstad officiated at the single ring ceremony, performed in the presence of the bridal couple's attendants, Miss Christine Thompson of Newfolden, cousin of the bridegroom, who was bridesmaid, and Stanley Egenes, brother of the bride, who served as groomsman; and the bride's mother Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Egenes and little daughter; and Miss Juliet Archambault.

For her wedding, the bride wore a frock of blue silk trimmed with white lace, and carried a bouquet of red roses, sweet peas, and white pom poms. Her attendant wore a rose colored frock with blue trim and a corsage of sweet peas and white pom poms. The men of the wedding party wore carnation boutonnieres.

Harmonizing with the bridal party's attire, house decorations were carried out in blue-and-white. Blue and white streamers formed a canopy beneath which the wedding party stood while the vows were exchanged. A white bride's cake decorated in blue graced the table at which the wedding dinner was served following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Alby left immediately on a short motor trip. They have returned to this city and are making their home here, where Mr. Alby is employed as a carpenter. TAX RECEIPTS IN MINNESOTA TOTAL 63 MILLION IN '37

State Auditor Reports on Fiscal Year Ending June 30th

Minnesota's state tax receipts during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1937, increased nearly nine million dollars over the receipts during the preceding fiscal year according to figures released late last week by State Auditor Stafford King's office.

The increase in collections from $54,273,685 during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1936, to $63,261,606 during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1937, was due almost entirely to improved economic conditions, because the increases in tax rates voted by the 1937 legislature were not yet in effect.

Property tax collections showed the largest increase, $3,133,870 from $15,797,120 in 1936 to $18,930,990. This was attributed largely to payment of back delinquent taxes under a law permitting their payment in ten annual installments, and a drop in delinquency on current taxes. The tax rate in 1935 was 13.57 mills and in 1936, 12.45 mills.

Gross earnings tax collections also showed an increase of $1,116,073. The bulk of these are paid by the railroads and telephone companies.

Receipts from motor vehicle license taxes and gasoline taxes, devoted exclusively to highways increased nearly $2,700,000. Motor vehicle receipts jumped from $8,061,911 to $8,654,147, while gasoline tax revenue increased from $11,132,455 to $13,313,943.

Iron ore occupational and royalty tax collections accounted for more than $1,200,000 of the increase. Royalty taxes increased $85,505 from $461,466 to $546,971; while occupational tax receipts jumped from $1,447,991 to $2,635,080, an increase of $1,187,089.
